THE fight is on, both tickets are named. The partizans will vote the party tickets on the ground of platform principles, the conservative element of both parties will weigh the respective candidates and use their judgment as to which will receive their suffrage.

As a rule Talbot has very few of this element to contend with, and yet they hold the balance of power, and sometimes turn the scales very unexpectedly. The gentlemen of the Democratic ticket are good and strong in their faith, as well as worthy citizens. Aside from party prejudice they are well qualified to fill the positions named and are a credit to the county which their party asks them to represent. We have not the slightest word of censure for them either collectively or singly. They are as entitled to their political views as we are to ours. They are to be considered as honest in their convictions as any one on the Republican ticket is, and on the whole are worthy representatives of the cause they maintain.

But the same can truthfully be said of each candidate on the Republican ticket and it gives us pleasure to endorse the principles they represent as well as to enlarge upon their merits as citizens.

We trust and hope that this campaign may be a clean one and that there be no ill feeling engendered through the columns of public print. We desire our correspondents to temper their remarks, if they feel justified in using abusive language, toward the political enemy. The GAZETTE is distinctively a republican sheet from principle but in being that it does not propose to be the enemy of any person from political reasons. We claim that two parties are essential to the growth and prosperity of the country, the one to check-mate the other, just as the two branches of Congress. But while this is so, it remains for one to stamp out the unwise legislation of the other when the same is so proven beyond the shadow of a doubt. This is the true mission of any party.

Have we not ample cause in Maryland to oppose the Democratic ticket?

WITH Mullikin as State's Attorney the laws will be ardently upheld and State ably defended, leaving no cause for complaint.

FITZJARRELL will perform the duties of Surveyor with his well known fidelity.

In the issue of last Thursday, the Ledger in its report of the proceedings of the Republican Convention, sustained fully the reputation it has made in the past. In the matter of false statements and general misrepresentation this article has been but seldom surpassed, even by the Ledger which has so much ability in this direction.

As to these however, we do not intend to speak. They have provoked many smiles from Republicans, and some even from Democrats. The motive of these false statements and misrepresentations is well understood.

The harmony which has so uniformly existed in the Republican party, and never more so than at present, has always been a source of surprise and annoyance to a certain class of Democrats, and from time to time special efforts are made to sow dissentions and wax distrust among the Republicans. So far their efforts have been a dismal failure. Occasionally persons with aspirations ungratified are made to believe that they do not have the recognition and influence to which their eminent abilities entitle them, hence such—a very few—sulk. Sometimes strangers who move among us and who do not know the past history of the Republican party in this county and are unfamiliar with the records of the prominent members of the party, and who do not know the peculiarities of such papers as the Ledger, get to believe the party is dominated by some individual or individuals, boss or ring, and are thus led for a time to antagonize the party of their choice, until they learn that they have been misled, deceived and imposed upon.

For this last class and such voters, if there be any, as may be liable to be misled by the articles of the Ledger this week and last, we will give our readers a few facts in connection with the record Col. J. C. Mullikin has made, not for the purpose of vindicating him, but that all may see the absurdity of such clap-trap as is contained in the Ledger report above referred to.

Back in the sixties after the close of the war, there being no organized party in Talbot to oppose the Democracy, some twenty or twenty-five men who had been loyal during the war, and desired to successfully put their county in harmony with the party that had labored to put down the rebellion, determined to organize the Republican party here. This was no easy task. The politicians were almost to a man with the opposition. Every effort was made to heap odium upon those who had been loyal during the war, had favored the emancipation of the blacks and were then in favor of their enfranchisement. Many, by systematic and persistent abuse, were frightened into the Democratic ranks, others remained true to their convictions, but refrained from talking politics or having any connection therewith except to quietly vote when opportunity occured. Some five or six were found in each District who were willing to become actively and openly identified with the then hated Republican party, and dared to advocate its principles. Among this number Col. Mullikin was the youngest. Since that time he has worked unceasingly, hopefully, cheerfully unselfishly for the upbuilding and strengthening of the party. He has never asked at the party's hands a nomination for office not even when the signs were most favorable for success. He has never asked to be honored by being sent to represent his county at any convention, District, State or National. He has never become discouraged and relaxed his efforts when others seemed hopeless. He has never sulked and left others to do the work that he could and ought to perform because his labors and sacrifices seemed unappreciated and more than this he has never tried to thrust his views either of policy or nominations upon an unwilling convention or striven, even when pressed to do so, to secure the selection of delegates to County Conventions favorable to him or his ideas.

With such a record as this for zeal, energy, singleness of purpose and usefulness, is it strange that the Republicans of Talbot county trust Col. Mullikin? Is it strange that they seek his advice and counsel? Is it strange that when assailed by open enemies or false friends they rise up all over the county to defend him? In a word is it strange that the Republicans of Talbot county are almost to a man what the Ledger calls "Mullikinites"? The Democrats and their sympathisers are anti-Mullikinites (and it is natural that they should be, though many of his strongest personal friends are Democrats) and the ticket nominated last Tuesday "is a hard pill for them to swallow" for the integrity and ability represented on that ticket will, with anything like a fair and honest election on Nov. 5th secure the election of every man on it.

For downright imaginative ability, when it comes to writing about something of which he knows nothing, the editor of the Ledger can beat Rider Haggard so far, that he could get back before that illustrious mental gymnast had started. This was never better exemplified than in the report of the late Republican County Convention. But luckily for the general reader the report was so extremely overdrawn that it gave itself away on the start as being altogether unreliable, hence will do harm.

IT is exceedingly amusing to watch the efforts of our Democratic friends to convince certain Republicans that they are dissatisfied by reason of some fancied grievance.

WHERE will you find three better men to represent Talbot at Annapolis next winter than Barber, Dodson and Hall?

WITH Bartlett, Woodall, and Roe in the Orphans' Court, citizens of our county will die perfectly contented so far as their temporal affairs are concerned.

WITH McNeal, Trax and Thompson to manage the affairs of the county there will be no jobs and the sinking funds will not be squandered.

EVERYBODY may depend on Seymour to attend to all business placed in his hands, as Sheriff, with promptness and fidelity.

ONE gratifying feature of last Tuesday's Convention was the presence of such a large number of our young Republicans.

GENTLEMEN of the Convention: You are entitled to the gratitude of every good citizen of the county for the exceptionally good ticket which you have presented the voters of Talbot.

MR. EDITOR GAZETTE:

If you think it worth while to publish these few thoughts which occurred to me on reading the Ledger of last Thursday, do so. If not throw them in your waste bashet.

The Ledger says "the ticket is a hard pill for the anti-Mullikinite to swallow." If by "anti-Mullikinites" he means the Democrats then he is right. If he means to imply that there are any active working or consistent-voting Republicans who are dissatisfied with the ticket made last Tuesday then he is wrong. If there is one such in the county I have failed to find him after diligent inquiry. I have never known a ticket made by any party so generally acceptable to the voters as this, and the Ledger will not have the ratification of seeing "the party split wide open on election day" or before either.

The Ledger speaks of the "anti ring sentiment" and "the conservative element." There is no so-called "ring" in the Republican party of Talbot hence there can be no "anti-ring sentiment". As to what or whom he means by the "Conservative element" I don't know and don't believe he does. In the Republican party no self constituted boss selects the delegates to our county Convention and no man has ever tried to dictate to a convention after or before it has assembled, and every Republican who has taken an active interest in politics knows this, and if anyone asserts to the contrary, it is either because in the past he has not been as active as he might have been and hence don't know any better or is wilfully misrepresenting. "It was the fond hope of" etc., that they would "select candidates from the younger element of the party," says the Lenger. Never have I known a county Convention either Republican or Democratic to have so large a representation of young men and the activity and the political knowledge and ability shown by them was very gratifying and encouraging to the older members of the party. The young men have come to the front in the Republican party and so long as they show the wisdom and ability they showed last Tuesday it is to be hoped they have come to stay.

"It was a Mullikin convention cut and dried and his henchmen carried everything before them." This may deceive some democrats but can't mislead any intelligent Republican. If the Ledger means this convention was composed of friends of Col. Mullikin, then he is right for ninety-nine per cent of the Republicans of this county are his friends. If it means that efforts were made in any district to send puppets to this convention, the character of the delegates is a sufficient refutation of this statement.

Mr. Editor when I commenced to write I intended to take up seriatim the various misrepresentations and falsehoods contained in the Ledger article but find that so far I have not covered six inches of the column. I must therefore abandon the task. Possibly sometime in the future I may call attention to some of the other misstatements.

OBSERVER.

YES; BUT WHO DID IT?

Our dear old friend, the Baltimore Sun, is vastly gratified over the boom in American industries, and, after quoting the statistics of recent expansion in that line, goes on to speak with fervor of the "three hundred thousand American laborers whose wages have been raised by the Wilson tariff bill." It is the very happiest cuckoo in the whole round world, and it chirps and twitters all day long.

There is only one fault to find with the Sun's hypothesis, and that is the cause to which it assigns its rapture. We admit the wholesome and encouraging revival of business. We know that the stagnation of the past three years has been transformed into healthful motion. We are aware that foundries, mills, furnaces, and factories every where have advanced the wages of their employes. We do not, however, perceive the Wilson tariff bill. Where is that instrument? How did it come to be the law of the land? Who revived it after the Senate had killed and buried it a year ago? If this is the Wilson tariff under which we are prospering so beautifully now, why did Mr. Wilson and his followers mourn so dismally when it became a law, and why did the President think it necessary to write to "My Dear Catchings," giving his reasons for refusing to sign it? The esteemed Sun-paper should explain these little incongruities.

While the Sunpaper revolves the matter, however, and trumps up sentences sufficiently ponderous and reverberating for the occasion, we make bold to say in our rude and plain way that everybody outside of the chosen cuckoo band is perfectly familiar with the facts in this case. Everybody knows that the Wilson tariff bill was, in all its essential and characteristic features, summarily rejected by the Senate. Everybody knows that the law, to which we owe our present fortune was the work of the Senate, achieved against the vehement protest of Mr. Wilson and his friends, and denounced by none more bitterly than by the Baltimore Sun. Mr. Gorman, Mr. Smith, Mr. Brice, Mr. Murphy, Mr. Gibson, and one or two other fearless and patriotic senators saved us from the Wilson tariff bill, averted national bankruptcy and made this sunshine of prosperity possible. They built the industrial boom of to-day upon the grave of the Wilson tariff bill, with its free sugar, free coal, and free iron, and its long vista of calamity beyond. Those brave men and far seeing statesmen were the architects of the Nation's welfare, and they took for the cornerstone of the edifice the corpse of the Wilson tariff bill.—Washington Post.
