AND thou too, Dorchester!

THE latest suit now pending is entitled Dorchester vs. Gorman.

THE Republicans will hold their primaries to-day. The County Convention will be held Tuesday. See top of this column.

OH Dorchester, Dorchester, how often would I have gathered you as a hen her brood under her wings and ye would not.

SECRETARY HOKE SMITH has accepted an invitation to address the Cordele, Ala., Sound Money league on the currency question the last week in July.

THE Ledger surpasses itself in imaginative ability this week. It has the Republicans of Talbot clamoring for office and men in the field who have not known it until they saw their names in that paper.

THE new woman at Bryn Mawr College is responsible for the latest and best joke about the Delaware peach crop. In Delaware, they say at Bryn Mawr, the people eat what peaches they can and can what peaches they can't. The new woman who is capable of that kind of thing will make her way.

IN England an oak sprang up and grew through the hole of a millstone. It filled the opening and lifted it with its growth. The question was, will the stone kill the tree, or will the tree burst the stone? Finally, with a noise like that of a gun, the stone was shattered and some of the pieces were thrown many feet. An acorn is more than a match for a millstone, and a mustard seed can move a mountain. Faith is a vital force. "This is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith."

"I DON'T see how the country people can help takin' the children. We are more than paid for any slight trouble they may be, by the infinite pleasure the two weeks' visit gives them," said a lady who had been entertaining some of the city children sent out by the Fresh Air Society.

There are hundreds of pleasant homes in Talbot, and if any one wishes to invite a child or two to help enjoy the same, address the Society at 112 North Charles St., Baltimore.

Before the people today, and which stands preeminently above all other medicines, is

HOOD'S Sarsaparilla

It has won its hold upon the hearts of the people by its own absolute intrinsic merit. It is not what we say, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does that tells the story:—

Hood's Cures

Even when all other preparations and prescriptions fail.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for impure blood and after taking two bottles I was in better health than I have been for years. My father has suffered with indigestion and Hood's Sarsaparilla has helped him also. We think highly of Hood's." MRS. FLORENCE GOULD, Kensington, Md.

NOT satisfied with absorbing the Democratic party by capillary attraction, Senator Peffer, of Kansas, says the New York Advertiser, now proposes to organize a new party, and has given formal notice in a letter of his intention. The Senator makes the important announcement that the underlying principles of his new formation will be broader and deeper than "free silver" or "bimetalism," and will take some such pleasing form as this: "1. Get the people at work; pay them for what they do. 2. Away with landlordism. 3. Out with the transportation monopoly. 4. Out with the money power. 5. Up with the people. 6. Live the Republic." This platform has its alluring features; but after all the real attractiveness of anything regarding Mr. Peffer is his surpassing whiskers.

THE Republicans of Talbot are not expecting to do much hard fighting this fall. Neither will the state at large do more than place strong men in the field, and with their platform for honest government and the popular opposition to one-man-boss-rule, it is confidently expected that the accession of that party to power will be the result The Republicans are satisfied of the virtue of the words of the immortal Bryant,

"Truth crushed to Earth will rise again," and believe that the principles which they maintain will eventually control. Hence the necessity of placing such men in the field who can secure the greatest confidence of the people and win for the party the most votes. No, indeed, the primaries and the county and state conventions will be free from factional fights and will, we predict, be one glorious triumph of equanimity and united effort to promote the welfare of the party.

EDITOR Abbott of the Annapolis Capital comes close to hitting the truth when he says:

"It is, no doubt beneficial to the interest of the country to have two well-balanced parties, as too long a lease of power to any one set of men is dangerous, but do we not often allow our political prejudices to run away with our best judgment?

We believe that the cardinal principles of Democracy are the best for the good of the country—the Republican thinks otherwise. If he is wrong, he is honest but mistaken. If we are wrong he can only say the same of us, and the policy which is good or bad for him is in the same manner good or bad for us.

We must all live under the same government and the same laws, and the best men in both parties are striving to make and keep the government and the laws honest and salutary. The battle of politics is not waged most fiercely by our statesmen, but by the politicians, and by the politicians for the politicians.

MR. CARLISLE'S disinclination to submit to interviews regarding the condition and prospects of the Treasury is entirely natural under the circumstances. The figures speak more loudly than the most eloquent words of the Blue Grass Secretary, and they show a state of affairs which Mr. Carlisle would find it difficult to justify. The public has always treated the present Secretary of the Treasury leniently, and his absurdly false predictions about the revenues have been received with good natured toleration. But while the American people are charitable to incompetency, they are quick to resent and condemn fraud. The disgraceful jugglery by which the Administration suppressed many millions of expenditures which were due, in order to make a deceptive financial showing at the end of the fiscal year, is an offense that the people are not disposed to forget, and Mr Carlisle is prudent in refusing to discuss the matter. —N. Y. Advertiser.

Members of the administration are having a difficult task to reconcile the promise that a democratic tariff would open the markets of the world to the producers and manufacturers of the United States with the cold, hard, figures contained in the official report of the Bureau of Statistics—figures compiled by democratic officials. During the eleven months ending May 31, 1895, exports from the United States fell off, as compared with the same period ending May 31, 1894, when the McKinley law was in force, nrarly $75.000,000 in value—to be exact the exportation for eleven months under the McKinley tariff amounted to $813,547,866, while the exportations for the same period under the democratic tariff amounted only to $729,651,865. These are the sort of facts which have convinced those who control the great business interests of the country that it is not safe to have the democratic party in control of the national government, and which will not soon be forgotten, but will stand like a stone wall over which the democratic party cannot hope to get during the life of the present generation.

WONDERS never cease. Although Mr. Reed probably has as yet given little attention to, and has certainly not made up his mind on any particular policy to be followed when he becomes Speaker of the House, a democratic newspaper published in Washington has found out all about it and has taken the public into its confidence. If there ever was more gall displayed even in these days of "enterprising" newspapers it has escaped our attention. It is unnecessary to mention the program outlined by this knowing newspaper further than to say that it begins with the absurd statement that the republicans will be afraid to touch the tariff. This is false enough, as time will show, to stamp the whole story as a democratic office-made fake. It is the democrats who are afraid. One of the certainties of the next session of Congress is that the House will revise the tariff in a number of important particulars and it is probable that the revision will be accepted by the Senate although that body will not have a republican majority. As Josh Billings used to say, "'Tis better to be ignorant than to know so darn much that aint so."

THE Atlanta Exposition is attracting attention all over the country and many concerns from Maryland will not only exhibit there, but hundred of our citizens will visit the queen city of the South this fall.

Several editorial associations will visit the exposition and doubtless the Peninsula Association will be numbered among them.

Ex-Governor W. J. Northen, of Georgia, chief of the Educational Department of the Cotton State and International Exposition says that the National Educational Convention, ten thousand strong, at Denver, has accepted the invitation to be present at the Exposition, and open the Congress of Education the last week in October. The National Educational Association has taken a deep interest in the Exposition from the start, and was one of the first bodies to memorialize congress in its behalf. Gov. Northen is an educator of life-long experience, and during his two terms of office did more than any of his predecessors to improve the public school system in the State. He has the hearty support of the Department of Education at Washington, in his administration of this department of Exposition work.
