POETRY.

For the Gazette.

THOU ART MY FRIEND!

Thou art my Friend!
Enough that I can see thy face,
And o'er it's lines of beauty trace
The spotless soul that lingers there,
The light of Heaven that made the fair.

Thou art my friend!
I feel it in thy every tone,
In all the gloom when thou art gone;
When in the eve thy virtues fall
From lips of love I own them all.

Thou art my friend!
Bound to my spirit by a tie,
That time and change alike defy;
Which kindred sympathies have twined.
By fadeless links through heart and mind.

Thou art my friend!
In coming years thy name shall be
A spell to waken memory,
And 'mid the fleeting visions past
To point where joys will ever last.

Thou art my friend!
I know thou canst not soon forget
The sunny spots where we have met,
Though bounds the wave to set thee free
I know thou wilt remember me!

HAROLD.

SUMMER.

Warm summer! yes, the very word is warm;
The hum of bees is in it, and the sight
Of sunny fountains glancing silver light,
And the rejoicing world, and every charm
Of happy nature in her hour of love,
Fruits, flowers, and flies, in rainbow glory bright
The smile of God glows graciously above,
And genial earth is grateful; day by day
Old faces come again, with blossoms gay,
Gemming in gladness meadow, garden, grove:
Haste with thy harvest, then, my softened haart:
Awake my better hopes of better days,
Bring in thy fruits and flowers of thanks and praise
And in creation's paean take thy part.

LETTERS.

Tear, scatter, burn, destroy—but keep them not;
I hate, I dread those living witnessess
Of varying self, of good or ill forgot;
Of altered hopes, and withered kindnesses.
Oh, call not up those shadows of the dead,
Those visions of the past, that idly blot
The present with regret for blessings fled;
This hand that wrote, this ever teeming head,
This flickering heart is full of chance and change;
I would not have you watch my weaknesses,
Nor how my foolish likings roam and range,
Nor how the mushroom friendship of a day
Hastened in hot-bed ripeness to decay,
Nor how to mine own self I grow so strange.

NEW YEAR'S NIGHT THOUGHTS.

FROM JEAN PAUL RICHTER.

The new year unfolds its portals. Destiny stands between the glowing clouds of the rising sun, and the funeral pile of the departed year. For what wishest thou, Natalie?

"Not for joy. Alas! nothing but its black thorns have ever remained within my heart, for the rose-leaves soon fell, and their odor was exhaled. The brightest sun but heralded the wildest tempest, and the light which seemed to glitter on my path was but the reflection of the sword which the coming day was to plunge into my bosom. No, I ask not for joy, it makes the desiring heart so empty. Sorrow alone can fill it"

Destiny is portioning out futurity.—What dost thou demand, Natalie?

"Not love. Oh, we press to our heart the thorny white rose of love till it bleeds, and the warm joy tears which fall from its cup first become cold, and then dry up forever! Is it not love, in the morning of our life, bright and glowing as the aurora of heaven? But approach not that radiant atmosphere, it is formed out of clouds and tears. No, no; I wish not for love. Let me die of a nobler agony—let me fall beneath a loftier prison-tree than the myrtle?"

Thou art kneeling before destiny, Natalie. For what prayest thou?

"Not for friendship. No. We all stand side by side upon hollow but unseen graves; and though our hands be twined together ever so firmly, though our hearts be knit together with the sufferings of many years, yet the slight vaulted roof will fall in.—The pale one sinks down; and I stand alone in a cold, solitary life, beside a filled-up grave. No, no; but if the heart be indeed immortal when friend meets friend in the eternal world, then may the pulse throb with an undying love, immortal eyes become dimmed with tears of joy, and the lips that can never move grow pale, murmur—Now I am thine, beloved one.—Now let us love, for we can never more be parted."

Oh, thou forsaken Natalie, for what prayest thou, then, upon the earth?

"For patience and the grave, nothing more. But deny me not that, thou silent Destiny! Dry the eye, and then close it. Still the heart, and then break it! But, when the spirit wings its flight to a fair heaven—when the new year opens in a purer world—when all again meet and love, then I will speak my wishes. Yet no, for then I shall be happy."

THE CHOLERA.

Extract of a private letter, dated.

OROOMIAH, 24th Nov., 1846.

Before this reaches you, you will no doubt have heard that that awful scourge, Asiatic cholera, has visited this part of the world again, and also made its appearance in our midst. But I am most happy to be able to inform you, that its ravages have nearly ceased in the city of Oroomiah, and that all our party have thus far been mercifully spared. The disease broke out in Tebreez, 150 miles distant from here, on the 13th October; where it raged about a month with great violence. Report gives from 3 to 50 deaths daily, during a part of the time.

About the 25th October, the disease found its way here; and up to the present time has been prevailing with more or less violence. We have no accurate means of knowing the number that have been swept off by the pestilence, but it does not fall short of many hundreds. The very day that the existence of the disease became evident, our schools on the mission premises were disbanded, scholars sent home, and the mission families, as soon as possible, repaired to our healthy retreat on Mount Seir, and there they have remained to this time.

For the first I thought it my duty to do what I could in a professional way for the sick and suffering, and consequently have spent the most of every day in visiting them, while I have usually been on the mountain at night. The disease raged mostly among the Musselmen. In the city very few Nestorians fell victims to it, but now that the disease has spread among the villages of the plain more of the latter class are swept away. It is an awful scourge, and the more I see of it the more I am impressed with the idea. It is often so violent in its attack and so rapid in its course, that the patient is brought to the borders of the grave before you have time to do any thing for him. From its course in these countries hitherto, it seems to be moving Westward, and you must not be surprised, if by next summer, it should cross the Atlantic and again sweep over the New World.

We are now buried up, or nearly so, in the snow. With the last week three feet or more have fallen and here on the Mountsins we are quite shut in. In four or five days we shall return to the city again.

AN IMPORTANT SUGGESTION.—

An attentive and intelligent friend suggests what we feel confident would prove an effectual method of preserving the shade trees in our city from the ravages of insects and we wonder that among the many plans that have been proposed and adopted in vain, the simple and natural one of introducing among us the sparrow of Europe, has never been mentioned. The "Sparrow on the housetop" is; we believe, found in every continent except America, and is a very effectual remedy for the evil of which we complain. In England those birds abound in every city, building their nests in trees and about the eaves of houses. As they raise two or three broods in a season, and feed their young on insects they would, if once numerous here soon keep the "worms within reasonable bounds. Some may perhaps think that they could not bear the rigor of our winters but when we know that they survive in Siberia, we see the weakness of that opinion. If once brought over, and let loose about the State House, they would soon multiply so among the trees and houses, that even in Philadelphia "two might be sold for a farthing."

The proper season for importing them is now at hand, and we cannot imagine a better use that could be made of a little money, than thus to buy with it perpetual security for our beautiful trees. By offering to pay a moderate price for every pair landed here safely from Europe, and by having a notice to that effect placed in some of the English papers, the object could be at once secured.—Saturday Courier.

GETTING HIS MONEY WORTH.—

We heard a good joke of a jack tar belonging to the sloop of war Preble, when she lay off the Battery last summer, preparatory for her voyage to California.—Jack had obtained permission to go on shore, and having overstaid his time was undergoing a reprimand from the quartermaster. He excused himself by saying that he had taken a long cruise, and finding himself a good way from the ship, he took a cab and drove down; he then handed the cabman a dollar, from which to take his fare, "but," says Jack, "the lubber couldn't change it, and as my leave wasn't up yet, I thought I'd just let him drive out the dollar's worth, so I jumped in again, and blast me if the fellow didn't bring me to anchor at the very spot where I first shipped in his craft. So; you see, sir, as I had no more money, I was obleeged to come down under bare poles, and that made me late, sir." Jack's statement produced a laugh, and consequently a verdict in his favor.

TOUCHING INCIDENT.—

On the Queen's visit to Arundel Castle, the chair of recognition used at the Coronation and presented to the Duke of Norfolk, was shown to her Majesty, who honored the chair with a further recognition by recognising it as an old acquaintance. We understand the meeting was rather affecting. The Queen no sooner saw the chair, than she threw herself into the arms of her old friend, and declared that she could repose with confidence its tried integrity. The chair, in conformity with the usual etiquette, remained standing during the whole time that her Majesty continued seated.—During the interview, the air of the 'Old Arm Chair" was whistled by one of the Lords-in-Waiting. Her Majesty, on quitting, took the veteran kindly by both arms, and playfully exclaimed, 'Adieu, ma chere,' quitted the apartment.—Punch.

☞"Pleas, sir, I don't think Mr. Doseh takes his physic reg'lar," said a doctor's boy the other day to his employer.

"Why so?"

"Cause vy, he's gettin' vell so precious fast!"

As republished by the subscriber they will cost only $1 a year.

Blackwood's Lady's Magazine,

and Gazette of the Fashionable World.—for Town and Country.

Devoted to Belles-Letters, Music, Fine Arts, Fashions, &c.

The well-known celebrity in Europe and this Country, of Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine, has induced the subscriber to commence the re publication of this fashionable London Monthly.

It is a matter of surprise that the Republication of this Work was not commenced some years since. On looking over some of the late numbers, we find them filled with Stories and Poetry, and Narratives, the most of which fall but little behind those published in the Edinburgh Work, and many surpass even the emanations from the Giant intellects of the contributors to the great Northern Magazine. The best writers of the day contribute to its pages

It has now been published seventeen years in London, and has a circulation exceeding 70 000 copies through England, Scotland, Ireland, and the continent of Europe. It is translated into several the continental languages—it being the only instance of an English Magazine receiving that compliment.

The publication will commence in October next, and will be continued monthly.

The publication price of the above wark is London, is six dollars

YOUTH'S CABINET.

FRANCIS C. WOODWORTH, EDITOR

Vol. II. for 1847.

THIS popular monthly for young people commences the second year of its new series in January, 1847. It may now be regarded as permanently established; and both the editor and publisher, encouraged by their past success, will endeavor not only to deserve the flattering encomiums so generally bestowed upon their labors, but to make the Cabinet a greater favorite among its readers than ever. The 2d volume will be enriched with a variety of Beautiful Embellishments from Original Designs.

The steel vignette, engraved from a design by one of the first artists in the country; is of itself a gem, rarely surpassed in the most costly magazines. When completed the yearly volume embraces.

ONE HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS.

several pieces of the choicest music, and nearly four hundred octavo pages.

The contents of this magazine are for the most part original. It is the aim of the editor to afford amusement and instruction of the best kind and in the most pleasing manner—to oppose the strongest barriers against vice—to multiply incentives to virtue—and while every thing sectarian is carefully discarded, to impress upon the young mind and heart the supreme importance of the truths of revelation, and the necessity of spiritual religion.

SUGAR COATED' PILLS

BEWARE! CAUTION!!

The increasing popularity of Dr G BENJ SMITH'S IMPROVED INDIAN VEGETABLE SUGAR COATED PILLS, has induced a number of persons to make something they call PILLS, and coat them with sugar, in order to sell them for the genuine while they do not possess a particle of the goodness, nor even assimilate in appearance to the original, Dr Smith's Pills In short they are intended FRAUD upon the community. A minister who at first had an interest in an imitation Sugar Coated Pill, manufactured at Albany, N. Y., has given them up, as he says on account of the miserable dishonest parties concerned in manufacturing them. The same party are now industriously circulating reports calculated to injure Dr Smith and to affect the reputation of his valuable pills; but rather than notice them in public. Dr Smith is about to institute legal proceedings against them for their slanders, as he has in another case against a similar party in which he recovered a large amount of damages These miserable imitators have to resort to the most abominable means to palm off their counterfeit pills as the public know that Dr. Smith's are the original and genuine. Several instances have come to public notice in which life has been endangered by the unfortunate use of the counterfeits It is Dr Smith's Pills that are doing so much good in the country—as the following plainly show.

MORE MINISTERS.

Use and Recommend Dr Smith's Pills than all others

This is to certify that I have used the Sugar Coated Pills Manufactured by G. Benjamin Smith' of New York, for some time, and believe them to be a good medicine; also from inquiry in that city I am persuaded that he is the original inventor, and therefore is entitled to the benefit of the invention

S. WILLIAMS

Pastor 1st Baptist Church.

From the Blue Hens's Chicken, (Del.)

We call the attention of our readers to the certificate of Rev S. Williams, Pastor of 1st Baptist Church, Pittsburgh, in relation to Dr. Smith's Pills. We can ourselves bear testimony to the excellence of these Pills, one of us having used them and experienced great relief from them.

The above is the best paper in the State of Delaware.

The "improved indian vegetable Pills," Sugar Coated,) are certainly doing much good in the whole country, and are highly esteemed if one half is true that people write and say about them. They are so easy in their operation that all like them The editor of the Northern State Journal, (one of the largest and best papers in the State of N Y.,) writes as follows.

Watertown, May 31, 1846.

Dr. G Benj Smith—

Dear Sir I was laid up with a bad cold some time since my return from N Y. and during my illness I made trial of your pills and I must say I found them excellent. They are the best medicine for the purposes they are intended, that I have yet seen I seldom take pills, but I found yours entirely free from the objections to which other pills are liable I hope they will continue to be a source of profit to you, as I doubt not they will be a means of relief to the afflicted on a large scale. Yours truly,

J. GREEN.

Tonawanda, Pa., Sept. 18, 1846.

Dr. G. Benj. Smith—

Dear Sir, Your agent left with me a lot of your Sugar coated Pills, and I have but a few boxes left Every box I have sold has given entire satisfaction. I have taken them myself and I consider them the best pills I have ever used, and I am not afraid to recommend them to the public. I wish a further supply at once

Yours respectfully,

JACOB KIBLER P. M.

Huntington, Ind., June 21, 1846.

Dr. Smith –

Dear Sir, I am most out of your "Indian Vegetable Sugar Coated Pills," and find them selling so fast that I think you had better send me two gross immediately. They give such general satisfaction that people come at least twenty miles for them, and as it is generally known I am agent for them, I would be very sorry to get out.

Yours respectfully,

SAML. MORE & Co

BEWARE!!

If G. BENJ SMITH be not written with a pen on the bottom of the box, all "Sugar Coated" pills are counterfeit!

"The Whig Standard,"

IS the title of a WEEKLY PAPER, issued every Saturday, in the City of Baltimore, at $1,00 per annum.

The Standard is thoroughly Whig and will zealously advocate all necessary reforms in the General, State and City government. It will expose the hypocrisy of those who advocate Conventional Reform in the name of Democracy, which is used as a cloak to hide from the yeomanry of Maryland, the most wild and revolutionary designs, all the Reform desired being nothing more nor less than the offices and emoluments of the State Government.

The Standard is designed to be a permanent Journal, and not a party ephemeral gotten up to feed the excitement of an approaching election and then die off. It will be free and fearless, controlled by neither "clique nor cabal" but open to the opinion of every good Whig in Old Maryland.

NOTICE.

THE subscriber collector of state tax for T. county for 1842 and 1846 takes this method of once more calling the attention of delinquent tax payers to the fact, that the time is short in which Coupons will be received in payment of state taxes, he has given Bond to the state for the collection of this money and he intends to try to collect the same, he also intends if he has good luck to settle with the Treasurer very soon, and when that is done the law provides that delinquents shall pay in cash, he therefore hopes that gentlemen will come up & settle while they can save so much by paying in coupons should they however still neglect to do so as some have done, the fault will be their own and not his, he has given them the warning, he would further add for information of those who may still neglect this notice that after the first day of January he shall feel authorised to give the Printar a job, & however pleasant it may be to the Printers it will not be so to him nor them, but necessity or duty will compel this course, I hope I shall be spared this unpleasant duty.
