To the Honorable The Judges of Baltimore County Court sitting as a Court of equity.

The answer of Beale Randall to the bill of complaint of John Glenn against him and others exhibited in Baltimore County Court sitting as a Court of equity.

This defendant reserving to himself all exception to the manifold errors imperfections and misstatements in said bill contained to so much thereof as he is advised it is material necessary for him to answer says that he does not recollect and therefore denies that he ever applied to the said Complainant to aid this defendant with his money and means and that said Complainant ever loaned him large sums of money or even one dollar. This defendant avers that the Complainant filled up over this defendants signature a note for the sum of ten thousand dollars and endorsed the same and had the said note discounted at the Marine Bank in the City of Baltimore contrary to the intentions and wishes of this defendant. This defendant admits that in consequence of getting into pecuniary difficulties with & on account of Rasin B. Simpson he applied to the complainant as a friend and legal adviser to get him out of his difficulties and the complainant after seeing said Simpson undertook his case shortly afterwards a partner of said Simpson located at the City of Wheeling died of Cholera and this defendant by the advice and direction of the Complainant went thither to look after the interests of the said Simpson, while there this defendant received a letter from the complainant stating that said Simpson had failed and asking him what he the Complainant must do in relation thereto to which this defendant returned an answer instructing him to do nothing which answer this defendant prays your Honors to compel the complainant to produce and exhibit in this Court. In a day or two afterwards another letter was received from the Complainant by this defendant which he herewith files as part of this his answer marked defendants exhibit A which last mentioned letter appears to be intended to give information to this defendant that he might answer the questions therein asked. The statement made in said letter shewed the said Simpson to be worth twelve thousand three hundred and eighty two dollars and ninety four cents, ($12,382,94) after paying all his debts, but the complainant has never accounted therefor altho he got possession thereof and he now says that the said Simpsons property will not pay his debts the deficiency being a large sum. After receiving said last mentioned letter this defendant came on to Baltimore with all possible expedition and when he arrived found that the complainant had gone to the city of New York, prior to which however the complainant had drawn for the signature of this defendant the said note of ten thousand dollars ($10.000) endorsed it
