JUSTICE NICOLS DECEASED.

Expires Suddenly At His Son's Home.

A Highly Respected Citizen Closely Identified With The Business Interests Of Easton.

Esquire Nehemiah E. Nichols died suddenly of heart failure on Wednesday about noon. The cause was indigestion, an acute attack the evening before having prostrated him. But he rallied and was dressed and reclining on the lounge while the family were at dinner. It was seen that he had suddenly become much worse and they immediately summoned medical aid, but death had placed him beyond human relief.

Probably no man could be removed from our community whose death will be more keenly felt than that of Mr. Nicols. He was a man loved by all who had relations with him. A Justice of the Peace for twenty five years, and a man "in whom was no guile' if such can be said of any one. He was too honest to compromise with wrong, and fearless in the expression of his opinions. His counsel was sought on legal matters often when higher authority was doubted and it can be said of him that his judgment seldom erred.

Judge Nicols served frequently as one of democracy's standard bearers. He was first constable and was afterwards deputy sheriff under Sheriff Thomas Scott. In 1845 he was elected sheriff, serving three years. In 1860 he took the census of Talbot County.

He was active in the church of his faith, the M. E. South, and served as trustee and steward until his death. He often remarked that he was "Quaker" when it came to the distinction between war and peace principles, or capital punishment which he bitterly denounced. It was only a few days ago in speaking of the Price lynching to the editor of this paper, when he said, "No man has the right to take the blood of his fellow-man; no law of man can make it right. The Almighty himself did not kill Cain but placed a mark upon him, and that is an example of sufficient high authority for man to emulate." While his business as justice constantly threw him in the presence of those who wrangled and quarrelled, yet the longer he lived he was impressed with the beauty of the sentiment to "love your enemies" and he was satisfied that if people would forbear more than they did, there would be little use for criminal law.

The funeral was from Trinity M. E. Church yesterday and the procession was a long and sorrowful one, for the community feel keenly the loss of such a citizen. He was interred in Spring Hill Cemetery, in the lot he reserved for himself at the laying out of the same, for it was he who bought the property in 1842 for the Church and had the same properly laid off into burial lots. He also planted the beautiful willows which now adorn the spot.

The deceased leaves two children—Charles E. Nicols, ex-Sheriff; and Miss Sadie C. Nicols besides a large number of friends and acquaintances, to mourn his loss.

Hints For Keeping Cool.

Harper's Round Table: It is very much as one looks at it whether one is to suffer or enjoy most during summer. Fretting and fidgeting and violent fanning add to one's discomfort. To go right on with one's work, and neither think nor care for the heat, often enables one to forget it, and if the mind be only held superior, the body does not so much mind being too warm or too cool. Some foolish people actually fuss and fume themselves into fevers, when summer is reigning in her bounty, ripening fruits and grains and giving us her splendid skies and sunsets.

To keep the house cool in July, air it thoroughly in the early morning, then close the windows and screen doors and darken bed rooms and parlors. A dark, closed room will be comfortable at mid-day. Select a cool window or a corner of the veranda, and carry your books and sewing there, or establish yourself under a tree. Eat cool dishes and ripe fruit. Fan moderately. Do not drink quantities of iced water. Do not let yourself be annoyed or vexed with anyone. Bath at least twice a day and think pleasant thoughts.

A lawn party is charming for a late afternoon in summer. Invite your friends to come from 5 to 8 o'clock. Spread rugs on the grass, and bring out some small tables and rocking-chairs. For refreshments have lemon sherbert, sponge cake, ice cream, snow pudding, iced tea or coffee, thin sandwitches or anything else you like. Play lawn tennis, croquet, or any other game you choose.

Something About Price.

[illegible] bystanders were very much amused at the corner of Dover and Washington Sts., when a newsboy yelled the Baltimore News at the top of his voice. Two ladies paused a moment and asked the boy if the paper said anything about Price. At first the boy said no, but hesitated, caught his breath, coughed and spit and with a firm speech said, "Oh yes it does, I forgot." "Are you sure little fellow?" enquired the lady. "Hopemedie-fedon't," retorted the youth.

As he shoved the nickel in his pocket he turned and ventured the information: "Ye will find it on top of first page—price, two cents." Bawl-ti-more Ev-an-ing News, with a strong nasal twang drowned the snickering of the awning post recliners.

Calvary Sunday School Excursion.

The Sunday School of Calvary M. P. Church has decided to run their annual excursion to Bay Ridge on Thursday, August 1st. A special train and special boat have been chartered for the occasion, and tickets will be on sale from Hurlocks to Claiborne. A day of great pleasure, if the weather proves favorable, is anticipated and nothing will be spared to make it so by those having the matter in charge.

Summary Of Crops.

The past week was favorable for all growing crops, except during the prevalence of the cool wave of the 9th and 10th. Wheat threshing is in progress with somewhat varied yields, as elsewhere; the general yield is at least fair. Corn is doing well on both high and low lands, and is coming in tassel. Haying is about finished with excellent results. Oats will be cut during the coming week. Tomatoes and potatoes are thriving. Peaches apples, huckleberries and blackberries are being shipped. The crop of berries is large, and heavy shipments of peaches are being made from Milford, Del.

NIAGARA FALLS.

$10 Tours via Pennsylvania Railroad.

In all the wide range of creation there is nothing which approaches Niagara Falls in magnificence or grandeur, nor any other object which inspires the beholder with such awe-inspiring wonder. One must see the great cataract in order to form any conception of its vastness or secure a proper appreciation of its majesty.

The series of tours arranged by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, leaving Philadelphia July 18, August 1 and 15, September 7, and October 8, and Washington and Baltimore July 25, August 8 and 22, September 7, and October 8, affords an excellent opportunity to make the trip at a remarkably small expense.

The rate for round-trip tickets, good for ten days, is $10 from Philadelphia, Washington, and Baltimore, and proportionate rates from other points.

A special train of Pullman parlor cars and day coaches will be run on each of the above named dates, and a tourist agent and chaperon will accompany each tour—in fact, everything will be done to make the trip attractive and pleasurable.

The tickets will also permit of stopoff at Watkins and Rochester in each direction, and at Buffalo on the return trip.

For specific rates and time of trains application should be made to ticket agents or to Tourist Agent, Room 411, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

The New Highwayman.

Boston Post: The bicycle has at last reached that point in its development at which it is found available for criminal purposes. This was inevitable. It happens sooner or later with many really great practical inventions. The production of dynamite gave safe breakers a new arm; anaesthetics find use in robbery; hypnotism, at least in Kansas is applied to the commission of murder by proxy, before long some ingenious criminal will find out how to add electricity to his appliances.

The bicycle has now become the steed of the highwayman of these latter days, and a good substitute for Turpin's Black Bess it proves. In conneticut and in New Jersey, more or less successful "stand-and-deliver" acts have been performed within the past week by highwaymen mounted on bicycles, the superior speed of the wheels giving them both the advantage of pursuit and in escape.

There have been already tentative experiments in the equipment of police with bicycles. Now that the value of the wheel has been demonstrated on the criminal side, its adoption by the guardians of the peace may come more speedily.

He Held The Glove.

They were out driving on Sunday afternoon last on the Glebe road. He had fondled her soft hand and carelessly allowed the reins to drop into his lap. Also during his absentmindedness and far-away look, released the glove from her left hand and deftly but slyly pushed her handkerchief inside the same thereby giving some slight filling to the glove. This accomplished, and while his dreamy eyes were set on the azure blue, she slipped the handkerchief-stuffed glove into his huge paws and carefully removed her right hand. The young dreamer sat smoothing that glove without looking down and venturing to press it occasionally remarked: "Your hand is as soft as mush." She tittered "do you think so?" It was some time before he had ceased to comment on the exceeding fineness of the phalangelical extremity and when he found his mistake was heartless enough to return her to her own door without even so much as adieu. Fact.

MR. JOHN OUTRAM KILLED

At The Railroad Crossing On His Farm.

A South Bound Train Crashes Into His Team Killing Horse and Driver. No One Was Blamed.

News reached Easton last Saturday noon that the south bound passenger train had run over Mr. John Outram and mangled him just as he was attempting to cross the track infront of his own dwelling.

Mr. Outram's farm is about three miles from Easton and the house sets back some distance from the road. Between the gate and the house the railroad passes, making a curve through a deep cut in his lane.

Over this crossing the old gentleman had passed hundreds of times, but on this occasion he did not see nor hear the approaching train. He had been in Easton transacting business and was returning home in a small wagon with one horse. The horse was instantly killed, wagon demolished and Mr. Outram badly injured though not killed. He had suffered from broken legs, and crushed ribs and yet did not lose consciousness until a few minutes before dissolution.

The unfortunate man was about 76 years of age but robust. He was an Englishman by birth and came to Talbot county from England in 1866. For a short time he resided at Brick hotel, Easton, after which he bought a farm about three mills from Easton and engaged in farming, where he resided until his death. He leaves a widow, who was present when he died, and a son, T. Sidney Outram, of the United States Signal Service, at Denver Col.

Justice Hubbard summoned a coroner's inquest, which, after viewing the body adjourned till 11 a. m. Monday. The jury, composed of the following gentlemen, John B. Fairbank, foreman, Charles E. Nicols, C. H. Leonard, John W. Seemer, Alexis G. Pascault, W. J. H. Wooters, H. H. Langsdale, G. R. Collins, Wm. G. Stoops, Wm. T. H. Lee, A. A. Hughes, C. R. Leonard, met at Easton depot on the arrival of the southbound train Monday morning and had all the officers of the train before them as witnesses. At the time of the accident the train was in charge of H. C. Mearns, conductor; Edward Shortall, engineer; Mack Hamilton, fireman, and Harry Satterfield, baggage master. It was shown at the inquest that the train was running about thirty miles an hour; that when within a short distance of the crossing the fireman saw the team emerge from the cut within a few yards of the track; steam was shut off, whistle blown and bell rung, but neither seemed to attract attention of horse or occupant of vehicle, although to have stopped horse or driven across track quickly would have avoided the accident. Some witnesses stated that those signals were not given. After hearing all the evidence the jury rendered the following verdict:

"That the said John Outram came to his death by being struck by an engine of the D. & C. R. R. Co. at a crossing on the farm of said deceased, on Saturday, July 13, 1895 and that we believe it to have been an unavoidable accident and that we exonerate the railroad company and their employees from any blame in the premises whatever. We would suggest that the railroad company instruct their engineers to blow the whistle of the locomotives as they approach the deep crossings along the line of their road."

The funeral was from Christ P. E. Church on Tuesday and interment in Spring Hill cemetery. The deceased was highly respected and his death much lamented. Great sympathy is felt for his surviving relatives.

Talbot Does Not Claim Him.

Edward Banks, colored, who says he is from Talbot county, assailed 11-year-old Rachel Moore, near Swan Creek on Sunday afternoon. The girl was on her way to Sunday-school when the negro met her. He picked her up and ran down the road. Her screams attracted several people, and the negro was captured. He is now in jail at Belair.

The negro dropped the girl and started to run. After a chase of two miles he was captured and taken back to Swan Creek. When captured a rope was placed about his neck and he was about to be lynched, when several men prevailed upon the men having the negro in charge not to hang him. Finally it was decided to take him to jail. The little girl is very ill, but only from fright.

A Former Colored Barber Honored.

The board of trustees of the Delaware State College for colored students, at a meeting held at Dover last week unanimously elected the Rev. William C. Jason, colored, president of that institution.

Mr. Jason, who succeeds Wesley Webb as president of the faculty, is a young man, a member of the Delaware M. E. Conference and pastor of a church at Germantown, Pa. He was born in Talbot county, Md., and studied while practicing his trade as barber under the late Chas. Murray. After he left Easton he entered and became a graduate of Allegheny College at Meadville, Pa., and of Drew Theological Seminary. In both of these institutions he took high rank and is recommended as of high character and scholarly in attainments.—Wilmington Every Evening.

Painfully Hurt.

About dark Sunday evening while Mr. William Cusick of Cambridge, who is employed on the Dredge Boat now deepening the channel of Trappe River, in company with several other gentlemen, was standing in front of Clark & Kirby's store, he was struck over the left eye with a piece of iron about an inch square to which a string was attached, and painfully hurt.

There were quite a number of young men and boys playing on the street at the time, and the missle was thrown by Junius White with no intention however, of striking Mr. Cusick. The wound was dressed by Dr. McCormick and Mr. Cusick was taken in a carriage to Trappe Landing.—Trappe Times.

Our Easton Girls.

Some are nice and some are nicer andsome are nicest, but that is not what they pride themselves on. They are substantial as a rule and agree with the Atchison Globe in its opinion of "higher" education. When a girl, it says, is making good wholesome bread, digestible pies and cakes, and keeping a house homelike and comfortable for her father, mother and brothers, it is said she is missing the "higher education" necessary to a woman's life. This "higher education" is one of the mushrooms that grow in the brain of poets, spiritulists, theosophists and fools. It means that her father mother and brother should be content to eat soggy bread and grow dyspeptic on canned goods, while she sits on the bank of a stream and reflects on a lot of things that do her harm. Every good and useful woman avoids what is popularly known as "the higher life," the literal meaning of whichis the higher foolishness.

Last summer one of our grand children was sick with a severe bowel trouble. Our doctor's remedies had failed, then we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which gave very speedy relief. We regard it as the best medicine ever put on the market for bowel complaints —Mrs. E. G. Gregory, Fredrickstown, Mo. This certainly is the best medicine ever put on the market for dysentery, summer complaint, colic and cholera infantum in children. It never fails to give prompt relief when used in reasonable time and the plain printed directions are followed. Many mothers have expressed their sincere gratitude for the cures it has effected. Mrs. Rhodie Noah, of this place, was taken in the night with cramping pains and the next day diarrhoea set in. She took half a bottle of blackberry cordial but got no relief. She then sent to me to see if I had anything that would help her. I sent her a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and the first dose relieved her. Another of our neighbors had been sick for about a week and had tried different remedies for diarrhoea but kept getting worse. I sent him this same remedy. Only four doses of it were required to cure him. He says he owes his recovery to this wonderful remedy.—Mrs. Mary Sibley, Sidney, Mich. For sale by H. Roberts, Easton, A. D. HELPS TO HOUSEWIVES.

Suggestions To Those Charged With Domestic Economy.

That many things can be dusted with a damp cloth (not wet), followed by a dry one, with benefit, and it will take the dust as no dry cloth can.

That, according to the learned scientists of the day, one is destroying many germs that are floating in the air and settling on furniture—especially in sleeping-rooms—when we dust in this manner.

That a partly worn silk handkerchief makes a good duster for fine furniture; pieces of an old soft lawn dress are useful for the same work.

That a stiff bristle brush for upholstered furniture and a small whisk broom are both useful.

That if there are any particularly dirty places on the carpet it seems wise to take a small whisk broom and dust pan and sweep up those places first, before beginning the general sweeping. Then we shall not have to sweep this additional dirt all over the carpet.

That after the sweeping is done and the dust allowed to settle a little, if the broom is dipped in clean, cold water, all shaken out that can be, and the carpet then lightly brushed, the broom being dipped into fresh water every few minutes, it will take up the surface dust that has fallen back on the carpet after being disturbed by the sweeping.

Kerosene simplifies laundry-work.

Kerosene in starch prevents its sticking.

Kerosene is a good counter-irritant.

Kerosene will remove rust from bolts and bars.

Kerosene will remove fresh paint.

Kerosene will remove tar.

Kerosene on cloth will prevent flat-irons from scorching.

Kerosene cleans brass, but it should be afterwards wiped with dry whiting.

Bread crumbs rank among the housecleaners' best friends. Crushed to a coarse powder, they may be used to clean delicate lamp-shades, screens, show cases, scarfs, and the boiling cloth trifles dear to the heart of the decoratively inclined. Bread crumbs will also remove grease spots from wall papers and are, indeed, invaluable in freshening wall papers that have become dingy.

To clean brasses, make a paste of finely-powdered rottenstone and sweet-oil and apply it with a flannel cloth, wrapped about a piece of cork. Brass fenders and other objects, which may be unscrewed, may be taken apart and cleaned in parts.

A remarkable degree of brilliancy may be imparted to windows by cleaning them with alcohol and whiting. This will remove the most obstinate paint spots. For ordinary window-washing a little kerosene in the water is an effective brightener.

A Candidate for the Whipping Post.

John Horner, a young white man living in a tenant house on the Peck's Point farm, opposite Oxford, is certainly a candidate for the whipping post, that is, if reports that are current be true, and the mutilated appearance of his wife, Catharine Horner, count for anything. Friday last was the day on which Horner beat his wife unmercifully, blacking both eyes and bruising her face and person terribly by blows and kicks. When Mrs. Horner came to Easton Saturday to prefer charges against Horner, she presented a pitiful appearance. Horner has skipped, and as yet, the officers have failed to locate him. It is thought he is hiding in Dorchester county. More than probable Horner's crime will come under tha law relating to wifebeaters, and if so the whipping post will be brought into requisition for the first time in Talbot.

A MEXICAN WONDER.

Heals The Deaf, Blind and Halt Merely By The Laying On of Hands.

A dispatch srom Albuquerque on Wednesday says:

Looking like an animated picture of Christ credited with performing acts on a par with the miracles of the son of God, Franci Schlader, who claims to have been until two years ago a shoemaker in Denver, has set wild the Mexicans of the territory just to the south of this city. They are hailing him as a special disciple sent from Heaven direct to them to give sight to the sightless, hearing to deaf, and to relieve them of what diseases the flesh it subject to.

Today he is followed about by hundreds of Mexicans and Indians who pray to him that he touch their wounds and cure them of their ailments. Representatives of the best Mexican families are imploring him to enter their wagons, take their horses and go with them to their homes to cure the afflicted. The man goes, as he says, whither his master directs, and for the services he performs he will take nothing. At Peralta, Jesues Ma Volasquez, who is said to have been totally blind for [illegible] touched the man's hands. Juliana Sodillo, who has not moved her arms for 16 years, was working in the fields yesterday. Scores of similar stories are told. At Sodillo, where he stayed eight days, a watch was put on him day and night, and it is asserted that he ate no food and drank but a few swallows of water.

THE TALBOT COUNTY RELATIVE.

Farmer Jones Intends to Visit the Talbot County Fair.

Pack yer trunk, Mirandy, an' Molly trim yer hat,
Fer here they've writ a letter where our relatives are at;
They're livin' there in Easton, in a house six stories high,
An' we'll see the Talbot County Fair by an' by, by an' by!

Put up a jar o' pickles; and a basket full o' eggs;
And ketch a dozen pullets with the fat and yaller legs.
Throw in some watermelons—the "Baker" and the "Gem,"
Fer we're goin' to see our kinfolks, and we'll live awhile on them!

They say that this year's dooins will beat any other fair;
(Now, Mollie, you be stylish, an' go bang yer hair!)
Easton's over run with folks—there ain't a house to rent;
But we're goin' to our kinfolks, an' we'll never need a cent.

They'll put us in a house o' brick, with papered wall's an' sich;
They'll ring a bell fer dinner, an' we'll live like we was rich!
They'll make the silver jingle, till we think we're seein' stars;
They'll take us out in busses an' they'll ride us on the cars!

It may be they'll be crowded an'can't 'commodate no more;
But I reckon we're obligin'an'we'll jest sleep on the floor!
We're goin' to see our kinsfolks—or we'll know the reason why,
An' we'll see the Talbot County Fair by an' by, by an' by!

THE QUEEN ANNE'S RAILROAD.

Money Subscribed to Build The Line.

The Contract Will Be Awarded Next Week And Work Will Begin In a Very Short Time.

The money necessary to build the Queen Anne's Railroad, projected from Queenstown, Queen Anne's county, Md., to Lewes and Rehoboth Beach, Del., has been subscribed and the contract will be awarded next week.

The line will be constructed by the Peninsular Construction Company, which has recently been found in Baltimore by local capitalists, comprising Mr. William H. Bosley, president of the Queen Anne's Railroad; Mr. George B. Baker, president of the Third National Bank; Mr. Edward Stabler, Jr., president of the Guardian Trust Company, and others.

The preliminary work, such as grading, etc., has been completed, and all is in readiness for the contractors to begin putting down the ties and laying the track. Work of construction will be pushed with all possible haste, and the promoters hope to have the line in operotion by June 1 of next year at the latest.

It will form a new route from Washington and Baltimore to the sea coast, and much shorter than the present routes. The road will be 60 miles long and will connect with a steamboat line from Baltimore to Queenstown, making the total route 85 miles.

The proposed line, starting from Queenstown, where terminal facilities have been purchased, will run northwardly through Centreville and Church Hill to Chestertown or Crumpton; southwardly through Wye Mills, Easton and Trappe to Cambridge Ferry, a point opposite Cambridge, with a branch from a point near Wye Mills, eastwardly through Hillsborough to Denton and thence to the Delaware State line.

An extension to Rehoboth Beach will be built. This extension, like the main line will traverse a thickly settled portion of Maryland and Delaware, and will open that section to the trade of Baltimore. It will also afford excursionists from Baltimore and Washington an opportunity to visit the Atlantic Ocean and return the same day, with a stay of seven hours at the seaside. The distance to Cape may will also be shortened about 45 per cent., with a corresponding saving in expense.

The Queen Anne's Railroad is capitalized at $800,000. Mr. William H. Bosley of the banking-house of Messrs. John S. Gittings & Co., of Baltimore is president and Mr. W. W. Busteed, editor of the Centreville Observer, secretary and treasurer. The company has ample financial backing. Among the sub scribers to the stock are Messrs. Wesley M. Oler, Clinton P. Paine, Edward Stabler, Jr., George B. Baker, Basil B. Gordon, Douglass H. Gordon, Bartlett S. Johnston and John S. Gittings.

A Toast This Hot Weather for the Ladies.

And the speaker closed his remarks to the ladies by saying:

"We have no faith in the conclusion of the minister who said that God made the earth and then He rested. After that He made man and then He rested again. After that He made woman, and there had been no rest for God nor man since. (Laughter.) In part this is true, for woman's prayers to God have given Him no rest, while her work among men in temperance, in purity reform, has kept them on the move, until they begin to think that something is going to be done. (Applause.)

Mr. Augustus Trippe of New York is spending his vacation with his parents at their summer home on salt water.

Mr. T. Sidney Outram and wife arrived from the west on Monday to attend the funeral of his father, John Outram.

Editor W. D. J. Morris of St. Michaels, made a telling speech before the School Board on Tuesday in refrence to appointments.

Mrs. Harry H. Stewart and daughter of Philadelphia, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Brenneman, near Easton.

Misses H. Anna and Sallie K. Powell in company with Mrs. Hollyday Meeds of Washington, left Easton yesterday for Atlantic City.

Major Wm. E. Stewart and Wm. R. Martin, of Easton, members of Talbot county bar, were in town on Wednesday—Denton Union

Mr. Jno. H. K. Shannahan is busy boring wells in Baltimore and still succeeds where others fail. This speaks well for an Eastonian.

Mr. N. T. Hubbard has just completed a very handsome chest for carpenter's tools, made from hard wood. It can be seen at this office.

The marriage of Miss Mattie Winterbottom of Cambridge to Charles H. Leonard of Easton, has been announced for Wednesday, July 24th, at Cambridge.

Mr. H. C. Speakman says this is a year for surprises and freaks. He saw a white sparrow in one tree and a red bird singing like a robin close by in another.

Gov. Brown with his two children, will make a tour of the world. He will start as soon as his services to the state are over, and will travel from San Francisco westward to China and Japan.

Mrs. Schofield, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. M. H. P. Cox, sails soon for London where she will meet her husband. She will spend a month travelling in England then settle in Paris to study art.

Capt. Ed. Roberts of the U. S. Service, as Inspector Public Buildings, left Easton this week for an extended trip into the far northwest to Port Thompson. Returning, he will be officially engaged at Portland, Oregon, San-Francisco and other western cities.

Prof. E. D. Murdaugh is home from Oklahoma on his vacation. The professor will not return to the same institution next year but has accepted the presidency of the Territorial Normal School at Edmond on the Santa Fe railroad and sixteen miles south of Guthrie. It was a question of salary only that caused the professor to make the change and not politics as was reported. Mr. Murdaugh will be more at home in a Normal School than in an Agricultural College, and will grace the chair with possibly more ease.

Easton Boys Got Licked.

They had a good time anyhow.

It wasn't Easton's day on Thursday. That was evident when the Salisbury Base Ball Club walloped our nine to the tune of 12 to 2.

Its no disgrace to be trounced by the Salisbury aggregation, however. They are certainly a fine lot of ball tossers. But when they come to Easton—watch us then. Its even up that there are nine players in Easton who can beat them.

Easton never played a weaker club than on Thursday, Warner, Bartlett, Johnson and Wooters could not play. They are by far the four best players on the team, and their absence greatly weakened the club. Warner's place was taken by Caulk, of St. Michaels, one of the best amateur catchers in the State.

Johnson and Trippe pitched for Easton, and they both did well and they were unfortunate in that runs were made after chances had been given to retire the side. Despite a bad finger, Trippe pitched an excellent game It must be remembered that on the Salisbury Club are several semi-professionals and they are earning their salary.

For Easton, Caulk caught, Johnson an Trippe alternated in the pitcher's box and a first base, Stewart played second base Bateman played short, Hamilton played third, Meintzer played left field, Turbutt was in centre and Gallagher in right.

One noticeable feature was the good work of Batemam and Stewart—the youngsters, as they are called. They backed up the bases in great shape and covered themselves all over with glory an inch and a half thick. A nasty grounder had an argument with Bateman's nose toward the close of the game, but Dr. Dunning, who was present, declared the proboscis wasn't broken, so Bateman resumed play. For this piece of pluck he was loudly applauded from the grand stand.

In fact, every good play made by the Eastons was cherred by the Salisbury audience. It is certainly a pleasure to play ball in such a town. Again, the game is patronized there by the very best people. A battery is hired for the season and the expense of the club are vouched for by a dozen of the best men of the town. As a result their club plays good ball and every week has two or three of the leading clubs of the peninsula to play.

The Easton boys were treated in the most hospitable manner. Mine host Schenck, of the Peninsula Hotel, was zealous in his attentions, and the visitors will only be too glad sometime to entertain him as he did them.

It was a pleasant trip and no doubt the boys would like to go again. Salisbury will be in Easton within a few days, and then look out for Bateman and Stewart—it's a winning combination.

Library Entertainment.

On last Thursday night a pleasant entertainment was given at the Mercantile Library rooms, Bishop Adams read an interesting paper on the proper selection of literature and Mrs. Harper-Graham gave another talk on health. Mrs. Aldridge also had something to say, upon request, of her recent European trip Mrs. Norris proposes to make these meetings more and more interesting as the season advances and the necessity of greater accommodations for large audiences has been discussed.

Mr. Clayton Wright of Centreville has been appointed to look after the interests of the Nickerson Fertilizer Co., in Queen Anne, in the place of Mr. W. P. Thompson whose illness has made it impossible for him to continue in their service.
