Philadelphia Correspendence.

While the above fires were raging, a conflagration occurred in a large brick dwelling on Swanson street, above Washington, in the record ward. The building was used wood, (Mrs. Lippincott.) in an address to by a block and pump maker, a plaining Little mill, and packing box maker; and there being a large amount of stock on band, the flames made short work of the matter .-This is the third or fourth time the same place has been destroyed. This, I believe. ends the chapter of fires.

We have had some tremendous "blows" here fately, the latest of which occurred on lue day evening. It commenced snowing on the afternoon of that day, but stopped about 7 P. M., when old Boreas got up an entertainment of his own, and played the deuce with rotten window shutters; awnings and decayed trees.

On the 11th of this month, there was a formal opening of the Delaware Rail Read from New Ca-tle to Nanticoke city-that to it will be a city when the houses are built - which I have no doubt will be soon accomplished.) A party of some two hundred Philadelphians left this city on the morning of that day, by invitation of the managers of the road, and were landed in Nantiroke about 2 P. M., in the midst of as drenching a shower as any one need wish. to be exposed to.
