say that they are informed that they, the said executors and trustees, have sold out the said stocks, and the proceeds thereof have been invested, or suffered the same to be invested in their private business, or in the private business of some or one of them, contrary to the trusts reposed in them and their duty as trustees.

And your orators are advised, that if it shall appear that the aforesaid stocks, or the proceeds thereof, have been employed or invested in anywise contrary to the directions of the said last will, your orators on ascertainment of all the facts connected with such improper or unauthorized investment or employment, will have their election to claim the benefit of such investments, and of the profits thence resulting, or to require the said executors and trustees to replace the aforesaid stocks which may have been sold out as aforesaid, and to account for the profits which might have been realized, if the same had not been so improperly disposed of, or to charge the said executors and trustees with the monies realized by the sale of the said stocks, with the usual rate of interest thereon.

And further your orators are advised, that they are entitled to have from the said executors and trustees, a full and detailed account of their administration of the aforesaid trust estate and of the proceeds and profits thereof, showing what parcels thereof (if any) have been sold out or converted, and how and in what manner the proceeds thereof have been invested or appropriated, and the several and respective times of making such sales, conversions, investments and appropriations, and of the particulars whereof the said trust estate consists, or is supposed by the said trustees and executors to consist, and also an account of all other real and personal estates and effects of the said testator which may have come to their hands, or under their control, as executors, trustees or otherwise, and of their administration thereof.

And your orators further charge, that in the year eighteen hundred and fifty-eight, the said George Popplein departed this life without leaving any children, or child or descendant of the same, whereby all his interest and estate in the aforesaid fund devolved on his surviving brother and sisters, that is to say, the said Nicholas Popplein, your oratrix, and the said Margaretta Popplein and Mary Popplein, and their children and descendants, in manner as provided by the aforesaid last will, and that all the estates, trusts and powers which had vested in him as executor and trustee, survived to the said Nicholas Popplein and Nicholas Huffman; and that afterwards, the said Mary Popplein departed this life intestate and without leaving any children, child or descendant of the same, and thereby all her interest and estate in the aforesaid fund devolved on her said surviving brother and sisters and their descendants, in manner as provided for by the aforesaid said last will; and that the said Valentine Huffman is also dead, intestate, and without leaving children, child or descendant