April Term 1868

Q. When did you have the next preceding conversation on these subjects with the Plaintiff
A. It might have been one it might have been three days before. No person was present
Q. What was first said
A. She said "Jane do look at the old Buck". I said nothing but looked. She said "see how nice he takes down the fences. I said nothing. She said he would have to be tied John would have to look out for him. I said nothing. I dont recollect any thing further at that time
Q. When did you have the next preceding conversation with Mrs Chatterton on these subjects
A. I had no conversations. There were remarks made it might have been a day before. She said she was afraid a Mr Dillworth would get more than his share of the apples. that if John was not quick enough Dilworth would get more than his share. No one was present. I said nothing. She said nothing more
Q. When preceding this was any thing said to you by Mrs Chatterton in reference to these matters.
A. Perhaps two hours perhaps two days previous no one was present. She said Johns wheat field was a great labor to him. he thought a great of it. I said it was something new. That was all that was said as near as I recollect
Q. When were the next preceding remarks made if any with reference to these matters
A. We were at dinner and Old Buck got out and Mrs Chatterton said to John. "There is Old Buck out again" John had better be careful or he would get into trouble he had selected an
