ATTENTION
Whigs of Talbot!

Owing to an arrangement between Judges Chambers and Eccleston, in relation to the recent nomination of the latter by the delegates from the Eastern Shore, as will be seen by the subjoined card and correspondence, the Whigs of Talbot are respectfully and earnestly requested to meet in County Meeting at the Court House in Easton, on TUESDAY, 14th OCTOBER, at 2 o'clock P. M., to deliberate and act as they deem fit, upon this and other questions that may arise under the circumstances. Tuesday 14th is named instead of Saturday 11th October, as suggested, because the Whigs of Talbot generally act by mass meetings and assemble on Tuesdays.

SAM. HAMBLETON, Chairman
Whig Central Committee of Talbot Co.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 18th, 1851

DEAR SIR:—After the adjournment of the Whig State Convention, last evening, the members from the Eastern Shore Counties (with the exception of Kent County which was not represented) assembled to take into consideration the propriety of making nominations for the Eastern Shore —and after consultation, you were nominated by them as a candidate for the office of Judge of the Court of Appeals, for that district. I take much pleasure in communicating this information, and expressing to you the earnest desire of the Convention that you will consent to serve.

The situation for which you have been selected, is one for which your learning and experience eminently qualifies you, and in which you can render most important and valuable services to the people of the State.

With the assurance of the high regard of the members of the Convention in which I most cordially unite, I have the honor to be very respectfully yours,

WM. T. GOLDSBOROUGH,
To JUDGE ECCLESTON. Chairman.

CHESTERTOWN, Sept 25th, 1851.

DEAR SIR:—My nomination as a Candidate for the office of Judge of the Court of Appeals for the Eastern Shore District by the Convention held in Baltimore on the 17th instant, was an event entirely unexpected on my part; and being thus suddenly placed in a new position, involving great responsibility, rendered it necessary for me to take time for consideration before answering your official letter containing the information of my appointment.

Whilst for some reasons I could wish the action of the Convention had been different, it is with great sincerity that I desire through you to tender to the members of that intelligent and respectable body my assurance of the high estimate which I place on the distinguished compliment they have conferred upon me. Permit me also to acknowledge my obligations to you, sir, for the kind and gratifying manner in which you have seen proper to inform me of my nomination, which I now accept with diffidence, knowing the importance of the office. If, however, the voters of the District should see fit to elect me, I shall at all times endeavor faithfully and conscientiously to discharge my duty according to the best of my ability.

Some of the friends of Judge Chambers, I understand, entertain the opinion that he ought not to be bound by the proceedings of this Convention. Without designing to intimate that I assent to the correctness of such an opinion, but with a view of obviating any difficulty on the subject, I am perfectly willing that his name and mine shall be presented to the consideration of another Eastern Shore Convention, if he requires it; and if he should be the nominee I will then retire.

With sentiments of the highest respect for the members of the Convention generally, and for yourself personally, I remain your ob't. & humble serv't.

J. B. ECCLESTON.

To WM. T. GOLDSBOROUGH, Ch'r.

TO THE WHIGS OF THE EASTERN SHORE.

According to the consent of Judge Eccleston in his letter to Mr. Goldsborough, and according to the wish of Judge Chambers' friends, it is agreed that the meeting in the respective Counties be held on the 11th October next, to elect delegates to an Eastern Shore Convention, to be held at Easton, on the 18th October.

If the Convention shall nominate Judge Chambers, Judge Eccleston will retire—if the Convention shall nominate Judge Eccleston, then Judge Chambers will retire.

E. F. CHAMBERS,
J. B. ECCLESTON.

Chester Town, Sept. 29th, 1851.

The whigs of this county are requested to meet on the 14th, instead of the 11th October, at the Court House in Easton, at 2 o'clock P. M.

By the above notices and correspondence, it will be seen that a Convention to nominate a candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals will be held in this town on the 18th inst., and the Whigs of this county are reqested to meet to appoint delegates to said Convention on Tuesday the 14th inst. As it is contended that the Convention which nominated Judge Eccleston acted without authority, and had all the delegations been authorized to make the nomination, the necessary absence of the Kent delegation changed the result, it is deemed advisable to hold another Convention, to re-affirm the nomination of Judge Eccleston, or make a new nomination.—Kent county had not authorized her delegates to nominate a candidate for the Court of Appeals, but at the meeting which appointed delegates to the State Convention, it was resolved that the same delegates be appointed a committee to correspond with the Whigs of this Judicial Circuit and of the Eastern Shore to ascertain if a nomination of Circuit Judge and Judge of the Court of Appeals be expedient." It will be seen by this resolution that Kent had not contemplated this nomination being made in Baltimore, and had not authorized its delegation to act in the premises. It is alleged that other delegations acted without authority, and we think it very right and proper, under these circumstances, that another convention be held, not only in justice to Judge Chambers but to Judge Eccleston, who now appears to hold his position as the Whig nominee on questionable authority. Both gentlemen are unsurpassed in talents, legal acquirements, or unswerving rectitude, and whatever the result the Whigs of this Shore will have a candidate upon whom they may be proud to unite.

OUR New York letter, and several interesting items of news are crowded out of to-day's paper by a press of advertisements.

WE refer our readers to the advertisement of the extensive sale of valuable real estate, by Turpin Wright, Executor of Jacob C. Willson, dec'd., to be found in to-day's paper.

THOS. R. HOLLIDAY, democrat, of this county, is announced in the last Star as a candidate for Commissioner of Public Works for the Eastern Shore district.—With so popular a man as Franklin for a competitor, and a large Whig majority against him, we think our friend H.'s chances for an election are rather bad.

THE DAILY NEWS.—This is the title of a new penny Whig paper, the first number of which was issued in Baltimore, on Saturday, by Messrs. Peake, Walker & Co. It is a handsomely printed and well filled sheet, indicating tact and talent in its management, and presenting the promise of efficient aid in the support and furtherance of Whig principles.

ROBT. L. SETH, ESQ.—We announced a week or two since, that this gentleman had been nominated by the Whigs of Baltimore city, as their candidate for Clerk of the Superior Court. Notwithstanding Mr. Seth has been a resident of Baltimore (with the exception of 3 or 4 years) for the past 15 years, he is well known to the citizens of this county, and during his residence here in 1847, was run as the Whig candidate for the Legislature, and received 312 votes in his native district, which is said to be the largest vote ever given to a candidate in a contested election. As a business man and clerk, he has had much experience, and is well qualified to perform the duties of the station for which the Whigs of Baltimore have nominated him. His election will be hailed with pleasure by his numerous friends in this county.

THE ELECTION.—Below we publish the official returns of the election in this county on Wednesday last. It will be seen that Mr. Henry's majority is 251. Many of the democrats took up Mr. Cottman and worked hard for him, but it was "no go" —many of them preferred to vote for Mr. Henry and did so in spite of all solicitation. Had there been a full Whig vote Mr. Henry's majority would probably have been over 400.

ELECTED.—Dr. John C. Eccleston, a native of Chestertown, Md., late a practitioner in Baltimore, has been elected surgeon of the new steamship "City of Pittsburgh," of Philadelphia.

In our last we copied the editorial entire of the Star, in relation to the promised personal attention of Messrs. Bateman and Price to the duties of the respective offices they are soliciting of the people. We gave our readers the full benefit of the promised diligence of these gentlemen, and as we had never heard the charge, we merely suggested that they and their friends feared it might be a reasonable expectation on the part of the people, as both resided in the country and had other large interests to look after. Smarting, no doubt, under the ridiculous figure the whole scene presented before the people, the present worthy Clerk and Register are assailed, but particularly the Clerk, Mr. Parrott. It is true Mr. P. resides in the country, but he is in town every day at work in his office, by the time his assailants are ready to do business with him, and continues there during business hours, and such has been the case since we knew him We never heard any one complain of the performance of the duties of the office. The Star knows about as much of the fee list as a cow does of holydays, and all know whence he got the slanderous insinuation about Mr. P.'s charges—we have heard of them before. We learn from Mr P. that his charges have often been assailed, but whenever tested before the Judges of Talbot County Court, have always been sustained. Let his slanderers bring him there for any wrong charges, and the matter will be settled at once.

Mr. Hopkins will no doubt charge fees honestly and properly. He will follow, we presume, the dictates of his own conscience, and we feel sure will do right—Mr. Harris spends two-thirds of his time, we believe, in Easton, and we never heard any complaint of his office.

THE MEETING AT THE TRAPPE.

We were present on Saturday last at the meeting at the Trappe; and were an eye-witness to the unfortunate affray which occurred on that occasion between Messrs. Goldsborough and Martin, the rival candidates for State's Attorney in this county. The meeting was a very large one, and was opened by a speech from Mr. Martin. He commenced with an attack on the Editor of the Gazette, but as we wish no verbal war with that gentleman we shall take but little notice of what he said about us. If he will put down on paper what he said, we will reply to him, and we ask no other witness but his own words to convict him. He utterly and entirely failed to get out of the tight places we placed him in last week. He spoke of us so as to leave the impression on the minds of his hearers that he had bullied us in this controversy He has never done so, and although we would submit to a great deal for the sake of peace, we will not be trampled upon by any one. Our controversy with Mr. M has been entirely uncalled for—we did not intend to misrepresent him, and if he had taken the proper mode of denying our report, we should have published it, and the matter would have there ended. But he sought a controversy with us, for some reason, and if he is satisfied with it, we are.

Mr. Martin then attacked Col. Hambleton, misinterpretating the language of his letter in regard to the statement in the Gazette two weeks since, so as to make it appear that Col H. had injured him.—When Col. Hambleton arrived on the ground he very properly took no notice of the speaker, although he was prepared to refute any charges which should be made against him, and would have done so had he thought the occasion required it.

Mr. Martin next assailed Mr. Goldsborough's position in the Whig party, saying that he was formerly a "scentless flower," and now he was a "sweet smelling flower," in the nostrils of certain Whigs, &c., all of which was very tantalizing, and not calculated to conciliate Mr. G., or create a kind feeling toward the speaker.

He then arrayed and refuted a half-dozen charges said to have been made against him, but which we have never heard, and have seen no one who had, before he mentioned them. He then made a powerful appeal to the voters of his native district to put down these unfounded attempts to injure him, and at some length went on to show how he was persecuted—one would think, to hear him, that he was the only man that ever had a trouble, and that it was the especial object of every one out of that particular district to do all they could to sustain this persecution! After this he returned again to the statement in the Gazette, and applied to Mr. Goldsborough to know if he had said that Mr. Clark was unqualified for the office of State's Attorney? Mr. G. replied that he would answer him from the stand, but this was not satisfactory to Mr. M., and when Mr G. replied that "although those were not his words, that his language, tone and manner created the impression that that was his meaning ,Mr. M. said "it was false." Mr. G , we understand, for we did not hear his words, said he was a liar. At this Mr. M. caught up a heavy tumbler, and told Mr. G. if he repeated it he would throw the tumbler at his head, and after some harsh language on both sides, Mr. M. threw the tumbler and made a severe wound on Mr. G.'s head. Had it struck a little lower it would have hit his temple and probably have proved fatal Mr. G threw back the tumbler, but without effect, and was then caught by his friends and prevented from returning the blow, but they both used some very rough language, toward each other, and as Mr. G. found it was useless to attempt to resent the insult and blow at that time, he dressed his wound, and Mr. M. proceeded with his remarks. We did not hear what he said until he got into an altercation with Mr. H. Goldsborough, and used abusive and improper language toward him from the stand. We have attempted to give a correct and unprejudiced statement of the whole affair, and tell as near as possible, the truth, and nothing but the truth, and if we have mistaken the words of either we can do no more than offer to correct them when pointed out. And, fellow citizens, this is the man who asks your suffrages for one of the highest peace offices in the State—one who will publicly use opprobrious epithets to his competitor and then assault him with the first weapon he can lay his hands upon. Mr. G. may have been somewhat hasty, but he could not submit to such an imputation uttered directly in his face. He was, as far as we know, never in an affray of the kind before, and is remarkable as a man of peace, who takes the path he thinks right, and insults no one, interferes with no one.

After Mr. M. was through, Mr. G. took the stand and gave his opponent the most severe castigation that we ever heard given to mortal man. He told Mr. M. he could not bully him—that he had acted the bully and braggadocio to many but to him he should never do it—that he would find him always ready to maintain his rights, and "beard the lion in his den." He then showed why Mr. M. was not fit for the office he sought, and challenged him to show when he (the speaker) had violated any law; but as he said he would show up his conduct to the people of this county, on every occasion, it is useless for us to attempt to follow him in his speech, which was filled with the most withering sarcasm, and delivered with a force and emphasis remarkable after what had taken place.

In Mr. M.'s reply he stated that he insulted no man, and attacked no man, and it was cowardly in any man to insult him, knowing his hands were tied by his oath of office. We were not the only one who was astonished by this declaration after what had taken place. He ought to have thought that his hands were tied before he threw the tumbler, and before he used insulting language. If his hands are tied, it would, we think, become him to be more civil to his opponents, for he cannot expect them to submit to it—no one will attack him while he uses proper language to them, and we feel no hesitancy in saying that not one of his opponets would say any thing offensive to him did he treat them in a proper manner and with proper respect. We hope there will be nothing of the kind again, but if there is Mr. M will have the satisfaction of knowing that he commenced this mode of warfare, and that it is properly appreciated by the community. Mr. M. was then arrested and held to bail in the sum of $100.

The above article was written while the affair was fresh on our mind, and before the Star of Tuesday appeared. It is attempted in that paper to throw the blame of the affray on Mr. Goldsborough, by saying that Mr. Martin's epithet, "it is false," was applied to the statement in the Gazette, and not to Mr. G.'s assertion. Of course if this interpretation is true Mr. G. was wholly to blame, but it was not so understood by any one with whom we have conversed, and could not have been so intended, as Mr. M. spoke immediately upon Mr G.'s words being uttered. The current of public opinion was strong against Mr. Martin, and very few could be found to justify him in his course, and as few who blamed Mr. G. As to Mr. Goldsborough's speech, which the Star characterizes as "coarse abuse," the general impression, as far as we heard, was, that Mr. Martin deserved it all for the course he had taken. The Star's cant about Mr. G.'s being a personal friend, and not wishing to say much about the matter, has met with merited contempt, after the injury it does Mr. G. in its article. Its intimation that we have attacked the character of Mr Martin is worthy of its source, and devoid of truth—Mr. Martin attacked our character and reputation, for making an unintentionally erroneous statement, which we would have been satisfied to deny on his authority had he chosen to take a proper method to bring it to our notice, and in showing that we were wrong only in the use of his words we simply did justice to ourself, and he certainly cannot complain.

THE CONGRESSIONAL ELECTION.

Below we give all the returns we have received of the election on Wednesday last, up to the the time of going to press last night. The Whigs have gained one member in Baltimore city, which makes the delegation stand 4 Whigs to 2 Democrats.

First District.—The returns from this district are so slight that we are unable to judge who is elected. The contest is between R J. Bowie, Whig, and Thos. F. Bowie, Ind. Whig.

Second District.—Wm. T. Hamilton, democrat, is re-elected by about 225 majority over J. P. Roman, Whig.

Third District.—Edward Hammond, democrat, is re-elected by a large majority over Dr. A. Lynch, Ind. Whig.

Fourth District.—Thos. Yates Walsh, Whig, elected by 230 majority over W P Whyte, democrat. The vote stands Walsh 6683, Whyte 6453.

Fifth District.—Alex. Evans, Whig, re-elected over H. McCullough, democrat, by about 130 majority. McCullogh's majority in Harford is 14; and in Cecil 61. Kent gives Evans 140 majority, Queen Ann's 50, and Caroline reported at 15.

Sixth District.—Talbot gives Henry, Whig, 251 majority, Dorchester 383, and Berlin district in Worcester 73. Cottman, Ind. Whig, has 562 majority in Somerset, with Dublin and Trappe districts to hear from. The result is doubtful, but we trust that Worcester gives Henry a majority.—In Dorchester the vote stands, Henry 908, Cottman 525.

THE FUGITIVE SLAVE RIOTERS.—The following are the names of the prisoners taken from Lancaster to Philadelphia, on Thursday, to await their trials for the part they took in the late riot at Christiana:

Coroner Hanaway and Elijah Lewis, white; Henry Sims, John Morgan, Jacob Moore, Alson Pernsley, Lewis Gales, Lewis Clarkson, Charles Hunter, George Wells, Nelson Carter, George Williams and Jacob Woods, colored.
