and returns about 7 o'clock the next morning.

Mail matter must be deposited in the office EARLY on the evening before the departure of these mails.

The Oxford, Trappe and Canal ridge mails leave on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and return the same day.

The St. Michaels mail arrives on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday mornings, and returns the same day.

WE informed our subscribers last week that we had adopted measures which would secure an early delivery of the Gazette on the day of publication, at the various offices in this county. The organization of Congress and the liberal spirit manifested in legislation in reference to the Post Office Department warrant the belief that there will be a speedy resumption of lately discontinued routes and great improvements in mail facilities generally. We shall take advantage of such facilities to send the Gazette to all our subscribers at home and abroad by the first mail, and whenever the post office does not afford as convenience, we shall, as we are now doing, provide them at our own expense. Devoting ourselves with renewed energy to editorial duties we can promise our patrons that in receiving the Gazette they will receive the latest news and the most interesting items of information that can be gleaned from our exchanges, which embrace all parts of the country, North, South, East and West. The state of the markets will receive special attention, and our agricultural department, supplied with articles of practical interest from the best publications, shall possess unusual attractions for the farmer's fireside. The session of Congress will be one of the most important ever held. Its proceedings, and all that transpires there of interest, will be laid before our readers. Nor will our State be forgotten. We publish regularly the proceedings of the legislature of Maryland, and we shall note promptly every occurrence of local interest. Indeed whatever can be done to make our paper of local and of general interest will not be omitted. In political position the Gazette will be, as ever, conservative and national, and able articles from leading papers and eloquent speeches will be often presented under this head. Though we have no reason to complain of our subscription list we trust our friends will omit no suitable opportunity to enlarge it.

By an act of the present legislature of this State a law has been passed whereby the whole police system of the city of Baltimore has been taken from the control of the Mayor and placed in the hands of four individuals termed, "police commissioners," which law goes into effect immediately. Shortly after the commissioners were sworn in Mayor Swann was waited on, at the city hall, to receive his written response to the invitation of the Commissioners to attend their deliberations. The interview between the Mayor and Commissioner Howard was of a cordial and courteous character, though of brief continuance, his Honor handing to the Commissioner his written reply, in substance that he properly appreciated the courtesy of their invitation, but was compelled to decline compliance with it, unsatisfied he confessed himself to be as to the legality of the act upon which rested the existence of the Board.

He further replied that he had consulted with eminent legal gentlemen, who had assured him that the bill, under whose authority the Commissioners proposed to act, was unconstitutional; it was his duty, therefore, to test the matter in the courts of law, and should their decision establish the constitutionality of the measure, no one in the city, would yield a readier or heartier obedience to it than himself.

The city will be represented by Messrs Jonathan Meredith, Wm. Schley, Thomas S. Alexander and Wm. Price. On the part of the State, it is rumored that the Hon. Reverdy Johnson, and Messrs. Tearkle Wallis, J. Mason Campbell, William George Brown, W. H. Norris and G. W. Gill, will appear.

MAIL STEAM SHIP LINE.—We have received, from the publishers, a handsome octavo volume, of 159 pages, upon the subject of a proposed line of steamships from Mobile and New Orleans to the various Mexican ports of the Gulf, intended for mail service, freight and passage. The work is from the pen of Carlos Butterfield, Esq., who, for years, has been untiring in his efforts to accomplish this most desirable object, by enlisting the sympathy and aid of both the Mexican and our own governments. It abounds in the most valuable statistics, and proves conclusively that the commercial transactions of Great Britain with Mexico (amounting per annum to over 53,000,000 dollars,) is due to her perfect network of steamships in connection with the Mexican and South American trade; while, on the contrary, our own (amounting to considerably less than one third the amount stated) is owing chiefly to the want of rapid and certain steam navigation.

PROPOSED RAIL ROAD.—A neat pamphlet copy is before us of the report of T. F. Tilghman C. E., of Milford, Del., in reference to the survey of a proposed road from Harrington, on the Delaware road, to Denton, in Caroline county, and thence, if hereafter deemed advisable, to Queenstown. The advantages of such a connection are clearly and fairly stated by Mr. Tilghman, and in view of the limited extent of the road and the moderate outlay required for its completion, we cannot, for a moment, doubt its success. The capitalists of Caroline especially should subscribe liberally to an enterprise which cannot fail to prove of immense advantage to the county, as well as to other sections through which it will pass. We wish well to the project.

IN our probably too uncouth remarks last week, in reference to having our papers taken from the post office, we meant to cast no reflection upon Mr. Robinson, the post master. No blame whatever was intended to be laid to him. We have never known a dereliction of duty on his part since he has held the office, but to the contrary we believe him to be a faithful officer—attending strictly to the requirements of his posit. Nor did we intend them for any SINGLE individual, as some would be glad of the opportunity to make it appear.

TRIAL OF HAZLETT.—The trial of Hazlett, another of the Harper's Ferry insurrectionists, commenced at Charlestown, Jefferson county, Va., on Monday last. Sheriff Campbell said that he was convinced that a jury could not be obtained in that county, and therefore took the necessary steps to procure a jury from Frederick county. At last accounts a jury had been obtained and the trial progressing.

THE protracted meeting which has for some weeks been going on in the M. E. Church in this town, was brought to a close on Tuesday night last.

THE EASTERN SHORE CLAIM.—We very much fear that the Eastern Shore claim will meet with the same fate that it has heretofore, unless the whole Eastern Shore Delegation determine to put their shoulders to the wheel and work harmoniously until the project is pushed through the Legislature. A good portion of the session has already passed and it has been but a few days since leave was asked to offer the appropriation bill. Will the session again be allowed to pass and the whole matter quashed for want of time to act upon it?

SCIENTIFIC INVENTION.—Our ingenious townsman, Edward H. Anderson, assisted by Dr. J. H. Anderson, has just made an improvement in the working of the mechanical powers of the greatest importance. It consists in certain additions to the powers used in the common engine, by which the cost of exerting mechanical force is lessened one half. It promises to be a discovery of the highest utility in all branches of business in which machinery is used.

Mr. Smith of North Carolina, for whom the Democrats voted for Speaker on Friday and Monday week, and who was abandoned only when it was reduced to a moral certainty that he could not command votes enough to elect him speaker, has since given the Democrats in Congress the most positive assurance that he never was a Know Nothing. He was always a Whig and nothing but a Whig.—Star.

As Mr. Smith was a good old Whig, and the Democracy so reverence that party, why did they not rally to his support and elect him speaker, when it was in their power to do it? The fact is they wanted the organization of the House delayed as long as possible, as they could not elect one of their own party, so that there would be no time to spare for the investigation of government corruptions; but murder will out, and so will the corruptions of the present administration. Yes, the ball is already in motion.

WE are indebted to H. H. Goldsborough and Alex Chaplain, Esqs., of Talbot, and Milton Y. Kidd, Esq., of Cecil, for legislative documents.

CONGRESSIONAL.—Mr. Pearce introduced into the United States Senate on Tuesday a resolution authorizing the Secretary of the Interior to make arrangements for the dedication of Clark Mills' new statue of Washington on the 22d inst. The Post Office Deficiency bill was taken up, and after debate the amendment providing for the abolition of the franking privilege was rejected by a tie vote. Without passing the bill the Senate adjourned.

The President on Wednesday sent to the U. S. Senate his veto of the bill passed by Congress at its last session making an appropriation for the improvement of the mouth of the Mississippi river. A resolution of inquiry in reference to the appointing power of the President and its exercise was introduced by Mr. Wilson The Post Office bill was reported back from the Committee with an amendment providing that interest upon the deferred payments shall be paid to the contractors but not to the assignees of their claims. Another amendment proposed by the Committee provides for the abolition of the franking privilege. The bill was postponed until Thursday.

Washington letters says that it is understood among the Republicans that Mr. Sherman takes the Chairmanship of the Committee of Ways and Means; Mr. Corwin that of Foreign Affairs; Elihu Washburn that of Commerce, and Mr. Stanton that of the Committee on Military affairs.

LEGISLATIVE.—The proceedings in the State Legislature on Tuesday were in the usual routine of business. The Senate finally passed the bills chartering the Egenton Orphan Asylum of Baltimore, the Old Town Savings Bank, and the Merrill Patent Firearm Manufacturing Company. The Brock Passenger Railway bill was called up and made the special order for Monday next. The members of the House and Senate balloted for State Treasurer and Librarian. The Democratic nominees, Sprigg Harwood, Esq., as State Treasurer, and Edwin M. Shipley, Esq., as Librarian, were elected. In the House the free negro question was brought up by Mr. Jacobs, Chairman of the Committee on the Colored Population, reporting the stringent bills, which we publish on our first page this morning. In the debate that ensued it was stated that only one of the laws proposed had received the unanimous approval of the Committee. Two members of the Committee expressed their dissent, and a third, who had not attended its meetings, withheld his opinion until he had further examined the bills.

The Senate on Wednesday, was engaged on the bill appropriating $5,500 to the relief of the Maryland Agricultural Society which has already passed the house. Nearly the whole day was consumed in the discussion. The House of Delegates passed a number of local bills, and for two hours preceding the adjournment had under discussion the bill appropriating $1,000 to each of the twelve members of the Committee appointed by the last Legislature to examine the new Code. The bill to fund to the Inspectors of Grain the amount they paid into the Treasury during the past year, was also discussed for some time, and referred back to the Committee on Inspections.—The South Carolina Secession Resolutions were not reached, but probably came up for discussion on Thursday.

The appropriations of an extraordinary character made this session, and those which are still to be made, will amount in the aggregate to an unusually heavy sum. Among these are the following:

To the Codifiers of the Laws,	$15,000
For Improvements on the Capitol,	30,000
For the Agricultural Society,	5,500
For the Agricultural College (asked.)	50,000
For St. John's College, (by decision of the Court of Appeals,)	79,500
Cost of Investigating Committees, &c.	5,000
Excessive expenses of Legislature, for Printing, &c,	10,000
For the Institution for the Blind,	16,000
For the Insane Asylum, (additional amount asked.)	25,000
For the examination of the Codified Laws,	14,000
Total,	$280,000

These appropriations, most of which will be passed, are all of an extraordinary and unusual character. The sum set down for St. John's College is in accordance with a decision of the Court of Appeals, made Tuesday, declaring that the annuity given to St. John's College, when its charter was granted, in 1774, of the sum of $4,664, was in the nature of a perpetual annuity, which it was not in the power of the Legistature to annul. It was, however, so far annulled in 1808 as to reduce it to $2,000 per annum, and increased in 1834 to $3,000.

The Democrats have fixed upon Wednesday night of next week, to assemble in caucus, to fix the time for the final caucus to nominate a candidate for United States Senator. The general impression at Annapolis, is that Senator Pearce will be nominated for re-election, perhaps on the first ballot.

Mr. EDITOR:—Perusing some old files of newspapers a few days ago I accidentally lit upon the article I here send you, which if you deem of sufficient importance you will please insert. It may be regarded as only confirmatory of the generally conceded opinion of the salubrity and consequent health of Talbot county, and the changes which have taken place since 1808, in all local diseases especially, has been for the better.

Many of the descendants of the venerable persons named below, are yet in the neighborhood of the Oak and in the county. The immense tree (the Old Royal Oak,) so long the focus and rallying point of the neighboorhood, has, after an age of centuries, perhaps, yielded to the pressure of time, but the associations and reminiscences connected with it will be fresh in the memory of many for years to come: M.

REMARKABLE LONGEVITY.

It is not easy to imagine more beauty of landscape on a surface so nearly level, than is afforded by the combination of fertile lands and fine waters of many situations on the rivers of the Eastern Shore of the Chesapeake Bay. The land and waters run into, and intersect each other in every variety of form; and as you pass up these noble waters, the jutting and projecting points and deep and spacious inlets are every moment delighting you with new, and ever changing scenery of the softest and most reposing character of beauty, we ever recollect to have beheld or admired. But this lovely country is said, by those, who do not know it, to be unhealthy, certainly not desirable. To the feeble frame and languid eye of disease nothing is comfortable or beautiful.

Sometime since we were conversing with a preacher of the Gospel of the Methodist Church on the healthiness of different sections of our country. He was a man of intelligence and of careful observation: was born and reared far to the north of us, where Hygeia, the loveliest Goddess of ancient fable, is supposed to have selected her abode. His professional duties had carried him to Canada, and again brought him southward by that mode of easy visitation journeying, which would afford him the best opportunity of forming an intimate acquaintance with the manners, habits, condition and health of every neighborhood within the range of his travels. He was of the class of circuit preachers whose residences are always transient, and who are thus most free from either local prejudices or partialities. And he declared to us, were he obliged on oath to select the healthiest spot from the northern bounds of Canada to the southern bounds of Maryland, judging particularly from the vigorous frames and constitutions of the aged portion of the population, he would point out a neighborhood in Talbot County, on the Eastern Shore of Maryland. A singular record confirmation of this statement has just fallen into our hands, the authenticity of which is indisputable. It may be justly remarked too that the tract of country within which these persons resided, is very small: from a third to one half of the designated five miles being covered by the tributary waters of the Choptank. It should also be stated, that the persons recorded were the venerable heads of families. The same district embraced at the same time a number of as aged, and hale servants. We might probably challenge any as thinly populated, tract of similar size in the United States to produce such a list.

Persons of 70 years and upwards, most of them hale and hearty on the 27th day of March 1808 and residing within five miles of the Oak in Talbot County, viz:

THE SENATE PRINTING INVESTIGATION—IMPORTANT DEVELOPMENTS.—The Senate Printing Investigating Committee met this morning. Mr. Wendell underwent an examination upward of three hours. It appeared that some seven or eight parties were interested in the public printing, namly: Steadman, Banks, McLean, Walker, Rice, Severns and Bowman. He stated that he had paid out during the past three years over one hundred thousand dollars for party support to newspapers and in aid of election expenses, in Pennsylvania principally, but extending over New Jersey, New York, Maryland, Ohio, &c. Considerable had been paid by official authority, and some of his own free will. He also stated that by the action of the Senate in electing Bowman, who had given the work to Blair & Rivers, he had been left penniless, with the largest establishment in the Union lying idle. Bowman's conduct towards Wendell was shown up in a very bad light. Bowman, it appears, has given part of the work to Jewett, editor of the Fillmore organ at Buffalo. A. D. Banks and Jo. Severns were also examined. They did not seem to know much except that they had received some material aid from Wendell.

Wendell testified that out of the Post Office blank printing, he paid in 1857, the sum of six thousand dollars to the Pennsylvanian newspaper, of Philadelphia, and to the Evening Argus, of Philadelphia, the sum of five thousand dollars. He informed the committee that he went into doubtful democratic districts in Pennsylvania, and spent money freely for the benefit of the supporters of the policy of the administration, Mr. Rice, of the Pennsylvanian, was also before the committee, and did not discredit the testimony of Wendell. There are rich developments forthcoming, before the committee.—Cor. N. Y. Herald.

U. S. TREASURER.—It is reported that the President has appointed A. J. Glossbrenner, of York, Pa., for U. S. Treasurer.

OWING to the high wind yesterday the steamboat had not arrived at 6 o'clock—the time of going to press.

The following will give some idea to those who breathe the pure country air how thousands in large cities drag out their existence: A terrible calamity occurred in Elm street, New York on the night of the 31st, ult., involving the loss of many valuable lives and the maiming of a number of the survivors. One of those immense human packing-boxes, called tenement houses, six stories high above the sidewalk, one hundred feet deep and fifty feet front, and made to hive twenty two families, took fire, and before the unfortunate inmates could escape, a great many of them were suffocated. The first floor was divided into stores—a baker occupying that on one side and a grocer the other—the entrance to the tenements being between the stores. A narrow staircase led to the upper part of the building from the street, and another stairway descended from the second story to the yard in the rear. The upper stories were reached by the staircase in the centre of the building—a narrow, ill-lighted and dangerous passage. Each floor was arranged for four families, the doors of the apartments opening upon a narrow hall. There were at the time of the fire nineteen families in the house, exclusive of those who occupied the stores. The back apartments on the sixth story were set apart for washrooms, for the use of the various families, and the roof was arranged for drying purposes.

A SUCCESSION OF HORRORS.—In addition to the fire in Elm street New York, and terrible loss of life last week, an explosion occurred on Friday week, in the hat factory of Messrs. Ames & Molten, killing several persons.

So tremendous was the force of the explosion that the boiler was cut in two, across the middle, the large portion of its cylinder passing through the factory, and alighting at a distance of over 100 feet from its first position; the furnace was fearfully ripped, and remained close by. The next boiler made a complete summerset, and remained on the ground. The third appears not to have moved. The engine of course, was demolished, and about half the large building laid in ruins.

The hanging of Stephens, the wife poisoner, also occurred in New York on the same day. Although this unfortunate being might have richly deserved his punishment, yet it is natural for a feeling of sympathy to surround the victim. And if a natural sympathy is evoked on behalf even of the culprit who is justly doomed to expiate his crime by the forfeiture of his life, how much more intensely does it stir the feelings to see or hear of innocent men, women and children being suddenly enveloped in the devouring flames, cut off from all means of escape, and perishing in the view of thousands willing but unable to rescue them? as was the case at the Elm street fire last week, in New York.

In the House of Delegates, one day last week, the resolutions recently adopted by the Legislature of South Carolina inviting the Southern States to join in a Convention to discuss the question of secession and to provide for the general defence against Northern aggressions were up. They were received with decided and almost universal expressions of condemnation from all sides of the House, and but for the courtesy due to the action of a sister State they would doubtless have been laid on the table without reading. Of all the speakers there were but three voices that considered disunion a word fit to be uttered in a Maryland Legislature, and these three were members of the Democratic party.

SPECIAL ELECTION.—The special election held in Caroline county, Md., on Wednesday, for a judge of the Orphans' Court, resulted in the election of Mr. Todd, the American candidate, by 115 majority. At the November election there was a tie between the two parties.

Deaths.

STEVENS.—On the 7th inst., at "Compton," his beautiful residence, in this county, Ex-Governor Samuel Stevens, in the 82d year of his age.

Thus has another, and about the last, of the strong pillars of the chaste temple of society which characterized this region in the last generation—, toppled, and fallen to its burial among its honorable compeers.

It is natural, becoming, and profitable that respectful heed, and reverential contemplation should be given to this work of our destroyer—this reassurance of the great inevitable doom; and that some friendly hand should, for the honor of the departed, and the instruction of the architects of the society of to-day, portray the chaplet of virtues that distinguished this venerable member of that social edifice which is now no more.

Those virtues were: honesty IN ITS PURITY—resolution—cheerfulness—amiability—kindness and tenderness and pureness of heart—unbounded hospitality—chivalrous honor—and genuine patriotism. In all the relations and avocations of his life—in his agricultural pursuits—his political action—, as husband—father—friend—and as a member of society—those virtues, in their appropriate offices, pre-eminently distinguished Gov. Stevens, and commanded the innate admiration of society, and hence, he enjoyed throughout his long life, the affectionate and respectful regard of this commmunity.

Peace to his ashes! Honor to his memory!

VERITAS.

WILLSON.—In this town, of Paralysis, on Saturday evening, the 4th inst., Mrs. E. G. Willson, relict of the late James Willson, Esq., in the 79th year of her age.

This excellent lady was the subject of admiration and esteem to a large circle of friends and relatives. Her grace and gentleness of manner, her overflowing goodness of heart, and singleness of life, were unsurpassed, and it may truly be affirmed that in all the the traits which distinguish the true woman and exemplary christian she has left no superior in this or any other community.

EMORY.—In this town, on Thursday evening last, James Douglas, son of C. North and Sarah B. Emory, in the 3d year of his age.

The funeral of the deceased will take place at the residence of his father, on Dover street, this morning at 10 o'clock. The friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend.

ALLEN & NEEDLES'
NEW FERTILIZER.

THE subscriber begs leave to call the attention of the Farmers of Talbot and adjacent counties to the above celebrated Fertilizer, a sample of which will be here by first boat.

This fertilizer is being rapidly taken into confidence and use in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and is also in great favor on the Western Shore of this State from whence he has letters speaking in high terms of it.

It is highly Ammoniated, being chiefly of Bones, Hair, Wool, animal matter and Sul. Acid, and is claimed to be superior to any Guano or other Fertilizer in use. It is put up in new and seamless grain bags, which can afterwards be used as such or for other purposes on the farm. In order to introduce it, and to place it within the reach of every farmer, I have succeeded in arranging so as to sell it at the Philadelphia CASH price on a credit of eight months without interest, provided I get a certain amount ordered. The price in Philadelphia is $20 per ton of 2000 lbs. nett cash, but I have, through much exertion, succeeded in being able to offer it at $30 per ton for endorsed note having eight months to run.—This will enable the farmer to pay for it out of the crop it assists in producing. An inspection of it by every Farmer is requested and early orders solicited. THOS. C. NICOLS, JR.,
