The Sickles Case.—Contrary to public expectation, the trial of the Hon. D. E. Sickles for the murder of Philip Barton Key Esq., was not commenced at Washington Monday last. The Court met, but after speeches by his Honor, Judge Crawford, and Robert Ould. Esq., in reference to the death of Mr. Key, adjourned in honor to his memory till to day, (Tuesday.)

A Baltimore correspondent of the Washington Star, says:

Mrs. Key, (mother of Mr. Key,) now lies very ill. She supposes her son died of apoplexy. and will likely be kept in this blissful ignorance. When told there was bad news from Washington, the old lady exclaimed, "My son Barton is dead," and asked if he did not die of appoplexy, as she had always had a presentiment that his life would terminate in that way. Her next inquiry was, "did he die in the street?" which was answered in the affirmative without compromising the truth. She then sank in her bed quite ill. The impression is she cannot long survive.

Mrs. Sickles, according to a correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger, is in the city of New York, staying with her mother. The story that she had threatened violence to herself, in a certain contingency, it is all gammon. People who ought to know say that the lady now rather regrets her precipitate confession, and the first blush of shame for the public exposure being over, resentment begins to take the place of contrition, as far as her husband is concerned.

Fights at Washington.—Such a glorious session of Congress as the last, could not reasonably be expected to close without a big drunk, and a fight or two, if not in the Hall, then elsewhere around town. The Star of Saturday consequently gives an account of two such occurrences as follows:

In the course of last evening, the Hon. Thos. Bowie of Md., and Mr. A. T. H. White of this city, while enjoying themselves as friends in the saloon of the National Hotel, had a misunderstanding; in the course of which the former used very harsh and severe language towards the latter, and laid his cane upon his shoulder.—This was resented by, perhaps, half a dozen heavy blows from the cane of Mr. W., ere bystanders could interfere. After that was accomplished, however, Mr. White pitched into a mutual friend, Mr. Crutchett, who had aided in dragging him away from the scene of his first encounter. They were separated only after a pretty free use of their walking sticks, and a rough tumble, and rolling over, which generated in commotion hardly second to the main fight of the night in that ring. It is said that, in the melee, a pistol was fired, the ball of which went through Mr. Bowie's hat; but we have been unable to learn, from any one present, that any such weapon was drawn or used on the occasion.

Tother Fight.—Last evening, Mr. Lander, late the civil engineer attached to the Government Wagon Road Expedition of which Mr. Wm. H. Magraw was the Superintendent, met the latter in one of the public apartments of Willards' Hotel; Mr. L. having, according to popular rumors, previously challenged him, without receiving a reply to his challenge, which (the challenge) grew out of a difficulty between them when engaged together on the expedition. It is said that Mr. Lander, on meeting Mr. Magraw at Willards' entered into conversation with him about his declension to make any reply to the hostile billetdoux which though carried on in tones so low as not to be understood by the bystanders, resulted in a terrible collision. both being physically powerful men. In the course of it Mr. Magraw, who is said to have had in his hand a sort of "billy," dealt Mr. Lander three tremendous blows ere he could return the first. When he did return it, however, the tide of battle turned on his side, and he floored his antagonist, whom he is said to have "punished" ere they could be parted, as severely as he had himself been "punished" in the first few moments of the assault. We have not learned whether he was seriously injured though it is generally understood that both left the scene of action terribly cut and disfigured—much the worse (in plight) from the wear and tear of their few moments of close contact with each other.

Important to Farmers!

PEABODY PROLIFIC CORN!

One of the most important considerations with Farmers, in the successful cultivation of crops of all kinds, is to procure the purest seed, and those which will mature the earliest, and produce the greatest yield. To enable them to do so at this time, with special regard to their corn crop, the subscriber desires to call their attention to the justly renowned which since its introduction by him in Talbot county, has acquired so unrivalled a reputation for its abundant yield of Grain and Fodder. A crop of this corn was grown by me in the Summer of 1858, near Easton, and notwithstanding the continued drought of the season, and the unproductiveness of the land on which it was grown, produced a much greater yield, both of grain and fodder, than any crop of corn I have ever raised with the ordinary kinds cultivated by me during my long experience in farming, even on lands of prime quality. A number of gentlemen in the county, practical farmers, who examined the crop when growing, were astonished at the great yield which it promised notwithstanding the very unfavorableness of the season. The crops of corn of the ordinary kinds, grown on adjoining farms of vastly superior fertility of soil, was pronounced vastly inferior to my field of the Peabody Prolific in every particular.

It was at considerable trouble and expense that this species of corn was introduced by me in this country, and I have taken especial pains in its cultivation, to preserve the seed pure and unmixed with other kinds. This corn, on ordinary land, will produce on an average, from three to four stalks to the hill, containing not less than two good ears to the stalk, and yields a greater abundance of fodder than any other kind of corn now cultivated. I gathered from one hill in my field, last season, ten good sized ears of this corn, which I deposited in the office of a prominent citizen of Easton, as a sample of my crop. This corn was purchased by me directly from Mr. Peabody, of Columbus, Georgia, at a cost of ten dollars per bushel, and I have taken great pains to save from the crop grown last year, the purest and best matured seed.

I am confident that Farmers in Talbot and the adjoining counties, would find it greatly to their interest to procure in time for planting this season, a portion, at least, of their crop of the seed of this unrivalled corn

Having said thus much, for the purpose of calling attention to this new variety of grain, I beg leave to refer the Farmers of this and the adjoining counties, to the following gentlemen, among the many who examined my crop while growing and who, I am confident, would not hesitate to endorse all that I have said with regard to it.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

Subscription price—$1 00 per year.

With the view of securing the largest possible circulation among the masses of the people, the proprietors of The States have determined to reduce the price of the Weekly paper to

ONE DOLLAR PER ANNUM.

The States will be conducted with an exclusive regard to the principles of States-rights Democracy, will be indepent of factions, and unbiased by partial interests—in short, will continue on the line of that pursued under its present management.—We presume it has given a sufficient exemplification of its principles and objects to dispense with the necessity of any formal professions.

Located at the Federal Capitol, The States has great advantages over other journals in procuring important and valuable information relating to the affairs of government. Its central position also enables it to procure at the earliest moment the latest foreign and domestic news, and in its columns will always be found matters of interest appertaining to Literature, Agriculture, and Commerce.

The price of subscription is fixed so low, that it brings the paper within the reach of every person who desires a good and reliable newspaper. We therefore appeal to our Democratic friends throughout the country to aid us in securing The States an extended circulation.

To those who will take the trouble of getting us up a club of ten subscribers, at the rate of ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR for each subscriber, we will send a copy of the Weekly States for one year gratis.

Payments in all cases required in advance.

The following letter from Rev. Henry Wood, late Consul to Beyroot, Syria, and formerly editor of the Congregationalist, Concord, N. H, and now Chaplain U. S Navy, is of like tenor of thousands in our possession:—

Coxcoan, N. H., March 2.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Co.—Gentlemen—Two years ago, a sudden and violent attack upon my lungs confined me to my bed for several weeks, and when I recovered, I was so much oppressed by difficulty in breathing, that I was often unable to sleep or rest upon a bed by night. The suffering was extreme, and judging from the inefficiency of the remedies used, I supposed the disease incurable. Being persuaded to try a bottle of WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY, without the least confidence in its efficiency, I found the difficulty almost entirely removed before one bottle was used up. Having a mortal aversion to medicine, and seldom using it in any form, sympathy with my fellow sufferers induces me to make this public statement, and recommend the article to others similarly afflicted.

With respect, yours truly, HENRY WOOD.

It has been used with like success by SAMUEL A. WALKER, Auctioneer.
DR. WM. A. SHAW, Washington, N.C.
Alderman PERKINS.

And by numerous Physicians in their practice, as their Certificates testify.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given, that a NEGRO WOMAN calling herself Esther Smith, supposed to be a runaway slave, and supposed to be from Baltimore, has been committed to Somerset county Jail in Princess Anne, Maryland. She was arrested on the 5th of December last. She claims to be free, but from her contradictory statements is thought to be a slave. She appears to be about 50 years old, has a dark complexion, somewhat over 5 feet high, upper teeth gone, and one of her lower front teeth, has a scar on her under lip and one on the back of the left hand. Her apparel is a summer delaine, and a fancy colored shawl much faded. If the owner comes forward within sixty days and proves property and pays all charges he can get his slave.—Otherwise I must proceed to dispose of her according to law. JOSHUA W. PHILLIPS, jan 29-9t Sheriff of Somerset County, Md.

NEW MILLINERY STORE.

Mrs. Eliza J. Gattin would most respectfully inform the Ladies of Easton and vicinity that she has opened a Millinery and Fancy Store in the room formerly occupied by Mrs. Rebecca Shannahan, dec'd, where she will be pleased to see her friends.

She will constantly keep on hand Trimmings, Ribbons of all descriptions, and Fancies of all kinds.

During busy seasons and at all other times, all work entrusted to her care will be despatched with neatness and care.

She thinks from her experience in the above business that she can render entire satisfaction.
