—In course of this month one of those remarkable cosmical bodies—the comets—will visit our latitude, but it will be scarcely bright enough to be seen without the aid of magnifying glasses.

—Mercury is in such close proximity to the sun, its greatest elongation from that luminary being only 28° 20′, that it can rarely be seen, either as a morning or an evening star, and that only in strong twilight.

—Fruit culture is most profitable to the farmer now than his other crops. Brown Bros. Co., the most extensive nursery house in the U. S., have a vacancy in this section. Write them at Rochester N. Y., for their terms. 24mar3m

—At a negro wedding, when the minister read "love, honor and obey," the groom stopped him. "Read dat again sah, read it slow, so's de lady kin ketch de full solemnity of de meaning. I's bin married befo'."

—A lady at Tooleys, La., was very sick with bilious colic when M. C. Tisler, a prominent merchant of the town gave her a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He says she was well in forty minutes after taking the first dose. For sale by Harry Roberts, Druggist, Easton; A. D. Harrison, Druggist, St. Michaels. 5-5-4t

—Pawnee Bill's Wild West Show, which winters at Frederick, has sailed for Europe. The show appeared at the Talbot County Fair several years ago. It stranded here, and the county had to care for the Indians for awhile. Two of the Indians got drunk at Cordova and went on the war path after paleface scalps. For this they were arrested tried in court and shipped out of the county. They were the last Indians tried in a Maryland court.

—Dr. S. F. Scott, Blue Ridge, Harrison Co., Mo., says: "For whooping cough Chamberlain's cough remedy is excellent." By using it freely the disease is deprived of all dangerous consequences. There is no danger in giving the Remedy to babies, as it contains nothing injurious. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Harry Roberts, Druggist, Easton; A. D. Harrison, Druggist, St. Michaels. 5-5-4t

—In these times, the advertiser who is shrewd enough to keep his business before the public, instead of cutting down his advertising is one who will assuredly "make the riffle" over depressed times. This suggestion is a pointer. By keeping your business before the public you get what trade there is, while the other fellow who neglects to advertise sits and mopes and grumbles about hard times. "How do you find business?" "I advertise for it."

—John Wanamaker's life is insured for $1,700,000, by far the largest amount of insurance carried by an American, and with one or two exceptions, probably the largest sum carried by anybody in the world. The premiums on this enormous sum amount to $90,000 annually, which of itself would be a pretty good line of insurance for the ordinary mortal. A great deal of Mr. Wanamaker's insurance is increasing from year to year by the accumulation of dividend, and it is altogether probable that when he dies the companies will pay to his heirs something over $2,000,000

—If King Solomon was alive he would now say: "Go to the traveling man, learn his ways and be wise." Mr. C. W. Battell, a Cincinnati man representing the Queen City Printing Ink Company, after suffering intensely for two or three days with lameness of the shoulder, resulting from rheumatism, completely cured it with two applications of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. This remedy is gaining a wide reputation for its prompt cures of rheumatism, lame back, sprains, swellings, and lameness. 50 cent bottles are for sale by Harry Roberts, Druggist, Easton; A. E. Harrison, Druggist, St. Michaels. 4t —People who have nothing more profitable to engage their time than uncharitable talk about their neighbors soon find out that honorable persons learn to despise them as the lowest and most despicable types of the human kind. It is strange that there are some among us, who are ever on the alert to have their ears tickled with some fresh morsel of scandal, when they know such gossiping is degrading and a menace to public morals. If the truth were told, the harm would not be so great, but every lip that utters it must embellish it with some new significance, until at last it assumes the proportions of the grossest injustice.

—Persons who sympathize with the afflicted will rejoice with D. E. Carr of 1235 Harrison street, Kansas City. He is an old sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism, but has heretofore been troubled in this climate. He went [illegible] Wisconsin, and in consequence has had another attack. "It came upon me again very acute and severe," he said. "My joints swelled and became inflamed: sore to touch or almost to look at. Upon the urgent request of my mother-in-law I tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm to reduce the swelling and ease the pain, and to my agreeable surprise, it did both. I have used three fifty-cent bottles and believe it to be the finest thing for rheumatism, pains and swellings extant. For sale by Harry Roberts, Druggist, Easton; A. D. Harrison, Druggist, St. Michaels. 5-5-4t

ENDEAVOR CONVENTION NEXT WEEK.

THE EASTERN SHORE SOCIETIES

The Final Arrangements for the Convention Completed—List of Guests and by whom Entertained.—Anticipation of a most Pleasant and Profitable Visit.

As announced in this paper, the Christian Endeavor Societies of the Eastern Shore of Maryland will meet in convention held at Calvary M. P. Church next week, beginning on Tuesday and closing on Wednesday evening. Mr. Claud Lee, who is corresponding secretary with all Eastern Shore societies, and has so far heard from about thirty. Each society will send three or more delegates. Much trouble is experienced by the committee in providing homes, as no definite number is stated, some societies sending as many as seven and eight delegates, with more to follow. An effort will be made at this convention to restrict the number of delegates to three. At a meeting held last night at the parsonage, the committee in charge of the arrangements, completed their work, and everything is now in readiness. The reception committee will meet the delegates at the trains and boats and escort them to the homes provided. The convention will be presided over by the State president, Wm. H. G. Bell of Baltimore. Men prominent in Christian Endeavor from Baltimore are expected, and quite a number of eloquent speakers. The program was published in the GAZETTE two weeks ago. On behalf of the good people of Easton the GAZETTE extends a welcome to the delegates, and trust that their stay will be a pleasant one.

Below will be found the only complete list of delegates who have been assigned to homes as yet. Those whose names are omitted will be assigned to homes to-day:

EPWORTH LEAGUE CONVENTION.

Preparations Now Being Made For the Coming Event.

A business meeting of the Easton chapter, Epworth League was held on Tuesday evening of this week to perfect arrangements for the district convention which will be held here on May 30, 31 and June 1st. At the meeting on Tuesday evening the reports of outstanding committees were made and everything seems to point towards a delightful reception to the delegates. About one hundred and fifty delegates will be present, most of whom will arrive on the noon train May 30 and will be welcomed by the entertainment committee and then taken to the homes assigned them. It is thought that homes can be provided for all delegates without going outside of the church congregation. The public reception will be held on the first evening at the handsome residence of Mr. W. L. Hubbard. Refreshments will be served on the lawn, which will be hung with many beautiful lanterns. The programme for the convention is about made out and will be published in this paper next week, together with the names and homes of the delegates.

The different committees who are engaged in making necessary arrangements are as follows: Entertainment Committee, L. R. Hooper chairman, Mr. and Mrs. James Spence, Miss Nora Walker, Miss May Hubbard and S. E. Shannahan; committee to provide homes, Mrs. N. E. Clarke, Mrs. Avery Tuthill and Miss Mary Jump; the matter of badges and programmes is left entirely with Rev. W. E. Avery. The GAZETTE will publish a special issue, containing a full and complete report of doings of the convention.

PARADE AND GARDEN PARTY.

The Avon Cycle-Club to Have a Full Dress Parade.

The Avon Cycle Club of this town will hold a garden party in connection with a full dress parade within the next three weeks. Those who remember the two parades given by the club last year may expect something even more elaborate and on a much larger scale. The club will invite every wheelman in the county to join in the turnout and over seventy-five wheels are expected to be in line. The idea is to decorate the wheels as magnificent as possible and then parade through the principal streets of the town. A prize will most likely be offered for the handsomest decoration, the decision to be made by a committee of prominent citizens, after a review in front of the Court House, commanded by Mr. O. F. Sturmer, who is the captain of the club. The parade is to be held possibly two evenings, as last year, immediately before the garden party opens. The party is to be held in the market house which will be decorated in a most elaborate way with flags bunting, flowers, lanterns, etc. The garden party held by the club last year was said to be the most brilliant ever held in Easton, and the club expects to have an occasion of even greater success.

INVITED TO DENVER.

The Peninsula Press Association May Visit Colorado.

E. T. Cooper, chairman of the executive committee of the Peninsula Press Association has received a cordial invitation for the Association to visit Denver, Colorado, this summer. The invitation comes from the Board of Trade and Chamber of Commerce of that city, through Dr. H. C. Snitcher, formerly of Wilmington and once a member of the Press Association. A visit to Colorado springs, Manitou, Pikes Peake, Royal Gorge the "Loop" and other places of interest are offered as a further inducement, together with a banquet by the Board and Press Association of the city of Denver. The route from Chicago would be by the Rock Island, Chicago and Pacific Railroad, going by Omaha and returning by Kansas City. The trip would take about ten days. The chairman would be glad to hear an expression of opinion from the members of the Peninsula Press Association as to their desire in the matter.

LIEUT. COL. TENCH TILGHMAN.

HIS FAMOUS HISTORICAL RIDE.

General Bradley T. Johnson's "Life of Washington" has an Interesting Chapter Descriptive of Colonel Tilghman's Ride to Philadelphia in the Revolution.

During the centennial celebration held in Easton several years ago, a speech was made by General Bradley T. Johnson, and during the course of his remarks he told the story of how Lieut. Col. Tench Tilghman took the news of the surrender of Yorktown to the Continental Congress at Philadelphia. The General is about to publish a life of George Washington, and in it he gives the story of Col. Tilghman's ride as he told it in Easton at the Centennial. A GAZETTE reporter called on Col. Oswald Tilghman, State Senator, the great grandson of Lieut. Col. Tilghman, and was shown the speech made by Gen. Johnson, which is exactly the same as the chapter in the forthcoming book. After the Revolutionary war Col. Tench Tilghman was the partner of Robert Morris, the great financier of that time, in a general shipping business. He is buried in the cemetery of St. Pauls church, Baltimore, but in the cemetery at Oxford, Talbot county, is a large marble monument erected to his memory. The sword and shoulder straps of the late hero have been worn on several occasions by Col. Oswald Tilghman, who also has his great grandfather's commission in the continental army. A number of other relics of this great man are in his possession.

Col. Tench Tilghman was born on the 25th of December, 1744, at Fansley, the plantation of his father, which is on Fansley Creek, a branch of Miles River, and about two miles from Easton. His life was one of glory and honor, having occupied many important positions of public trust. He was secretary of the commission appointed by the Congress to treat with the Six Nations at German Flats, N. Y. The chapter of Gen. Johnson's history is as follows:

"Tench Tilghman was the military secretary and aid to Washington, and on the surrender of Cornwallis, Oct. 19, 1781, was selected by Washington to carry his dispatches to the Congress at Philadelphia. * * * *

"So when Tench Tilghman landed at Rock Hall for his hundred miles' ride through the country, he found the hearts and minds of men and women aglow with divine frenzy. They felt what had occurred without knowing it, and were wild for confirmation by knowledge. Up through Kent without drawing rein, this solitary horseman sped his way. When his horse began to fail, he turned to his nearest kinsman—for they were mostly of the same blood—and riding up to the lonely farmhouse would shout, "Cornwallis is taken! a fresh horse for Congress!" and in a few minutes he would be re-mounted and pushing on in a free gallop. All the night of the 23 he rode up the peninsula, not a sound disturbing the silence of the darkness except the beat of the horse's hoofs.—Every three or four miles he would ride up to a lonely homestead, still and quiet and dark in the first slumber of the night, and thunder on the door with his sword hilt, "Cornwallis is taken!—a fresh horse for the Congress!"

Like an electric shock the house would flash with an instant light and echo with the pattering feet of women, and before a dozen greetings could be exchanged, and but a word given of the fate of the loved ones at York, Tilghman would vanish in the gloom, leaving a trail of glory and of joy behind him. So he sped through Kent, across the head of Sassafras, through Christiana, by Wilmington, straight on to Philadelphia. The tocsin and the slogan of his news spread like fire in the dry grass, and left behind him a broad blaze of delirium and of joy.

"CORNWALLIS IS TAKEN!"

"Cornwallis is taken!" passed from mouth to mouth, flew through the air, was wafted on the autumn breeze, shone with the sunlight. "Cornwallis is taken! Liberty is won! Peace is won!" Once more husbands, fathers, brothers, sons, lovers, shall return to the hearts that gave them the cause! Once more shall joy sit on every hearth, and happiness shine over every rooftree." When or where in all the tide of time has such a message been carried to such people? Liberty with justice! Peace with honor? Victory with glory! Liberty, peace, justice, victory, honor and glory now and forever, one and inseparable! These were the tidings that Tench Tilghman bore when he rode into Philadelphia at midnight of the 23rd, four days from the army of York. The dispatch from DeGrasse had been received, but the Congress and the people waited for Washington. Nothing was true but tidings from him.

Rousing the President of the Congress McKean—Tilghman delivered his dispatch to him, and the news was instantly made public. The watchmen as they went their rounds, cried, "Twelve o'clock, all is well, and Cornwallis is taken!" In a minute the whole city was wild; lights flashed in every window; men, women and children poured into the streets. The State House bell rang out its peal, "Liberty throughout the land, to all the inhabitants thereof;" And thirteen sovereign and independent States were proclaimed to the world.

THE WATER SENSATION

What a Prominent Citizen Has to Say in Regard to it.

As a quiet observer of things and events about town, I have read with both surprise and regret, the course pursued by some of our citizens respecting the water of our town.

Unquestionably, if there was anything wrong with the drinking water supplied by the company, it was eminently proper that it should be known, but the manner of making it so should have been more carefully guarded than was done by those who surprised and pained our people with such a statement as that which met their gaze in the Ledger of the 19th ult.

The gentlemen comprising the the Water Board are our own citizens, fully identified in every way with the interast of the town, and who have so far as the writer can learn, endeavored to satisfy their patrons as well as others with good water and plenty of it.

If the water company were supplying an impure article as was alleged by the discoverers, why not have notified them promptly and shown the danger, so that they might have taken action for its correction, and then had they manifested any disposition to treat the matter with indifference, censure would have been in order and there would have been no division of sentiment on that point. This, however does not appear to have been done—on the contrary it looked as if "a sensation" was preferable.

Publications of this character do not tend to invite people to our midst, and you may be sure capital will never locate in a town thus advertised.

It is gratifying, however, to know that immediately following the letter of Dr. Dunning with Prof. Morek's analysis, the Commissioners of Easton at once sealed a sample of the artesian water and sent it to Dr. Frazier of Philadelphia to be analyzed, and his report just received a few days ago states it is good potable water, showing no evidence of contamination whatever and free from all danger. Nearly all the physicians in Easton who have been interviewed on the subject, declare the drinking water pure and healthy.

So much for the quality of the water, and now for the quantity, its uses and convenience. Several years ago the company expended large sums of money in building the necessary improvements in order that these conveniences might be had as well as for better protection against the fire fiend. What has been enjoyed, and how much property has been saved since the water supply was put in are questions that all fair minded people can easily answer. Only a few years ago when the heavens were illuminated by the blazing timbers of the Democrat office and other property on Market Space, had it not been for the protection afforded by the convenience of the water supply the damage on that occasion would undoubtedly have been heavier and the fire would have gone diagonally across the town.

The streets were filled with people on Tuesday night last, when a fire kindled itself in the second story of J. E. Shannahan's store, situated on Washington street, in the very business centre of the town. Had it not been for Jas. D. Satterfield, our faithful police and night watch, who discovered the smoke together with the fireman and the "water supply" it is possible that a large number of business houses on Washington street would have been in ashes today. TALBOT'S SUMMER RESORT.

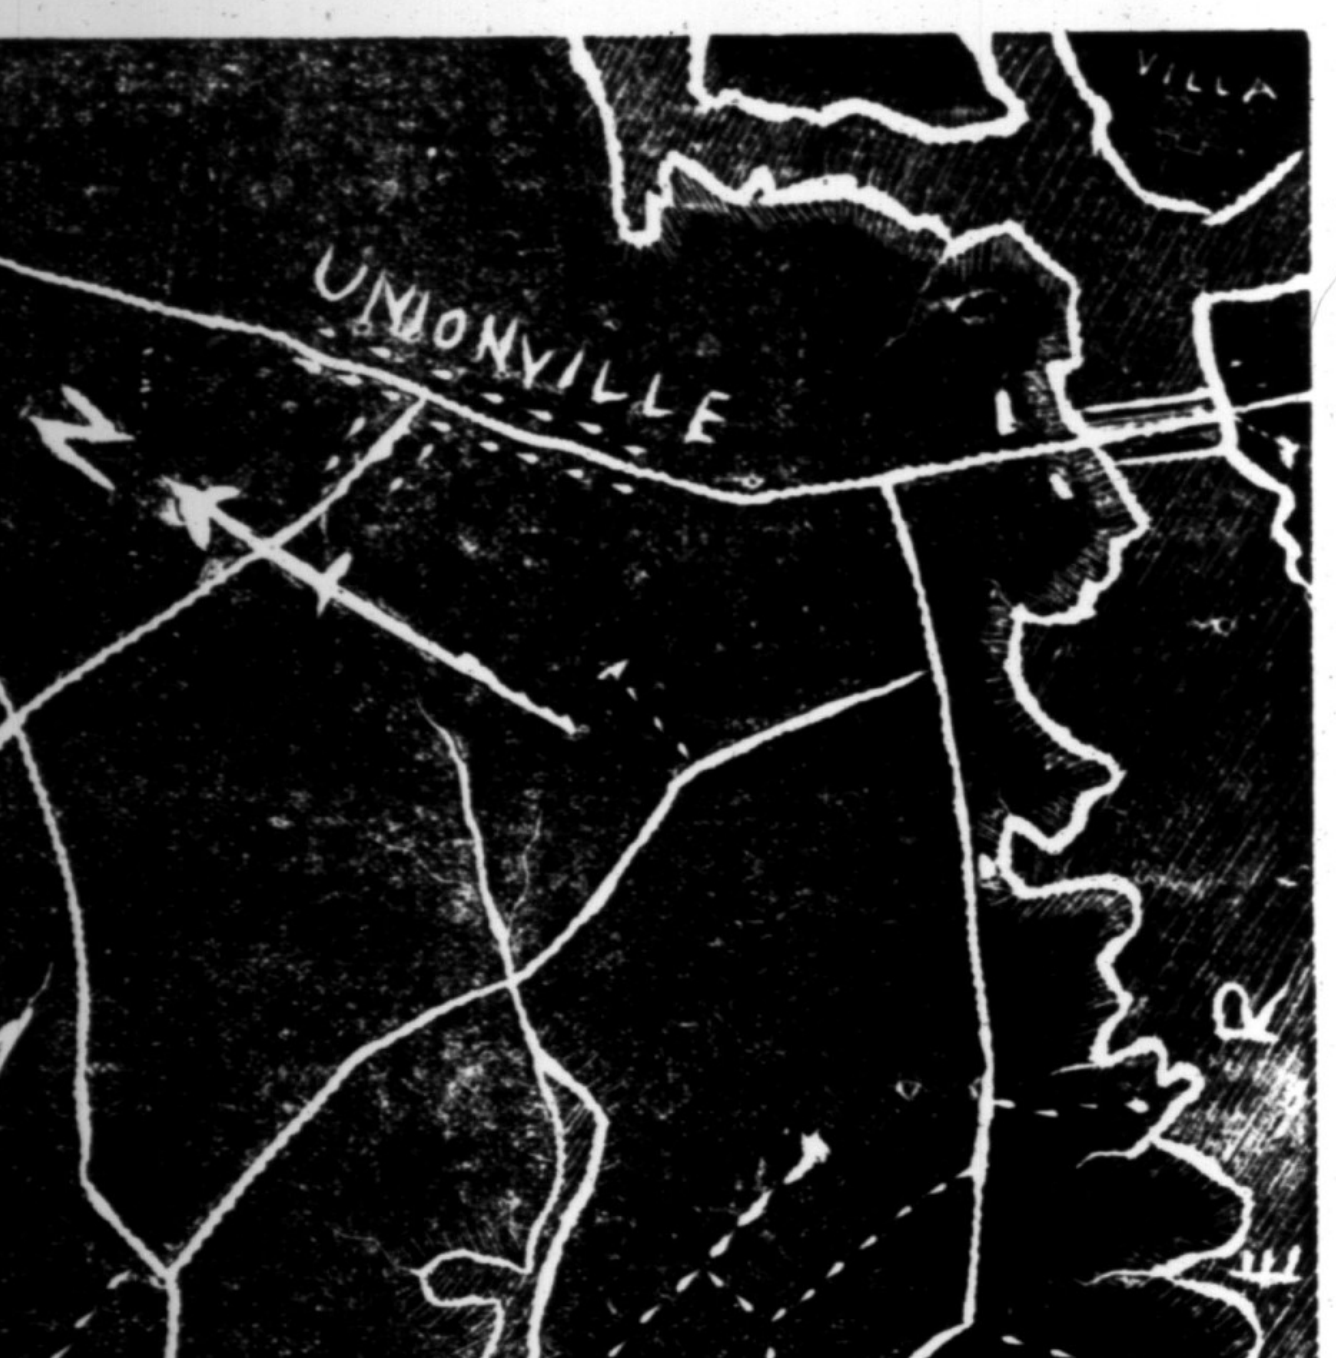
Mr. Burns Speaks of his Plans regarding this Enterprise.

A GAZETTE reporter was in conversation with Mr. Zenus Burns, of Miles River Neck, this week, who has recently purchased the Long Point property on which he [illegible] a summer resort. On being asked what his plans were in regard to this enterprise, Mr. Burns said that he not only proposed to build a resort that was first class in its appointments and conveniences, but will also be in reach of all to enjoy. The property will be cleared and laid out into avenues, walks and drives, and shade trees in great abundance will line them. Artesian wells will be sunk, thus giving a supply of fresh, pure water, and possibly a miniature waterworks plant will be among the conveniences. Mr. Burns will build between seventy-five and a hundred cottages of different sizes and designs with yards attached. The houses will be furnished in comfortable manner, and parties can spend the summer there without moving one article of furniture. Wide verandas will be one of the attractions of this resort and looking towards the beach, which is said to be the grandest on the river. A name for the resort has not been decided upon. It will have two or three stores, a number of excellent produce farms where fresh vegetables can be always had. Mr. Burns said that the rates, while not decided upon as yet, would most likely be about $50 or $75 the season. This is very reasonable and within the reach of all. The resort is not to cater to the rich but for the benefit of those who do not care to go to higher priced resorts and also those who are not financially able. It will be a bonanza to Easton business men, who can go with their families and spend the summer there, coming into town in the morning and returning in the evening. A number of sail boats and naptha launches will be kept for the use of visitors, and can be used for transportation purposes from Long Point to Miles River Bridge, which would shorten the distance considerable.

Long Point is a beautiful jutland of about 85 acres, on Miles River, and is about six miles from Easton. The beach is claimed to be best on the river, and the bathing is of course, very fine. A splendid view of this beautiful river can be seen from all parts of the point, and cool breezes from the grand old Chesapeake blow over it constantly. The scenery in this part of the river is magnificent, and what nature has already done and with Mr. Burn's plans for beautifying the place carried into execution, this resort promises to be the most popular on the Bay or its tributaries.

Work will begin at once and by the close of next spring everything will be in readiness for a formal opening.



The above map illustrates the road from Miles River Bridge and Unionville to Long Point, bordered on the east by Hunting creek and on the west by the broad waters of Miles River. This river front is positively safe for children, being a flat beach for hundreds of yards out. Mr. Barns will either bridge or trolly-ferry Hunting Creek at a narrow place and open a new road in connection with the road skirting Miles River, rather than be compelled to go the extra mileage by the road now laid down. The map also locates some of the magnificent residences in that section of the county.

A Pleasant Dance.

On Wednesday evening of this week, several prominent young men of Easton gave a complimentary hop to their lady friends at the old armory. Music was furnished by a string band and was said to be excellent. The event was a pleasant one, beginning at 9 o'clock and closing at 12. Among the ladies who graced the dance with their presence were: Misses Zoe Trail, Sallie and Nannie Lowndes, Nina and Josepeine Warfield, Freda and Sina Trippe, Mary Robinson, Bessie and Sallie Morris, Nannie Taylor, Margaret Stewart, Pauline Adams, Mrs. N. F. Aldridge and Mrs. Patterson. Among the gentlemen present were: Messrs Phil., James and Joe Wright, Allan Martin, James and Douglas Stewart, Henry Hollyday, Jr., Norman Smithers, Guion Wilson, Wilmer Adams, Gus. Trippe and Chas. Adams.

Trinity Cathedral was built in 1876 by the Rt. Rev. H. C. Lay, D. D., LL. D. It was then a small chapel in one corner of the lot on which the new cathedral stands, and is still used by the Sunday School. In 1889 the present magnificent building was commenced, and it is now all finished except the tower, which will be very handsome, costing almost as much as the body of the church itself. Rev. J. O. Barton, D. D. was assistant minister, when the church was begun. The first baptism in the church was on December 1st, 1879; the first confirmation on April 8th, 1877, and the first marriage on Jan. 8, 1878.

Trinity Cathedral is considered the handsomest church edifice in Easton, and also in the diocese. It is built of granite and the interior is of polished wood. The accompanying illustration, published through the courtesy of Mr. S. E. Whitman, shows the Cathedral as it will appear when completed.

A SMALL MIDNIGHT FIRE.

Discovered in a Washington Street Store Room

For the first time in seven months the fire alarm rang out its dreaded peals, on Tuesday night about 12 o'clock. The store room occupied by Mr. J. E. Shannahan was discovered to be on fire by night watchman James Satterfield, who immediately sent in an alarm. The town was quickly aroused and strong, willing workers were soon at the scene of the conflagration, and none too soon for the fire was about to catch to the shelves of dry goods. Several small hose were attached to the pavement and by skillful management the fire was soon extinguished. The large hose reels were unwound and attached to fire plugs and held in readiness, should the fire be inclined to spread. Had the large hose been turned on the fire the whole store would have been flooded, and as it is now, the greater part of the damage was done by water.

Mr. Satterfield was going his accustomed rounds when he smelled smoke, but as it was mostly on the second floor of the building he had great difficulty in locating it. Several citizens living near the scene were sleeping with their windows open and were attracted by the smell of smoke, and were on the point of investigating it when the alarm was heard. The fire had not made much progress and required but little effort to subdue it. The store room is in a large brick house, all of which excepting the store, was used as a dwelling up to several weeks ago. The fire originated in a closet on the second floor, just under the stairway leading to the third floor. It was filled with papers, books and clothing and the fire is thought to have originated from spontaneous combustion.

The damage to the building is slight, but Mr. Shannahan's stock of goods was greatly injured and mostly by water. The house belongs to F. A. Wrightson and is insured by R. B. Dixon & Co. The stock was insured by Mr. H. H. Langsdale.

Last Week's Report.

The weekly report ending Monday, April 30th, 1894, for Talbot county, of the State Weather service, reported by Geo. W. Minnick is as follows: Wheat and grass much benefitted by refreshing rains. Corn planting fairly begun. Land works well and all farming interests look favorable. The acreage of tomatoes will be quite large this season.

YES, TALBOT IS A PARADISE.

He will Doubtless come and Settle when he sees us.

A subscriber to the GAZETTE from the west sends the amount due on his paper and says: "I thought I would like to sell out in Illinois and go to Maryland, so I sent for the GAZETTE to get acquinted, and with a year's acquaintance conclude that your markets are a little better, climate just as changeable, we having a little more snow, you the most mud with soil not so good, you the most saloons and also the most colored people and Democrats. But I think they will dwindle away considerable before Grover's term is out. I think I will step in and shake hands with you between now and the last of September next. Yours, etc."

This is but a fair sample of the letters received from hundreds of people all over the country who are attracted to the Eastern Shore of Maryland on account of climate, health and ease of procuring the necessities of life. While famine, pestilence, tornadoes and Coxeys infest other parts of the world, it is only through the papers that our people get acquainted with them.

We enjoy the richest of earth's blessings and get so accustomed to them that the slightest deviation from positive comfort raises such a complaint that the papers at home speak of it and to those unacquainted with the circumstances the complaints sound like something terrific.

Our friend says our markets are better. That is without doubt a fact. For if they were the same they would be far better than Illinois owing to the price of labor and facilities for transportation, especially from Talbot county, with its record of containing more miles of shore line per acreage than than any county on the globe. While the climate might be changeable, there are few days in any winter that the plowman could not plod his weary way home. Now the laughable part of the whole thing is the mud. And to think we of Talbot have the most! A genuine resident of the Sucker state would smile at what we call mud.

Our light, porous soil, when wet, is clean, is a marble floor to the mud of Illinois, or that which they call mud. We would call it muck, black sticky tar, anything but mud, for it would not convey to the Talbot countian the idea of mud.

We have no saloons, we have drug stores, and any of them are first class, no low grog shops. As to colored people, we have them, but they are far in advance of the foreign laborer when it comes to a choice. They engender no riots, strikes, nor ask for no social equality. They know their place and are for the most part respected.

In regard to democrats, we have them but they are mild, inoffensive citizens, fond of a good joke, hence they voted for Cleveland and Gorman, the one to give us free trade, the other to give us protection. O, you need not fear the democrats, so come along and see for yourself that we have the grandest county in the whole Union, in which to live for all that makes life sweet.

Our Town Election.

There will be held in Easton on next Tuesday one of the most spirited town elections ever held here. Mr. John Mason and Mr. Edward H. Roe are in the field. Both parties are named by their friends and urged to serve. Both are well qualified to fill the position. Mr. Mason served in same capacity for twelve years a number of years ago, and made a good official.

Hubbard & Bro's. Fertilizer Factory at Easton Point.

Hubbard's Fertilizer factory at Easton Point was built in the fall of 1880. It is a very large and commodious frame building, with a pier attached. The depth of the water fronting the factory is sufficient to enable large vessels to pass. The factory was at one time a busy scene of industry, running night and day, but of late years it has been closed, and the business removed to Baltimore. This factory was one of the pioneers in fertilizer manufacturing in this county, but it is now stripped of its machinery, and is advertised for sale. The company is now doing a good business in Baltimore. The above illustration is from a photograph. For terms consult W. L. Hubbard. Illustrations are now being made for an article on Talbot County's greatest industry—The Nickerson Fertilizer and Chemical Works, which will shortly be published in the GAZETTE.

The Town's Health.

About the most important feature on the work of promoting perfect cleanliness in all parts of the town, and which to a great extent devolves on the housekeeper, is to keep the alleys and yards in the rear of the house in a cleanly condition. See to it that the ashes and other garbage is not allowed to accumulate in such outlets on your premises, and that no rubbish whatever is deposited therein. This should be one of the first things attended to before the weather gets warmer, and should be kept so throughout the year.

PLEASANT GUILD SOCIABLE.

Delightful Evening Spent at the home of Bishop Adams.

Quite an enjoyable sociable was held at the residence of Bishop Adams Wednesday evening. A large number of both the Senior and Junior Guilds were present. Bishop and Mrs. Adams as host and hostess gave every one a hearty welcome and made every effort towards the enjoyment of the evening. The Juniors first entertained an appreciative audience with two well acted Charades. The first was entitled, "Misfortune:" the first act played on the first sylable as "Miss;" the second as "fortune" and the third took in the whole word. Five members of the Junior Guild took part in this, and as young amateurs did remarkably well. The second was a historical charade, Agin Court, and was in four acts. This was acted by the very small ones, and was guessed with some difficulty by the audience.

Refreshments followed in the way of cake and bananas, after which Mrs. Jarley gave her wonderful and far famed Wax Works and when they were wound up, went through some remarkable motions until they ran down. By this time it was growing late and with Banjo and Mandoline music, the crowd gradually left for home.

The Town Library.

Mr. Chas. S. Carrington as prime mover with other prominent citizens have agitated the public library question again for Easton, and have solicited quite a number of subscriptions thereto at $2.00 per year. This movement ought to receive greater encouragement than ever before, now that the age of cheap and good literature is fully upon us. It can scarcely be expected that the art of book making will ever come to a lower figure. There are few towns the size of Easton that have not valuable circulating and public libraries, and while the various churches have good supplies of juvenile books to draw upon, yet the assortment of valuable reference books for the public outside of the High School library for the town children who attend the institution, is indeed meagre.

There will be a meeting in Mr. Carrington's office this afternoon at three o'clok and those interested in the movement are earnestly invited to be present.

Fish Commissioner Hughlett's Distribution of Shad.

The Tuckahoe fish hatching station, under the management of Assistant Fish Commission, Thomas Hughlett, Jr., has been busily at work this spring. Within the last ten days, Mr. Hughlett has distributed the following number of shad:

At Tuckahoe Hatching station, 1,000,000; in North East river, near town of North East Cecil county, 1,000,000; at Red Bridge, in Elk River, Cecil county, 1,000,000; at Wye Mills on Wye River, Queen Anne county, 1,000,000; at Lloyd's Branch, extreme head of Tuckahoe river, in Queen Anne county, 1,000,000; at Maple Dam, Little Blackwater river, Dorchester county, 1,000,000; at Brick Mills, Choptank river, between Denton and Greensboro, 1,000,000; at Carter's Bridge, head of Choptank river, Caroline county, 1,000,000; in Fox Hole, in Sassafras river, Kent county 1,000,000; in Bohemian river, Cecil county, near Murphy's Mill, 1,000,000.

The catch of fish this season is reported to be unusually large, some fishermen stating that it has not been equalled in the past 40 years. The operations of this Fish Commission have undoubtedly done much to keep up the supply of fish, and the money spent by the state on this account has produced excellent results.

Beautiful Lawns.

Everybody takes pride in having a beautiful lawn, and knows that its beauty depends greatly upon the neatness with which it is kept. Lawn rakes are made of bent wire, so they pass over the surface taking all the dead leaves and all sorts of rubbish without injuring the grass in the least. Some use the old iron-toothed rake, but it is really injurious as it often pulls up the grass by the roots. Lawn mowers are indispensable, and should be kept in a good condition, so they will do the work well and neatly. For a small yard a mower with a narrow cut is preferable, but one cutting a wider swath is better for a larger yard, as it accelerates the labor tending towards a beautiful lawn. The best time to mow a lawn is just before a shower, as the water makes it fresh and green, which would otherwise have had a withered look.

Spring is the time grass needs nutriment, and nothing is better than bone-meal scattered over the soil, as soon as the grass show the least tendency to show its green blade.

Ocean City Improvements.

Many improvements have been made at Ocean City since last season, and work upon several new cottages is being rapidly pressed Altogether there has been fourteen buildings erected, including several handsome cottages and many improvements have been made in old buildings. The Beach Company have rented the Seaside Hotel and will run it in connection with the Atlantic. It will be thoroughly refitted and made very comfortable. The railroad will have better facilities for travel there, and everything points towards a most successful season.

A Public Nuisance.

It may or may not be the right thing to make special complaint against special citizens, but the fact remains that at the close of school on the Point Road, Washington street to the post office and also South street are so blocked with boisterous children that civil grown people are compelled to walk on the curb or in the gutter before they can pass, and if a remark is made to the children, a volley of impudence is returned. This is so frequent and such a common nuisance that it is time some attention was given to it by the town officers.

That Town Clock.

The project is not dead neither does it sleep. The energetic committee are fast receiving subscriptions to the erection of the clock on the High School building now in the course of construction. The clock must go. There will be no further discussion about it as to location. The bell is to weigh a thousand pounds and its ring will be heard all over the town of Easton.

Those who have something to spare will hand their names or amount to Mr. L. R. Hooper, who will be pleased to receive it. Several hundred dollars are yet needed.

Tried to Get Away.

George Warrington, of Easton, one of the young men who was lodged in jail last week for breaking into Wallace's drug store, at Seaford, made an unsuccessful attempt to escape Wednesday noon by scaling the jail wall. He was discovered just as he had reached the top of the wall and was in the act of leaping off on the outside. He is now repenting his folly behind the bars of the iron-clad cell.
