The Income Tax Beaten.

Another defeat, humilating and irretrievable, has overtaken the Cleveland Administration. A majority of the Supreme Court, acting in obedience to the mandates of that fundamental law which is the charter of American liberty, have pronounced the abominable Income tax unconstitutional, null and void. The highest legal tribunal of this Republic, after prolonged discussion and careful reconsideration, has administered a crushing rebuke to the President who surrendered to Socialism and to the party which followed his leadership in enacting a measure inspired by sectional animosity and irreconciliably opposed to every American principle. The Income tax is dead; and its death marks the climax of the long series of shameful blunders committed by a Democratic President in conjunction with the Democratic majority of the Fifty-third Congress.

The abrogation of the entire Income tax clause of the present tariff act is another proof that the Democratic party does not know enough to govern. When the Democratic majority repealed the McKinley law and enacted the tariff which deprived scores of American industries of just and necessary protection, the Bourbon Democrats and Populist Democrats in Congress declared jubilantly that by taxing the thrift of the Northern Atlantic Commonwealths they had made sure of enough revenue to replace the duties they had thrown away. This boast is now shown to have been utterly unfounded. The thirty or forty millions which the framers of the new tariff confidently expected to take from the pockets of American business men dwindled to fifteen millions when the former decision of the Supreme Court against taxes on rents and bonds was announced, and now they have disappeared altogether Not one cent will be derived from the Income tax to lessen the swelling deficit in the national revenues. Every dollar that has been already collected will have to be paid back, and the expense of putting the cumbersome machinery of collection into operation, amounting to a considerable sum, will be a total loss to the Government.

The deficiency in the revenues, however, is a matter of little consequence in comparison with the distinct and irrevocable declaration by the Supreme Court that the principle on which the Democratic spy tax is based is directly forbidden by the Consiitution of the United States. The decision rendered yesterday is a landmark in American legislation. It cannot be disregarded or swept away. It will stand henceforth, a safe guard against Socialism and a firm bulwark against the endeavors of demagogues to give class and sectional hatreds a foothold in the statute books of the nation. The Supreme Court has rendered a priceless service to representative institutions, and it deserves the thanks of every patriotic American citizen.—N. Y. Advertizer.

The income tax is dead. The few are not to be taxed for the benefit of the many. Systematic robbery of one part of the conntry by another is not to be a feature of our national system. The theories of socialism are not to be put into practice. The Democracy, in spite of the Cleveland Administration in spite of its own representatives in Congress, is relieved of a burden of sin and folly which was dragging it down to destruction. And this is due to the fact that five of the nine Justices of the Supreme Court looked beyond tomorrow and did not fear to perform their duty.

For all of this let us be profoundly grateful. The magnitude of our deliverance will be the more apparent as years go by.—N. Y. Sun. Dem.

The ingenuity of learned counsel, employed to take a different view of what should have been but a plain question, raised a fog of doubt about it. but the vision of the Supreme Court, though obscured by it partially for a time, has at last pierced through the darkness and discovered the truth Henceforth the people of the different States may breathe more freely and exercise thrift and economy without sear that the results of their industry and forethought may be taken from them by legislators over whom they have no control—that by no subtle, technical distinction may a Congressman of Texas, for instance, say how much of his means a citizen of Pennsylvania shall contribute to the coffers of the Federal Government.

The decision of the Court relates, of course, only to the unconstitutionally of the income tax; but it breaks down at the same time a vicious attempt at class and sectional legislation which should have had no advocates in this American republic.—Philadelphia Record. Dem.

HAVE BOUGHT OCEAN CITY.

The Baltimore, Chesapeake & Atlantic Railway Will Become The Sole Owners Of The Beach.

"The Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway, in which John E. Searles and other New York and Philadelphia capitalists are interested has completed negotiations for the purchase of the property of the Sinepuxent Beach Company, at Ocean City Md. The property embraces the stretch of beach five miles in length on the Atlantic Ocean, and separated from the main shore of Worcester county by Sinepuxent Bay. It is upon this island that Ocean City is situated, and the beach has already won a national reputation as one of the finest on the Atlantic coast.

The property has for some time been held by the Sinepuxent Beach Company of which Mr. Charles Goldsborough is president, and within the past year the company has been taking active steps looking to its adequate development. With this in view, the capital stock of $60,000 was recently doubled, and plans were prepared looking to the construction of a railway to traverse the property from a point opposite the Isle of Wight on the north to a picturesque bluff five miles to the south, where pavilions and amusement grounds were contemplated. It was expected to make connection with the tracks of the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic, Overtures were made to the authorities of the railway for the construction of the projected road, and it was thus that the pending negotiations began.

The Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railroad is backed by an abundance of capital. It was formed by the consolidation of the Baltimore and Eastern Shore Railroad and the Eastern Shore Steamboat Companies, thus controlling all the Eastern Shore lines.

Price Visited by His Parents and Wife.

Marshall E. Price, the condemned murderer of Sallie E. Dean, near Harmony, Caroline county, was Saturday visited at the city jail by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Price, of Dover Bridge, Caroline county, and by his young wife. Price had been notified of their proposed visit, and when he was taken to the guard room to see them he was calm and collected. The visitors reached the jail at about ten o'clock, and were with Price for over an hour. When they parted it was evident that all his relatives had been deeply affected by the meeting, while the stolidity of Price himself was also somewhat shaken. It was the first time that Mrs. Price had seen her son since his arrest by Detectives Seibold and Gault, and she seemed to suffer deeply. Mr. Price brought his son some fresh clothing and many edible delicacies. The visitors left the city at night by steamer for their home in Caroline county.

Governor Brown will be requested within the next few days to appoint a commission of physicians, who are experts on insanity, to examine into the mental condition of Marshall E. Price, the condemned murderer of Sallie E. Dean, who is now confined in the City Jail under sentence to be hanged July 5.

Mr. Joseph H. Price, father of the prisoner, thinks his son is insane, and he has requested Mr. Millard F. Taylor, who defended Price during his trial in Denton, to present a petition to Governor Brown, asking for the examination. Sheriff Berry, of Caroline county, has not yet arrived to read the death warrant to Price.

Medical Lake.

Down in southern Washington, on the great Columbian plateau, at an altitude of 2,000 feet above the level of the Pacific, is the Dead sea of America. The local geographers call it Medical lake because there is a belief that its waters are highly charged with curative properties. It is about one mile long and three-fourths of a mile wide, with an average depth of 60 feet. It has no inlet or outlet, and its level appears to remain the same. There must be salt springs in the bottom that feed it about as fast as the waters are exhausted by evaporation, which is rapid in that country, where the air is so dry and rare. The waters are very heavy and very salt, its density and composition being almost exactly as those of the Dead sea in Palestine. No vegetable life exists within a mile or more of its shores, which are a dry, hard clay. The only animal life is a little turtle or terrapin they call the boatbug, and the walking fish, which is a curious creature about 8 inches long, with four fins that look like legs and are used for the same purpose. This walking fish is never seen elsewhere, I'm told.—Chicago Record.

Galvanic Bronzing.

A recent improvement in galvanic bronzing, made by M. Mandit of Caen, is claimed by him to be not only more simple than the ordinary process, but capable also of giving every tone, from that of Barbedian bronze to antique green, according to the length of time that the copper is allowed to remain in contact with the liquid. After the piece has been well scoured it is covered by means of a brush with a mixture composed of 20 parts of castor oil, 80 of alcohol, 40 of soft soap and 40 of water. Thus treated, the piece, left to itself for 24 hours, becomes bronzed, and if the duration of the contact be prolonged the tone changes, a great variety of tones pleasing to the eye being obtainable by this means. The drying is finally effected with hot sawdust, the only remaining operation being then that of coating the piece with a colorless varnish, largely diluted with alcohol, in order to obtain a perfectly satisfactory result. M. Mandit lays great stress on the peculiar simplicity characterizing this new method.

"King Solomon's Mines."

The death of Mr. Robert Louis Stevenson reminds me of the following interesting circumstance: Several years ago, soon after "Treasure Island" had appeared and attracted public attention to Mr. Stevenson, two gentlemen were traveling up to London from Norfolk. One of them was reading "Treasure Island." Presently, having finished the book, he dropped it into his traveling bag, remarking, "Well, I think I could myself write a better child's story than that." The other, who, by the way, was his brother, urged him to try. Six weeks afterward the former handed to the latter a complete tale in manuscript. It was "King Solomon's Mines," the first novel that made a reputation for Mr. Rider Haggard.—London Graphic.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

[FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, May 20, 1895.

Circumstances unimportant in themselves have brought Presidential possibilities very much to the front in Washington during the past few days. Ex-Speaker Reed was in Washington for a few hours last week and although his visit was to see a sick friend, Representative Hitt, of Ill., it started Presidential gossip, as he is generally recognized as one of the leading candidates for the republican nomination. Gen. Harrison's visit to New York has also furnished food for gossip. Col. Michener, of Ind., a close friend of Gen. Harrison's who has a law office in Washington, says of that visit: "Gen. Harrison has been to New Jersey to receive a medal from the Historical Society of that State, and is now in New York to sit for a portrait which is to be hung in the White House. That is his real business in New York, although he may attend to some law business." When asked bluntly whether Gen. Harrison was a candidate for the nomination, Col. Michener replied: "He says he is not," and changed the subject.

Ex-Senator Warner Miller, of New York, at present in Washington, says on the subject of the next republican nominee: "I don't think there has been any effort to get together on the part of the leading men of the party to come to an understanding. It would be much better to let the leading men go to the convention and have the question of a nominee decided there. Any attempt at ringing in any one in advance will fail. It would not be wise for any one to attempt such a thing, and I don't believe the attempt will be made. Leaders will not do it, and if others attempt to do so they will not succeed." Speaking of the general outlook, Mr. Miller said: "Everything points to republican victory. The democratic patry has disappointed the people, showing an incapacity for government. The democracy is not progressive. It is composed of obstructionists."

The administration's "sound money" platform is to include an indorsement of the repeal of the Federal tax on currency urged by State banks, although the last Congress, overwhelmingly democratic as it was, refused to pass a bill repealing that tax or to adopt an amendment to the tariff bill for its repeal. There has been and is much doubt about what Mr. Cleveland wishes the country to believe he means by "sound money"—a single gold standard is what he wants, but he has so far lacked the courage to say so in plain words, as Secretary Morton did—but there is no doubt about what the repeal of the State bank tax means. It means wild cat money, issued by irresponsible people, which would be about as unsound money as could be put in circulation. Mr. Cleveland's present advocacy of the repeal of this tax is merely an attempt to get the support of the Southern democrats who say they favor the free coinage of silver for no other reason than that they want the amount of money in circulation increased, but the silver men are already charging that the repeal of the State bank tax would have been accomplished at the last session of Congress had not Mr. Cleveland's influence been used to prevent.

The mails of the Department of Justice are full of letters of complaint from U. S. Court officials, who find it difficult to understand why their salaries are not paid. This is only another illustration of democratic ideas of economy. When the democratic Congress cut $156,000 from the amount estimated to be needed to pay the expenses of the Department of Justice, which pays all U. S. Court officials and witness fees and other expenses of the U. S. Courts, for the current fiscal year, the seven by nine statesmen chuckled and called themselves reformers. Now, as a consequence, deputy marshals, bailiffs and other necessary employes of the courts cannot get their salaries and the families of some of them are reported to be in distress, and when the next Congress meets it will have to make a deficiency appropriation to pay them. Meanwhile, these people will have to work without getting their salaries, until the first of August, when they will receive their July salaries out of the appropriation for the next fiscal year.

Ex-Senator Higgins, of Delaware, is in Washington. He says he has not the slightest doubt about the seating of his republican successor, Senator-elect Dupont; that he has received the opinions of a number of the leading constitutional lawyers and they all agree that the Speaker of the Delaware Senate ceased to have the right to act as Speaker when he became the governor of the State.

Members of the administration will not talk about the Supreme Court's decision in the income tax cases, but it is easy enough to guess how they feel about it; there is no occasion for them to express themselves.

MARRY THIS GIRL—SOMEBODY!

MR. EDITOR:—I stained a blue silk dress with lemon juice; what will restore the color? I am making lots of money selling the Climax Dish Washer. Have not made less than $10 any day I worked. Every family wants a Dish Washer, and pay $5 quickly when they see the dishes washed and dried perfectly in one minute. I sell as many washers as my brother, and he is an old salesman. I will clear $3,000 this year. Address the Climax Mfg. Co., Columbus, Ohio. Anyone can do as well as I am doing. MAGGIE R.

Something More to be Considered

A good article is paramount to all else. You do not study your best interests in bringing a portrait because it is "dirt cheap." There are two other essential points, namely a first class likeness—and a No. 1 finish. You say these two features added make a higher figure. True, but in the end the best is the very cheapest. Once done right needs no repetition. If you will take the pains to enquire my prices for Crayon Portraits, and examine the Superior quality of them and latest designs in frames, I am confident you will leave your small pictures with me. I can't afford to ask for "money in advance." First because I am sure my work is correct. Second, I am bound to trust to your integrity from the fact that you trust your valuable pictures in my hands. Now then shall I have your order for a Crayon, Oil Water Color or an India Ink Portrait? Hope so. Come see or write me for prices.
