POETRY.

A BEAUTIFUL HYMN.

The following beautiful hymn was written by the late ex-President ADAMS.

How swift, alas! the moments fly!
How rush the years along!
Scarce here, yet gone already by—
The burden of a song.

See childhood, youth, and manhood, pass,
And age, with furrowed brow;
Time was—time shall be—but, alas!
Where, where in time is now?

Time is the measure but of change;
No present hour is found;
The past, the future, fill the range
Of time's unceasing round.

Where, then, is now? In realms above,
With God's atoning Lamb,
In regions of eternal love,
Where sits enthroned I AM.

Then, pilgrim, let thy joys and tears,
On time no longer lean;
But henceforth all thy hopes and fears
From earth's affections wean.

To God let grateful accents rise,
With truth, with virtue, live;
So all the bliss that time denies,
Eternity shall give.

THE LAST CHANT OF CORINNE.

BY MARY E. HEWITT.

By that mysterious sympathy which chaineth
Forevermore, my spirit unto thine;
And by the memory, that alone remaineth,
Of that sweet hope that now no more is mine—
And by the love my trembling heart betrayeth
That born of thy soft gaze, within me lies;
As the lone desert bird, the Arab sayeth,
Warms her young brood to life, with her fond eyes.

Hear me adorned one! though the world divide us,
Though never more my hand in thine be prest,
Though to commingle thought be here denied us,
Till our high hearts shall beat themselves to rest;
Forgot me not! forget me not! oh! ever
This one, one prayer, my spirit pours to thee,
Till every memory from earth shall sever,
Remember, oh, beloved! remember me!

And when the light within mine eyes is shaded,
When I, o'er wearied, sleep the sleep profound,
And, like that nymph of yore, who drooped and faded,
And pined for love, till she became a sound;
My song, perchance, awhile to earth remaining,
Shall come in murmured melody to thee;
Then let my lyre's deep, passionate complaining,
Cry to thy heart, beloved! remember me!

THEATRE REPUBLICAN,

WASHINGTON CITY.

The manager of this establishment, Mr James K. Polk, announces that it is now open to the public, and will continue to give those entertainments which have so amused the people, subject to the interruptions of a few balls which will be given to the Mexicans,—who will in the end, after dancing without music, be obliged to pay the piper. The following persons form the administration of the establishment:

Lessee,	J. K. Polk,
Prompter,	G. M. Dallas,
Acting Man. & Treas.,	R. J. Walker,
Doorkeeper,	M. Ranahan,
Box-keeper,	Mr. Selden,
Call-boy,	Mr. Ritchie,
Chief of Supernumaries,	J. Y. Mason.
Director of Military Ballet,	Wm L. Marcy,
Sceneshifter,	J Buchanan,
Property-man,	Mr. Clifford,
Stage Manager,	Mr. C. Johnson.

In addition to the former strength of the company, the following persons have been engaged for the season: For the leading business, Mr. Dallas; for the heavy business, Dixon H. Lewis; for clown and buffoon, J. D. Westcott; for funny old lady, T. H. Benton; for leading old lady, J. C. Calhoun.

In rehearsal, the 'Road to Ruin'—parts by all the company; 'The Devil to Pay,' and 'All in the Wrong.' Nearly ready, 'The Tempest,' and Disagreeable Surprise.' Will be shortly produced, 'The Poor Soldier'—the principal part by Col. Haskell. At the close of the managerial term, the public will be shown 'Secrets worth knowing.'

SAW DUST AND PINE BOARDS.—The following was told by a real buckeye over one of Noble's glorious fires at the Dennison House, years ago.

Col. T—— of the patent office, was accustomed, when a patent model or specification was shown him, to exclaim "oh! that's nothing new, I knew that long ago!" and so annoying did this become, that an old buckeye determined to give him a poser. Accordingly, he appeared before the Colonel one day, and informed him confidentially, that he had discovered a new and valuable process for which he wished to take out a patent, and particularly requested that not a whisper of it should get abroad.

"But what is it?"

"Just this," in a low tone—"a way to make pine boards out of oak sawdust."

"Pooh!" exclaimed the knowing one. "I knew that long ago!—Just put the pitch in and press it."—N. Y. "Spirit"

WHERE DO MEN GO WHO DIE AT CHICAGO?—Some years ago, when Chicago was in its infancy, a stranger took up quarters at the principal hotel, and inscribed his name on the register as "Mr. J——, of St. Louis." For several days he remained there, engaged in transacting the business which had brought him to the place, and from his exceedingly plain dress, manners, and general appearance, attracted but little attention. Soon Mr. J—— was suddenly seized with illness, during which he was sadly neglected by his host; and the servants, taking their tone from the master of the house, left him to shift for himself as he best could. Thus matters went on, till one morning he was found past praying for. His papers were then examined, that the sad intelligence might be communicated to his friends; when, to the surprise of all, he was found to be one of the wealthiest men in the western country. Arrangements were accordingly made for the funeral; but, before the last rights were performed, the subject came to life again, having been the victim of catalepsy, instead of the "grim King of Terrors." All were overjoyed at his fortunate escape from so dreadful a fate, and from that time were profuse in their expressions of solicitude, elicited, however, if we may judge, by "documentary evidence," rather than by any personal regard. At length, some one ventured to ask how things appeared to him while in his trance, to which he thus replied:—"I thought I had come to the river of death, where I met an angel, who handed me a jewel to serve as a pass to the other side. On giving this to the ferryman, I received from him another, which carried me forward another stage in my journey. Going on thus, for several stages, receiving at the termination of each a ticket for the succeeding one, I at last reached the gate of the heavenly city. There I found St Peter, who opened the door at my summons, pipe in mouth, seated by a small table, on which stood a goodly mug of steaming whiskey-toddy. 'Good morning, sir,' said he, very politely. 'Good morning, St. Peter,' said I. 'Who are you, sir?' asked he, turning over the leaves of a huge ledger. 'My name is J——.' 'Very good, sir; where did you live down below?' 'I lived at St. Louis, in the State of Missouri.' 'Very well, sir; and where did you die?' 'I died at Chicago, in Illinois.' 'Chicago?' said he, shaking his head, 'there's no such place, sir.' 'I beg your pardon, St. Peter, but have you a map of the United States here?' 'Yes sir.' 'Allow me to look at it.' 'Certainly, sir.' With that he handed down a splendid atlas, and I pointed out Chicago on the map. 'All right, sir,' said he, after a moment's pause; 'it's there, sure enough, so walk in, sir; but I'll be blest if you ain't the first man that has ever come here from that place!'" Thus ended Mr. J——'s account of his transition state; and no more questions were asked.—Spirit of the Times.

HEALTH INSURANCE.—Meeting an acquaintance the other day, we asked after his health.

"You needn't inquire," said he—"you can see with half an eye that I'm as hearty as a horse. By Jupiter!" he added bitterly, "I believe that Health Insurance Company is a total humbug. I took out a policy two years ago and I haven't got the first red cent out of 'em. Been where the ship fever was—wet my feet a purpose half a dozen times, couldn't catch the least bit of a cold, no more than if I lived in India Rubber Boots Slept in damp sheets—'twant no use. Eat green cowcumbers all last August, and drank ice water every time I came in from work—but it was no go, cap'n—here I am as hearty as a buck." Poor fellow! he was a case.—Yankee Blade.

THE TOOTHACHE.—A few days since, while suffering the agonies of the toothache, we were reminded of an anecdote of two Dutchmen, which ran in this wise. A Dutchman, on proceeding to a place from whence he heard cries of distress, discovered one of his neigbors lying under a stone wall which had fallen upon him and fractured his legs. "Vel den, neighbor Vanderviken, vat ish de matter vid ye?"

"Vat? Vy, you sees my conditions vid all dese pig stones on me, and both mine legs broke off close by mine poddy"

"Py Jingo," said Hans, "ish dat all?—You holler so I tought you vas got de toothache."

TRUTH AMBIGUOUS.—An Irishman, after being distanced in a foot race, at last succeeded when he exclaimed, "Well, I am first at last, but I was behind before.

MEDICATED SYRUP OF CASTOR OIL.

THE Subscriber would most respectfully inform the Citizens of Cambridge and the Public generally, that he has succeeded in making Castor Oil perfectly agreeable and while it is rendered agreeable to the taste, the Cathartic properties are very little if any diminished; and by the medication all that acrid quality of which oil is generally possessed which rendered it inadmissable with some persons, especially with infants, is entirely destroyed.

It is well known that Castor Oil is almost an universal medicine—entering into the use of every family, and administered in the treatment of almost every disease—and would be much more frequently prescribed by physicians, was it not for the great aversion to its use. But in this preparation, the subscriber can assure physicians and patients, they will find it so perfectly agreeable to the taste, that infants and ladies of the most delicate stomachs can take it without the least inconvenience, Indeed it is so perfectly palitable that should it be found necessary to take a little more in a dose it will not be found objectionable to the patient.

The Medicated Syrup of Castor Oil may be had at the store of E. M. DAWSON & BROTHER, in Easton. Wholesale and Retail orders from a distance promptly attended to.

Mrs. C. M. KIRKLAND,

Author of a 'New Home,' 'Forest Life,' etc.

AND FILLED WITH

Contributions from the most eminent writers of the country.

The Second Volume commences with the January Number, 1848.

AT the conclusion of the first half year of the 'Union Magazine," the Publisher feels impelled to make some acknowledgment of his sense of the favorable reception accorded to it by the public. Its success has certainly been unprecedented; and while it may be pardonable to ascribe this in part to the merits of the work it must not be denied that public good will and kindness have been abundantly demonstrated. The press, in all parts of the country, have given its voice liberally and heartily in favor of the new aspirant.

To flag after this would be dishonorable indeed. It is the hope of the publisher, that the courage and enterprise which belong to success will be found rather to have stimulated than slackened his exertions. If there be talent of a suitable kind in the country he is determined to make it available to the Union Magazine in the various departments. He will continue to give superior engravings in Mezzotint, Line and Wood, by H. S. Sadd Thomas Doney, M Osborne, Hinshelwood, W. S Barnard, B F Childs, P. Loomis, &c, from original designs by F. H. Matteson, who has the sole direction of all the designs for the Engravings.

The Literary matter will continue to be under the exclusive control of the Editor. Mrs. C. M. Kirkland assisted by a corps of contributors who are either established favorites of the reading public or worthy to become so. Such as

S. Consul to Shang Hai China which to the Curious and intelligent will be worth at least a years subscription to the Magazine. And every exertion will be made which literary ability, ingenuity of Artists, and adequate capital can do, to make the Union Magazine worthy of the place already so generously granted it in the public esteem.

Dyspepsia Cured.

MARTIN & WHITLEY'S NATIONAL TONIC is the best remedy ever offered to the public in all cases of Dyspepsia and Ague and Fever. A healthy condition and a natural action of the functions of the Stomach and Liver are necessary to healthy Digestion The Stomach has been called the centre of Sympathies. It may therefore be truly said there is no disorder of the humane body, which does not, more or less, affect the functions of the Stomach. "Indigestion is rarely, if ever the sole cause of organic disease of the Stomach." It is however a very fruitful source of it in other parts of the system. It is, then, evident whatever will restore the tone or healthy action of the Stomach, when impaired by disease, is the only proper Medicine as a curative. Such, we feel assured is the national Tonic.

We give below a certificate of a highly respectable gentleman, a merchant in Cumberland County, Pennsylvania, who last summer came to consult a distinguished Physician in this City. He had also sought the aid of several, who rank high in their profession in Philadelphia, and in the State of Pennsylvania. But hearing of this Tonic, determined to use it as directed, and the result has been, as he says a perfect cure.
