2nd Cross Interrogatory. Look at Exhibit W. and state whether or not that is a correct statement from the Books of Richard Green, deceased? (This interrogatory was objected to by Defendants Solicitor.)
Answer. It is a correct extract from the Cash Book of the Harford Furnace Company.
It shows that W. Howard paid Richard Green, ninety (90) dollars for lime. It shows also that William Wilson paid Richard Green for 576 bushels of lime one hundred & three dollars and sixty eight cents ($103.68), less fifteen dollars ($15) freight. These are the entries on the Cash Book.
Wesley B. Coursey, aged about 60 years, residing in Baltimore County, produced as a witness on the part of the Complainant being duly sworn and examined on interrogatories filed with the Commissioner by R.R. Boarman Esq. Solicitor for the Complainant, and herewith returned, deposes and says:
1st. Interrogatory. State whether you purchased lime in the Fall of 1860. if so state from whom?
Answer. I know some of the parties to this suit, I contracted with Mr. Green for one thousand bushels of lime at eighteen (18) cents a bushel. He sent me thirteen hundred and seventy (1370) bushels to the best of my knowledge. I and he had a settlement at Miller's Hotel in Baltimore and there I paid him (Richard Green).
2nd Interrogatory. Look at Exhibit W.B.C." and state whether or not that is a correct statement of the lime and the times of sending it.
Answer. To the best of my knowledge, this is about the way I received it.
Whereupon, the Counsel for the Defendants exhibited his Cross Interrogatories to be put to the said witness, which are herewith returned, and the said witness being examined thereon, deposes and says:
1st Cross Interrogatory. State where you live and how the lime came to you?
Answer. I reside on the Washington Road in Baltimore County, 4 miles from Baltimore City. The lime came by Mr Green's direction to me, on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. I paid the freight to the Rail Road Company, whether all the way from the Lime kiln or only from Baltimore. I cannot say.
2nd Cross Interrogatory. State in whose hand writing the paper shown you is, whether you have any recollection of the particular amounts delivered to you and the dates.
Answer. I do not know in whose hand writing it is. I have no memory of the day or date of these deliveries, except for the year, which was 1859 or 1860. 1860 I think.
John Kane, aged about 24 years, residing at Texas, Baltimore County produced as a witness on the part of the Complainant being duly sworn and examined to interrogatories filed with the Commissioner by R.R. Boarman Esq. Complainants Solicitor, deposes and says:

1st. Interrogatory. State whether or not you were not employed by Thomas Ward to dig ore at the Rockland ore Bank in the Fall of 1860 and the winter of 1861.
Answer. Yes Sir
2nd Interrogatory. State how many hands Ward had employed then in the Bank, and how many horses and carts. State what the wages of the men employed was, and what was the value of the horses and carts employed, per day each?
Answer. Four men, two horses, two carts. The wages of the men were, I think one dollar a day. I am not certain. I think each horse and cart were worth two dollars and twenty five cents or two dollars and fifty cents per day. I am not certain. If I had them to hire out, that is what I would charge. I think that would be a fair charge, though I am not certain. Greenbacks were not going then and I do not know what they were hired at.
3rd Interrogatory. How many days were the men, horses & carts employed in the Bank?
Answer. Three months or over, as far as I can recollect. That is the best of my recollection.
4th. Interrogatory. State who Ward was employed by to get out the ore.
Answer. By Richard Green.
5th. Interrogatory. State whether Ward hauled or not the ore to Greens Furnace or Riders Switch for Richard Green & State how many horses Ward had employed in hauling said ore, and how many days he was employed in hauling the same, and what was the team worth a day?
Answer. Yes Sir, he hauled the ore with his teams either to Riders Switch or the Furnace. I do not know which. He hauled it for Richard Green. I think he had six horses or mules, I am not certain which, in his team. His team was employed not less than sixty days sixty days or over, but I am not certain. I do not exactly know what the team was worth a day, but I suppose eight or nine dollars.
Whereupon the Counsel for the Defendants exhibited his Cross Interrogatories to be put to the said witness, which are herewith returned, and the said witness being examined thereon, deposes and says:
1st Cross Interrogatory. Did you ever hear any conversation between Green and Ward.
Answer. No sir.
2nd Cross Interrogatory. Where did you understand the ore was carried to.
Answer. I understood that the ore was carried to Ashland Furnace.
