INTERESTED vs. ROVER.

Editor GAZETTE.—Following is a synopsis of the beginning of the controversy between "Rover" and "Interested" and your correspondent's final reply.

A gentleman, who is a high-toned and intelligent citizen but born outside of Maryland, in a communication to the GAZETTE of Nov. 25th, said, among other things.— "I believe in elections not in the least tainted with corruption," and was by "Rover," in the Easton Democrat of Nov. 25th, bitterly attacked, (designating him "Cleveland Democrat") and given to understand that he was casting unprivileged insinuations and meddling with matters with which he had no concern, simply because he was not born in Maryland, though a resident here for ten or more years. "Rover" also said that this gentleman had sought nominations at the hands of the Democratic party (which your correspondent doesn't believe) but that he had been "turned down as all foreigners should?" "Rover" also said that "we don't think it necessary to import foreigners to rule us." Your corresdondent, under his present nom-de-plume attempted to answer in the GAZETTE of December second this unwise and improper article and quoted from a recently received letter, from a gentleman resident of Illinois. "Rover" in reply to the Democrat of Dec. 9th, begs the whole question and while "explaining" what he "meant" tries to make side issues hide the great mistake which he made in writing and the greater mistake the Democrat made in publishing so far-reaching a prohibition of emigration.

"Rover" in the last issue of the Democrat, in replying to the letter of "Interested" and the quotation contained therein, attempts to be witty, and would create the impression, if he could, that he was not only learned but a man of importance in the community. That he may be somewhat learned, (though I fear he has put his knowledge to a bad use) I shall not attempt to deny, but that he can lay any claim to importance, I think he will scarcely assert. My first letter was drawn out by what I thought to be a mean and dangerous criticism by "Rover" of Cleveland Democrat supposed to be one of our most intelligent, upright, valuable and wealthy citizens, who has committed no offence against the morals or good government of our county, or State, beyond the fact that he was born and reared outside of the borders of Maryland. This gentleman whom "Rover" presumes to criticise is (if I am right in my diagnosis) one of the foremost in everything calculated to advance the county's interests (not jobs) but as aforesaid, if "Rover meant anything, (and I am not sure that he knows whether he did or not,) he meant at that time to condemn and criticise, and if possible belittle "all foreigners" [that is, according to "Rover" everybody other than Marylanders] who have settled with us and afterwards attempts to think for himself and express his own honest convictions about the methods in vogue in the county. This is an age of advancement and improvement and all good citizens (I do not refer to Rover) will welcome such gentlemen, as the "Cleveland Democrat" whom Rover so maliciously attacked. If the Illinois gentleman from whose letter the quotation was taken could know that Rover and his kind were not representative and useful citizens such writings would do no harm, but unfortunately they do not know and naturally suppose (if unchallenged) that the sentiments be expressed are, in the main, the sentiments of the community.

If a foreigner [that is, according to Rover all persons not born in Maryland, I will not insist on confining it to the county] will come into Talbot and do as he is bid, swallow the Democratic ticket straight without questioning anything on it, accept everything that the powers that be dictate, pay his taxes when legally demandable [does Rover do this or does he pay any?] and walk in the line marked out for him by the generations long since extinct, (but may be handed down) close his eyes to all dishonesty of party management and dishonesty in conducting the election machinery, say,— "Master, I merely presumed to come in your midst with my means, my brains and my experience to do as you have been doing and as you would direct me to do; I will not presume to attempt to lead in anything (no matter if I am better qualified than you) but I will always follow"—then Rover would welcome him, and perhaps say, 'go ye out and bring more like unto you.' But if he is independent in thought and action, —incorruptible, and attempts to lead where his intelligence and manhood entitle him to lead, then "Rover" would call him a "presumptuous foreigner" and he wants none of him. I am proud of my county (I am not proud of such natives as Rover) and personally, I would take "off the spikes" yea "take down the fence," and with "open arms" welcome all such as "Cleveland Democrat," whether they be Republicans or Democrats, and am willing to accord to them the position to which their merit and brains entitle them.

Rover pretends to be very loyal, but while he will not object to a real foreigner (whether he can speak a word of English or not) voting after being in the country five years, that is to say if he will vote the Democratic ticket. He does object to a gentleman of intelligence etc., of Delaware Virginia, Pennsylvania or New York coming to Talbot county and after ten years or more "attempting to run our affairs" or to criticising those who do, even though they deny the citizens honest elections, etc.

Were my letter not too long I would give the names of many of our best citizens, a great percentage of which are democrats, who are from other states. "Rover" didn't stop to think of the large net he was spreading when he wrote his ill-conceived letter of Nov. 25th.

INTERESTED.

To Almighty Cleveland.

At a democratic convention, in Colorado, a few weeks previous to the recent election, Edward Croke, Mayor of Irwin, arose and made the prayer which follows, while all the delegates reverentially bowed their heads. While our democratic friends will admire the spirit of loyalty to party, which it contains, our republican friends will also smile as they read it:

"Oh, almighty and all-powerful Cleveland, who art in Washington, when not fishing; thou, who art the father of Ruth and Ruth's sister, and god-father of the democratic party, (its father wouldn't own it if it were here) we hail thy name as the great political prophet of the century. We bow down before thee in humble political obedience. When thou sayest go, we go; when thou sayest come, we come. We have no desire but to serve thee. If thou sayest black is white we will swear to it and lick the everlastin' stuffin' out of the man who disputes it. When thou takest snuff we will sneeze; when thou sayest free silver we will echo thy words; when thou sayest gold then gold it is. We are democrats after the improved modern type. Our business is to vote the ticket and vote 'er straight. What is it to us whether we have free silver or not? We are but dogs that eat the crumbs that fall from our master's tables. When the crumbs fall we wag our tails; when they fall fast we wag faster; when they don't fall we stand and wait until they do. This is Democracy. This is the kind of Democracy that elected thee, our great and almighty Cleveland. Oh, most adored master, we love thee for what thou hast done for us. We love thee because thou art Cleveland. We humbly surrender ourselves to thee. Do with us what thou will. Tho' wheat is but forty cents a bushel, we love thee; though cotton is low, we love thee; though business is dull, we love thee; though thousands, yea millions are out of employment, we love thee; though our wife, the dear companion of our bosom, is scantily dressed and looks so shabby she can't go to church, we love thee; though we are sinking deeper in debt and poverty is knocking at the door, and hunger is staring us in the face, we love thee still. This shows our great faith and love for thee. Our wives and children we are willing to sacrifice even as the Hindoo mother sacrifices her offspring by throwing it under the crushing wheels of the juggernaut. Oh, mighty Cleveland, words cannot express our love for thee. We love our party, too. What care we about the many promises it made, we know it promised free silver, and we know it won't give it to us, but we will stick to the party. We know we said if it did not do the things it promised to do we would leave it, but we lied when we said it. We thought that we had some manhood about us, but we ain't. We have no independence. Thou, oh mighty Cleveland, hast all the manhood and independence in the party. We are fools, liars lickspittles, mudsills. We have no business to want anything or to say anything. Last year we favored free silver and now we have to oppose it. —We favored it then because we thorght it was right. We oppose it now, most adored master, because thou tellest us to. Ain't we a honey of the first water? Did ever dog serve his master more faithfully? Did ever a dog get less for it? Oh, mighty master, we are ever ready to serve thee and party. All the pay we ask is to be patted on the back by some local politician and called a good democrat.—We ain't got any sense. We don't want only enough to vote the ticket. It don't take any sense to be a good democrat. What a joyful thought! We don't have to think. We don't have to worry. Our work is all mapped out for us. All that is expected is to do what we are told to do. We thank thee, oh, Cleveland, that we are democrats. We thank thee for the panic. We thank thee for the idle and hungry men and women in the land. We thank thee for low prices. We thank thee for the banks that have busted and the the thousands of business failures since thou hast come into power. We thank thee for the hard times. We thank thee for the rags our children wear. We thank thee for the clothes our wife needs and can't get. We thank thee for what thou hast done for the banker and what thou hast not done for the people. We thank thee for all these things because it is our duty as a good democrat to do so. It may be "against the grain," but we will take our medicine. We will work our wives to death, starve our children, sacrifice our homes, crucify liberty and kill posterity, but will never go back on our dear old party, and on thee, our most adored Cleveland. Thou art more account than all of us put together. Thou knowest more than the South and West. Call us fools; spit in our faces; wipe your feet on us; we will love thee all the more. And now our great political father, we leave us in thy care. Do with us as thou wilt. Kick silver into the middle of the next century; give more privileges to the national banks; issue more bonds; preserve the McKinley bill; establish state banks; foster trusts; bribe congressmen with patronage; fish whenever thou wilt and hunt snipe whenever thou carest to, and we willindorse everything thou doest, carry Cleveland roosters, campaign torches, and forevermore sing thy praise. Amen.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.

Washington, Dec. 11, 1893.

"Unless I am very much mistaken that man has all the symptoms of softening of the brain." The man who spoke these words was one of those few administration Senators, and he was referring to Mr. Cleveland whom he had just seen. Whether the Senator was right in his diagnosis your correspondent does not pretend to say, but it is becoming evident that Mr. Cleveland's friends think there is something the matter with him. His actions have of late certainly been queer. He is impatient, cross and almost insulting to the few Senators and Representatives he condescends to see at all, and when they afterwards get together and compare notes they find that he is changeable and unconsistent as well. Every discriminating person who has taken the trouble to compare the style of the literary work upon his annual message with that of his message during his first administration must have discovered a great difference in them. This may of course, be largely owing to the fact that Dan Lamont finds the duties of Deputy President so exacting that he has no time left to assist in the preparation of executive documents. Be that as it may, Mr. Cleveland's friends—he sees no one else, except in a public way—are certainly showing among themselves uneasiness about his mental condition.

The democrats in the House are acting more like a lot of badly demoralized school boys than statesmen. They promised that the new tariff bill should be reported to the House on the first day of the session, and the bill has not yet been reported, although Mr. Wilson promises that it shall be this week. The Democrats of the Ways and Means committee have already made dozens of minor changes in the tariff bill, thus acknowledging that it was not properly considered before it was made public. They are now squabbling among themselves about submitting the bill to a caucus before it is reported, and democrats are openly saying that they will not vote for the bill unless certain industries are protected. The House committee on banking and currency, which has been wrestling with that plank of the Chicago platform, which promises the repeal of the tax on state bank currency, a plank, by the way, that Mr. Cleveland absolutely ignored in his message, has arrived at no conclusion although its chairman—the much sat upon Springer, of Illinois,—has made public a hodge-podge of absurdities that could not possibly be carried into effect, even if they were enacted, showing what alleged progress the committee has made.

The democratic members of the Ways and Means committee are at dagger's points concerning the items that are to be included in the internal revenue bill, which ought to have been ready simultaneously with the Cleveland tariff bill. A majority of them favor a personal income tax, but they hesitate about incorporating it in the bill because of Mr. Cleveland's premature announcement, in his message, that the committee had agreed to tax the profits of corporation only. Meanwhile the holiday recess is in sight and nothing has been accomplished.

In obedience to the demand of the Senate resolution passed last week all of the Hawaiian documents will this week be sent to the Senate.

"Like master, like man," Secretary Carlisle has refused the request made by officials of the G. A. R., that they be allowed to solicit contributions in the Treasury for a Christmas dinner to the indigent soldiers of this department.

The southern war claimants will have a snap if the bill which has been favorably reported from the Judiciary committee of the House ever becomes a law. The bill provides for the repeal of all laws making personal disloyalty a bar to claims against the government for property destroyed during the rebellion, and gives all claimants whose cases were by reason of their disloyalty thrown out of the Court of Claims the right to revive their claims and to have the same rights and privileges in prosecuting them that would be extended to the man who was always loyal to the government. Any person could recognize the jobbery in this bill, even if the southern lobby, headed by ex-Congressman Hemphill, of South Carolina, were less conspicuous in its advocacy. That "there are millions in it" if it can be made a law, is apparent to all. Democratic reform will come high, but it will not last long.

The democrats from the south voted almost solidly against the bankruptcy bill which was last week defeated in the House. The reasons to be seen that they will treat the voluntary bankruptcy bill fathered by Representative Bailey, of Texas, which that gentleman will endeavor to push to the front this week. H

Christmas 1893.
New Year 1894. and
"PORTRAITS."

The demand for my Cravon and Pastel Portraits has been so much greater than I anticipated, I am compelled to ask my patrons who intend their orders as Christmas or New Years gifts, to place the small pictures in my hands the earliest day possible, thus saving annoyance and disappointment. Your orders shall receive every attention and excellent results guaranteed. It matters not whether you bring to me old box pictures, tin types, or defaced and almost obliterated Photographs. Each shall be handled in a manner that will produce a striking likeness and well executed work.

Mail orders from a distance attended to as though you were at my rooms. No cash until work is completed.
