SATURDAY MORNING . . . . JUNE 4, 1859

USEFUL RECEIPTS.

How to Make Spruce Beer.—As the season is at hand when pleasant summer drinks, free from undue alcholic influence are frequently brewed by the housewife, or the well brought-up daughters, who are taught a little of everything in the way of household duties—we append the following receipts, which are claimed to be excellent:

1. Take three gallons of water, of blood warmth, three half-pints of molasses, a table spoonful of essence of spruce, and the like quantity of ginger—mix well together with a gill of yeast; let stand over night and bottle in the morning. It will be in good condition to drink in twenty-four hours.—It is a palatable wholesome beverage.

2. Those who prefer mead have only to substitute honey for the molasses named above, and for one-third the ginger use allspice. Half the quantity of yeast will be found sufficient, and the bottling should occur the second day instead of the next morning. It will be fit to drink in four days after being bottled, and will keep for many weeks. A small quantity of alcohol is formed during the fermentation, and this prevents the acetous fermentation so common to spruce beer. The essence of spruce is of course left out in the making of mead. The alcohol formed from the fermentation of honey, resembles that found in metheglin, while the alcohol from the fermentation of molasses is rum. Those who imagine that they can make either spruce beer or mead without forming any alcohol, are mistaken.

3. Prepare a five or ten gallon keg, in proportion to the size of the family—draw a piece of course bobinet, or very coarse book-muslin over the end of the faucet that is inserted into the keg, to prevent its choking, a good tight bung, and near to that a gimlet hole, with a peg to fit it tight.

Recipe for Five Gallons.—One quart of sound corn put into the keg, with half a gallon of molasses; then fill with cold water to within two inches of the bung. Shake well, and in two or three days it will be fit for use. Bung tight.

If you want spruce flavor, add one teaspoonful of essence of spruce—lemon, if lemon is preferred—ginger, or any flavor you prefer. The corn will last to make five or six brewings; when it is exhausted, renew it. When the beer passes from the vinous to the acetous fermentation, it can be corrected by adding a little more molasses and water.

This is a simple, cheap beverage, costing about three cents a gallon. After the beer becomes ripe it ought to be kept in a cool place to prevent it from becoming sour before it is exhausted.

Brine a Cure for Warts.—Having seen a recommendation of a method of curing warts on horses, which seems to me to be very cruel, I am induced to write my experience in curing them, believing that warts have one origin, and are the same and the same remedy will cure, on whatever animal they may be found. It is some years since I saw a young man in Salem, Mass., the back of whose hands were literally covered with warts, many of them large and seedy, and very troublesome.—I told him to go and wash his hands in the tide water in the flume, (he worked in a tide mill,) three times a day for one week, and to use plenty of soap, and in a few weeks his warts would be among the missing. He took my advice, and the warts left in about two months.

Cows often have warts on their udders. I have seen many, and some very bad, which I have cured by simply washing them after milking, for one or two weeks, with brine, which is my only remedy, and has never failed of a cure.—Correspondence of Country Gent.

How to Preserve Dried Fruit.—The Lexington (S. C.) Flag says: One day last week, while purchasing a lot of dried fruit, we discovered small pieces of sassafras bark mixed among it, and upon inquiry, were informed that it was a preventive against the worm. It is said that dried fruit put away with a little bark, (say a large handful to the bushel,) will save for years, unmolested by those troublesome insects, which often destroy hundreds of bushels in a single season. The remedy is cheap and simple, but we venture to say a good one.

Asparagus a Remedy for Hydrophobia.—A correspondent of the Providence Journal sends that paper the following receipt as a remedy for hydrophobia:

"Eat the green shoots of asparagus raw, sleep and perspiration will be induced, and the disease can thus be cured in any stage of canine madness."

A man in Athens, Greece, was cured by this remedy after the paroxysms had commenced.

Cure for Lockjaw.—"We have noticed lately "says the Lancaster Gazette, "account of a number of deaths by this disease, which induces us to republish a positive preventive and remedy for this disease. It is the simple application of beef's gall to the wound. Besides its antispasmodic properties, the gall draws from the wound any particles of wood, glass, iron or other substances that may cause irritation, when other application may fail."

The past May was one of the months.—It had five Sundays, five Mondays, and five Tuesdays.

THE MIGHTY HEALER.

WORLD KNOWN AND WORLD TRIED

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

The free admissions of all Nations, as well as the verdict of the leading Hospitals of the Old as well as the New World stamp this powerful remidial Agent as the greatest healing preparation ever made known to suffering man. Its Penetrative qualities are more than marvelous, though the external orifices of the skin, invisible to the naked eye, it reaches the seat of the internal diseases: and in all external affections its at ti-inflamatory and healing virtues surpass anything else on record, and is nature's great ally.

ERYSIPELAS AND SALT RHEUM

Are two of the most common and virulent disorders prevalent on this continent, to these the Ointment is especially antagonistic, its "modus operandi" is first to eradicate the venom and then complete the cure.

BAD LEGS, OLD SORES, AND ULCERS.

Cases of many years standing that have pertinaciously refused to yield to any other remedy or treatment; have invariably succumbed to a few applications of this powerful ungent.

ERUPTIONS ON THE SKIN,

Arising from a bad state of the blood or chronic disease are eradicated, and a clear and transparent surface regained by the restorative action of this Ointment. It surpasses many of the cosmetics and other toilet appliances in its power to dispel rashes and other disfigurements of the face.

PILES AND FISTULA.

Every form and feature of these prevalent and stubborn disorders is eradicated locally and entirely by the use of this emolient; warm fomentations should precede its application. Its healing qualities will be found to be thorough and invariable.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases:

Bunions,	Mecurial Eruptions,	Swelled Glands,
Sprains,	Burns,	Piles,
Sore Legs,	Stiff Joints,	Chapped Hands,
Rheumatism,	Sore Breasts,	Tetter,
Chilblains,	Ringworm,	Sore Heads,
Ulcers,	Fistula,	Salt Rheum,
Sore Throats,	Venereal Sores,	Gout,
Scalds,	Sores of all kinds,	Wounds of all
Lumbago,	Skin Diseases,	kinds.

☞ CAUTION!—None are genuine unless the words "Holloway, New York and London," are discernible as a Water-mark in every leaf of the book of directions around each pot or box; the same may be plainly seen by holding the leaf to the light. A handsome reward will be given to any one rendering such information as may lead to the detection of any party or parties counterfeiting the medicines or vending the same, knowing them to be spurious.

 Sold at the Manufactories of Professor Holloway, 80 Maiden Lane, New York, and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers in Medicines throughout the United States and the civilized world, in pots at 25 cents, 63 cents, and $1.

☞ There is considerable saving by taking the larger sizes.
