Chief Magistrate of the State should be free from—if he has not been remarkable for these things, why then he is not quite so objectionable as were some of those who were spoken of and voted for as candidates for the nomination which he received.

But it is given out that Mr. Thomas was nominated for a single reason:—he is a lawyer, of some talents as a speaker, and it is supposed will be able to canvass the State with effect—whilst Mr. Goldsborough, being only a farmer, engaged in the cultivation of the soil, and not given to haranguing juries and courts, will be content to pursue the "even tenor of his way," and leave the discussion of his claims to and fitness for the office, to others who know him, and who will be better able to do justice to his cause, and the cause of the Whig party, than he could, if he were to go about speaking for himself.

We have no fears that Mr. Thomas will gain any advantage by taking the stump, and going around the State electioneering for himself. We make no serious objection to public speaking on the part of the candidate for office, and on particular occasions it may become proper if not necessary. It was proper in the last canvass for Governor, when nothing but the presence and personal assurance of the Whig candidate could disabuse the public mind, of reports as to his opinions upon local and general questions, which the opposition had artfully circulated against him.—His presence and his personal assurance did dissipate the slanders that had been circulated, and his triumphant election vindicated his course. But it is not desirable, on any public ground, that it should become the custom for the candidates for Governor in this State, to personally canvass the people for their votes; and nothing, we believe, but an extreme case, like that in the last election will excuse it

We are glad to forego any supposed advantages our candidate might derive from stumping it through the State; and we feel no apprehension that he will lose one vote by any thing Mr. Thomas may say, which otherwise he might gain. The cause of Mr. Goldsborough is the cause of the Whig party. They will take care to support it and bring it out triumphantly in the election of October. For himself he has nothing to fear. If he is not known, as the organ of the opposition says, his friends will take care to enlighten such want of knowledge, wherever it exists.—It has not come to pass that a man of his high moral and personal wealth—whose unobtrusive life has not been spent uselessly, and whose merits have not failed to attract to him the esteem of all who hear of him, and the warmest regard of all who know him—who has rather shunned honors than not had them offered to him—it has not come to pass that such a man as this, can be lowered in the estimation of the people of Maryland by charging that he is not known, and is 'remarkable for nothing!" The people have the means of making people known and of making them remarkable. They will take care to let the country know WILLIAM T. GOLDSBOROUGH as Governor of Maryland, and will thus give him the opportunity of showing, that in his high office he was, if not remarkable for the wisdom, the justice and the energy with which he administered it, certainly praised, and that highly too, for the exhibition he gave that he was energetic and just, and was moved only by the virtuous ambition to serve the State faithfully.

For the Easton Gazette.

MR. EDITOR—It is truly astonishing to what a state of apathy and indifference a whole community may come. Already has the stigma "that nothing can be done in Easton," gone forth and been noised through the country. As soon as anything is undertaken here, immediately every voice is raised against it—"impossible, it can't succeed, no use to try," &c. Such is the prevailing sentiment that every one is afraid to commence, and it is almost worth a man's peace even to speak of raising, for instance, a literary association, a club for mutual improvement and benefit, or military company. The hue and cry is against it—"put it down, nothing must be done in Easton—we'll put the veto on any thing of the kind." Why is it so? Are we less intelligent than in other places, or are the means for accomplishing ends more deficient here than elsewhere? No, 'tis not this—but it is a feeling of jealousy among the people; every man hates to see his fellow-man prosper. Such a despicable spirit will ruin any community. If a man pretends to be at all useful, he is at once thought too smart, and many will say directly—"he only wants to show himself." Energy and activity are called vanity and pride. Talent is at once denounced as becoming quite too arrogant and consequential. Formerly, when the 4th of July rolled round, every bosom beat with patriotic emotion, and every nerve quivered with the thrilling sensation that we are Freemen. That this was the day on which our independence was proclaimed. That Liberty, the sacred boon we have almost forgot how to appreciate was then ours. We do not now see the enthusiasm manifested as was formerly shown. Our ears are not now saluted by the deaffening cannons and the roar of musketry, to such an extent as they used to be. There are no demonstrations of public rejoicing—such as freemen only can feel as formerly. Let's arouse from our lethargy and on the coming anniversary show that our spirits have not died with in us. Let's celebrate this day as it should be done by every American, retrieve the lost name of the patriotic Eastonian. I am glad to see this feeling manifesting itself amongst the military Companies of our town, and also among the citizens—who have chartered the fine steamer Maryland for an excursion. This is commendable and I hope every person, who can well avail himself of this opportunity of pleasure and enjoyment.

LETTER FROM GEN. TAYLOR.

The Cincinnati Signal contains the following letter from Gen. Taylor, in reply to one of its editorials, on the subject of his nomination for the Presidency, which the editor transmitted to him in order to elicit his view of a party nomination:

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF OCCUPATION,

Camp near Monterey, May 18 1847.

Sir: I have the honor to acknowedge the receipt of your letter with the enclosure of your editorial, extracted from the "Signal" of the 13th of April.

At this time, my public duties commanded so fully my attention, that it is impossible to answer your letter in the terms demanded by its courtesy, and the importance of the sentiments to which it alludes, neither, indeed, have I the time, should I feel myself at liberty, to enter into the few and most general subjects of public policy suggested by the article in question. My own personal views were better withheld till the end of the war, when my usefulness as a military chief, serving in the field against the common enemy, shall no longer be compromised by their expression or discussion in any manner.

From many sources I have been addressed on the subject of the Presidency, and I do no violence neither to myself nor to my position as an officer of the army, by acknowedging to you, as I have done to all who have alluded to the use of my name in the exalted connexion, that my services are ever at the will and call of the country, and that I am not prepared to say that I shall refuse if the country calls me to the Presidential office, but that I can and shall yield to no call that does not come from the spontaneous action and free will of the nation at large and void of the slightest agency of my own.

For the high honor and responsibilities of such an office, I take this occasion to say, that I have not the slightest aspiration; a much more tranquil and satisfactory life, after the termination of my present duties, awaits me, I trust, in the society of my family and particular friends, and in the occupations most congenial to my wishes. In no case can I permit myself to be the candidate of any party, or yield myself to party schemes.

With these remarks, I trust you will pardon me for thus briefly replying to you, which I do with a high opinion and approval of the sentiments and views embraced in your editorial.

With many wishes for your prosperity in life, and great usefulness in the sphere in which your talents and exertions are embarked, I beg to acknowledge myself, most truly and respectfully, your obedient servant,

Z. TAYLOR, Maj. Gen. U. S. A.

ANOTHER GOOD DEED OF THE ROMAN PONTIFF.—The London Daily News chronicles the following:

On the 5th of May, that day being the feast of St. Pius, whose best achievment (his bringing about the batle of Lepanto) once rescued the south of Europe, great doings were planned to honnor the name in the person of its present possessor, who bids fair to effect a similar European rescue. Hearing of these projects (for strict orders are issued to inform him of every matter) our monarch at once intimated his wish that the waste of blue lights and Roman candles should be superseded by a general distribution of bread. To wish is to be obeyed. Sixty gentlemen met immediately at the Doria palace, organized themselves for a combined effort among the a Yuent, and each member cheerfully climbed the stairs of the palaces alotted him in quest of donations; 7000 dollars were quickly forthcoming, and 60,000 bread tickets put in circulation.—The remnant is kept to establish an infant school.
