office, under Mr. Bateman, and conducted it nearly two years for him. I then again, in the year 1848 entered the Clerk's office where I have devoted unceasingly, my time and attention. I candidly confess that all my attention has been bestowed upon the duties of the office from its lowest to its highest details, during the recess of the Courts in the drudgery of the office, and during the session of the Courts in its active duties, in order to qualify myself for the place I am now soliciting at your hands. In what manner I have discharged my duties, with what fidelity to my employer and to the public in his absence, those of my Fellow-citizens who have attended the Courts and had business in the office, the Judges of the Court and Mr. Parrott may be appealed to, and can answer.—I have sought to do my full duty conscientiously, as I shall always do. It is not for me to say whether I have succeeded or not. My resort is now made to you for confirmation or condemnation, as the Judges from whom in our free country there is no appeal. Under our institutions, happily, the road to advancement is open to all men. Merit, character and qualifications are the only requirements for office. I have heard my age objected to as the only bar to my preferment. The constitution requires but the age of twenty-one years for the important office of Delegate to the general assembly of Maryland, and various other high offices, as also for this clerkship. The age of twenty five years only, is required for Congress. I am now nearly twenty-four years of age, and if I have the character and fitness and necessary qualifications for office, I cannot imagine why this objection should be urged against me.

I feel it my duty, Fellow-citizens, in frankness and candor, to make known to you that from principle, I have adopted the Whig faith and creed, and have always asserted my principles through the ballot box. I accord to every man freedom of opinion and action, respectfully and properly carried out, and claim only the same for myself. I deem it proper further to state, that upon principle I was opposed to nominations for this and other county offices, and respectfully and openly avowed my opinions from the first day after the adoption of the new Constitution.

I now, Fellow-citizens, in conclusion, rest my cause with you. It is not to be disguised that the issue is to me an important one in all respects. If elected, I shall ever be deeply grateful for the honor and favour done me, and pledge my every effort for the faithful discharge of my duty in the Clerkship. If defeated, I shall meet my fate, I hope, with fortitude, and must again return to my daily duty at some desk as a deputy Clerk, as the people will have so decreed. SAMUEL T. HOPKINS.

Our New York Correspondence.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1, 1851.

EDITOR OF THE GAZETTE:

The late publication, in the Herald of this city, of the correspondence between Donaldson of Texas and Greer of Iowa, on the one side, and the Democratic National Committee, on the other side, has caused a good deal of excitement among the Locofocos, and threatens to destroy Sam: Houston's chances for the Presidency. The Southerners sojourning at the hotels positively froth at the mouth, when they speak of the contemplated treachery of the Hero of San Jacinto, so cozily determined on in the Donaldson letter, and the Free Soilers are thanking their stars for their escape from Sam's sympathy and fairness.

It is now pretty generally conceded, that all that can give Sam the slightest chance of a nomination, is, for him to come out, flat-footed, for Cuba; and it is understood that he is about to do so.

Walker of Wisconsin, or rather his friends in this city, the Land Reformers, are the men that gave Sam his death blow, by the publication of this very curious and interesting correspondence. I know the man, personally and intimately, who got the letters from Nathaniel H. Greer, of Iowa, and forwarded copies of them to the Herald. Whether Walker's chances for a nomination will be increased by this treachery of Sam, or not, remains to be seen.—The Locofocos do some funny things.—What would damn a man in the estimation of some persons, often proves of the greatest service to a "democratic" aspirant for honors.

We have most singular weather in New York, at this time. The sudden changes from sweltering heat to chilling cold prove too much for the most guarded; and almost everybody one meets is suffering from coughs, colds, catarrhs or chills. The deaths from Consumption have greatly increased, within a few weeks; and the mortality among the miserable denizens of cellars, and other damp and miasmatic holes, is deplorably great. God only knows the vast amount of sickness, unrelieved suffering, and hopeless misery, among the poor of this city. You must not think that nothing is done to mitigate the sufferings of the unfortunate. There are scores of benevolent associations, and hundreds of kind hearted individuals, in New York, that freely devote time and money to alleviate the woes of the poor. Some of our physicians have set apart certain portions of each day for gratuitous services to the sick and needy. One of the most eminent of their number, (Dr. Talbot Watts,) is said to give not only his time, but his medicines, to the poor, without charge. He has compounded a medicine called "Watts' Nervous Antidote," for the cure of Consumption and nervous diseases, which he distributes gratuitously to the sick; and he has the credit of having saved the lives of hundreds, who, but for his opportune aid, would have sunk to unwept and unhonored graves. The Sisters of Mercy, the Sisters of Charity, and I don't know how many more organizations of a similar character, are unremitting in their attentions to the afflicted; but after all that can be done, hundreds of poor wretches suffer and die unknown and unrelieved. There is such a mighty mass of misery in New York, that it cannot be successfully grappled with.—No medical skill can cure it; no benevolence can relieve it. The majority of its victims must suffer and die, and there is no help for them.

I might furnish your readers with some scores of the extravagant and contradictory reports which are afloat in this city, in relation to Cuba and the fate of Lopez and his followers; but the perusal of these statements would not assist any one in arriving at a definite conclusion. The arrival of the next steamer from Havana is looked forward to with much anxiety by all New Yorkers. There is, in the meantime, considerable foundation for the belief, that, although there have been some disturbances at New Orleans, yet they have been grossly exaggerated. It is doubtful whether the person of the Spanish Consul in that city, has been endangered; or, even, that his house has been attacked. A few days, however, will probably terminate all speculation upon this and kindred subjects, and either necessitate the project of revolutionizing Cuba to be abandoned for the present, or cause new exertions to be made to accomplish the independence of that Island.

Yours truly, YORK.

RUNAWAY on Sunday last, from Benny's woods Camp Meeting, a bright mulatto negro woman; about five feet two inches in height, named MILCHA GIBSON, and about 22 years of age. THE RUFFIN PREMIUM!

OPEN to competition by the farmers of Maryland, and by those of Virginia, East of the Blue Ridge mountains. In illustration of one class of subjects, to wit: Experimental investigation, recommended by EDMUND RUFFIN, Esq., in his lecture delivered before the Agricultural Society of Talbot county, Md., in November last, and to test a general practice of questionable utility, and by which, if it be wrong, as it is supposed to be, the value of millions of dollars may be annually lost to the farmers of the United States. Mr. Ruffin has presented to those Societies the following valuable premiums, to be awarded as follows:

For the best set of experiments to be made in 1851, serving to show the degree of injury (if any) caused to the product and value of Indian corn by stripping off the green blades for fodder—or by cutting off the tops above the ears—or by both these operations, as usual, compared with cutting off the entire plant close to the ground at a somewhat later period, and securing the whole in shocks—and all these compared with corn left standing and entire.—The Farmer's Register in 10 volumes handsomely bound and appropriately inscribed—$55,00.

For the second, third and fourth grade of experiments, one bound copy of Ruffin's Essay on Calcareous manures to each.
