The Broad Creek Neck Meeting.—The Union meeting which has been advertised to take place in Broad Creek Neck at night, will take place at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of the 4th of November.

Attention Voters of Trappe District.—We are requested to announce to the voters of Trappe District that there will be a meeting held in that town on Saturday next, to nominate candidates to fill the offices of that District.—Punctual attendance is requested.

Meetings at Trappe and St. Michaels.—The voters of Trappe District, and as many others as can attend, should bear in mind that there will be a Union meeting held at Trappe this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

At St. Michaels.

There will also be a meeting held at St. Michaels on Tuesday evening next, commencing at 7 o'clock. Every man that is opposed to the Secession move that has precipitated our country into the present civil war should be present on the above occasions. The clarion voice of our distinguished Senator, H. H. Goldsboroagh, Esq., will be heard at both of the above meetings, besides other distinguished speakers.

☞ THE treasonable conduct of the late Hon. Jno. C. Breckinridge is sufficient to stamp him with eternal infamy. Our readers will remember that some time since he publicly declared his intention to abide by the will of the people of Kentuckey to be expressed at the late election in that State. The result of that election is well known. The Union sentiment triumphed by a majority unexampled in the history of the State. We now find him in Virginia busily engaged in organizing a brigade for the purpose of making war upon his own fellow citizens. After taking an oath to support the Constitution of the United States and receiving his pay as Senator at the last session, he has turned a traitor to his country and to his native State, which he is now about to invade in return for all the honors which she has heaped upon him. What a contrast is presented in the conduct of the venerable John J. Crittenden, who, with the frosts of seventy-three winters upon his brow, has volunteered as a private in the Home Guard of Franktort and declared his intention to remain in service until the last rebel is driven from the soil of Kentucky. Remember citizens of Talbot, that Breckiartdge and others who are now preparing for the invasion of Kentucky stood upon the very platform adopted by the peace men this State, and remember also that some of our own citizens, prominent members of this very "peace party," have recently gone from our midst and are now enlisted in the ranks of the Southern Confederacy. It appears to us that a man would as soon raise his hand against the mother that bore him as to fly to the enemies of his country and raise his arm against that government under whose protecting wing he has left his family and all that he holds dear on earth.

☞ OUR readers will perceive from the proceedings in another column, that the Union convention of Talbot county, on Tuesday last, nominated candidates for the various county offices to be filled at the ensuing election. We cannot refrain from congratulating our fellow-citizens on the selection of a ticket composed of gentlemen, who, whether we consider their character as private citizens, or their peculiar fitness for the several positions to which they have been nominated, are eminently entitled to the support and confidence of the public. We doubt whether for many years past a ticket has been presented to the people of Talbot so entirely unexceptionable in every respect, or that afforded greater guarantees of an honest and faithful discharge of duty should the interest of the people be confided to their hands. The next legislature of Maryland will be called upon to consider the gravest questions which have ever arisen in the history of our State; questions which will determine the destiny of the people for generations to come.—It is of paramount importance that men of experience and undoubted weight of character should be chosen for this responsible position, and it seems like trifling with the interests of the people to present for their suffrages, in this existing crisis, men who are destitute of these requisite qualifications. The candidates presented by the Union party for the House of Delegates, MR. HARRISON and MR. KERR, are gentlemen of unquestioned ability and integrity, they are widely and favorably known and possesses the entire confidence of the people of the county. They represent to a large extent the slave interest and in other respects are so thoroughly identified with their fellow-citizens as to afford every guarantee that the public interest would receive no detriment in their hands. From every indication it appears that the next house of delegates will be composed almost entirely of Union members, there being but three or four counties which can by any possibility send delegates in favor of Secession. Let it not be said that Talbot has arrayed herself on the side of the enemies of our country, or that she should send representatives, who, by their anomalous condition, would be utterly powerless to accomplish any thing for the good of their constituents. In regard to the selection of County Commissioners, it is well known that this is a subject which demands special attention from the people of the county.—The manner in which the business of the Levy Court for years past has been conducted has been a cause of frequent complaint, until it has at last become a matter of absolute necessity that this department should be withdrawn from the hands of those who now control it and subjected to an entire remodeling and purification. The candidates presented by the Union party for County Commissioners possess in a remarkable degree the peculiar requisites for the proper discharge of the duties of this office. We can truly say that at no former period have three gentlemen been presented for the suffrages of the people for this important position who more thoroughly combined all the qualities required for a thorough and economical administration of the affairs of the country. MR. GROOME is so well known to our fellow-citizens as to make any special reference on our part superflous. We would remark that his business habits and enlarged experience would at this time be of incalculable advantage to the public. MR. LEONARD is a gentleman of intelligence and sterling integrity and if we mistake not on a former occasion filled with a great acceptability the office for which he is now presented as a candidate.—MR. KEMP is also well and favorably known to the people of the county and his business qualifications and character are of a very high order. MR. ROE, the Union candidate for Sheriff, is well qualified in every respect for the duties of this responsible office and possesses the confidence and esteem of all who know him. For his firm and unwavering advocacy of Union sentiments he has been the subject of bitter denunciation and misrepresentation, but we have the satisfaction of knowing that his consistency and uprightness of purpose is appreciated by his fellow-citizens, who, we doubt not will manifest it in an unmistakeable manner at the approaching election. MR. VALLIANT, the candidate for Surveyor, is a young gentleman of skill in his profession and if elected will no doubt discharge the duties in a satisfactory manner to all concerned. As we remarked in the commencement, the ticket thus presented by the Union party is one of the best that has ever been offered to the people of this county; the men were selected with an eye single to their character and qualifications, and we bespeak forthem a warm and hearty support.

☞ In answer to those who are talking so flippantly about coercion, we would state, that the time has arrived when every man must take a position for his country or against it. There is now no middle ground. It is now openly proclaimed on the part of the Southern Confederacy that the border States are to be conquered by the force of arms. Witness the following from the Richmond Disptach:

"All further proceedings in Kentucky must be revolutionary, violent and convulsive. There is no legal path by which it is possible now to extricate her from her constitutional association with the North. That association is galling to the better class of the people (meaning the Secession minority,) but there is no process by which they can effect their deliverance except by revolutionary action. By force of arms, by bloodshed and violence, must they now carve out their way to honor, liberty and independence; for that is the only alternative left a gallant State by its Crittendens and its Holts."

Again, the Richmond Examiner says: We have simply therefore to make up our minds to conquer a boundary by an adequate force of men."

This is the language of the allies of the peace men of Maryland. Where now are their denunciations against coercion? The only alternative left to every true Maryland citizen is to stand up in defence of his State and his country against the attacks of those who regard neither law, Constitution nor State rights when they stand between them and their unhallowed purposes.

☞ TRUE to the announcement made by the Star, the Secessionists of this county on Tuesday last nominated a ticket and put forth the "very best men for all the places whose services could be commanded." As they "had the talent," we are left to conclude that this is the most remarkable ticket that has ever been presented to the people of Talbot.

MR. JAS. B. AUSTIN, formerly of this town, has been elected first Lieutenant of Captain Number's company from Denton, in Col. Wallace's regiment of Home Guard.

Local Items.

☞ WE observe in the last Star an announcement that the editor has associated with him in the management of that sheet a precocious infant whom he denominates "Our Ol," and whom the public are to presume fully represents the genius of his gifted prototype. The part which "Our Ol" seems destined to play under this new arrangement, is to cover the retreat of his paternal colleague when suffering under a discomfiture, as exemplified in the last Star, in which it is announced that the controversy which has been going on for the last two weeks with us must be stopped. Another object may be to induce the public to believe that the union of these two editorial negatives might make one affirmative, but we can perceive nothing reasonable upon which to predicate such a result.

☞ A rumor has been going the rounds here for several days past, that there was a difficulty in Cambridge on Monday night last, between the military at that place and a gang of negroes, numbering about one hundred. That the negroes congregated at a cross roads near the town and showed rather a rebellious spirit, when two companies of Wallace's Home Regiment proceeded to the place named and dispersed the crowd—killing seven or eight and wounding a number of others. This rumor we think incorrect, as several of our citizens have visited Cambridge since that time and nothing of the kind was heard of. The Herald and Democrat was also published on Wednesday and they make no mention of it whatever.

SEVERELY INJURED.—On Tuesday evening last, Mr. Jno. Plummer, overseer on one of the farms of the late M. T. Goldsborough, was struck over the head with a shovel, by a negro boy about 18 years of age. The wound inflicted was a very severe one, but we are glad to hear that it is not likely to prove fatal. We have not learned any of the particulars in the case, but suppose that the negro rebelled against Mr. P. when attempting to correct him for some misdemeanor, as he was a hand on the farm, one which Mr. Plummer had control. He was lodged in Easton jail on Wednesday morning by constable Butler. We learned on yesterday that Mr. Plummer's condition was much improving.

STABBING AFFAIR.—On Wednesday morning last an affray occurred between Wm. H. Faulkner and a young man by the name of Meginney, in reference to a watch that Faulkner had sold for Maginney. After some words had passed Faulkner stabbed Maginney in the side, inflicting quite a severe but not dangerous wound.—After a hearing before Justice Wheeler, Faulkner was committed to jail.

MORE NEW GOODS.—We invite the attention of our readers in St. Michaels District to the advertisement of Mr. Jas. D. Mansfield of the town of St. Michaels. In addition to his usual very large stock he has added a new supply which makes the quantity and variety equal to any store on the Shore. Give him a call.

☞ WE learn that on Tuesday last, while Gen. Lockwood was reviewing his troops at Cambridge, his horse stumbled and fell, throwing the General over his head, but Gen. Lockwood, with the apparent activity of a boy, sprang to his feet in an instant, and mounted again, without receiving any injury.

EASTON, Oct. 15, 1861.

Pursuant to public notice the Union delegates from the several election Districts of Talbot county met this day in convention at the Town Hall, in Easton, at 2 o'clock P. M. On motion Wm. B. Clark, Esq., was called to the chair and Saml. T. Hopkins appointed Secretary.—The following delegates were in attendance:

Chapel—John Goldsborough, Joseph Mowbray, Edw. R. Arringdale, Ed. Y. Davis and H. P. Hopkins.

Bay Hundred District was not represented, owing to the fact that the notices were not received in time for the appointment of Delegates.

On motion the convention proceeded to the nomination of candidates for the various county offices, which resulted in the selection of the following gentlemen by the unanimous vote of all the delegates.

For Delegates to the General Assmbly, Wm. Henry Harrison, David Kerr, Jr.

For Commissioners—Peregrine Groome, T. H. Leonard, John W. Kemp.

For Sheriff—James A. Roe.

For County Surveyor—J. James Valliant

The convention was then addressed by Hon. H. H. Goldsborough, in a forcible and effective speech of nearly an hour, followed by Dr. N. Pinkney, U. S. N., in an eloquent and patriotic speech. Able and effective addresses were also delivered by Dr. C. C. Cox and Hon. J. B. Kerr, after which the Convention adjourned.

FROM FORTRESS MONROE.

Capture and Burning of a Privateer Vessel near Oregon Inlet.

FORTRESS MONROE, Oct. 14.—The steamer S. R. Spaulding returned from Hatteras Inlet this morning, bringing up Brigadier General Mansfield, who has to-day taken command at Camp Hamilton.

The entire loss of the Indiana Twentieth Regiment in their recent retreat was 17, all told.—No changes have taken place at the Inlet during the last few days.

Lieutenant Murry, of the gun boat Louisiana, two or three days since found a Confederate vessel in a narrow opening this side of Oregon Inlet, fitting out as a privateer. He at once took possession and burnt the vessel. The Confederates were in some force in the vicinity.

The War in Western Virginia.

The Cincinnati Enquirer, of Saturday, has the following:

The steamer Mary Cook arrived last evening from the Kanawha river, bringing from the camps near Gauley Bridge 184 sick and wounded soldiers, who were immediately taken from the steamer to the Marine Hospital. Our fellow citizen, Mr. Quinn, who has been spending a few weeks in Western Virginia, was also a passenger on the Mary Cook, and from him we learn very important particulars from that section of the State. He corroborates the statement of Colonel Frizell, that the entire country of the Kanawha Valley is devastated, and that farmers are leaving as rapidly as transportation can be found to bring them North. Forage is out of the question, and provisions cannot be procured.

The condition of the roads and country is such that an army of two thousand men could not winter there, the impossibilty of transportation being so great, and the risk of reaching the army with supplies, &c., being so hazardous.

Gens. Rosecrans and Cox are at Mountain Cave, only thirteen miles from Gauley Bridge, with only six thousand troops who are able to perform active duty, and are available. Between Gauley Bridge and Camp Lookout, there were on Tuesday last 1,640 patients in the hospitals, prostrated with the camp fever. At Cross Lanes, near Carnifax Ferry, and about twenty-eight miles from Gauley Bridge, are 160 patients.—Those that can bear moving are to be brought here as steamers can be procured.

During the past two weeks there have been continuous trains, and the roads are almost impassable.

The campaign in Western Virginia is virtually ended, and preparations are on foot to withdraw a portion of our forces there and send them into Kentucky, leaving only a sufficient force to prevent the Confederates from approaching north of Gauley river or west of cheat Mountain.—The probabilities are, however, that the seceshers have no desire to come through a country they already had laid waste and left barren.

We will not be surprised to hear of Rosecrans in Kentucky within ten days. The enemy have already gone in the direction of Cumberland Gap.

SOUTHERN ITEMS.

VERY LATE FROM RICHMOND.

On Saturday night Henry Kernoll, an old farmer of Fairfax county, Virginia, who has been a prisoner at Richmond for several weeks, arrived in Washington, says the Republican, bringing with him a Richmond Dispatch of the 10th, and the Enquirer of the 11th inst. We present below a brief synopsis of their contents, which will be found quite interesting.

On a stormy day, a week or so after the battle of Bull Run, a water-soaked, weary and hungry looking soldier presented himself at the door of Mr. Kernoll and asked permission to enter, that he might be shielded from the driving storm. The old man bade him enter, gave him a chair and expressed his sympathy for him, as he had done before for worn-out, straggling soldiers.—The stranger was afraid of being arrested by the Rebel pickets, which he feared were in the neighborhood. He was then requested to go into the parlor, as a place of more safety, which he declined to do, but agreed to go into the barn and hide himself in the hay-loft, to which the farmer consented, but before he started for the barn he begged for something to eat, and showing his uniform declared himself to be a Union soldier, clandestinely making his way to Washington.—A sumptous meal was prepared for him, which he devoured with evident satisfaction, and then went to his hiding place and was not seen any more.

In a day or two after this event, a number of soldiers suddenly appeared at the old man's house, and arrested him and a free colored man who was employed about the farm. They were roughly handled, and rudely forced away to Manassas Gap. The negro's hands were tied behind him, and the rope tied to a horse's head, and he was thus compelled to follow the wagon. Here Mr. Kernoll was detained for three or four weeks, and was then sent to Richmond, where he was confined in the old county jail. When the old man was about to leave for Richmond, a man came to him, and asked him if he remembered him. Mr. Kernoll instantly recognized the forlorn-looking soldier whom he had fed and sheltered, and who now proved to have been a spy, upon whose report he had been arrested. At a sort of trial this spy appeared as a witness, and swore to a tissue of falsehoods. The old gentleman was seven weeks in jail, and says he was fed on corn-dodgers, bacon, and rye coffee.

In the Richmond jail he saw several of his neighbors, who had also been arrested. Of these he mentioned Woodworth, Bingham, and William Hirst, all released. A Mr. Howard, wife and daughter, who lived between this city and Alexandria, have been released, but Mr. Lydecker was not released, although he had gone through the formality of a trial. Mr. Kernoll came by way of Norfolk and Baltimore, and was sworn not to tell anything he had seen.

QUARRELL BETWEEN FLOYD AND THE OFFICERS OF THE WISE LEGION.

It appears that the officers of the Wise Legion have disapproved of Lloyd's conduct, and published their opinions in the Richmond Enquirer, at which Floyd is greatly grieved, and sends a letter to the Enquirer, of which the following is an extract:

"HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF KANAWHA,
CAMP ON SEWELL, Oct. 6, 1861.

"In the Enquirer of October 1st you have published certain letters dated in Camp Defiance, purporting to be written by officers in the "Wise Legion," under my command. These persons pretend to narrate my conduct in this campaign, particularly in the late actions on the Gauley retreat to Meadow Bluff. Their statements are calumniatory falsehoods, having no shadow of truth for their foundation; but their intention, and no less their malignity, is too obvious to permit me to believe that they can be injurious, either to my own reputation or that of the army which I then commanded."

He then proposes to leave his reputation to history, and to his "living countrymen who love justice." In conclusion, he demands the names of the officers who invented and published the libels against "their General, that they may be tried by the military tribunals, and punished according to the laws of the army."

To this letter the proprietors and editors of the Enquirer thus reply:

"ENQUIRER OFFICE, Oct. 10, 1861.

"John B. Floyd, Esq:

"SIR—Your letter of October 6 is before us. Not recognizing any authority in yourself, either individually or as commander of the army of Kanawha, to demand the names of our correspondents, we decline to comply with your request.

"TYLER, WISE & ALLEGRE."

"We decline to furnish the names of our correspondents to Gen. Floyd because of his purpose to seek his vindication through a court martial, instead of the usual mode among gentlemen. Whenever Gen. Floyd proposes a personal vindication, the names of our correspondents shall be furnished.

"We shall dismiss this letter with the statement that the character of our correspondents have never been stained by the suspicion of a crime, and that the charge of falsehood against them is much easier made than proved. They are gentlemen, the equals of Gen. Floyd, in every respect, and what they have averred in their communications we believe to be true in letter and spirit."

Considering all that Floyd has done for the South, we think this very unkind treatment.—But he appeals to history. No doubt "history," as well as "his countrymen who love justice," will do him justice.

POOR WISE.

Wise appears to have fallen from his high estate, and to have failed in acquiring a high reputation as a military man. There are many rumors afloat to his disparagement, but the Jeffersonville (Va.) Democrat valiantly comes to his rescue thus: "We will, however, venture the assertion that had the Government reinforced Wise at the proper time, his triumph over the Yankee forces and Union traitors, in Kanawha Valley, would have been as complete and brilliant as was his Waterloo victory over Know-Nothingism in Virginia in 1855."

EXPECTED DEATH OF WISE.

We are extremely sorrow to learn that last evening the health of Gen. Wise had not exhibited any improvement, and that his condition excited very grave apprehensions.—Richmond Enquirer, Oct. 11.

SEQUESTRATED ESTATES.

Since the 30th September estates and property valued at $200,000 have been confiscated. Among those who have thus suffered are the following:

Auguste Belmont, 500 hogsheads of tobacco, valued at $250,000; firm of Woods, Lowry & Farant, of Norfolk; C. M. Ery & Co., of New York, Chickering & Sons, piano manufacturers, through their Richmond agent; an estate of 800 acres, fully stocked with negroes, live stock, &c., owned by Wm. C. Rives, Jr., of Boston; an estate of 800 acres, stocked with negroes, &c., the property of Mrs. Sigourney, of New York City. Agents have been appointed to take care of these estates.

THE PREBLE SUNK.

The Richmond Dispatch of the 14th instant contains the following important dispatch from Com. Hollins, late of the United States navy, but now in the Confederate service, addressed to the Secretary of War at Richmond:

"New Orleans, Oct. 12, Fort Jackson, 2 P. M.—Last night I attacked the blockaders with my little fleet at the Southwest Bar. I succeeded after a very short struggle in driving them all aground, except the Preble, which I sunk. I captured a prize from them, and after I got them fast in the sand I peppered them well. There were no casualties on our side. It was a complete success.

"The Federal fleet consisted of 40 guns and 1,000 men, and the Confederate fleet of 16 guns and 300 men."

EMORY.—In this town, on Tuesday, 15th inst., Sarah Bland, late consort of C. North Emory, Esq., in the 35th year of her age.

With the falling of the leaf this most estimable lady, for many months almost treading the brink of eternity, has gently faded from the scene of her earthly trials and joys. Fondly loved by a wide circle over which the gloom of her recent death is now gathering heavily, it will be long, very long, ere the many graces and virtues which adorned her character will cease to be cherished in recollections the most enduring. All other wounds are slight to those of the affections; and piercing are the griefs of husband and children thus bereft by death of a devoted wife and affectionate mother—but sweet and holy is the reflection that the life slowly wasting through so many weary months of suffering here has become immortal in that world where disease and death never enter.

"Calm on the bosom of thy God,
Fair spirit, rest thee now,
Even while with us thy footsteps trod,
His seal was on thy brow.

"Dust, to its narrow house beneath!
Soul to its place on high!
They that have seen thy look in death,
No more may fear to die." C.
