After debate, and a rejection of several motions to lay on the table, the joint resolution was ordered to a third reading.

The civil and Diplomatic Appropriation bill was reported and taken up.

Various amendments were offered and debated, but without final action the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. McWillie, from the committee on printing, made a report, under the resolution of instruction of the House, in relation to the manner that the public printing has been executed by Mr. Ritchie. They, in effect, say that he has, on an average, complied with the contract, and has been a looser to a large amount.

Mr. Wilmot moved to lay the whole subject on the table, but the resolution did not prevail—yeas 84, nays 111.

Various motions were made (with a view to defeat) by opponents of the joint resolution before the House, which proposed to relieve Wm. Belt, (acting for Mr Ritchie,) from the terms of his contract, and instead, allowing him one-half of the prices fixed by the joint resolution of 1819.

The yeas and nays were repeatedly called, and another motion made to lay on the table, but it was not successful—yeas 106, nays 112.

The joint resolution was passsd—yeas 106, nays 101.

The amendments of the committee of the Whole on the State of the Union to the Army bill were acted on, and the bill was passed.

The House, at half-past three took a recess till six o'clock.

10 P. M.—The House on the Navy appropriation bill is still in session.

WASHINGTON, March 1, 1851.

SENATE.

The bill to amend the act concerning the pay and mileage of Senators and representatives was considered; and, after some remarks from Mr. Pearce and Mr. Clay in favor of its object—which is to prevent the payment of constructive mileage—it was ordered to be read a second time.

Mr. Badger moved to postpone all the orders preceding the river and harbor bill, in order to take up that bill; which motion was opposed by Mr. Hunter, Mr Foote, Mr. Dickinson, Mr. Rusk, and others. Mr. Turney moved to lay the motion on the table—which was disagreed to, yeas 23, nays 30.

The bill was taken up, and a general discussion arose upon it, in which Mr. Badger, Mr. Hamlin, Mr Clay, Mr. Douglas, Mr. Butler, Mr. Dawson, Mr. Jefferson Davis, Mr. Cass, Mr. Borland, and others participated.

Without coming to any conclusion, the Senate took a recess.

At 6 o'clock, p. m., the Senate met, and several communications from the departments were presented by the Chair.

The Army bill and several others were referred.

Wm. M. Belt, the contractor for the printing of Congress, and his assignee (Thomas Ritchie) was read a first time.

Mr. Badger called for a second reading. Mr. Turney objected.

The President pro tem, in reply to an inquiry, stated that a bill could not, under the rule, be read a second time the same day without a unanimous consent.

A motion was made to take up the bill from the House explanatory of the bounty land act, which had been ordered by the Senate to be engrossed for a third reading, with the Senate amendments; but objection was made.

The river and harbor bill was again taken up, and after 12 o'clock the Senate adj'd without disposing of that measure.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The annual report of the Commissioner of Patents was received and ordered to be printed. The question of printing extra copies was referred to the Committee on Printing.

A motion was made last night by Mr. Julian to suspend the rules, in order that he might introduce a resolution for the appointment of a committee to investigate the charge of Mr. Allen, that Mr. Webster made a contribution of $50 000 by capitalists of Boston and New York a condition precedent to his acceptance of the office of Secretary of State. This morning the question was taken and decided in the negative—yeas 35, nays 119.

The amendment of the Senate to the Navy Pension bill was concurred in; and the House then resolved itself into a Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union on the Navy Appropriation bill.

Without coming to a conclusion, the House took a recess till 6 o'clock.

The Evening Session. During the evening session, the principal item of discussion was the proposition relative to a dry dock in California. This was after a debate of nearly three hours, amended so as to appropriate $150,000 for the purpose, dispensing with the basin and railway authorized last September.

Various efforts were made to amend by establishing new lines of mail steamers.—Mr. Meade offered an amendment for one from Philadelphia and Norfolk to Antwerp and other ports of Europe; and for a second line from the Pacific coast to China, touching at the Sandwich Islands.

This was ruled out of order—ayes 119, noes not counted; as was also

The proposition of Mr. Stanton of Tennessee, for steamers between the United States and Western Africa.

The Navy Appropriation bill was passed, at about 30 minutes past eleven.

The amendments of the Senate to the Postage bill, were concurred in with a few not very important modifications. The rates remain three cents pre-paid and five cents if not, on letters carried under three thousand miles and double the rates over that distance. It was after midnight when the House adjourned.

WASHINGTON, March 3.

SENATE.

On motion of Mr. Clay the river and harbor bill was taken up.

Amendments of various kinds were offered and debated, all of which by yeas and nays were voted down, as were also numerous motions to lay the bill on the table and postpone it.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Post office appropriation bill was returned to the Senate; the House having agreed to only a portion of the amendments of the last named body.

The bill making appropriations for light houses, buoys, etc, was discussed, and subsequently passed; as were also the Senate bill to prevent Senators from receiving constructive mileage; and the Senate bill to limit the liability of ship-owners; and the Senate bill providing for ascertaining and settling private land claims in California.

At half past three the House took a recess until six o'clock.

WASHINGTON, March 3—11½ P. M.

The Senate is still consuming its time with the River and Harbor Bill. Neither its friends nor its foes will yield an inch. The battle between them has raged violently all day.

The House, to-night refused by a vote of 104 yeas, to 75 nays, to take up the French Spoliation Bill, not two-thirds voting for it.

Several Senate bills were passed—among them one to establish an Asylum for infirm and disabled soldiers; another to regulate the appraisement of imported merchandise, and appointing four Appraisers at large.

Messrs. Clingman and Stanley had a quarrel outside the Bar of the House, and one or two blows passed, when friends interfered. This created a temporary excitement, but the House is now in a pretty good humor.

WASHINGTON, March 4, 1851.

SENATE.

The struggle in the Senate on the Harbor and River bill ceased at about 4 o'clock this morning, its friends after an eloquent appeal from Senator Rusk, receded, and consented that the bill should be laid aside until 8 o'clock.

The Senate then proceeded to the consideration on the Civil and Diplomatic Appropriation bill. Many amendments were made Mr. Chase moved to add the Harbor and River bill, but the proposition received only three votes.

The Civil and Diplomatic Appropriation and the Navy Appropriation bills were subsequently sent to the House in an amended form, and together with the Army Appropriation bill, passed.

Mr Berrien offered a resolution, tendering to the presiding officer of the Senate the thanks of the body, for the able, dignified and impartial manner in which he has discharged the duties of the chair.

Mr. King returned thanks for the honor conferred upon him; and then pronounced the Senate adjourned sine die.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

A motion offered by Mr. Vinton, was adopted, presenting the thanks of the House as due to the Hon. Howell Cobb, for the ability [illegible] which

Most of the time was occupied in motions to suspend the rules, calls of the House, ect., to waste time and give the Senate an opportunity to act on the appropriation bills.

The Civil and Diplomatic and the Army Appropriation bills were received from the Senate. The amendments of that body were not concurred in and a Committee of Conference was appointed on the disagreeing votes.

After a recess from half past seven to nine o'clock the House re-assembled when the reports of the Committee of Conference on the disagreeing amendments to several appropriation bills were concurred in.

The House—ayes 88, nays 53—refused to take up the joint resolution of the Senate bill creating the brevet rank of lieutenant general.

A bill was passed authorizing the Legislature of New York to impose tonnage duties on vessels entering Oswego; the money thus collected to be applied to the repairs of the pier and the improvement of the harbor.

On motion of Mr. Stephens, of Georgia, the House adjourned, sine die.

FOUND DEAD IN A CHURCH.—The lifeless body of John C. H rrington, was found in the M. E. Church at Lawes' about six miles from this place on Saturday last.—He was a man of mtemperate habits and it is supposed was passing the Church at night under the influence of liquor, and went into the Church to spend the night. The door opening into the lower part of the Church being fast he could only gain admission through a side door leading up to the gallery. Through this door he ascended the gallery and being intoxicated at the time fell over to the lower floor, injuring himself so badly that he died without the knowledge of any one to render him any assistance. The lifeless body, we are told, presented a horrible spectacle to look upon, and was enough to cause frail humanity to shudder. His hat and a jug containing a quantity of ardent spirits were found in the gallery of the Church. It is supposed he entered the Church on Tuesday night, as he was missing from that time, but was not discovered until Saturday.—Milford Beacon.

WHIG MEETING.—The whigs of Philadelphia held a town meeting on Thursday evening, and adopted resolutions approving of the compromise measures and President Fillmore's administration—thanking Mr. Webster for his Hulsemann letter—declaring their continued attachment to the Union—and recommending the Legislature of Pennsylvania to repeal the law which prevents fugitive slaves being confined in the jails of that State.

ARREST IN NEW YORK.—Wall street has again been thrown into excitement by the arrest of Jas. McKay and John P. Cryder, charged with obtaining fraudulently certain bonds and securities, valued at $95,000, from Walter P. Flanders, Treasurer of the Milwaukie and Mississippi Railroad Company, a corporation instituted by the State of Wisconsin.

EASTON GAZETTE.

EASTON, Md.

SATURDAY MORNING, MAR. 8, 1851

☞ WM. THOMSON & Co., S. E. corner of Baltimore & Calvert Streets, Baltimore, are our authorized Agents for receiving Advertisements and Subscriptions for the "GAZETTE."

☞ V. B. PALMER is authorized to receive advertisements for the "EASTON GAZETTE," in the cities of New York, Philadelphia, and Baltimore.

THE New York Courier states that the recall of Z. W. POTTER, of Maryland, from the Consulate of Valparaiso, went out by the steamer Crescent City on Friday last.

JAIL FOR RENT.—We learn that Talbot county jail is now without a prisoner, or an occupant of any kind, except the Deputy Sheriff and family. There was a general clearing out on Tuesday.

ALBERT T. EMORY, Esq. has been re appointed Deputy Attorney for Queen Ann's county—and JOHN M. ROBINSON, Esq., of Centerville, Deputy Attorney for Kent county.

THE Legislature of Pennsylvania paid a vsit to Baltimore last week, and were hospitably and appropriately welcomed by a number of distinguished citizens, among whom was Gov. Lowe.

SERVED THEM RIGHT.—A negro woman belonging to a gentleman living near Easton, on Monday knocked down the lady of the house, a relative of her master, who was instructing her in some household duty. She was arrested, in order to be brought to this town, whereupon another negro, a brother, we believe, of the woman, threatened his master, when he also was seized, and both were brought to this town and lodged in jail. On Tuesday they were sold, and they started the following day, on a journey to the South.

THE 2d session of the 31st Congress has finally adjourned, after passing about [illegible] among the bills lost are the French Spoliation bill, River and Harbor bill, fortification bill, &c. &c, and the resolution to indemnify Mr. Ritchie for loss on the public printing. An extra session of the Senate was called, in order to act on executive business.

FIRE.—On Wednesday night, about 8 o'clock, the stack yard of the Hon. Samuel Hambleton, in Easton, was set on fire, and so rapidly did the fire spread, that by 9 o'clock, his corn house, containing about 80 bbls. of corn, stable, barn, cattle-shed, &c., with their contents, except a few barrels of corn, were entirely consumed. It was only by the most strenuous exertions of the firemen and citizens that the neighboring dwellings were prevented from taking fire—Mr. Hambleton's dwelling, and the dwelling occupied by Mr. S. Barrott, being in great danger. The loss is estimated at about $1,000—no insurance. There is reason to believe that the fire was ignited by boys, probably for no other reason than to see the fire. We could scarcely believe that boys so reckless and unprincipled could be found in our community, and if it is possible to detect them, they should be made to feel the full force of the law.

THE Reform Convention has been engaged all the past week on the report of the Legislative Committee, but the proceedings are of so little interest, and perfectly unintelligible without a constant reference to the original report, that we think it a useless waste of room to publish the proceedings. The pay of members of the Legislature has been fixed at $4 per day.

An additional section offered by Mr. Ridgely, making it obligatory upon the Legislature, to pass laws exempting not more than $500 worth of a debtor's property from execution, was adopted.

THE charge of bribery made by Mr. Allen of Massachusetts, against Mr. Webster, has fallen to the ground, inflicting no wound on the character of Mr. W., but covering its author with infamy and disgrace. The correct and honorable course pursued by Mr. Webster has so enraged the free soilers and abolitionists, that they will stop at nothing, however false and malignant, to destroy his reputation, not only as a statesman, but as an honest man. But he has the confidence and gratitude of the Union-loving portion of the country, of both parties, and with that he is impenetrable to the shafts of malice, thrown by free soil demagogues.

HON. JOHN B. KERR.—"Potomac," the Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Patriot, gives the following in regard to our worthy representative in Congress, whose term expires with the present session, and who has, we believe, given universal and unqualified satisfaction to his constituents:

I am happy to state that the Hon. John B. Kerr of your State, has been appointed by the President Charge d'Affairs to New Grenada at Botoga, and yet I am very sorry to loose him from the House, for there is not a more gentlemanly or clever (I mean English clever) man there.

HORRID MURDERS IN KENT COUNTY—A FAMILY BUTCHERED.

We learn from the Kent News, that on Thursday night last, the 27th instant, the family of Mr. Wm. Cosden, consisting chiefly of himself, his wife; Miss Cosden, his sister, on a visit, aged about 17 years; Miss Webster, his wife's sister; two small children, (one an infant, the other a few years old and capable of talking); a white lad; a colored boy; and a negro woman, a kitchen servant, were living in peace and quiet, unsuspecting harm from any one.—The white family were at tea, between six and seven o'clock, Mr. Cosden having finished, turned his chair to the fire, when he was deliberately shot down by some one from the yard, through the window, an ounce ball having penetrated his body—the wretches, three in number, immediately beat down the panels of the door with the butts of their guns and entered the room when they shot Mrs. Cosden but she made an effort and run into the yard and was found dead, having a ball through or near the heart, and two stabs upon her person. They then shot dead Miss Cosden, on whose person there are also two stabs.—One of the fiends went up stairs, and found Miss Webster, a sister of Mrs. Cosden, in bed, where she had been confined by sickness for two weeks—she implored him to spare her life—told him if money was his object all she had was in her trunk, to take it, but spare her life—the monster deliberately raised his gun and presented it, when she raised her feeble arm to protect her person from the merciless savage, the ball in its course, tore off the greater portion of her arm, exposing the larger arteries, and forcing itself through her body; four slugs were also found in her bed which was set on fire by the discharge of the gun, or by this Demon. Another of these villians repaired to the Kitchen, and shot down the negro woman, the Ball passing through her body. The white and colored lads made their escape, and run to George Town X Roads, a distance of two and a half miles and gave the alarm, when the citizens immediately repaired to the place, and scoured the neighbourhood, but could get no clue to the murderers. Mrs. Cosden and Miss Cosden were killed. Mr. [illegible] two and three hours. He talked freely to the neighbors—did not know either of the monsters—to him they were strangers.—He stated that he did not know that he had an enemy in the world, and that he had no feelings of enmity to a human being, and could not divine the motive to the deed.

Miss Webster, who it is feared, is shot through the lungs and supposed mortaliy did not know the man who shot her—she described him as having black whiskers.—Her clothes and money remained untouched and plunder does not seem to have been the motive to the deed. On yesterday the Jury of Inquest met—that whole section of the county is deeply excited and turned out in large numbers to examine the scene and lend their aid, if possible, to detect the felons. The scene is represented as agonising to those who witnessed it. Father mother, sister, weltering in blood, laid side by side—while the little tender child, would call for its mother and its father in vain. The very stones would seem to cry for vengeance, upon the atrocious murderers, who had less feeling than the wild savage, and less of human sympathy than the Tiger.

The servant woman, yet lingers—it is feared mortally wounded—and she and Miss W. and the lads think they would know these murderers, if they could see them. Suspicion has fallen upon no one in our county, and we cannot believe a human being exists in Kent county, who is capable of the deed. Rumour says they came from Delaware—but all is yet conjecture. Mr. Cosden was a young man represented to be a most excellent citizen, harmless and inoffensive, and a good farmer. He resided on the Moody Farm, lying on the main road from Chester Town to Philadelphia—about midway between George Town X Roads and the Head of Sassafras, and the dwelling is about a quarter of a mile from the main road.

THE KENT COUNTY MURDER.—The names of the three persons arrested in Kent county, charged with the murder of the Cosden family, are Wm. W. Webster, (an uncle of Mrs. Cosden and of her sister, Miss Webster) Jas. Roberts, a travelling clock mender, and Wm. Shelton, all of Delaware. They were committed to Kent county jail.

Webster was arrested on the testimony of a brother of Mrs. Cosden, who escaped from the house at the time of the murder. He heard him make threats against Mr. Cosden and family; besides which there had been a difficulty between them about some land. He was arrested in Delaware on Friday, but proving an alibi, was discharged; but on Sunday attended the funeral of the murdered victims in Kent county, was again arrested on suspicion of knowing something of the horrible affair. Roberts also proved that he was at Frederick-town, Cecil county, on the day of the murder although Miss Webster, before she died, declared three times when he was brought before her, that he was one of the murderers. He bore the exact description of the person she at first described as one of those who entered the house, even to a patch on the knee of his pantaloons. He had been at the house of Mr. Cosden the day previous to mend a clock, and heard Mr. Cosden send up stairs to borrow a half dollar from Miss Webster. He was committed on the charge of entering the house of Mr. Stevens at Georgetown ✕ Roads the night before the murder.

Shelton, it appears lately bought a revolver or double barrel pistol, and some dirk knives at Smyrna, and had been seen casting bullets He answers the description of the man who Mr. Cosden said shot him; the bullets exactly fitted his gun; and he was absent from the mill of Mr. Voshell, where he was employed from Tuesday until after the murder. He was committed

Miss Webster died on Saturday evening, making the fourth victim of this bloody tragedy. The colored woman is probably dead before this. Gov. Lowe has offered a reward of $1,000 for the murderers, and if those already in prison be not guilty, we trust the wretches may soon be arrested.

THE GALE AT CAMBRIDGE, MD.—Fatal Effects.—We learn from the Cambridge Chronicle that the gale on the 24th ult., which did considerable damage at that place, capsized a vessel in the mouth of the Little Choptank river, and the captain (John Jones,) his son and a colored man (the cook) succeeded in getting on the bottom, where they perished. Several more were on board at the time, but were saved; by what means it is not known.

SUICIDE.—The Kent News states that Capt. John Humphreys, a respectable citizen of the lower district of that county, committed suicide on Saturday by hanging himself. He had been laboring under mental aberration, occasioned by pecuniary embarrassments, and leaves a widow and several children.

APPOINTMENT.—George Curtis of New York, has been appointed Commissioner of Patents, in place of Mr. Ewbank, removed.

DEAD.—Ex Governor Comegys of Delaware, died at Dover, on Thursday. He was a native of Kent county, Md.

In the death of this good man, the many who loved him have the firmest base of Christian consolation; while in his life it was the good pleasure of God to set before them, for some years, an example of suffering patience. Tried beyond the common lot of man, his cheerful submission to the divine will, his firm affiance in redeeming love, which made to him the chamber of pain and darkness that of spiritual comfort and light have left an impress not easily to be obliterated, on those who were privileged to know and associate with him in his latter years.

For some time before his departure, his days, which had been solaced by affectionate relatives and friends, were devoted to the composition of devotional poetry, recorded by the hands of others, and of prayers suited to his circumstances. They were the transcript of a Christian soul, and breath a spirit in piety akin to that of the region in which, with the hope that maketh not ashamed, we trust he is in the renewed enjoyment of life and light.
