This further strengthened the funds, but it began to be rumored that the so called armistice was only a conditional order to Omer Pacha not to commence hostilities till Nov. 1st, if he had not already commenced.—This depresed the market, particularly as a telegraphic despatch apparently authentic, stated that the Turks had crossed the Danube in great force near Widdin and occupied Kalofat with the intention of assailing the Russians.

ENGLAND.—Great riots had broken out at Wigan in Lancashire, caused by a turn out of the operatives, the colliers. Much property had been destroyed and the troops called out.

MARKETS.—Breadstuffs—Prices by the America are generally well supported, without excitement, ranging but little from Friday's quotations. The demand for wheat and flour is mostly for the best qualities, and the tone of the market follows closely the tenor of the advices received from the East.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 2nd.—A telegraphic despatch from the Danube, of Oct. 27th, states that 6000 Turkish infantry and cavalry had crossed the Danube and taken possession of Kalofat without opposition. More troops were still crossing, the men being in barges and swimming their horses. The Russians were concentrating a large force around Kalefat to attack them.

The London Times has a despatch from Constantinople, Oct. 22nd, stating that the Austrian Envoy had submitted to the Sultan the draft of a new note from the Four Powers, which had been accepted by Russia.—The Times still thinks negotiations may prevent a general war.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—A letter from Dr. Parker, Secretary of the American Legation at Canton, states that the Emperor of China had fled to Tartary, and that the rebels were within six days march of Pekin. The fifth brother of the Emperor was left in charge of the Empire.

Koszta sailed from Smyrna, October 15th, in the barque Sultana, for Boston.

THE EXECUTIONS IN MEXICO.—The report that Gen. Tornel had been shot, by order of Santa Anna, is incorrect. Gen. Robles was the person intended to be referred to, and it appears he made his escape on learning that he was about to be tried as a conspirator. A letter from Maj. Chapman, dated Ringgold Barracks, Texas, Oct. 15, states that Robles, who was Arista's Secretary of War, had been banished by Santa Anna, from the city of Mexico to Monclova. Soon after his arrival at the latter place he effected his escape to Roma, on this side of the Rio Grande. He says "that forty-nine other men of standing and influence were banished about the same time; that he was banished because he was a Federalist; that he shall proceed to New Orleans, and remain until he is re-called by his Government, which he believes will be soon. He, of course, does not expect to be recalled while Santa Anna is in power. Two days after he had crossed the Rio Grande an order was received at Mier for his immediate trial as a conspirator." Major Chapman makes no mention of any executions.

The Washington Star of last evening has a letter from Fort Brown, which says it was rumored that Rosas was shot. The writer adds:

"Not a solitary Mexican soldier has crossed the Sierra Madre in this direction this year. A gentleman, an acquaintance of mine, arrived this morning from Monterey, and says that Ampudia, who is in that city, has not a single bayonet at his command, and that Santa Anna's grand army is just where it was six months ago, viz: on paper."

THE WAR IN CHINA—ITS BARBARITIES.—The advices from China give shocking accounts of the barbarities which are committed at the sacking of towns and on the field of battle. It is stated that in one engagement 1000 were killed, besides a large number drowned by being pushed into a river; in another, seven thousand were killed; in another, seven hundred were burnt to death and three hundred killed, only ninety prisoners having been brought in by the victors; but they had the heads of one hundred and fifty others. Numerous engagements are mentioned where thousands perished. The Emperor appears to set the example of barbarous cruelty. When one of his officers is defeated he takes his head YELL... MEETING OF NATIONAL DEMOCRATS AT WASHINGTON.

A meeting of Adamantine Democrats to congratulate the Hards upon the result of the late election in New York, took place at Copp's Saloon, Washington, on Monday night. C. S. Wallach was appointed President, with fifteen Vice Presidents and the usual number of Secretaries. Cornelius W. Wendell offered a series of resolutions, declaring that the nomination and election of Pierce was in consequence of his unmistakeable national antecedents and known opposition to the conduct and opinions of those who opposed Cass in 1848; that the Baltimore Platform was not a general amnesty to such; that the attempts of the Departments to crush the National Democracy in N. York deserves the immediate attention and correction of the President; congratulating the New Yorkers on their signal victory over Free-soilism, deprecating the recent attacks on Dickinson, &c.

The resolutions having been read, D. S. Ratcliffe took the stand and made an able speech against the resolutions, charging on the movers of the meeting hostility to the President, and a design to sink the Administration. This created great excitement, amid which Wendell replied. He said he was instrumental in calling the meeting, and asked if the President had carried out the principles of the Democratic party?—(Loud cries of "yes" and "no;" much excitement; three cheers for Dickinson, &c.)

Mr. Overton, after the turmoil had subsided, was called out and briefly stated that the great question was not opposition to the administration, but whether Free-soilism should be an element in the Democratic party.

The question on the resolutions was called for, when Mr. Ratcliffe reminded gentlemen that this was an attack on the Administration. Wendell denied it, when much excitement followed, parties almost coming to blows.

Somebody moved an indefinite postponement of the resolutions. Another wanted to offer a substitute. Before the question was distinctly put, Wm. H. Thomas, Deputy Collector for this port, sprang upon the platform and moved an adjournment, prior to which he proposed three cheers for the Administration, which were given. Wallach, the chairman, then struck Thomas, knocking him from the platform, when a general melee ensued, lasting sometime, but ending in nothing serious. The meeting was, of course, effectually broken up.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.

The few members who arrive here seem to be much interested in the subject of the feud now prevailing in the democratic party. The New York election, by showing the strength of the hards, has given an impulse to the conflict. A democratic meeting in this city was broken up by this question between the Hards and the Administration, and this is a correct type of the state of things in the party generally. The feud will make rapid progress in the South.—Gov. Foote will not remain quiet under defeat, and the Union men of Georgia are not yet put down.

It is commonly said here that the Legislature of Mississippi will elect Col. Jefferson Davis to the United States Senate, but whether he will leave his post at the head of the War Department to accept it is doubtful. His services are of great value where he is, and his resignation, destroying the system of compromise on which the Cabinet was formed, may render its remodeling a matter of necessity.

I hear that the Pacific railroad is a prominent subject in the consideration of members who have reached here, and that most of them are opposed to the project of the New York, Atlantic and Pacific railroad company, and are more disposed to go for Benton's route and project. ION.

MURDER OF A MAN BY HIS STEP-CHILDREN.—An awful deed was done, on Saturday night, the 5th inst., in the town of Vestal, about eight miles from this village. It appears that a Mrs. Winans, an old resident of Vestal, after a widowhood of some years, married a man by the name of Stephen Crane. Soon after their marriage, a disagreement occurred, and to the fatal hour of Crane's death, they continued to quarrel. Mrs. Winans had a daughter, who lately got married also, to a young man whose name we could not learn. To this daughter, Mrs. Winans, (alias Crane,) assigned her interest in the home in which they reside. Mr. Crane, after an absence of some time from home, returned on Saturday, and attempted to enter what he considered his own house, but was ordered off by his new son-in-law. On persisting to enter, he was told that if he did, he would be certainly shot. He then left, but returned again in a state of intoxication, it is said, attempted to enter the house, and was again repulsed. He pertinaciously persisted in his design; then the wife took, primed and charged a pistol and told the young man to do his duty! In another moment poor Crane was numbered among the dead! The ball passed through the head, entering the forehead and lodging behind the ear.—At first it was thought this was the only wound inflicted, but after examining the body, his head was found to contain several gashes—indeed, horribly mutilated! The murderer is now in custody.—Binghamton Republican, 7th.

A WOMAN SHOT DEAD IN THE STREET.—The Whigs of West Troy, N. Y., had a grand torchlight procession on Saturday evening. While passing through the principle avenue of that village a man named James Tempeny, a private watchman it is alleged, discharged a revolver, loaded with ...sion. The load passed over the heads of those in the procession, but, unfortunately, a Miss Kearn, who was walking the street, in company with another lady and gentleman, was instantly killed. The ball entered her forehead at the right side, and passed entirely through her brain, lodging in the other side of her head. She died instantly. He was arrested.

RELEASE OF KOSZTA.—Advices from Smyrna to Oct. 12th, state that Koszta had been released, and was on his way to Boston. It appears Mr. Offley had received a second despatch from Mr. Marsh at Constantinople, stating that, in his arrangement with M. Bruck, the Austrian Internuncio, there is no reserve relative to Koszta's future movements; whereupon Mr. O. consented to this release.

EASTON GAZETTE.

EASTON, Md.

SATURDAY MORNING, NOV. 19, 1853.

THE Nineteenth Annual Report of the Union Dorcas Society will be found on our first page.

WE are indebted to the Hon. Alexander Evans, member of Congress from the late fifth district of Maryland, for a copy of the abstract of the seventh census, an interesting and valuable public document.

DENTON MAIL.—The mail between Easton and Denton will hereafter run as follows: leave Denton every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 4 o'clock A. M. Returning, leave Easton same days at 12 o'clock M.

THE JAPAN EXPEDITION.—On our first page will be found a more full and reliable account of the first interview with the Japanese, than that published last week. It will be seen that Capt. Franklin Buchanan, of this county, was one of the prominent officers present at the interview, and was the first to land upon the shores of Japan.

THURSDAY next, the 24th inst., is the day set apart by the Governor as a day of general thanksgiving and prayer in Maryland. The same day has been selected by the Governors of some eighteen states, so Thursday will be generally observed throughout the United States, as a day of thanksgiving to a kind Providence for all his mercies, and the unmerited benefits so plentifully showered upon our people.

COLONIZATION.—A large and respectable meeting of the friends of African Colonization was held at the Court House in this place, on Wednesdny evening last. Eloquent addresses were delivered on the occasion by Dr. C. C. Cox, and Hon. John Bozman Kerr, of Easton, and Rev. John Seys, Agent of the Maryland Colonization Society. The addresses were interspersed with interesting facts, amusing anecdotes, &c., and replete with strong arguments in favor of the cause. An unexpectedly large collection was taken up at the close of the meeting.

NEW YORK ELECTION.—The estimated average vote in the State is, for the Whig candidates 158,000, Hards 97,000, Softs 95,000. So far 22 Whigs, 5 Hards and 2 Softs are elected to the Senate, leaving three districts in doubt. To the assembly 80 Whigs, 28 Hards, 20 Softs, and 2 Free Soilers are chosen.

This result is highly gratifying to us both as Whigs and as Southern men. It was supposed that the vote of the "hard" or National democrats, would be small, very small, but it exceeds that of the "softs," or Administration Democrats. The majority of the democrats of New York are sound on the slavery question; the influence of the Administration with its immense patronage, had no effect upon the sterling adamantines—they were excommunicated from the democratic fold by the Administration for their friendship for the South, their detestation of free soilers, but they remain true to their faith. The Administration has been signally and sternly rebuked by these lion-hearted men, and it would do well to profit by the lesson.

WE observe in the last Star a most malicious and wanton insinuation of the Clerk to the late Commissioners, that Col. Hambleton was the author of the article signed "Eastern Shore Whig," first published in the Baltimore Patriot, and transferred to our paper of to-day. We first shewed the article to that gentleman in our office, as he is not a subscriber to the Patriot. We know from him that the insinuation is as unfounded as it is malicious. We had supposed that the Clerk would cease his malicious course towards Col. Hambleton after the election was over, but we were mistaken. But we suppose we must expect that in some measure, as he has trouble in his own camp, and seems to be in bad ... all around at this time. We feel sure no honorable man of his party believed the insinuation—at least we have heard numbers of democrats so express themselves. Our neighbor being ruled out from all concern or management of his own party, seems to be desirous of taking part in that of the Whigs. We presume, however, that the other distinguished gentleman named, the Hon. James A. Pearce, will appreciate his officiousness if he ever took the trouble to read (and we doubt if he ever did) a late ... of the Star, in which speaking of Mr. Pearce, the Editor said "Our Senator as usual took sides against his Country." Both parties can appreciate a journal which would so libel a distinguished public man.

GRAHAM'S MAGAZINE, for December, is received, and completes the year for 1853. No one who has taken it, will say their money was not well and profitably expended. Graham gives annually over twelve hundred pages of reading matter and a splendid steel engraving in every No. The reading matter in this Magazine is surpassed by no periodical published—it is the best capital can command, Graham expending more money for original articles from American authors than any other magazine publisher in the United States. In addition, he publishes in every No. articles from the best foreign periodicals, giving the reader a fair chance to decide between American and foreign writers. Among the authors engaged for the ensuing year are Mrs. Ann S. Stephens, E. Anna Lewis, Grace Greenwood, Mrs. Dorr, Messrs. Bryant, Lowell, Longfellow, Whipple, Saxe, and other distinguished writers. Terms $3 per year. We will receive subscriptions at the club price, $2. Persons wishing to subscribe will do well to hand in their names immediately, as the January No. will be published early in December.

HELEN MULGRAVE: or, Jesuit Executorship.—An Autobiography of a Young Lady, a Seceder from Romanism.

This work, from the press of Messrs. De Witt & Davenport, the publishers of "Beatrice," by Miss Sinclair, in a most suitable book to succeed that admirable work, the popularity of which has been so great, that nearly 40,000 copies have been sold.

"Helen Mulgrave" differs from the former work in many particulars. It is written with less acrimony of spirit, in even a more pleasant style, with more varied and thrilling incidents.

While Miss Sinclair paints in glowing colors the baneful effects of Romanism on the physical as well as the mental condition of its votaries, the author of "Helen Mulgrave" dwells more upon the spiritual blindness in which it keeps its victims, and illustrates these facts by the autobiography of a young lady who, brought up in the higher walks of life, in the fashionable devotion of Roman Catholicism, finds, by an intuitive perception, that there is a hollow void in her heart, an earnest longing after something more satisfactory to an immortal spirit than is furnished by the unmeaning forms of the church in which she had been nurtured. She is, therefore, induced to search the Scriptures, and is thereby brought to a knowledge of her error, and to renounce, though not openly, her former belief. Her father having died in the meantime, she is placed in the hands of Jesuit Executors and through them undergoes a series of trials, temptations, and persecutions, the descriptions of which exceed in interest and dramatic power, any work of fiction that it has ever been our good fortune to have read. Price 50 cents. For sale in Easton by Charles Robinson.

THE MONK'S REVENGE; or, the Secret Enemy, is the title of an excellent romance just received from the same enterprising firm, whose books have at least one quality to recommend them, and that is the clear and handsome style in which they are got up.

It is a well written book, and lacks none of the more prominent elements of success.—It furnishes an admirable portraiture of times when religious enthusiasm led whole countries to enlist under the Banners of the Cross, and wage exterminating war in the name of the Holy Church. Price 50 cents. For sale by Chas. Robinson.

To the Editor of the Baltimore Patriot:

I notice in Tuesday's Patriot, that your Washington correspondent, 'Potomac,' congratulates the Whig party in Maryland upon its success in electing a majority of the Legislature, thereby securing a United States Senator, and says that "undoubtedly the choice will fall upon Mr. Pearce, and that no Whig in Maryland will oppose him." Potomac is probably not aware that there does not exist that entire unanimity of feeling upon this subject that he supposes, or if he is, it is scarcely fair, or even politic, thus early to attempt to influence public sentiment, in implying Mr. Pearce's inherent right to the seat he now occupies.—Giving all honor to Mr. Pearce for the noble course he has pursued in the Senate—granting him the highest meed of praise for his gallant stand in defence of the Union—thanking him for the honor he has reflected upon Maryland, yet I think that eighteen years of uninterrupted confidence, reposed in him by his constituents, should afford him ample reward, and that the oft repeated endorsement of his course by the Whigs of Maryland, ought to gratify every feeling of political pride.

His re-election to the Senate six years ago, met with little or no opposition, not because that opposition could not be organized ... a matter of courtesy, since the acts generally had met ... the approval of the people ... they thus expressed it, but they do not regard this approval as giving Mr. Pearce a title to a life estate in a seat in the United States Senate. There are others, with as many claims to the confidence of the people, and as much (if not more) ability to serve them, and to these Mr. Pearce should now afford "the opportunity which makes heroes," and seek, for a time at least, "the post of honor, a private station." At least such are the views of an

POLYTECHNIC COLLEGE OF PENNSYLVANIA.

Among the Institutions, of recent date, designed to advance correct and thorough professional education in the Mechanical and Chemical arts, every lover of science must hail, with proud satisfaction, the announcement of the first Polytechnic School on the American Continent. This college was chartered by the Legislature of Pennsylvania, in April last, and is already in successful operation. The edifice on the S. W. corner of Market St. and W. Penn Square, Philadelphia, is centrally and pleasantly situated, every care having been taken to render its arrangements and appointments such as shall promote the comfort, and secure the advancement of the student. The immensely valuable results which have flowed from Polytechnic Colleges in Europe are known to all who have given the subject the least consideration;—and we are fully assured, from the high character and distinguished ability of those representing its interests, that great advantages will accrue to our own country from the school just established.

The object of the Institution, as we gather from its printed announcement, is to inform students in all desirable to be known both of the theory and practical details of Engineering, Mining, Agriculture, and the Mechanical and Chemical arts—the plan of instruction embracing well-furnished analytical Labratories, extensive apparatus, models, cabinets of art, and of minerals, diagrams, and other means of illustration.—The following resume will present a view of what is proposed to be taught in each department.

I. ENGINEERING.—Students will be required to pursue Mathematics as applied to Engineering. They will be practised in Mechanical, Architectural and Topographical Drawing, and in the field with the instruments; and they will be taught the most approved principles and methods involved in the construction of Roads, Bridges, Buildings and Public Works, in the application of propelling power.

II. MECHANICS.—The Professor, in this department, will conduct his class through a full course of Mechanical Philosophy and the principles of Machinery,—on the sources of Mechanical Power, Air, Water, Steam, Electro-Magnetism, etc—on the Telegraph,—on the location and construction of Engines, Furnaces, Foundries, etc. He will elucidate his course by Models, Machinery, Diagrams and Experimental Applications.

III. CHEMISTRY.—The course of instruction will comprehend the principles of the science, and their application to Agriculture, to Industry, and to Analysis,—to the examination and Smelting of Ores,—to the alloying, refining and working of Metals,—to the arts of Dyeing and Pottery,—to the Starch, Sugar and Glass manufacture,—to the means of disinfecting, ventilating, warming and lighting. Students will be practised in Manipulations, Testing in the Arts, Qualitative and Quantitative Analysis of Minerals, Soils, ect.

IV. MINING.—To supply the State and country with a liberally endowed School of Mines and Agriculture, will be a leading object of this Department. It will, therefore, be supplied with the most ample means of illustration, to wit: Sections of Mines, Geological and Mineralogical Cabinets, and Models of Machinery used in draining, elevating and screening. Full courses of instruction will be given on the farm, structure, constitution and classification of Minerals,—on Geological Exploration, on the corboniferous, metaliferous, saliferous and other rocks,—on Economic and Agricultural Geology, Springs, and Artesian Wells,—on drifting, ventilating, and working mines, &c.

Such is a view of the extended and thorough course of instruction which the recently organised College of Pennsylvania offers to the student in the various mechanical and chemical arts. The Chemical Department is now in full operation under the immediate supervision and direction of PROF. ALFRED L. KENNEDY, who has no superior in the country, as an urbane gentleman, ripe scholar, and accomplished Teacher. This section could not in our judgment, be better supplied. As a clear and instructive Lecturer Doctor Kennedy is not excelled, while thorough acquaintance with his subject in all its details, is fully accorded him by all who have enjoyed his acquaintance. His own personal exertions, as we are informed, have contributed chiefly to the establishment of the School, and his interests are largely identified with its success. Among the Trustees we are glad to observe the names of many of the wealthiest and most intelligent citizens of Pennsylvania. Among these are Governor Bigler, Peter A. Brown, Matthew Newkirk, D. Francis Condie, Morton McMichael, Freeman Shepherd, &c.

Our sympathies are strongly ... in behalf of an enterprise ... started upon so large and ... a basis, and promising advantages so superior to the ingenious and aspiring students of the arts, in our country.—Surely the Polytechnic College will not be suffered to decline for the want of that encouragement and aid which it has a right to expect from the lovers of human progress. C. C. C.

AFFRAY AND STABBING.—Lieut. Nicholson and watchmen Upperman, Donnelly and Reynolds, of the Western District, arrested a man named John Murray, charged with stabbing four men, in a melee which occurred at a ball on Boyd street near Amity street. Owen Brannan was badly wounded in the abdomen, Daniel Farrel in the side and hip, Thomas Campbell in the leg and James Crawford in the groin. Justice Ringgold held the accused for examination.—Balt. American.

TEMPERANCE.—The Annapolis Republican says "Judging from the feeling expressed in the different counties of this State in favor of a prohibitory liquor law, we are satisfied that a law will be passed by the next Legislature, submitting it to a vote of the people for their ratification. A large number of members are pledged to vote for the passage of such a law."

RELEASED.—Four Philadelphia oystermen, who have been in jail at Cambridge, for several weeks, for violating the Maryland oyster laws, were released on Wednesday, the citizens having paid their fines, amounting to $10 each. Their vessels were previously forcibly taken from the officers, by another party of Philad... and ...arried off

The Election in Mississippi.—The whole Democratic State ticket is elected by over 6,000 majority. All the Democratic Congressmen are also elected. The Anti-Foote majority in the Legislature, on joint ballot, will be over twenty-five.

MELANCHOLY AFFAIR.—A fatal and melancholy accident occurred on Sunday afternoon at Canton. An altercation arose between a man named John Malony, and his wife, who was under the influence of liquor. Irritated at her abusive conduct, Malony threw the poker at her, without any intention, as he says, of striking her; the weapon, however, glanced from the doorpost and came in contact with the head of his little daughter, Bridget Malony, aged two years, the end of the poker fracturing the back part of the skull, so that the child died in five minutes. Coroner Hall held an inquest, and the jury returned a verdict of "accidental death."—Clipper.

HON. CHAS. G. ATHERTON.—We learn from the Nashua Telegraph, that the Hon. Charles G. Atherton, U. S. Senator from New Hampshire, was seized with a paralytic shock on Thursday of last week, while in the Court at Manchester. His left side was entirely paralyzed, and he was unable to talk. He lingered until Tuesday, when he expired.

Near Hancock, Md., on the 28th ult., Mr. Archibald Colbert, had one of his children burnt to death. The clothes of the child took fire while playing, and before relief could be afforded, was so badly burned as to cause its death in a few hours.

CONSUMPTION.

The advertisement of NUTTALL'S SYRIACUM in another column of our paper, is peculiarly interesting to pulmonary invalids. Read it, afflicted friends, and try it.

STABLER'S "GOOD MEDICINES" are not recommended as "Cure Alls," but as efficient remedies for the diseases named, have received the highest encomiums from PHYSICIANS, APOTHECARIES and STORE KEEPERS who have used them, sold them, and in a multitude of cases heard of their good effects. Give them a trial, and tell your friends of the result.

PRICES CURRENT.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 16.

GRAIN.—There was a little better feeling in Wheat this morning, and prices advanced 2 to 3 cents per bushel on the rates of yesterday. About 12,000 bushels were at market, and sales were made to both millers and shippers at 144a148 cts. for fair to prime reds, and 150a153 cents for fair to prime whites. Very choice parcels of white, suitable for family flour, brought 155a156 cents. About 16,000 bushels of Corn were also at market, and for yellow in particular there was an active demand. We note sales of old yellow at 70a73 cents, and of old white at 72a74 cents. Sales also of parcels of new white and yellow at 62a66 cents. Maryland and Virginia Rye 75a78 cents. Oats 42a44 cents.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 16.

GRAIN.—There is a moderate inquiry for Wheat at former prices, and some 14,000 a 15,000 bushels, afloat and in store, were disposed of at 155c. for Southern and Penn'a reds, and 165c. for Penna. white, prime quality. Rye is scarce at 92a93c. Corn is steady but rather less active to day, and 11,000a12,000 bushels sold at 80c for good old Southern and Penn'a yellow, and 78c. for white, principally at the former rate.
