NATIONAL UNION CONVENTION.—This body, called by nobody knows whom, and attended by self appointed delegates, appears really to have met in Philadelphia and gone through the farce of nominating Presidential candidates. Its proceedings are thus given in the Philadelphia papers of Tuesday:

National Union Convention.—This body met yesterday afternoon, when the proceedings of Saturday were made public.—The following are the officers—

President—Hon. Charles E Stewart, of Mississippi. Vice Presidents—Noah Beesly, Massachusetts; G. Burgess, Connecticut; Edward Young, R Island; Edward Sanford, New York; H. C. McIntyre, N. Jersey; William Baker, Pennsylvania; Wm. Ray, Delaware; Allee Morgan, Maryland, S. J. Caldcleugh, Virginia; William Lane, North Carolina; Benjamin F. Clark, District of Columbia; Richard Thomas, Georgia; W. S. A. Anstay, Alabama.

The Convention nominated Hon. Daniel Webster for President, and Hon. J. W. Kennedy, of Pennsylvania, for Vice President—the former unanimously. For the latter two ballots were had, as follows:

First Ballot—Howell Cobb, 17; H. S. Foote, 9; C. J. Jenkins, 23; J. W. Kennedy, 14; R. Toombs, 12; A H. Stevens, 9, Total cast, 84—necessary to a choice, 56.

Second Ballot—C. J. Jenkins, 22; J. W. Kennedy, 58; Howell Cobb, 3; W. A. Graham, 1.

Yesterday afternoon, after providing for a formal tender of nominations, the Convention adjourned, sine die.

The Ledger says—

Hearing something, yesterday, of such a Convention being about to commence its arduous labors, we instituted a search for three mortal hours, to find it, but all such efforts were vain, politicians were for once modest, and would not show themselves to the public. In the evening somebody sent us a printed slip of what purported to be the proceedings of the Convention, which informed us that the body had nommated Daniel Webster for President, and J. W. Kennedy, of Pennsylvania, for Vice President. Who Mr. Kennedy is we do not know; where the Convention was held we do not know; and we believe no one else is apprized of the fact.

P. S. At a late hour last evening, we were informed the Convention met in the back room of a hotel in Walnut street, near Fourth.

Mr. Kennedy, who hails from Philadelphia, declines the nomination and supports Pierce and King.

BOSTON, July 31.

The Fishing Difficulties.—The Fishing Schooner Northern Light which arrived at Booth Bay, Maine, from the Gulf of St. Lawrence reports having been boarded by a British cutter and requested not to fish within three miles of land, a line from headland to headland being marked out in their presence.

The schr. Wave, which has arrived at Gloucester reports that on Monday last, while lying at anchor near Sable Island in company with the schr. Helen Maria of Gloucester, they were boarded by a British cutter, and fresh bait being found on the Helen Maria, she was taken into Puhica.—The crew of the Maria allege that they had not been fishing and had no intention of evading the treaty, but had only put in for supplies. The intelligence had caused great excitement among the Gloucester fishermen.

THE FISHERY QUESTION.—It is stated that despatches have been received at Washington from Mr. Webster, containing assurances that the fishery difficulties would pe promptly and satisfactorily settled. The British pretensions, as generally understood, are disclaimed, and extend no further than to that portion of the fishing grounds where the British jurisdiction is undisputed.

BUFFALO, Aug. 3.

Progress of the Cholera.—Cholera still prevails in this city, several deaths have occurred, but only in particular neighborhoods and from local causes. The mortality of the city is greater than usual, but there is no panic nor fear of the disease spreading. The weather is clear and air fine. Sunday was the most fatal day, but since then the cases have been more mild and scarce. The disease at first appeared more virulent than formely, many having died very suddenly with only three or four hours illness.

MEMPHIS, Aug. 2.

Safety of Capt. Marcy and his Party.—An extra from the office of the Little Rock, (Ark.) Whig, states that an express had arrived at Fort Smith on the 24th from Fort Arbuckle, bringing the cheering news that Capt Marcy and his command were all alive. This news is correct.

A rencontre occurred at Fort Smith between Wm. L. Vann and J. W. Vanderver, in which the former was killed.

DOUBLE EXECUTION AT POUGHKEEPSIE.—Ann Hoag, white woman, and Jonas Williams, colored man, were executed at Poughkeepsie on Friday:

The former was convicted of the murder of her husband, Nelson Hoag, in the latter part of June, 1851; and the latter of the murder of his step child, by the commission of a rape in January last. The woman was 31 years of age, and the negro 27. Both declared their innocence, and marched to the gallows with firm steps. The woman was convicted of poisoning her husband, and although she admitted he died from the effects of arsenic, she denied her guilt.

A SUICIDAL FAMILY.—We have already chronicled the death by suicide, on the 20th of Mr. Stephen Watkins, living near Damascus, in Montgomery county, by cutting his throat with a razor. On the following Thursday night, his brother, William, attempted to commit suicide, but only inflicted upon his neck a slight wound. It is not a great while since the father, and also the aunt, of these young men adopted this means of passing from the stage of action.

THIRD CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.—Our readers will learn with regret, from the letters we publish below, that Dr. W. W. Watkins, nominated as Presidential Elector for the third Congressional District of the State, composed of the five upper wards of Baltimore city, and of Baltimore, Carroll and Howard counties, has declined the nomination on the ground that the discharge of the duties might conflict with his position as a State Senator.

CLARKSVILLE, July 9, 1852.

My Dear Sir—Herewith I enclose you a copy of my letter to General Chapman, declining the nomination offered by the partiality of my friends, as Presidential Elector. You will see that my letter is dated the 31st May, and as General Chapman has not taken the necessary steps to supply the vacancy, I have thought it best to address you, as Chairman of the Whig Central Committee of Maryland, that you might adopt such measures as you may deem best to give the Whigs a full electoral ticket.

The nomination of General Scott and Mr. Graham will receive my cordial support, and the entire support of the Whigs of Howard county, so far as I have been enabled to ascertain.

Yours, most respectfully,
W. W. WATKINS.

Mr. Sangston, Chairman of the Whig Central Committee.

ANNAPOLIS, May 31, 1852.

My Dear Sir: As doubts have been intimated as to the incompatibility of my official position as State Senator, with that of Presidential Elector, and being unwilling that the interest of the Whig party should be in the least compromised, or that any such question should arise hereafter, I respectfully decline the nomination offered by the kindness of my friends, and take the earliest moment to notify you of this determination, that the proper measures may be taken by a convention in my Congressional district, to supply the vacancy. Very respectfully, your ob't ser vant,
W. W. WATKINS.

Gen. John G. Chapman.

A meeting of delegates from the different counties of the district has been called by the State Central Committee to be held at Ellicott's Mills on the 21st inst., to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mr. Watkins.

At a recent ratification meeting in Montgomery, Alabama, the Hon. James E. Belser, for many years a leading Alabama Democrat, and a member of Congress from the Montgomery District, thus announces his determination to support Scott and Graham:

Mr. Belser, on being loudly called for, remarked that it was not his desire or intention to make a speech, but that he was not afraid to declare at all times his opinions, nor was he affected with the slanderous misrepresentations in reference to Gen. Scott—that he had carefully examined for himself the character and acts of General Scott throughout his whole career, and that he was free to declare that there was no citizen of the whole country who could show so clean a bill, so perfect and untarnished a record, or any one who was more worthy to receive the highest honors his country could bestow, etc. The remarks of Mr. Belser, though brief, were highly animated and eloquent, and were received with unanimous and continued cheering.

BURNING OF THE HENRY CLAY.—The burning of the Steamboat Henry Clay, on the Hudson River, last week, was a much more heart rending disaster than was first reported. Sixty-nine dead bodies have been recovered from the wreck, and twenty-one others are missing, making a total of ninety lives lost, in consequence of a steamboat race. Among those lost are J. J. Speed, Esq., well known to the people of Maryland and one of the most influential lawyers of Baltimore; A. J. Downing, the Horticulturist; Stephen Allen, former Mayor of New York, and a sister of Hawthorne, the novelist. Thomas Collyer, proprietor of the boat, and the officers, have been arrested, and the case will undergo a thorough judicial investigation. The captain of the boat should suffer the extreme penalty of the law for this wholesale and wilful murder.

THE JURISDICTION OF MAGISTRATES.—It may not be generally known that the first section of the law, passed by the recent Legislature of Maryland, extending the jurisdiction of justices of the peace, and prescribing their duties, enacts that all wrongs, where the debt and damage does not exceed one hundred dollars, can be laid and tried before a justice of the peace; therefore if a person is assaulted and beaten, he can enter suit for damages before a justice of the peace, instead of bringing his suit in the higher courts. A justice has no jurisdiction in cases where the title of land is involved, nor in actions for slander, for breach of a promise of marriage, or to enforce a lien for work done or materials furnished. The law has been in effect since the first of last May.—Balt. Sun.

CAPSIZED.—Capt. Hiram Browne, while returning to this place from Baltimore, on Thursday night last, discovered a vessel capsized in the bay, off the Bodkin, which proved to be the schooner Tamsey A. Hughlett, belonging at the Trappe, Talbot county. The captain and crew, when discovered, were in a perilous situation, a very heavy sea raging at the time, and but for the timely assistance afforded they would have, no doubt, found a watery grave.—Kent News.

THE RIVER AND HARBOR BILL.—This bill passed the House of Representatives on Monday, by a vote of one hundred and three against seventy five. There are appropriations in it to the amount of $50,000 for the improvement of the Patapsco and Susquehanna rivers and the Chesapeake bay.

The Postmaster General has appointed Augustus Wittman postmaster at Bay Hundred, Talbot county, vice Ezekiel Jackson, resigned.

WE have two communications on file, which will appear next week.

A residence for the pastor of the Protestant Episcopal Church is being erected on the lot adjoining that Church, in this town. The corner stone was laid on Thursday last. It is to be of stone, corresponding with the church, and will be one of the finest residences in Easton.

WE are indebted to the Hon. A. G. Penn, M. C., for a copy of an electioneering document, entitled the "Whig Abolitionist attack on Gen. Pierce," which contains about as many falsehoods as could conveniently be crowded into a small space. We may refer to it hereafter.

Worthington G. Snethen, Esq., of Washington, will accept our thanks for a copy of two laws for the benefit of Agriculture, prepared by him and submitted to Congress.

We are also indebted to the Hon. W. H. Seward for a copy of his speech in favor of the Collins line of steamships. Also to the Hon. W. S. Ashe, for a copy of a speech delivered at a Democratic meeting at Richmond, Va., by Senator Douglas.

THE truth of the reports of the speeches of Gen. Pierce, at New Boston, in January last, as published at the time in the Independent Democrat and Manchester Democrat, is strenuously denied by the Southern Democratic press, and numerous vague denials are being published to disprove the reports. A card over the signature of one hundred men has appeared, which denies that a single sentence of the reports was correct. As these reports say that Gen. Pierce spoke in favor of the Compromise, and his friends also insist that he did, the card bears the evidence of falsehood on its face.—When Gen. Pierce's friends will particularize and say what part of the reports are wrong, then we will begin to place some reliance upon their statements, but while we have such testimony as is adduced, we beg leave to believe that Gen. Pierce said he "loathed the fugitive slave law," and his heart revolted at the sight of a human being in bondage.

The Independent Democrat, of a late date says:

"We have received a large number of letters from Southern men during the last fortnight, asking information in regard to this matter, we take this occasion to say to one and all, that the language attributed to Gen. Pierce above, was spoken by him precisely as reported.—This language was not only used at New Boston, but also at Bradford and other places in this State. Of this the proof is abundant, and will be forthcoming, in a shape to defy cavil or denial."

The following is the testimony, on oath, of the Rev. Andrew T. Foss, a Baptist clergyman of New Hampshire, which cannot unequivocally, and on the oath of any respectable man, be denied:

AFFIDAVIT.—I, Andrew T. Foss, of Manchester, in the county of Hillsborough, and State of New Hampshire, depose and say, that on the 2d day of January, 1852, I attended a political meeting at New Boston, in said county, which was addressed by General Franklin Pierce; that I went there for the purpose of reporting the speakers, and that the report of the speech of General Pierce, wherein he declares that he "loathed the Fugitive Slave law, &c.," was furnished by me to the editor of the Manchester Democrat; that the same was written out by me on the evening after the meeting from notes taken on the spot; and that the facts therein stated as published in said Manchester Democrat, and also in the Independent Democrat, are true. I distinctly recollect that General Pierce said, among other things, that he had a "most revolting feeling at the giving up of a slave;" that he "loathed the Fugitive Slave law;" and that the same "was opposed to humanity and moral right."

THE Locofocos are making a great parade over a supposed denial over the signature of Messrs. Norris, Hibbard, and Peaslee, members of Congress, and Messrs. Ayre and Campbell, of the correctness of the reports of Gen. Pierce's speech, as published in the New Hampshire papers at the time. Not one of them touch the case at all, and their letters are gross frauds upon the people of the United States.—The speech of Gen. Pierce, reported in the Manchester Democrat, was made on the 2d day of January, and these denials are all in regard to a speech made in December. How much better than downright falsehood this evasion is, we leave our readers to determine.

THE FUNERAL OBSEQUIES, in honor of the illustrious Clay, in this town on Saturday last, were highly interesting and very creditable to our citizens. The procession was formed by the marshal and aids, at 11½ o'clock, the funeral car, drawn by four white horses, being in advance. This was followed by the pall bearers, the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Sons of Temperance, fire companies, with engines draped in mourning, citizens, &c. After passing through the principal streets, the procession reached the M. E. Church, where the exercises of the day were opened by an eloquent and patriotic prayer by the Rev. S. Annear. The Oration by Dr. Cox, was eloquent, impressive and beautiful, and, delivered in the chaste and pleasing manner for which Dr. C. is well known, gave great satisfaction to the large audience in attendance. The singing was excellent, the pieces of music selected being highly appropriate, and performed in the best manner by the Choir, under the lead of Mr. Mortimer.

While the procession was moving, minute guns were fired, and the bell tolled. The Court House, Odd Fellow's Hall, nearly all the stores, and many dwellings, were dressed in mourning. Every thing gave evidence that a great and good man had fallen, and that our citizens sincerely mourned the loss of the Sage of Ashland.

THE COMPROMISE.—The position of the two parties on the Compromise is one of the most important questions of this Presidential campaign, and should be rightly understood by every voter. The Whig party in National convention assembled, adopted as a condition precedent to a nomination, by a large majority on a vote by yeas and nays, a resolution affirming the finality of the compromise, and pledging the party to discountenance all future agitation of the slavery question. At all the State Conventions held since the National Convention, and at all ratification meetings where resolutions were introduced, the Whig platform has been ratified and confirmed.—Those who refuse to support the platform are not Whigs, no matter who they support for President; unless they are Whigs in principle, they are not Whigs in any way. The Compromise is an essential element in the Whig creed, the Whig Convention unequivocally made it such, and nominated a candidate who pledges himself to sustain that platform. In electing Gen. Scott the finality of the Compromise will be unequivocally endorsed by the people of the United States, and will probably remain a finality of the slavery question for generations to come. The freesoil press of the North are universally opposed to Gen. Scott, and look upon him as the champion of finality, and a large majority support Gen. Pierce, believing him and his party to be more favorable to their views. The New York Evening Post, a zealous supporter of Gen. Pierce, says:

"If Gen. Scott had not accepted a nomination on a finality platform, there is no doubt that any of the prominent candidates before the democratic convention would have been defeated by him. But now he is presented as the express champion of "finality," of which there is not a word in the democratic platform. The very sentiment which would have given Gen. Scott strength if he had adhered to the principles of the party which presented him, will now and ought to enure to the benefit of Pierce, whose abstract notions of slavery are quite as liberal and just, as any ever professed by General Scott, and whose general notions of government command our unqualfied admiration."

The Evening Post denies that the Compromise resolutions were ever passed by the Democratic National Convention, and there is certainly no evidence or record to prove that they were. The Editor of the Constitutionalist Republic, of Augusta, Georgia, also denies that the Democratic National Convention ever endorsed or approved of the Compromose. He was a member of the Convention, and also of the Committee on the platform, and says:

"The language used in the resolutions was deliberately and carefully adopted with the express purpose of avoiding any laudation, or any appearance of laudation, of the Compromise."

Horace Greeley may "execrate" the platform, but he cannot and does not deny that it was passed by the Whig National Convention, and is the Whig creed. But we hear much complaint from the Locos, and Whigs are called upon to repudiate Gen. Scott, because Greeley and Seward support him. We hear no objection to the Van Burens, the Rantouls, the Butlers, the Dixes, and all the free soil leaders of 1848 supporting Gen. Pierce. This they all do, and nearly every free soil newspaper also, and are received with open arms by the Southern Democracy. Seward and Greeley would give up opposition to slavery sooner than they would the Whig party, and for this reason only support Gen. Scott. But it is otherwise with the Van Burens and their followers.—They boast that their objects are accomplished, that they have gained their ends, and the Southern Democracy boast of their return to the party. For one free soiler who supports Gen. Scott, there are three who support Gen. Pierce. Which, fellow citizens, stands the best before the country? Every unprejudiced mind must answer, Winfield Scott, the "champion of the finality," the Southern man, and enemy of agitation.

THE daily mail between Easton and Elkton went into operation on Monday last. The schedule has not yet been fixed upon, but we shall probably be able to publish it next week.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Thomas Pierson, Esq., one of the best and most respected citizens of this town, died suddenly on Monday morning, last. He was principal of the English Department of the Easton Academy, was in his usual health on Friday evening when he closed his school for the term, but during the night was struck with paralysis, which terminated his life. Among those who followed him to the grave were a large number of his old pupils, now residents of Easton, and all those so lately under his tuition. As a citizen and as a teacher, Mr. Pierson's loss will be deeply felt, and the void left by his demise difficult to fill.—The following is the action of the Board of Trustees of the Academy.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Easton Academy, held at the Academy building, on Monday the 2d inst, the following Resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That by the recent death of Thomas Pierson, Teacher in the English Department of the Easton Academy, this Institution has sustained a serious bereavement, and the cause of education a zealous, competent and efficient instructor of youth

Resolved, That we sympathise sincerely with his family and friends in the loss they have sustained, and tender to them our sincere condolence.

Resolved, That we will attend in a body the funeral of Mr. Pierson, from his residence, to-morrow; with such of the pupils of the two Departments of the Academy as can be assembled for the purpose.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions, signed by the President and Secretary, be enclosed to the surviving family of the deceased; and also that a copy be furnished for publication in the papers of the town. SAM: HAMBLETON,
WM. B. CLARK, Sec'y. President.

EASTON, August 3, 1852.

Pursuant to public notice, a meeting of the scholars of the late Thomas Pierson, including a number of his former pupils, was held this morning at the Easton Academy, for the purpose of adopting suitable resolutions of respect to the memory of the deceased.

On motion, Wm. B. Clark, Esq., was called to the chair, and Samuel T. Hopkins appointed Secretary.

The object of the meeting having been stated, it was resolved that a committee be appointed to report suitable resolutions for the occasion; whereupon the chair appointed the following gentlemen, viz: Dr. S. P Benny, Elias O. Dawson, T. T. Martin, John Goldsborough, Walter H. Thompson and Hall H. Hayward, who, after a short absence, reported the following preamble and resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God in his wise Providence, suddenly to remove from this world our esteemed friend and late instructor, Thomas Pierson, Esq., Principal of the English Department in the Easton Academy—and whereas, during the progress of our education it has been our good fortune to receive through his instrumentality, the most useful and profitable instruction which youth can enjoy.

Resolved, That we have one and all witnessed with great pleasure the promptness, zeal, fidelity and devotion with which he discharged every duty connected with his station.

Resolved, That in the death of Mr. Pierson, the cause of education has sustained a most deplorable loss, and the department over which he has so long presided, a vacancy as deeply to be regretted as it will be difficult to fill.

Resolved, That this community will bear ample testimony to the qualities of the deceased, both as a good citizen and an able teacher.

Resolved, That we deeply sympathize with his family in their late bereavement

Resolved, That we, his late pupils, will attend in a body the funeral of the deceased, wearing the usual badge of mourning.

Resolved, That a copy of the foregoing resolutions, signed by the President and attested by the Secretary of this meeting, be forwarded to the family of the deceased, and also that a copy be furnished for publication in both papers of the town.

WM. B. CLARK, President.
SAM'L T. HOPKINS, Sec'y.

Mr. Webster and Mr. Crampton, we see it stated in the Boston papers, were expected to arrive in that city Thursday, from Marshfield, en route for Washington.
