REPUBLICAN TICKET.

To fill out the unexpired term of the late Robert F. Bratton in the 53d Congress of the United States.

JOSEPH MALLALIEU, OF QUEEN ANNE'S COUNTY.

For Representative in 54th Congress.

A. LINCOLN DRYDEN.
OF SOMERSET COUNTY.

Persons owing the GAZETTE money are forewarned and have been cautioned that if some satisfactory effort to pay is not made, and that without delay, the editors will not be held blamable for the law's stern demands.

Persons receiving sample copies of the GAZETTE need not fear to take same from the office when the word "sample" is printed on wrapper. The law only holds the person responsible who allows the publisher to continue the paper under the assumption that it is wanted and will be paid for. The GAZETTE is as careful to discontinue a name as to place on list, if the subscriber makes his wishes known and his paper is not in arrears. But the GAZETTE does not insult a subscriber by removing his name the very date of expiration if same subscriber is presumed to wish to continue. It does frequently remove names though, when it finds out the parties are defrauding the paper, wilfully and knowingly.

A newspaper in Illinois recently brought suit against 73 men who would not pay their subscriptions, and obtained judgment in each case for the amount of each claim. Of these, 28 made affidavit that they owned no more than the law allowed them, thus preventing attachments. Then under the decision of Supreme Court they were arrested for petit larceny and bound over in the sum of $300 each. All but six gave the bonds. The postal laws make it petty larceny to take a paper and refuse to pay for it.

SOMETHING of a pity, for Mr. Rayner's sake, that he quoted the prices of agricultural tools to a farming community so erroneously. He attempted to show how the same tools were two or three times as high in America as in England, when the facts were that they were from one-third to one-half as cheap on the streets of Easton as the lowest English prices he quoted.

DEMOCRATIC INUENDOES.

We have the profoundest respect for consistency, honesty and manliness wherever it appears, or in whatever line of political affiliations it is manifest.

We have utter contemp for dishonesty, inconsistency and puerility whenever and wherever it blazes forth to illuminate the untutored, to magnetize the unstabled and cripple the vitality of virtue.

The principles of a party are either founded on wisdom and truth or they are not. The two great opposing political parties of this country, each supposed by its advocates to be resting upon the solid foundations of wisdom guided by experience and upon truth resulting from man's patient and untiring investigation of the same, nevertheless are diametrically opposed to each other in many of the most important issues involving the very life of the nation. How can these things be? It is time men were thinking for themselves and weighing well the responsibility they assume in their expression at the ballot box.

If a party is right, and advocates nothing but right and justice, those of its exponents who bring into their speeches wilful, designed and unblushing misrepresentations in order to bolster up the party, throw a veil of mockery over their own worshipful shrine and drag their banner in the dust of low-born inuendoes flaunted to deceive and wreck the political faith of their proselytes. When such becomes necessary the sum of such a party is fast setting to rise no more.

The Hon. Isidor Rayner made a brilliant speech in Easton last Saturday to a full house, gallery and floor. Handsome, scholarly, smooth, argumentative and apparently sincere.—Others spoke, the Congressional candidates, Messrs. Miles and Henry, but Mr. Rayner's speech was the illuminant, the great arc light of his associates, the one that commanded all respect, attention and applause. It needed no retouching, it set forth in well chosen language, the principles of the great democratic party.

Then why did the speaker, if he was sincere, if he believed what he said, sully and smear it with oozings from his innermost nature that bubbled to the surface regardless of his better judgment? These were many and frequent but capped the climax when he put into the mouth of a Republican speaker, words read from that day's issue of the Baltimore American that were not printed?—Why was this necessary? When he spoke of "liberty" he waxed eloquent; when he touched a "free born American citizen" his tongue and brain wove beautiful pictures of patriotism; but when he read part of an address delivered to certain colored voters, he forgot that they were granted rights of citizenship, sneered at their desire to accept the rights given by the constitution he so loved and respected, in fact let fall just enough interlineations in the speech he was reading to show that when it came to the negro there was naught else to do but ignore him with contempt. Failing to find what he had previously said the speech contained, that "protection increased the population," Mr. Rayner supplied it and told his audience it was there. Perhaps he meant, there by analogy, but he did not say so.

Now let us be understood not to take issue with Mr. Rayner, nor his party for defending certain principles, but we are ready to assert, that after reading the speeches of the great lights of democracy and hearing their representatives shout from the stump, they themselves do not hold any question paramount to the negro question.

This cowardice, this afraid-to-face-the-truth is what we denounce. Let democracy of this country boldly assert "We are only free born Americans who are white, and we believe in annihilating the colored franchise act," then the difference between Messrs. Cleveland, Gorman, Wilson and others would pale to insignificance and all would rally round the free (trade) flag of one color and that white every time.

Why not have it so?

SPARTANBURG LETTER.

Miss May Valliant, of Talbot, writes This Week on Politics.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., Oct. 27, 1894.—One of my friends, I understand, is surprised to find me writing for a republican paper. Well, I know it is wrong. Republican papers ought to be put down, they ought not to be encouraged. They should be sat upon, wiped out. In other words they ought to be "squelched." Now the GAZETTE would be a real nice paper if it only had a democratic editor. I have threatened more than once to quit reading the editorials if he doesn't quit saying such nasty things about Grover. He knows that Grover is a dear old soul. How he can have the heart to say disparaging things about Ruth and Esther's papa is more than I can comprehend. I think it was so cute in him to name his two dear little girls for those two people in the Bible. Just see what an example of piety he set the whole nation. And then it is so beautiful the way he bears the stream in the heart of nature, sits and meditates upon the great questions of the day and fishes. Then you must know he is a most successful angler. Now, it takes cleverness to fish. I am told that G. C. takes home whole strings of lovely trout. Then, again, with what charming deftness he wielded the power of State when the senators sat smoking their pipes and shaking their heads and sighing over the Wilson-Gorman Tariff Bill. When the Republicans thundered, "Veto it!" when the Democrats yelled, "Sign it!" what did Grover do? Quietly stuck his quill behind his ear, folded his arms, and did neither! It was mighty fine for Henry Clay to say, "I'd rather be right that President." That was a neat little speech to hand down to posterity. G. C. does not say much, but like that wingless creature of the insect tribe, he "gets there just the same." I say he is a "brick," and if the women had their way, he would have lots of terms, ever so many more than three.

Now there is Benjamin H. I think Grover is nicer than he is. You see, if the former is nice at all, he must be extremely so because there is so much of him to be nice. Benjamin H. is a dude. See the way he wears that white hat.

Why he even has his picture taken in it.—And just look at the way he smirks and grins and the coquettish manner in which he sticks it on the side of his head when he is photographed. That is certainly not fitting to the fallen estate of an ex-president, and is most unbecoming in a widower. Now Grover is never guilty of any such vanity. I have never heard of him having his picture taken with anything on his head except once. That was his night cap. It was the time before the last presidential election that he, Hill and Blaine were photographed by Puck. It was Christmas eve. The three celebrities were sleeping together. Grover was in the middle. Did not that show a most generous and self-sacrificing spirit? Everybody knows the middle is not a cooice place to sleep. Their stockings were hung by the fire. All three were sitting bolt up-right in bed; their eyes like saucers gazing on Santa Clause who had just descended the chimney with the White House in his hand. Oh! it was a most artistic group. This is what I hate about republicans. Some of them are so nice one cannot help liking them. It reminds me of this:

"You mean! you mean! you naughty men!
The lightening ought to strike you!
You mean! you mean! you wicked men—
Yet how we women like you."

My uncle Toby is a republican. He is a mean old thing. (Although he is one of the nice ones). He just sits on his porch and talks and talks with the most innocent countenance imaginable until he makes one really and truly believe that the higher the tax on sugar the sweeter will be one's coffee.

This is a democratic paradise down here. All the fighting is among themselves, for the republican's are not "in it." The favoritism or animosity is placed not upon party, but factional, leaders. To illustrate: A revival took place here some time ago, and nearly everybody got religion; but a lady said she would not believe in the sincerity of the conversions unless the community would consent to pray for Tillman.

I cannot refrain from speaking again about the colored people of this state. I have never anywhere seen so many mulattoes. A real black "nigger" is an exception. Moreover these mulattoes form one of the most physically splendid branches of a race. Among them are some of the handsomest men and women I have ever seen. To the development of African strength and limb, are added the graceful lines and erect carriage that belong to the Caucassian figure. Certain it is that some of the blue-blood of the genuine old Palmetto stock must have gotten into these South Carolina darkies. Still most of them are genuine "niggers" and do not even seem to know what a fuss is being made about negro-equality.

The following incident was related to me by a gentleman who had been traveling in company with a Bostonian making a tour of the South. The Bostonian had read a great many dialect-stories of the southern negro, and wondered if they were true. There entered in the superb palace-car in which they were sitting a lady with her child and nurse. The latter a negro girl about sixteen. The mother of the girl had come to the station to say "good-bye." Standing out side and gazing at her own sable off spring lolling at ease on the velvet cushion of the Pullman coach she exclaimed in delight, "Lawd Liza w'ot yo' doin' in dat kyar? Just look at yo now. Yo' think yo' done gone to heben don' yo'. Lawd Liza ef't haden ben for Miss——, yo'd never got in dar chile. Dem kyars nev' was made for niggers. Well," as the train moved off, 'take care yo' se'f chile, an', wot ever yo' do, don' leave de Bastis' Chuch. Keep yo' foot on de rock." Liza went off in full glee and the Bostonian was convulsed. When he and his companion parted he gave his hand a final clasp with the parting injunction, "keep your foot on the rock."

MAY VALLIANT.

COMMUNICAEED.

Trappe, Md. Nov. 1st.

In answer to Fair Play we will say: We have interviewed his witness and his recollection of the conversation between the ballot clerk and the one "Fair Play" accuses of advising said ballot clerk to stamp the tickets wrongly, is that he did advise him to thoroughly post himself on the law and go by it. But nothing was said of stamping wrongly. This is his testimony before our supervisor. If "Fair Play" is the one we think he is we think rather strange he should make certain charges against an individual and then appoint him ballot clerk.

Labor Is Punished to Reward Importers Who Paraded For Grover.

The burden of free trade is already upon us. How can we lighten it? The rush of importers to secure their foreign goods from the custom house at the lower rates of duty has told the story. Nearly $10,000,000 worth of foreign goods withdrawn for consumption in less than a week means the sale of nearly $10,000,000 worth less of American goods manufactured in American mills by American wage earners. It means that the distribution of more than $5,000,000 in American wages has been checked within five days.

If this curse continues, there can be but one result. The foreigners are determined to have and to hold our markets. Shall we surrender them? We do not desire—no true American desires—that American wage earners should be compelled to sell their labor in open competition with the cheaper labor of other countries. The workers in the cotton mills of New Bedford, in the flax mills of New York, in the potteries of Trenton; in the glass factories of the west, have entered their protest against a reduction of wages that has been forced upon them by Democracy.

What can be done to lighten the burden? The manufacturers should not be expected to pay higher wages than their foreign competitors and to sell their goods at the same prices. It has been the decree of Democracy that American manufacturers and American wage earners must be punished in order to reward the New York city importers of foreign goods, who turned out with such dignified grandeur in their parade of 1892 to the honor and glory of Grover. It is the duty of all true and patriotic Americans to overthrow this foreign domination. Check the sale of these foreign goods, check the stoppage of our mills, check the cheapening of our labor by buying American goods whenever and wherever it is possible to do so. Let the people ask only for American products and insist upon getting them.

That Tired Feeling

So common at this season, is a serious condition, liable to lead to disastrous results. It is a sure sign of declining health tone, and that the blood is impoverished and impure. The best and most successful remedy is found in
