the parties to this suit.
To the 2nd Interrogatory, this deponent says that she has known Lavinia ever since she was ens years old. Deponent resides on her farm just across the road, opposite to old Mr Emment.
To the 3rd Interrogatory, this deponent says she knows Lavinia well. Knows her temper. Knows it well, better than most persons do. Knows her as well as her mother knows her. Lavinia has been in my house daily. Amiability is the character of her temper. She is amiable, placid and mild. She plays with deponents children, went to school with them and never knew her in a temper. She was in my family almost daily and was a general favorite, particularly with my husband. Never heard anything against her temper in the neighborhood until the difficulties with the Schindel family. Her mother was the first to mention these difficulties to this deponent — that is in relation to Jonathan Schindels coming to Mr Emments and trying to persuade Lavinia to leave her mothers house. This is what Mr Emment told deponent. Does not know any thing of the matter herself. Lavinia went with my children to school.
To the 4th Interrogatory, this deponent says that Lavinia was always a perfect Lady in every respect. She was always mild and gentle with every person that ever deponent saw with her. Certainly never saw any thing else but modesty about her. Never heard from her any thing that was indelicate from a child up. Certainly she has always conducted herself with female propriety, never saw any thing else and never heard any thing else. Knows her to be nothing else than a perfect Lady, and deponent knows her as well as she does her own daughter, whom she considers as a perfect a Lady as any in Hagerstown and Mr Schindel is as much of a Lady as she is.
To the 5th Interrogatory, this deponent says that she knows Andrew J. Schindel. Knows him to be an ill-grained, irritable fellow. His countenance is an index of that. This is his general character.
To the 6th Interrogatory, this deponent says that after the marriage she did see he lubricate Mr Schindels temper. Deponent came to town just after their return from their bridal tour. Called on Lavinia at her mothers Mr Emments. Mr Emment invited deponent to stay to tea. Lavinia asked deponent how I came to town, told her I walked. She then said Mrs Smith if you will remain you can ride out with Mr Schindel and myself in the carriage as we are going out to his fathers. After tea we got into the carriage to go home, after we got in Mr Schindel cut his horse so that it alarmed me and I became nervous and mortified to think that I was in the carriage with him. Deponent thought every moment that the horse would rear up and break the shafts of the carriage. His wife and deponent remarked to him. Why Mr Schindel aint you afraid. He turned round in the most sarcastic manner. His manner was most sarcastic and said this is the way I mean to train people. During our whole ride he did nothing but cut the horse. Deponent has lived on the road a great while and never saw the greatest ruffian treat a horse the way he did that one. Deponent has lived met Mr and Mrs Schindel at Mr Emments table. Mr Schindel made some remark to him which deponent did not hear. He said

I never can please you, and never will try to please you, and there was then a general silence at the table. Deponent also met him in Lavinias sick room. He appeared to be very anxious about going to housekeeping. Deponent said to him you are very comfortably fixed here and you had better remain until Lavinia is entirely recovered. He said nothing — his manner and his whole gestures and movements showed that he could scarcely remain there. Deponent judges people by their countenance and actions.
To the 7th Interrogatory this deponent says that she does not remember of Andrew wearing whiskers last summer. Had no whiskers when he returned from his bridal tour. Had them before his marriage.

Cross Examination of Mrs Elizabeth Smith

To the 1st Interrogatory this deponent says that she came to this place to be examined in company with Mr Samuel Schindel and the two Mrs Schindels and they are now present.
To the 2nd Cross Interrogatory this deponent says that she has known Andrew J. Schindel for a long time, but became more intimately acquainted with him in Mr Emments family. Has seen enough of him to convince deponent what he was. Has nothing further to say.
To the 3rd Cross Interrogatory, this deponent says that she did not visit them after they commenced housekeeping. Had a very good reason for not visiting there. He always looked so grum. Deponent knew that he did not like her and she had too much dignity of character to visit where she was not liked. Deponent was one evening in their Hall he merely spoke. Willia Schindel and deponent were there he made out to say good Evening and that was all
To the 5th Cross Interrogatory, this deponent says that she has not a good deal of feeling in this case. Have not the least. Wants nothing done but what is justice, and Mrs Schindel demands justice.

At Mr R. H. Alexs Office

Jonathan Schindel, a Witness of lawful age, produced on the part of Defendant, being duly sworn on the Holy Evangelys of Almighty God did depose and say.
To the 1st Interrogatory, this deponent says that he is acquainted with the parties to this suit.
To the 2nd Interrogatory this deponent says that Andrew J. Schindel is his brother and Lavinia C. Schindel his sister in Law
To the 3rd Interrogatory this deponent says that he was acquainted with Lavinia before her marriage. Had a conversation with her in regard to her treatment. She told deponent that she could not live at Mrs Emments — they treated her very bad and called her names, different kind of names
To the 4th Interrogatory, this deponent says that deponent was at Mrs Emments on a Saturday Evening. Lavinia wanted to go into the country and said she had no way of going out. Deponent told her that he would come for her and take her out. When I came in for her she had gone down the Street as she said to see Andrew to get her at boarding house as her Mother had forbidden her the house that day. When she came back to Mrs Emments she said to her. Mother you told
