PHILOSOPHICAL CHARTS;
A SERIES OF
Ten Large Charts, (each 34 by 52 inches,) accompanied by an Explanatory Key.

The plan of these Charts is entirely new; they embrace

Three Hundred Diagrams,

many of which are original illustrations, adapted to all of the popular and commonly used text-books relating to this branch of education. The use of apparatus is entirely superseded by these Charts. From the Hon. Theo. Frelinghuysen, Pres. Rutger's College, New Jersey.

Dr. Johnson's 'Philosophical Charts,' designed for the use of Schools and Academies, furnish an admirable substitute for the far more expensive apparatus. These charts hung on the walls of the school-room, in all which I hope to see them, will spread before the scholar a palpable illustration of the great laws in Natural Philosophy.

THEO FRELINGHUYSEN.

From Benjamin Silliman, LL. D., Prof. Emiritus in Yale College.

Dr. Johnson's 'Philosophical Charts,' are well worthy of the attention of all teachers and learners of the different branches of Natural Philosophy, to which they relate.

Commissioners' Sale.

THE Commissioners for Talbot County will offer at public sale, to the lowest bidder, in front of the Court-House in Easton, on Tuesday, the 12th day of July next,
At 2 o'clock, P. M., the contract for altering the public road and making three new bridges, over the streams near Cowgill's (formerly Stevens') Mill, on the road leading from Easton to Hillsborough; the said job to be done according to the specifications contained in the following Report, made by the Examiners appointed to lay down the said road.

REPORT.

We the undersigned Examiners, appointed by the County Commissioners to alter and amend the public road at and below the Mill owned by Daniel Cowgill, Jr., make the following report:

We find that the public convenience requires the road at this point to be straightened, widened, and bridged in three places—over the grist mill race, over the floodgate stream, and over the saw-mill race—the road to be (including ditches from which to raise the causeway) forty-six feet wide, and twenty-four perches long, commencing on the north side of the main road, near the race of said D. Cowgill's saw mill, and passing thence in a straight line to a large poplar tree on the south side of the grist-mill race—through the lands of said D. Cowgill.

The bridges, causeway &c., to be made after the following specifications: The bridge over the saw-mill race to be a single span, ten feet long and sixteen feet wide, in the clear, having three piles of eight inches diameter at the small end, on each side of the race, to be driven in the ground at least four feet and to be even with the surface of the ground at the top, upon which there is to be a cap-sill, eight by ten inches, morticed on each side with five sleepers from one to the other, four by six inches—between the bank and the piles to be plank sixteen feet long and two inches thick—the bridge to be covered with plank of same thickness, to be spiked down with wrought iron spikes—also frame banister, to be put up on each side of said bridge, to come off on the fast land with a flare—the whole to be made of the best white-oak timber. The bridge over grist mill race to be made by above specifications.

The bridge over the flood gate stream to be made with three spans, each fourteen feet long, making the whole length of the bridge forty-two feet, and sixteen feet wide in the clear; to be built with two mud-sills and abuttments, the abuttments to be made of logs squared on two sides, with logs for wings, sixteen feet long, dove-tailed into them and running from the stream into the fast land of the causeway, slanting outward, the land ends to be pinned together; two mud-sills, to be sixteen feet long squared on the top side, to be burried below the surface of the stream and to be fastened down by three piles at each end, of five inches in diameter and driven at least four feet into the ground—said mud-sills not to be of less diameter than fifteen inches; there shall be two upright posts in each mud-sill, six feet long between joints, twelve inches square and braced up stream; there shall be placed on these posts by morticing, two cap sills, twelve inches square, braced from the posts, said cap-sills to be twenty feet long, so as to allow for traces from them to the banisters; to be five sleepers to each span sixteen feet long, six by eight inches, the whole to be covered with plank two inches thick and spiked down with wrought-iron spikes—frame banister to extend the whole length of the bridge on each side and to run out on the abuttment wings the whole length thereof, the abuttment on each side to be raised six feet: the causeway to be raised to the level of the abuttments, thirty feet wide at the top: the road to be left open for a public watering place at the flood-gate stream. The whole of the lumber and timber to be used in the above bridge to be of white-oak.

JACOB MORGAN,
WM. P. LEAVERTON.
D. COWGILL, Jr.

The contractor will be required by the County Commissioners, to enter into bond with good and sufficient security, to double the amount of the purchase money for the faithful performance of the contract, and for the completion of the work within four months from the day of sale; the terms of payment to be agreed upon between the contractor and the said Commissioners; and the work not to be received by the County and paid for in full, until it has been passed by a committee, to be appointed by the said Commissioners to examine it, and the report of the said committee approved by the Commissioners aforesaid.

By order of the Board.

ROOFING.

WM. L. WORK, of Easton Md., would inform the citizens of Talbot county that he is Agent for and will put on J. H. Johnson's Felt and Composition roofing at short notice. DYSPEPSIA
AND KINDRED DISEASES
RADICALLY, PERMANENTLY & SPEEDILY
CURED BY THE OXYGENATED BITTERS.

Experience has confirmed these Bitters, as the most Remarkable Preparation ever presented to the public for the cure of the following complaints, viz:—Pain in the Stomach, Heart Burn, Water Rash, Costiveness, Acidity, Oppression after Eating, Jaundice, Piles, Flatuency, Ennui, Torpor of the Liver, Dizziness, Debility, Fever and Ague, Climatic Influence, Female Complaints, and all Diseases having their origin in imperfect digestion, or deranged condition of the stomach.

This preparation contains no Alcohol, or Poisonous Drugs; is not affected by time or climate; is highly agreeable to the taste; and while it differs totally from all other remedies ever discovered, is unsurpassably superior to them all.

[From the Boston Post, Feb. 9, 1858.]

OXYGENATED BITTERS.—The various certificates given by gentlemen of position in regard to the merits of these Bitters, which we believe to be fully merited, are endorsed to-day by a card which appears in the Portland Christian Mirror, of the 20th ult. As a voluntary expression of opinion, it must have its due effect.

EAST TAUNTON, Jan 4, 1858.

Mr. Lord—Dear Sir:—You will confer a favor upon me, and I trust also upon the suffering, by giving the following a place in the Mirror.
JAMES R. CUSHING.

OXYGENATED BITTERS.—For more than twenty-five years I have been a sufferer from the dyspepsia. Besides trying the patience of my family physicians in the almost useless trials of their various prescriptions, I have tried a great variety of patent medicines with a similar result. Through the kindness of Dr. W. G. Hanaford, I received, in March last, a half dozen bottles of Oxygenated Bitters, from Mr. Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston. I began to use them without any hope of deriving help from them. Being determined to give them a fair trial, I continued their use, but without any perceptible benefit till June.

Since then I have gradually improved in health till I am entirely free from acidity of the stomach, and from the consequent flatulency, and the awful and almost distracting sick headache, which often, for days together, has wholly unfitted me for study and for all other ministerial duties, and rendered life a burden. Having derived so great a relief, I feel that I owe it, as an expression of gratitude to Mrs. Fowle & Co., and also a duty to the public, to recommend their Oxygenated bitters, as in my estimation, a sure remedy for that most trying, most vexing, and cruel of all diseases, to which poor human flesh is heir, the dyspepsia. Having suffered so long, and tried so many different remedies with no good result, I can recommend the Oxygenated Bitters with a confidence few others can. If any of the readers of the Mirror are suffering, I beg of them to make a trial of these Bitters without delay

JAMES R. CUSHING.
