October Term 1882.

Ans. Deponent looks at letter marked "M. M. G." reads the same, and says; It is in my handwriting, and was written by me.

2. By whose authority was said letter written?

Ans. I wrote the letter for my aunt, the present Mrs. White, who told me to do so; it was done by her direction.

3. It appears to be signed Eussie and Julia A. Disney; please explain how it came to be so signed, and in whose hand the signatures are written; who was present when the letter was written?

Ans. I signed my name Eussie, because I wrote the letter, and I signed her name because she required it; the signatures are both written in my handwriting; my aunt and I were present when the letter was written; I don't remember whether, or not, anyone else was present.

4. Look at the envelope marked "M. M. G. No 1," and say in whose handwriting the direction is; was the letter referred to enclosed in that envelope?

Ans. Deponent looks at envelope marked "M. M. G. No 1" and says, it is in my handwriting, and the letter referred to was enclosed in that envelope.

The deponent was then cross-examined by the defendants, as follows;

Ques. 1. Look at the letter just shown you, and state how did you come to write it; have you the letter to which this is an answer; if so, produce it; if not, have you made any search for it?

Ans. I wrote it in reply to one I received from her and addressed to me; I have not the letter to which this is an answer, and therefore I can't produce it; I have made no search for it, because I haven't it, I am sure.

October Term 1882.

2. Was the contents of that letter written on your own volition or at the dictation of anyone else?

Ans. I dictated it myself; aunt Julia told me to answer that letter, and I sat down and answered it myself.

3. Did your aunt, Mrs. White, give you any other instruction, than merely to answer Mary Maria Goodwin's letter; was the letter you answered addressed to you or your aunt, Mrs. Julia White?

Ans. She gave me no other instruction than merely to answer the letter; the letter was addressed to me.

4. After you had written the answer, did you read the answer to Mrs. White, your aunt, and did she ask you to sign her name for her to it?

Ans. I do not remember whether I read the answer or not to my aunt; I recollect nothing about it, but I don't think I did; she did not ask me to sign her name for her to it; I merely signed her name, because Mrs. Goodwin, in her letter, talked to my aunt through me.

5. Did the letter which you answered contain reference to the property, and were you quoting the claim she made on your aunt Julia, or was it what your aunt Julia told you to write to her?

Ans. (Here the complainants object to this question and answer in reference to the contents of the letter.) The letter I answered contained reference to the property; I was quoting the claim she made on my aunt Julia; aunt Julia requested me to answer the letter, and I sat down and answered it.

6. In your answer to the second interrogatory in chief, given this day, you say you answered for your aunt Julia;
