The water question has been talked of considerable during the past week or two, and unfortunately for the town has been published in the papers. We have refrained as much as possible from circulating evil reports concerning our town.—This was not in defence of the water company so much as in defence of the community. It is well known that the company represents the leading and most thoughtful members of the community, and that if the water was contaminated in the slightest degree and those men knew it, that steps would have been taken to have it remedied immediately. The facts as developed are the result of a personal jealousy and spite existing between two practitioners of the town, one of them a member of the health board.

There are many consumers who are glad of the agitation of the question and who are giving Dr. Dunning credit for the steps he has taken, and the lesson will be conducive to greater care in preventing the contamination of the Easton water, and result in a public benefit, yet there are good reason to show that this benefit has been bought at the sacrifice of a name for pure water that Easton will be slow to recover from, and which contains more smoke than fire. Our water will be improved, but it can scarcely be said that it was of such a condition before that occasioned alarm, when the consumers were loud in their praises of it as drinking water, and never noticed that it was contaminated until the examiner's report made them imagine it was impure.

We are glad to learn that there is a project on foot to establish a public library in Easton. As we understand the plan it is as follows: All membership shall be by subscription. Anyone who pays his annual dues is a member for that year. If he stops paying, he ceases to be a member. There is to be no capital stock; the members for any given year being the sole owners of the library, entitled to vote for officers and to have full control of its management. Part of the plan is to have a pleasant room furnished and supplied with newspapers and magazines. This will supply a long felt want in giving ladies from the country a place where they can spend an hour or two in town, while waiting for their husbands to discuss the "Wilson Bill," or the appointment of constables for the Sixth District. It will also give a place where our young men can spend the evening more rationally and profitably than we are aware some of them do now.

WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE

From our Regular Correspondent.

Washington, D. C. April 30. 1894.

Senator Hale very cleverly smoked the democrats out and compelled Senator Harris, of Tenn., who is in charge of the democratic side of the Senate to acknowledge that he and the rest of the democrats, except those who are dickering with the democratic "kickers," were ignorant of what concession had been or would be made, but were prepared to go it blind on the reconstructed tariff bill, whether it agreed with their sentiments or not. Was not that a remarkable confession to be made by the whilom leader of the majority side of the Senate? Commenting on the statement publishsd that the democratic leaders were becoming more cheerful over the outlook, Mr. Hale said: "Cheerful, Mr. President, cheerful when bargaining and selling is going on instead of honest tariff legislation. Cheerful when it is the cheerfulness of a dying man, when decomposition has already set in and numbed his faculties.

No description could possibly do justice to the present disgraceful attitude of the democratic Senators. They have refused to grant hearings to honest working men and women who have come here to protest against the bread taken from their mouths by vicious legislation, and they are today on their knees, not granting hearings, but taking and obeying absolutely without questson the orders of the millionare trusts, as to changes to be made in the tariff bill. Mr Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle are up to their necks in this filth while those democratic Senators who are always ready to obey the crack of the party whip are being kept in ignorance of what is going on; they have only to be told that a bill is a party measure to support it, no matter what its nature may be. Surely the workingmen will have a long score to settle with the democratic party.

A warning to newspaper publishers gainst lending their names and influence to be used in a business of which they know nothing and which they cannot control, is contained in a bill filed in court by William Hearst, publisher of the San Francisco Examiner, against John Wedderburn, manager of the "Press Claims Company," and the "Examiner Claims Bureau," of Washington, asking for the appointment of a receiver. Mr. Hearst says he was a partner of Wedderburn's in the "Examiner Claims Bureau" and that Wedderburn was under their contract to furnish the capital and manage the business. He charges Wedderburn with organizing and maintaining the "Press Claims Company," with money belonging to the "Examiner Bureau;" with other misappropriation of funds including the proceeds of a note for $8,000 signed by the firm name without authority; with creating a large indebtedness; with refusing to return money in accordance with contracts with certain subscribers of the St. Paul Pioneer Press and the Omaha Bee, and with injuring the reputation of the San Francisco Examiner by general mismanagement and by advertising to give prizes for inventions.

Some democrat—doubtless an applicant for his office—started a story that Gen. James A. Dumont, who has for many years been chief government inspector of steamboats, was contemplating retirement because of feebleness caused by old age. It was a cruel lie. Gen. Dumont in denying it said; "I am just as lively and energetic as I was twenty years ago." There is only one thing the matter with Gen. Dumont. He is a republican.

Senator Quay's friends are uneasy about his condition. His health has not been good for a day or two, but it was not until recently that he began to show signs of a permanent break down. His absence just at this time is very much felt by his republican colleagues in the Senate, aside from the feeling of esteem for him which makes his absence at any time a matter of general regret.

NO LONGER DEMOCRATS.

A Chicago View of the Glass and Building Trades as Affecting Labor.

Mr. George F. Kimball, the well known jobber of window and plate glass at Chicago, has submitted for publication the following discouraging views regarding the trade:

"It is difficult to speak of the conditions in the glass trade without seeming to be a prophet of hard times. The tariff agitation, pointing to a revision that apparently means disaster to the manufacturing and jobbing branches of the glass trade, has affected sales until it hurts every one engaged in the business from the laborer up and down. Speaking in general terms, I should say the volume of business in glass has been decreased fully 20 per cent as compared with last year, and if it had not been for the World's fair and the business which followed as a result—or its presence—Chicago's glass trade would have been at least 33 per cent less than it was a year ago.

"Studying the situation as carefully as may be, there seems to be no important factor in the trade disturbance outside of the tariff revision proposed by the administration. The glass trade has suffered ever since Mr. Cleveland came into power from the knowledge that the tariff schedule would be lowered and otherwise disturbed. The result has been a decrease in purchases by jobbers, a consequent reduction of manufacture, followed by the discharge of large numbers of workingmen and the shutting down of many large plants. Today only two plate glass factories are running, and less than 35 per cent of the window glass factories are at work.

"The jobber who has any stock at all is glad to dispose of it at cost, and the man who has no stock is waiting to see what congress is going to do before he purchases.

"Another factor in the business is the absence of the men who intend to build. Ordinarily permits are taken out in the fall for buildings so the foundation may be laid and everything put in condition for completion early in the spring. So the fall permits indicate in a measure what is to be done in the way of building during the ensuing year. The permits issued this fall show that very little construction is contemplated during the winter and coming spring. Taking all the indications, I cannot see where the glass manufacturers and jobbers are to get any business in the immediate future, and I do not look for anything like a resumption of favorable conditions before late in the summer of 1894 or early in the fall.

"This is bound to affect labor in the glass manufacturing and kindred trades. If the duty on glass is reduced 50 per cent, it must, in my opinion, come off the laborers' wages. The material in a pane of glass does not amount to anything as compared with the cost of labor in that pane—for instance, a pane of glass selling for $160 in Chicago has raw material in it worth perhaps $3. Any reduction in the selling price must come from the cost of labor. Take our polishers in this country, and they are paid $2.50. In Belgium women are employed to do the same kind of work and are paid 20 cents a day for it. If the duty on Belgium glass is taken off, the American polisher can expect to see his wages cut down just to the extent of the reduction in the tariff. It is practically determined already by the large manufacturers that they will have to cut wages 50 per cent if the tariff proposed by the Wilson bill is put into effect.

"I am a Democrat myself, and most of my men voted for the Democratic candidate at the last election, but in the face of the situation not one of them would do it again if the opportunity offered."

Hans Dummermichel's Lament.
