GEN. TAYLOR'S POSITION—THE NATIONAL WHIG CONVENTION.—The following authentic publication, made in the New Orleans Picayune of the 25th ult., is conclusive on the matter to which it refers:

From the N. O. Picayune, June 25th.

GENERAL TAYLOR.

The undersigned whose names are affixed to the card hereto appended, make this publication at the special instance and request of Gen Zachary Taylor himself.—From sundry articles which have appeared in several of the public journals of the city of New Orleans, Gen. Taylor is given to understand that persons claiming to speak for him, have produced the impression that he is not satisfied with what Judge Saunders, and the other members of the Louisiana Delegation to the National Whig Convention who acted with him, saw fit to say and do in that body in his (General Taylor's) behalf, and that he repudiates such acts and sayings. Did these rumors and reports affect only himself, Gen. Taylor would not trouble the public concerning them; but as they affect, whether so intended or not, the good report and candor of gentlemen whose partiality for him has made them objects of reproach and suspicion, he feels constrained by a sense of duty and justice to authorise them to be met by a distinct and peremptory denial.

A CARD.

We are authorised by Gen. Taylor to say that the course of the Louisiana Delegation in the Whig Convention, lately assembled at Philadelphia, meets with his entire, full and unequivocal approbation.

That he not only never doubted, but never intimated a doubt that his honor and reputation were safe in their hands.

BALIE PEYTON,
LOGAN HUNTON,
A. C. BULLITT.

June 23, 1848.

The following is a copy of the statement made by Judge Saunders, of Louisiana, to the National Whig Convention, in Philadelphia, in behalf of General Taylor, which will now be read with additional interest, in connection with the foregoing full endorsement of its sentiments:

"The position occupied by Gen. Taylor, in relation to the Presidency, does not seem to be correctly understood by many persons, and, for that reason, it is deemed proper by the delegation of Louisiana to make such explanation and statements in relation to that position, as may effectually remove all doubt, and the effect of misrepresentation, on that point.

"Gen. Taylor has taken no part in bringing his name before the American people in connection with the Presidency, nor does he present his name to this convention as a candidate. His friends throughout the country, rather discouraged than encouraged by him, have placed him prominently before the nation as worthy of filling the place once occupied by the Father of his Country, and Gen Taylor, from a sense of duty, has assented to the nomination.

"He considered himself in the hands of his friends, who have honored him with their choice. He has publicly and repeatedly stated that they might withdraw him whenever they thought the interest of the country, in their opinion, required it. He does not consider that under the circumstances in which his name has been brought forward, that it would be proper in him to withdraw himself. Such has been his position since he assented to the use of his name subsequent to the capture of Monterey, and such is his position now.

"On behalf of the delegation of Louisiana, I will further state, that Gen. Taylor desires it to be understood, that, in his opinion, his friends who come into this convention, are bound to abide by its decision, and to sustain the nominee "he art and soul"—that General Taylor recognises in his friends in this convention those who have the right to withdraw his name, and will cheerfully acquiesce in such withdrawal.

"Gen. Taylor, we are also authorised to say, will hail with entire satisfaction the nomination by the convention of any other than himself, being persuaded that the welfare of our country requires a change of men and measures, in order to avert the downward tendency of our national affairs.

"In making this announcement, the delegation of Louisianna wish it to be distinctly understood that it involves no inconsistency on the part of General Taylor.

"In case the choice of this convention shall fall on another than Gen. Taylor, and his friends in this convention withdraw him, it will be their act, and not his; but in which he will cheerfully acquiesce; and by the act of uniting with this convention his friends withdraw his name from the canvass, unless he be the nominee of the convention.

"And we deem it proper to assure the whigs of the Union that we desire the nomination of Gen. Taylor, and his elevation to the Presidency, on no other than broad national grounds."

HON. JOHN M. CLAYTON.—A letter from the Hon. John M. Clayton, to members of the Whig Convention from that State, written previous to the assembling of the Convention, is published in the Delaware papers, in which he urges them to overlook their instructions to vote for him as a candidate for President, and to unite in the earnest support of General Taylor.

CANDIDATES AND PRINCIPLES.—Our opponents are terribly alarmed at Gen. Taylor's "want of principles"—why do they not look at the Allision letter? Candidate Cass has two sets on every question; for instance, the Cleaveland Plaindealer says he will recommend harbor and river appropriations in his inaugural address, while the Baltimore resolutions say such appropriations are unconstitutional—The "circumstances" are, that the locos, by attacking Gen. Taylor, are determined to keep up that "noise and confusion" which prevents Mr. Cass from being heard.

☞ It has been recently stated that Gov. Owsley, of Kentucky, had tendered to Mr. CLAY the office of U. S. Senator, made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Crittenden. The following is Mr. Clay's letter declining the appointment:

ASHLAND, 22d June, 1848.

DEAR SIR—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 20th instant, delivered to me yesterday, by Secretary Mitchell, tendering a temporary appointment of a Senator from Kentucky, in consequence of a vacancy produced by the resignation of Mr. Crittenden.—Your Excellency is pleased to urge me to accept the office from various reasons, which I admit possess considerable force. There is much ground to apprehend that, both in our domestic and foreign relations, grave and momentous questions may arise, the proper adjustment of which will require all the moderation, wisdom and experience which can be placed in the National councils.

When you were kind enough, some weeks ago, to intimate to me that you had intended, in the event of the vacancy which has since occurred, to offer me an Executive appointment, it is true that I observed to you that, as I had taken formal and final leave of the United States Senate, I could not return to it without apparent inconsistency and some personal embarrassment. But this was not the only consideration that weighed with me. My service in the two chambers of Congress had been long and arduous. I had remained in the Senate longer than I wished, at the instance of the General Assembly of Kentucky. I needed retirement and repose: and there were many high competent citizens of the State, from whom an easy selection might be made to supply my place.

If there was a certainty that any great emergency would rise, and that I, better than another, could assist in conducting the Government safely through it, obeying the paramount duty which one owes ever to his country, I would suppress all repugnance which I feel to the resumption of a seat in the Senate, disregard all etiquette, make any personal sacrifices, and proceed, with alacrity, to the post which might be assigned me. But dark and threatening as the clouds are which overhang us, I hope that they will be dispersed, without any storm bursting upon our heads; but, if it should come, I am persuaded that the Commonwealth has many citizens more able than I am to face and avert its effects.

I must therefore, adhere to the resolution which I had communicated to your Excellency, and respectfully decline accepting the appointment which you have had the goodness to offer me.

If it were possible for me to reconcile to my feelings, and to a sense of public duty, my return to the Senate, there are some minor considerations opposed to my acceptance of a temporary appointment, not without weight in my mind. The session of the Senate is drawing to a close. By the time that I could make preparations for the journey and reach Washington a very short remnant of it would be left, during which I could render no essential service. And again; the Executive appointment terminating with the meeting of the General Assembly, that body will have to perform the duty of designating Mr. Crittenden's successor. I am unwilling to be in a position which might occasion it the least embarrassment in the choice of that successor.

I request your Excellency to accept my profound acknowledgments for the distinguished proof of the confidence in me, which you do me the honor to entertain

I have the honor to be, with the highest respect, your Excellency's ob't servant,

H. CLAY.

His Excellency Wm. Owsley, &c.

THE STAR THAT NEVR SETS—glorious old Vermont—that never yet has given any other than a Whig vote, is now all right as regards the nomination of Taylor and Filmore. The Vermont Watchman, after a long hesitation as to running up their flag—a hesitation protracted until every other Whig paper in the State had given in adhesion—now joins the unbroken Whig phalanx. Its editorial announcing this decision, closes thus:

"Our judgment is that the wisest course is to concur in the support of General Taylor. Ours in the last Whig press in Vermont to accept the nomination.—We have waited for no factious purpose, nor from wilfulness—but to statisfy our best judgment. The course is clear: we enter upon it cheerfully."

The course of HORACE EVERETT, a delegate to the National Convention, who has seen proper to repudiate its action, is thus rebuked:

That one the 'Delegates of Vermont to the Whig National Convention should bolt a nomination, as fairly and honestly made as was that of General Taylor, is a matter with us 'of serious regret; but that the Hon. Horace Everett should oppose any nomination, neither excites our surprise nor our fears,—and, the Hon. Gentleman will find that he has studied Vermont character to but little purpose for the past forty years—if he supposed his course in the matter will meet a very general approval.—Rutland Herald.

TESTIMONY OF GEN. TAYLOR'S CHAPLAIN.—It appears from the following, that Gen. Taylor, like Gen. Cass, is a decided teetotaller:

"At the conference of the Congregational and Presbyterian ministers of Hilsboro county, N. H. assembled on the 14th of June, the Rev. Mr. Lamb, who was formerly a chaplain in the army under Gen Taylor at Fort Jessup, said that the opening for him to do good in the army was through Gen. Taylor, and that through the General's influence a temperance society was formed, by means of which 600 drunkards were reformed; that the Gen. told him that it was all a sham for a man to pretend he could not stand the damps and heats of the south without spirituous liquors. Gen. T. was a total abstinence man, and the only commanding officer who did not drill his troops on the Sabbath. Mr. Lamb also stated that Gen. T. attended his church regularly, and used no profane language. Mr. Lamb closed saying that he was no politician, nor did he wish his remarks to be viewed in a political light; he merely made them to show the way for doing good by tracts, by the temperance cause, and by the preached word, was opened by General Taylor."

"THIS LOOKS REBELLION!"—The New Orleans Delta publishes a call for a meeting of Democrats who are favorable to the election of Gen. Taylor. The call is signed by a number of the leading Democrats of the city of New Orleans, who, in the call, express their gratification at the nomination of General Taylor, by the Philadelphia Convention—their regret that the Baltimore Convention did not nominate him also—and avow their determination to support him, no matter by whom nominated!—North Amer.

The Whole Thing in a Nut Shell.—The Boston Courier in announcing its determination to support the nominee of the Whig Convention, says:

"We take the matter as we find it, and it comes to our hands in a very plain shape Shall the Whigs support the Whig candidate or by withholding that support throw all their strength on the side of their opponents! This is the true state of the matter, and no refinements or sophistications can put it in any other shape that can be plain to the common sense of common men."

Every Whig paper in Boston, and nearly every one in New England, now displays the names of TAYLOR and FILLMORE.

If any thing were wanting to show up the utter absurdity of some of the provisions of the Sub-Treasury law, in its practical workings, it was fully exhibited in the change of place and manner of paying the interest on the Government loan, on Saturday last. Heretofore it has been paid at the Philadelphia Bank, and every one who called there for his money, knows how promptly and satisfactorily he received the amount due. Very different, however, was it at the Mint on Saturday. Persons, after waiting there for hours to receive their money, were obliged to come away without it and wait for a more favorable opportunity on another day.—To make payment of large sums in gold and silver is, in all cases, a tedious process, and the want of necessary aid in making payments at the Mint, rendered it still more so. Much dissatisfaction was expressed by the loan-holders on being obliged to go so far up Chesnut street to the Mint, during the present hot weather, and at the delay necessarily caused there, before they got there money; and if it was left to their choice, nine-tenths of them would prefer having it paid at Bank, as heretofore. As the amount of loan held here becomes enlarged, the difficulty and inconvenience of receiving the semi-annual interest at the Mint will be proportionately increased, and we therefore cannot but hope that when the Sub-Treasury law becomes modified, (as modified it must be,) provision will be made that the holders of the loan may hereafter receive their interest at Bank, and that the disbursing officers of the Government be permitted, with a view to their own safety and the convenience of the public creditors, to keep their accounts in one or more of our moneyed institutions.—Phil. North American.

HOOPING COUGH AND CROUP.

To PARENTS.—JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT, is without exception the most valuable preparation in use, for the above diseases. It converts Hooping Cough into a mild and tractable disease, and shortens its duration more than one-half, and produces a certain and speedy recovery. From half to one tea spoonful will certainly cure Croup in infants and young children, in half an hour's time. The lives of hundreds of children will be saved annually, by always keeping it on hand ready for every emergency.

Bowel & Summer Complaint.—Dr. JAYNE, No. 8, South Third Street, is willing to guarantee that his CARMINATIVE BALSAM will cure Diarrhœa, Colics, Cramps, Griping Pains, Cholera Morbus, Summer Complaint, and other derangements of the Stomach and Bowels, in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, and in less than half the time than can be effected by any other means.

It is extremely pleasant, and children are fond of it. It is equally effectual for adults as children, and when the directions are followed, and a cure is not effected, the money will be cheerfully returned. Price 25 and 50 cents a bottle.

Another Physician's Opinion.—The following additional testimony in favor of Dr. Jayne's Medicines has recently been received from a physician of high standing in Lauderdale Co., Miss., under date of August 9, 1846.

"Dr. D. Jayne—Dear Sir—I am intimately acquainted with some of your preparations, and can safely recommend them. Your Expectorant and Carminative Balsam I have used extensively in my own practice, and I state unhesitatingly that I have used no article, or combination of medicines, that have better answered the purpose for which they were prepared than the above, &c. W. W. Johnson, M. D.

Talbot County, to wit:

ON application of James H. Hopkins, of Talbot County, by petition in writing to me the subscriber, one of the Judges of the Orphans' Court of Talbot County, setting forth that he is under execution and pressed for the payment of debts he is unable to satisfy, and offering to deliver up to his creditors all his property, real, personal and mixed, of which he is in any way entitled, the necessary wearing apparel, &c., of himself and his family excepted, a schedule whereof and a list of his creditors and debts being annexed to his petition on oath, and praying to have extended to him the benefit of the Insolvent Laws of Maryland, and it appearing to me by competent testimony that the said Petitioner has resided within the State of Maryland for the last two years next before his application and still is a resident of said State, I have appointed Thomas Parrott Trustee for the benefit of the creditors of the said James H. Hopkins, who has entered into bond with security by me approved for the faithful performance of his trust, and the said Trustee having certified to me that he is in possession of all the property in the said schedule mentioned, I have ordered and appointed the first Wednesday of November Term next for the said James H. Hopkins to be and appear before the Judges of Talbot County Court, to answer such allegations and interrogatories, as may be propounded to him by his creditors, or to be otherwise dealt with according to Law, and the same James H. Hopkins having entered into bond in a penalty by me approved so to appear and answer as aforesaid, I do hereby order and direct that he give notice of this his application and of the day so by me appointed for his final hearing in Talbot County Court, to his Creditors by advertisement of the order in some newspaper published in Talbot County, once a week for three weeks three months before the said first Wednesday of November Term next.

Given under my hand and seal this 19th day of May, Anno Domini eighteen hundred and forty eight.
