natural life, without impeachment of waste, with full power to him, the said William, from time to time, to sell, lease, exchange, mortgage, or otherwise convey or dispose of the whole or any part of the property composing the said last mentioned part or share, or any property into which, by change or successive changes of investment, the same shall be converted or changed, and the proceeds of any such sale or other disposition to reinvest in his discretion, and no purchasers of any property from him, or other person having him money in the course of any dealings or transactions with reference to the said property or any substituted property, shall be under any obligation to see to the application of the purchase money or other moneys, but the receipt of the said William shall be full acquittance, and discharge therefor, and at the death of the said William, I devise and bequeath the whole of the said last mentioned part or share (subject to the provisions hereinafter made in favor of the widow, if any, of the said William) to all or any one or more, exclusively, of the children, and more remote issue of my said son William, (such issue to be living at the time of his death) in such shares for such estate, and in such manner as the said William shall, by his last will or testament, appoint, and in default of such appointment, to the child or children of the said William living at the time of his death; and to the issue then living, if any, child or children of his then deceased, as tenants-in-common, in a course of distribution, according to the stocks and not to the number of individuals, and so that the issue of deceased children may take, as tenants in common, by way of substitution, the share or respective shares only which the parent or respective parents would, if living, have taken; and it is my will that the widow, if any, of my said son William, shall, at his death, in case he shall die leaving issue living at the time of his death, ~~in case he shall die leaving issue living~~ receive and take, and I do devise and bequeath to her such portion of the said part or share of my residuary estate so devised and bequeathed to my said son, William, for his life, not exceeding one equal fourth part thereof, as the said William shall by his last will or testament, appoint or declare; and in case he shall make no appointment, then one equal fourth part of the said whole part or share so devised and bequeathed to him for life as aforesaid; and if my said son, William, shall leave no issue living at the time of his death, but shall leave a widow, then and in such case I devise and bequeath to such widow such portion of the said whole part or share so devised to said William for life, not exceeding one equal third part thereof, as he, by his last will or testament, shall appoint, or if he shall make no appointment, then one equal third part thereof; and in case of the death of my said son William, without leaving issue living at the time of his death, I devise and bequeath the said part or share of my residuary estate so devised to him for life, subject to the provisions hereinbefore made for his widow, if any, to my other children living at the time of the death of the said William and to the issue then living of any other child or children of mine then deceased, as tenants-in-common, in a course of distribution, according to the stocks, and not to the number of individuals, and so that the