AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS.

PENINSULA CHRONICLES TOLD IN BRIEF.

Happenings of the Week on the Eastern Shore of Maryland and in the State of Delaware.

Transquakin is in Dorchester.

North East boasts of 65 conversions.

Miss Sedonia Chose could get a letter at Cambridge postoffice if she chose to.

Patchwork: The snow on Monday patched up the sleighing.—Midland Journal.

A Colonial supper given by the ladies of Rising Sun realized $135 for Hospital benefit.

Roads in Kent county are said to be so rough that the farmers cannot market eggs without breaking them.

A good market for grub:—Chas. Grubb butchered eight fine young porkers for market last week.—Cecil item

Andrew Carnegie is to contribute the sum of $900 toward the new organ to be installed in Milford Presbyterian Church

The graduating classes at North East, and Smyrna, have adopted the conventional cap and gown for graduation day.

Sussex county has a dog that delivers letters from the residence to the post office and returns with his master's mail.

Preston must be afflicted with "sitting" hens, judging by the way a writer on the proper way to set hens puts it.

A colored deaf mute was arrested for house breaking in Dover this week. How in the name of justice could he have a hearing?

Another case of "bursted": Mr. J. R. Thompson fell on the ice Wednesday and bursted his knee cap.—Hurlock item in Preston New Farm.

The residence of John Nelson, belonging to Thos. H. Travers, on Upper Hooper's Island, was consumed by fire on Thursday morning of last week.—Standard.

Wm. J. Bryan says a Delaware man was given twenty lashes on the back and ten days in jail for stealing three mackerel. He should spend ten days rejoicing that he did not steal Boston's sacred codfish.

Kent county has lost in Josiah Lusby an influential, high minded, conservative and honest citizen. He was an advocate of "Simple Life" and by this life honored all with whom he was associated.—News.

The home of Mr. and Mrs H. H. Klinefelter, near Chester bridge, has become a bird haven. Scores of all kinds of birds may be seen every day eating the food that is spread for them under the old apple tree.—Kent News.

W. B. Butler claims to have a champion duck. It has laid some 78 eggs since the 25th of last November and is still laying.—Harrington item in Dover Sentinel. A first class butler is never out of eggs.

Apples are receiving more attention on the Peninsula. Harrisons' at Berlin, Md., are the largest growers in the East.

Visiting clergymen will preach on Wednesday nights; the rector will preach on Friday nights.

The Rev. Kenneth MacKenzie, Jr., of Westport, Conn., will conduct a Quiet day for the members of the Woman's Auxiliary, March 25, "The Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary."

The public are most cordially invited to these services.

Mr. Leonard's Serious Accident.

Chas. H. Leonard, the Market Space clothier, met with a serious accident yesterday morning. He was dusting the counters in his store when he suddenly turned around and in doing so his right leg snapped and broke. He has been suffering with pains in the leg for a day or so, and yesterday morning, in dressing, it seemed very stiff. Dr. Trippe was summoned and the leg was set. It will be remembered that Mr. Leonard suffered for some months with an accident to his left foot a year or so ago, and in this additional affliction he has universal sympathy.

A WISE CALIFORNIA LADY.

Buys "Land of Legendary Lore" before They Are All Gone.

If more people knew of the merits of Land of Legendary Lore, or if those who do know were cognizant of the fact that the edition will not be reprinted, and books are fast becoming scarce, perhaps more orders would come in. Read the following letter from an interested person:

Mr. Wilson M. Tylor, Easton, Md.

Dear Sir:—I have just finished reading Mr. Ingraham's history of Talbot County, called "Land of Legendary Lore." It is such a charming book that I should like to own a copy, so I am inclosing a money order for two dollars and sixteen cents, the price of the book with postage, as I see by some handbills which I find in the book.

This copy belongs and was loaned to me by my cousin's wife, Mrs. Oscar Stansbury, who belongs to the Hardcastle and Manlove families of Caroline county.

Trusting that this will be satisfactory, I am, sincerely,

MRS. W. D. M.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Scheme on Part of Newspaper Advertisers to Get Agents for Publications.

From time to time advertisements appear in the newspapers calling for industrious men to earn salaries of $15 a week. In response to such an advertisement, says the New York Sun, went 20 applicants, who stood in line, the other day, for hours, waiting their turn to be heard. "Is this a bona fide salaried job, or is it canvassing?" asked one applicant. "It is a salaried position. Call at 10:30 tomorrow morning," responded the man who had advertised. At the appointed time the applicant reappeared. He was asked if he understood bookkeeping. "Because," the advertiser went on to explain, "our method of paying salaries is this: We debit you with $15, your salary. Then we credit you with $2.50 for every volume you sell and—" He seemed to be used to it and not to mind when the man whose time he had wasted for two days called him names.

LITMUS PAPER SHOWS SOIL

Agriculturist Tells How Acidity of Land May Be Determined —Shows Proof.

The state experiment stations are doing a great work for the farmers, declares Country Life in America. The following incident shows how simple some of the tests are "when you know how." A station official was going over a farm with the owner when they came to a crawfishy piece of land just back of the barn. The very weeds looked yellow and unhealthful. "I am inclined to think," remarked the agriculturist, "that this land is too acid for productivity. We can determine this in a moment." Taking a blue piece of paper from his pocket, he stooped and dipped the paper into some of the soil water that was standing in a cow track. To the owner's astonishment, the blue paper changed to a red color as soon as it was immersed. "There," said the agriculturist, 'we have our proof. This is just a piece of litmus paper. For five cents, you can buy a similar piece at any drug store. Its change of color shows that the land is sour. Crops cannot thrive on sour land any more than children can thrive on sour milk."

THE EMPEROR'S HONORS.

Kaiser's Many Titles Added To by Appointment of Captain General in Spanish Army.

The kaiser has just been appointed a captain general in the Spanish army. There remains now no European force, military or naval, in which he does not hold honorary rank. He is expecting a fine appointment in the mikado's army, and it is rather surprising to him that President Roosevelt has not invited him to become an American general. He possesses at least 150 uniforms, with all the appurtenances to boot, such as helmets, caps, swords, daggers, scarfs, ribbons and cloaks. They are all arranged in magnificent wardrobes, and the responsibility of superintendence and selection, especially when the kaiser visits a foreign capital, is most harassing. The empress is an honorary colonel of several regiments, native and foreign, and there was a terrible sensation one day when she was discovered to be wearing a uniform with the epaulettes of a mere lieutenant!

'PHONE DISPLACES RUNNER

Spread of Modern Means of Communication in Abyssinia Phenomenal.

Abyssinia no longer depends on fleet-footed horse and rider for messages, but is a land of telephone moderness. Already there exists 80 miles of telephone lines and 1,000 miles more have been planned out. A statement issued by the Italian ministry of posts, which is interested with the work, shows that the undertaking is being conducted in the face of several uncompromising obstacles. In some districts the posts have to be continually reerected because, through torrential rains turning the land into soft bog, they have fallen down. In drier districts wooden posts are devoured by insects, and when they are replaced by others of iron they are carried off by the population to be converted into useful implements of husbandry. This necessitates a special police for telephonic lines, which have to be constantly patrolled.

Trout That Are Not Trout.

Theodore Gill, of the Smithsonian institution, in calling attention to the misnaming of our native fish by early settlers, instances among others the trout. The Pilgrims, finding in New England streams a fish that reminded them of the trout of England, gave it the same name, although Izak Walton would have told them that it was not a trout but a char. In Maine landlocked salmon, and in certain lakes another salmonid fish, were also called trout. In the south the name trout was given to black bass. In California a peculiar fish was named trout, apparently for no other reason than its possession of spots. The Gila river trout is not a trout at all.

Spots on the Sun.

Father Ricardo, director of the meteorological observatory at Santa Clara college, near San Jose, Cal., has discovered three large spots on the sun, one of them larger than the earth and the other two of still greater magnitude. The larger of the spots is a slight distance below the sun's equator and the two smaller ones some degrees above it. One of the small spots appeared to grow in size, and the discoverer believes that they will still further increase.

Salaries in Russia.

In the Russian army a lieutenant is paid about $20 a year, a captain about $300 and a major $450.
