THE revolt against the Gorman-Rasin ticket seems to be extending and the determination of the rank and file of the democratic party to no longer submit to being boss-ridden is growing stronger. All indications point to a tidal wave this fall that will sweep from power those who have used the democratic party for their own selfish ends, regardless of the welfare of the people and the prosperity of the State. Nothing but the most gigantic frauds, surpassing those of 1875, can avert the doom that is awaiting the bosses. True independence and manhood and patriotism are now aroused among the best elements of the democratic party and men who have been and still are democrats, who can neither be bought, frightened or cajoled are determined to make one supreme effort to rid our state of the incubus which has so long rested upon it. In order to do this we must have fair registration and honest elections. Good citizens, irrespective of party, should do what the yean to prevent a repetition of the frauds perpetrated on legal voters in Easton District two years ago, when the books were tampered with and legal voters were disfranchised by reason of their names having been fraudulently changed on the books.

But the greater danger lies in the polling room. Let us have election officers above suspicion. Let them be from among our best citizens. Men with intelligence enough to understand the requirements of the law and honesty enough to carry them out. Our present Board of Supervisiors had the reputation, when appointed, of being upright honorable men. Though their appointments last year disappointed the general expectations somewhat, it is hoped this year they will show some regard for their reputations and give us men in whom every one will have confidence.

THE selection of Hon. George L. Wellington as Chairman of the State Central Committee was a master piece of politics. This distinguished Republican from the 6th District is honest, fearless and aggressive. Like the experienced military officer, he understands the deceit and treachery of the wiley enemy and will not be led into ambush—or lured to danger ous, but inviting ground, prepared by the adroit and unscrupulous henchmen of Senator Gorman. In the management of party affairs, Mr Wellington assumes no easy task, and should receive the hearty support of every Republican. He is inaugurating a campaign that insures confidence as it means victory. The gentlemen on the State ticket have boarded an express that has the right of way, and an indignant people have side-tracked the Gorman—Rasin machine to let it pass.

HON. Lloyd Lowndes, the republican candidate for Governor of Maryland was a guest at its last meeting of the Union Republican Club of Washington. He made a speech that made an excellent impression upon those who heard it. No bluster or brag, just a quiet, gentlemanly expression of confidence in his election. He said if the election were to be held this week the state would, he believed go republican by more than 15,000 majority.

BY a vote of the People's Party Convention, it was decided not to place any name in nomination for State's Attorney. Forty-two new names were enrolled at the convention.

IT does not require a spyglass to see what the result of the Maryland election will be in Nov. 5th.

THE exhibit of the Smithsonian Institution and National Museum being installed in the Government Building at the Cotton States and International Exposition is, for its size, the most beautiful and impressive that has ever been prepared. An elaborate article, written for the New York Evening Post by Mr. F. E. Leupp, gives a detailed account of the exhibit, a brief glance at which indicates that for novelty and interest the exhibit will rank among the very first attractions at the Exposition. There will be wax figures of all the leading races of men, in characteristic costumes, especially prepared for the Atlanta Fair. The exhibit of the National Museum will be an epitome of the Museum's entire collection. It will include a display of the birds, beasts, and serpents of North America. and a collection of the mammals of the world represented by types. Representative groups will be stuffed and mounted amid accessories representing their environment in life. The same will likewise be done with the birds. Another exhibit will show the history and development of game the world over, including the history of chess and playing cards, and the games from which they took their origin in the earliest times. The relics of prehistoric man will occupy a large space. One of the most notable features of the exhibit will be that part devoted to biblical archaeology, which will show either originals or facsimiles of the most famous editions of testaments and bibles, including some of the rarest copies in the world. Specimens of all the precious stones used in the Bible will be shown, a model of the high priest's breastplate, a reproduction of the tower at Babylon, supposed to be modeled on the plan of the tower of Babel, a group of models of all the musical instruments mentioued in the Bible, figures illustrating Jewish religious ceremonials, and many other attractive biblical features.

A great deal of thought and speculation is wasted on the problem of why it is that intelligent and patriotic men will submit to political "bossism" as it is called. Surprise has been manifested at the factional victories which have lately been won by Senators Quay, Gorman and Brice. There is nothing mysterious about these achievements. The men who accomplished them are masters of their craft. Politics with them is not an occassional pastime. They make it a serious business. They "play" politics not only the year round, but year in and year out. They give to it the same care and attention which a painstaking lawyer or physician does to his profession. In this way they are enabled to intrench themselves so as to make it most difficult to overthrow them. Nor is "bossism" in itself repugnant to justice and right. In its best form it means merely party leadership and discipline. It is only when "bossism" is made to serve base and corrupt ends that it becomes menacing. When this occurs the people rise in indignation and sweep dishonest leaders or bosses from power.—N. Y. Advertiser.

THE false statement is put forth and corrected by the republican press of the country that the Treasury deficit for the month of August is less than $5,000,000. The deficit is actually millions of dollars more. It has been kept down to less than $5,000,000 only by the systematic withholding of Treasury payments. For the last few days not a cent has been paid out for interest by the Government, not a cent for the Navy Department and not a cent for pensions. Other debts have been deliberately staved off. By these contemtible tactics the Treasury officials are enabled to make it appear that the total expenses of the Government on the last day of August were only $355,000. It is preposterous to say that the Government can be run on such a sum without its creditors being compelled to suffer. It is time that this country-grocery style of financiering was stopped. The Gorman Wilson revenue act is a plain failure as a revenue measure, and the sooner the Administration acknowledges the fact the better it will be for it.

AN Easton Democrat of much prominence declared to a GAZETTE man recently that his party in this county was out to win at "whatever cost or whatever way." When reminded that the people were entitled to a fair election, the illusion produced a smile which plainly indicated that the "people" would have very little to do with it. Our Democratic managers should remember that their ways and methods in this county have not always reflected credit—and that impropper and illegal methods which distinguished elections in the past, will not be tolerated this fall. The better class of citizens, irrespective of party ties. will insist upon a decent and respectful observance of the election laws of this State.

THE Republicans of Maryland do not say half the hard things that might truthfully be stated in regard to the wrongs suffered by the people in this State for the last thirty years by the party in power. But most eloquent testimony of this character, producing perfect firebrands of consternation in the Democratic camp, is being hurled daily from some of the brightest minds and most distinguished men who ever adorned the Democracy of this State. The remarks of Ex-Governor Whyte and others this week might be read with interest.

MR. EDITOR.—Will you be kind enough to inform the public what it was the judge said last May term of court in regard to the violation of the local option law? TEMPERANCE.

We were not present at the time referred to but we understand that his honor in sentencing two colored people for selling a pint of whiskey or less, in substance said, that was a matter of notoriety that whiskey was sold in Easton in large quantities—as much as a barrel a week—and no arrests made while those who sold a half pint or a pint were arrested and punished, that this showed great negligence or partiality on the part of the officers of the law.

In justice to the Democratic Candidate for States Attorney it might be proper to say that he was not specially mentioned by the court.

IT is announced that Senator Gorman will take off his coat and go to work in earnest in Maryland. There are indications that that garment will be ripped up the back before snow flies.

THE Troy Press makes the statement that "it is to the honor of the American people that no man was e ated for President of the United States because he was rich," and it asserts that while both Tilden and Blaine were men of wealth they were nominated because of their intellectual and statesmanlike qualities. This is true. And speaking relatively to the time in which he lived, probably the richest man that ever ran for the Presidency was George Washington. He was not only rich but he was decidedly aristocratic in his tastes and habits. All this, however, did not prevent him from making a model Chief Magistrate of the nation. A great deal is heard nowadays about "plutocracy in politics," as if poverty in some mysterious way especially fitted a person for public station. Honest poverty is not a badge of disgrace to any one, but one of the crying wrongs of the present time is that wealthy men do not interest themselves enough in politics. What the country needs to-day is more "plutocrats" in office of the Washington stamp.

QUERY. If a deficiency of $13,000,000 in two months is a splendid triumph of Democratic statesmanship, how large would the deficiency have to be to constitute a Democratic failure?

LABOR Day last year was a lugubrious and depressing affair. Labor Day this year was a joyous and festive occassion. Cause for the change: Clevelandism smashed and Republicanism dominant in the next Congress.—Ex.

ORIGINAL TEXAS JUSTICE.

An Amusing Incident Related By a Gazette Special Correspondent.

Here is a racy story that was told me recently as I was crossing the great bridge where the incident is said to have actually occurred. At least it was vouched for by the superintendent of construction. The Pecos river, rising in New Mexico, flows through Texas and empties into the RioGrande. During the dry season it is a narrow, lazy stream of about thirty feet in width, but becomes a rushing flood from bank to bank when the storm king holds his wild revels in the mountains that feed the river by its tributaries. Thrown across this river bed the Southern Pacific Railway has on its Sunset Route a trestle bridge that is one of the greatest engineering works of its kind in the world, 2180 feet long over the chasm, while from the trackway to the stream below the distance is 328 feet, the highest in the world except the Loa viaduct in Bolivia, which is eight feet higher.

When the bridge was being constructed, a force of Chinamen was employed for subordinate work, and one of these, Sing Wing Flings, fell this great distance to the water level below. Of course "he didn't know what struck him" when he was picked up.

There was an original settler living in the Pecos Valley, who had come there long years before in his canvas-covered wagon on which was lettered "Texas or Bust"—the motto of the pioneer in those days. He had won his way into the good graces of the after-comers who had settled about him and was looked upon as the high court judge to settle all questions that arose in those parts, independent of Supreme Courts or any other judicature.

When Sing Wing Fling was picked up deader than a cat with eight of her nine lives gone, Judge Gryson (for so they called him) was sent for to hold an inquest before the remains were taken by the fellow Chinamen and shipped as fish-bones to China. Clad in new sombrero and great boots that also served for pants as well, the pioneer magistrate proceeded to investigate the remains, and found a pistol in one pocket and forty dollars in gold in an inside pocket. Opening his book of law he read of the violation in carrying concealed weapons, and expounded that all weapons should be worn in conspicuous view upon a belt, ready for service, and that concealment was evidence of cowardice fit only for a Chinaman.

Then in awful solemnity he declared: I find on this dead Chinaman forty dollars in gold and a pistol. I therefore fine the dead body of this man forty dollars for carrying concealed weapons against the laws of Texas, and appropriate to myself the forty dollars to pay the fine, vindicate the law and pay my costs in this inquest." And the fellow Chinamen looked at each other and said: "Melican man, he velly funny, takee money, we takee body, send him fish-bones to China."

LALLA ROOKH.

A Series Of Gorgeous Carnival Nights To Be Given In Baltimore.

An amphitheatre has been erected in the city of Baltimore which will accommodate nearly fifteen thousand persons. An immense lake has been prepared in front of this structure, and a miniature city built, covering over 15,000 square yard of oil painting on wood, iron and canvas. representing the "Vale of Cashmere." Nearly $100,000 will be expended in a gorgeous open air spectacle, illustrating the story so beautifully told by the Irish poet, Tom Moore, of "Lalla Rookh," and as low excursion rates have been promised into Baltimore during this period, an opportunity is afforded whereby one may be transported to that delightful Province of the Sun, of which the Irish bard sings so charmingly.

To produce this brilliant spectacle in Baltimore the services of 500 people are required, which includes a hundred European novelties—distinguished gymnasts, postures, necromancers, fire-workers, etc. Fireworks to the value of $1,500 will be displayed nightly, and as each night will be made a special night, entirely new pyrotechnical features will be given. Grand set pieces emblematical to the night and occasion, aerial and aquatic novelties, including submarine explosions, flying fish, water waggles, dolphins, swans, geysers, fountains and water devils playing and sporting in the water, all in fire. These features will be extremely novel, and it is intended that upon several occasions extraordinary displays will be given incidental with the displays given by that firm at the World's Columbian Exposition. This great carnival exhibit will commence Sept. 10, continuing every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evening during the period of five weeks. Special excursions will be arranged on all roads running into Baltimore, and the lowest possible rates have been promised. 9-7-5t

The Temptation.

Especially written for the GAZETTE.

ARGUMENT.—Deacon Hollerloud is conducting services in the camp meeting every night, but at the close his mind dwells rather long on a certain patch of melons in the vicinity. He imagines that the live stock has not been properly attended to for his employer and for fear it is in the corn, concludes to go look after it. In doing so he is led considerable out of his way at the thought of the melon patch, and concludes, as Deacon of the congregation, it is his duty to watch for thieves who might be backsliding about that time. He goes to the patch. The melons tempt him. He suddenly concludes that he is too proud of his religion and needs to be humiliated, so he succumbs by easing his conscience that he will labor extra hard on the following evening at camp.

Wen de long nights of September cool de millons off wiv doo,
An de darkies gittin' home at crack o' day,
Wen de air am full of music, and de woods
ring halleloo,
Den I hankers fo de millon patch away.
Fat knots am still a burnin 'mong de pines
an scrubby oak
Whar de darkies hole a camp to get relig,
An de skeeters do der buzzin wid der eyes all
full o' smoke,
But I hankers fo de millons on de ridge.

Go way hen roost, go way chile,
Doan you come a standin on my track.
Ise jest chuck full o' glory an mus holler
all de time
To keep Ole Satin way behine my back.

Dar! I done forgot dem hosses, an I done
forgot dem cows,
An I done forgot dem pigs down in de
corn;
I mus go an see for sartin if dat lazy nigger
Bowse,
Tended to dat occupation at de bawn.
It's a leetle off my bearins, but I guess I'd better go
An I'll creep along de fence dar by de patch
Jest to see if some young nigger aint backslidin
some fo' sho,
An a great big water millon's bout to snatch.
Go way hen roost, etc.

Dar dey are, dey look so luscious, Ise mose
sorry dat I come,
But Ise got so much religion, Ise too proud,
So I'll light on dis yer big one, an dis deacon
shall hab some,
An tomorry night he'll sing so berry loud.
Here's a nudder, it's a whopper, an is chuck
jam full o' juice,
Guess I'll bus him open wide an grab his
heart;
Bress de Lawd fo' sech a priv'lege—I'll not
make up any 'scuse,
An at camp will work to make dem sinners
smart.
Go way hen roost, etc.

WOODILINE.
The Only Proven Successful Wood Preserver.

ITS MANIFOLD USES!

One treatment will DOUBLE life of most perishable of woods.

The only wood preserver endorsed and in use by leading railroads for cross-ties and platforms.

Will make red or black oak last longer than white oak cross-ties. Can show the two, side by side for 12 years.

Tests extending over 12 years, that are astounding.

Valuable on wooden boats, bottoms of vessels, etc.

As a primer, in many uses preferable to linseed oil.

Will produce good results on all wood above or under ground or water.

Will double life of wood of any kind wherever used.

Valuable for grape posts, fences and other kinds of posts.

For wood work about wells and dairy houses.
For wood work about hot houses.
For stable floors.

WOODILINE AS AN INSECTICIDE.

"I have reason to regard this liquid as an insecticide and fungicide, or at least as an efficient repellant of insects and fungi."

"ALEX. W. PEARSON,
" Ex. Agent United States Dept. of Agriculture,
" Division of Vegetable Pathology."

And if you have Shingles to Paint, use
