—Minstrels.

—The Best Place in Easton to buy Dress Goods is at W. P. CHAFFINCH'S.

—At the Hall, March 17.

—The best sewing machine at factory price is the Demorest. Had only through application to the GAZETTE.

—A striking countenance is not always an evidence of brains. Consider the Wm. goat for instance.

—Minstrels coming next Thursday, March 17.

—Clover hay wanted. Apply at this office.

—Hardfeature—'My wife is nearsighted.' Simpson (gazing long at Hardfeature)—'One would think she was blind.'

—W. P. Chaffinch's complete line of Dress Goods now ready for inspection. Stock larger, styles prettier than ever before.

—The young man behind the ribbon counter is not necessarily modest just because he turns all colors.

—Go see the wonderful troup of refined minstrels Thursday night next at Music Hall.

—'What would you do if you were in my shoes, Jephson?' asked Hobbs. 'Black 'em,' replied Jephson.

—All Ladies wanting a handsome Dress for Easter should not fail to visit Chaffinch.

—'Time is money,' remarked the broker with a sigh, as he gazed at his watch and steered for the pawnbroker's.

—Send name, age and date of birth to W. M. Coney, Easton, Md., for illustration of results of matured policies in the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York. tf —Brown—I'm like the ivy. I cling to my church. Fogg—Very like ivy. Confine your self to the outside of the church.

—Mrs. Gladstone's first article in the series of "Hints from a Mother's Life," which she has written for The Ladies' Home Journal, will be printed in the April issue of that periodical.

—Sixteen refined, good looking young men accompanying one of the best minstrel shows on the road will appear in Easton next Thursday night.

—Cashier—Do you know when double entry was first used? Book keeper—Yes; when the animals entered the ark two by two.

—A full line Ready-made Clothing. Spring styles received by W. P. Chaffinch this week. Styles pretty, patterns new, prices low.

—'Charley's on a regular tear to-day,' said one dry goods clerk to another. 'You don't mean it!' 'Yes; he's lost his scissors, you know.'

—There are a great number of good contracts of Life Insurance, all the "regular" companies have some special contract. Those of the old Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York, for all general purposes, have no equal.

—Teacher—For what was George Washington noted? Dick Hicks—He told the truth when questioned about his family tree.

—Crandall, Clark & Hake are preceded by Mr. Hoffman, a gentlemanly agent who says Easton will not regret giving his minstrel troup a rousing house next Thursday night.

—'You said soaker was quite active in your campaign?' 'Yes,' replied the defeated candidate. 'In what capacity?' 'About a gallon a day.'

—We had a little view of the interior of Chaffinch's store this week. If you want to see a handsome display of goods walk 150 feet from his front door to the back door and take in the sight.

—Photographer—'Now, sir, look pleasant, please.' Customer—'It is quite impossible, sir, I'm a ticket agent in a railroad office.'

—See advertising columns to-day for results of the oldest policy in the United States by the oldest company in the country and the largest in the world. Take your insurance in the grand old Mutual Life of New York. tf —Teacher of History—'Titus Oates, it is said, was put on the pillory. What is a pillory? Pupil—'It is a place where they manufacture pills.'

—You cannot afford to be longer indifferent. All the policies and plans of the Mutual Life provide equally as well for your own expected old age as for the dependent family and relatives. Every premium paid is a guaranteed interest investment to be paid you if living, your family if you should die. Do not longer delay this important matter—call and see or write us.

Mrs Lucy Ridley, who died Wednesday in New York, was probably the oldest woman in America. She was older than the United States, having been born three years before the Declaration of Independence.

—The American girl is not slow to grasp a chance. Some time ago The Ladies' Home Journal organized a free education system for girls, and the magazine is now educating some forty odd girls at Vassar and Wellesley Colleges, and at the Boston Conservatory of Music, all the expenses of the girls being paid by the Journal.

—The credit system is responsible for a good deal of worry in this age. Credit is so easy to obtain, and there are those in every community who never think of settling day when they are running in debt for something that they could very well have done without. They all mean to pay, except the hardened old sinners, and think they will have plenty of money when the bill is due. They rarely do, however. Then the creditor tries to get what belongs to him, and the worry on both sides begins, for he cannot get what the other hasn't.—Smyrna Times.

—Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage says:—"In this day God has mercifully allowed those of us who have a limited income to make provision for our families through the great Life Insurance Companies all over the land. By some self denial on our part, we can make this provision for those we shall leave behind us.—How a man with no surplus of estate, but still enough money to pay the premium on a Life Insurance Policy, can refuse to do it, and then look his children in the face, and say his prayers at night on going to bed, expecting them to be answered, is a mystery to me I have never yet been able to fathom.—The utter indifference of many people on this important subject accounts for much of the crime and pauperism of our day." m12tf

First-class Amusement.-Crandall, Clark & Hake's Minstrels played at the Opera House last Saturday night to a good house. They presented a very entertaining programme and were frequently applauded. Prof. Hake is a wonderful contortionist, and to see the intricate and perplexing knots he tied himself into, was alone well worth the price of admittance. Crandall & Clark, in their banjo song and dance, was one of the best features in the show. They are gentlemen as well as artists.—The Tallahasseean, Tallahassee, Fla.

Coughing Leads to Consumption.
Kemp's Balsam will stop the cough at once.

"The Blood is the Life,"

Runs the old saying, and everything that ever makes part of any organ of the body must reach its place therein through the blood. Therefore, if the blood is purified and kept in good condition by the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla, it necessarily follows that the benefit of the medicine is imparted to every organ of the body. Can anything be simpler than the method by which this excellent medicine gives good health to all who will try it fairly and patiently?

The oppressed subjects of European governments turn to this country for free homes, free laws and for the free use of Salvation Oil for their pains.

It is the slight cold frequently contracted that finally undermines the system. Use Dr Bull's Cough Syrup in the beginning stages and be cured.

—What is life insurance? It is an investment made when one is in good health, by small annual instalments, payable at one's death to his heir. It is a form of laying up money. It is not, in any obnoxious sense, gambling or betting. It is investing when you are prosperous, a small capital for your own old age or for your wife or children when you are gone. No company or corporation has so largely emphasized this in its actual experience as the old Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York. All its policies are guarantees—no forfeiture, no lawsuits. Paid to dependent families $150,000,000 Paid to living policy holders in dividends and endowments nearly $200,000 000. Disbursing daily from forty to sixty thousand dollars. Assets, one hundred and sixty millions Send name, age and address to W. M. CONEY, Easton, Md. for illustration of results. TAKE IT NOW. tf

Board of Trade.—Pursuant to adjournment the Board of Trade met at the Court House on Tuesday evening and effected a permanent organization.

The report of the committee was adopted, and the following officers elected:

President, Dr. John C. Earle; 1st vice-president, J. F. Turner; 2d vice president, John Mason; treasurer, M. B. Nichols; trustees (who will appoint the secretary) R. B. Dixon; J. R. Jarrell, W. H. Thompson, Dr. I. A. Barber and W. L. Hubbard.

"The object of this Board of Trade are to foster, encourage and develop the mercantile and manufacturing interests of Easton and its suburbs; to inculcate just and equitable principles in trade; to establish and maintain uniformity in commercial usage; to collect, preserve and circulate useful information concerning the town, its trade, industries and advantages; to obtain fair equitable rates of freight to and from Easton, and prevent, if possible, discrimination in favor of other towns or cities; to encourage wise and useful legislation and oppose the enactment of laws which injuriously affect our manufacturing and commercial interests; to forward the improvement of Easton by the erection of needful public buildings and generally to strive with united effort to increase the wealth in dustries, influence trade and population of the town of Easton and suburbs.

"Any resident of Easton or suburbs is eligible to membership. Application must be made in writing to the membership committee. The initial fee is one dollar, and annual dues three dollars.

"The officers are president, two vice presidents, treasurer and secretary, and five trustees. The official term is one year. All are elected at the annual meeting except the secretary who shall be appointed by the board of trustees. These are the standing committees: 1. Transportation; 2. Municipal Improvement; 3. Railroads, Steamboats, Telegraphs and Telephones; 4 Streets, Roads and Bridges; 5. Sanitation; 6. New Manufactures; 7. Legislation; 8. Commerce and Rural Industries; 9. A Capital Investment.—In the advertising columns of to-day, attention is called to the settlement of the oldest insurance claim in the U. S. by the oldest company. It fully demonstrates the wisdom of purchasing as important an item as insurance from good, responsible companies. The Mutual Life of New York stands pre-eminently ahead of all competitors. tf

It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by J. C. Henry & Bro.

At the Club.—A full house greeted Crandall, Clark & Hake's Minstrels at the Club last night. Fine music, both vocal and instrumental, and plenty of fun were the order of the evening. Mr. Hake's contortion act was the most wonderful ever witnessed, while Crandall & Clark's banjo playing and dancing was a whole entertainment in itself. The performance concluded with a farce of a high order, entitled "Stanley's Reception," in which Milt J. Crandall kept the audience in good humor by his witticisms in the character of Henry M. Have You Ever Thought of insuring your life and has the same thought come to you which has reached so many people—"I must die to win?" If so, disabuse your mind at once. For fifty years the Mutual Life Insurance Co of New York has been issuing policies of insurance that have covered the interest of the insured as well as his family. A grand record of over $150,000,000 paid for policy holders during their own life time sets the old worn out "saw" at naught. Every policy is an investment with a guarantee to the family in event of the death of insured before realizing the profit from it. tf

Mr. Hubbard Loses His Rib—A few nights ago, Mr. W. L. Hubbard of the firm of Hubbard & Bro—large fertilizer manufacturers, lost his largest left rib in a manner that would put to blush the surgical skill of the most learned disciple of Æsculapius. This rib was a pet rib, a rib the like of which no other man in town possesses. It was his left rib, for it was the only large one he had left. It weighed more than forty pounds and graced the sidewalk in front his office door, through summer's burning ray and winter's biting breath for no less than one hundred and fourty-four months. It came a dried fossil, the remains of some stranded whale from South American coast, shipped direct to the bone grinding establishment of the aforesaid firm. The purloiner of this rib is requested to return the same when he is satisfied that all the meat is off, or if soup is what his palate craves Mr. Hubbard does not begrudge him all it would make. But he wants that bone, he needs that bone; that bone has cheered many a weary traveler who was depending on it alone to pilot him to the fertilizer office. That bone was a comforter, a note-maker, a sight-draft honorer, a value to its owner at all times and under all circumstances.

Bone, thy work is o'er,
We part with thee in pain,
But if thy spirit cannot soar
Oh come, come back again!

Mission Work.—Mr. William C. Palmer, Agent and General Manager of the Henry Watson Children's Aid Society of Baltimore City has consented to give an address upon "Mission Work" on the occasion of the Missionary Anniversary to be held to-morrow evening in Ebenezer M. E. Church. Mr. Palmer has been the very efficient Manager of the above "Home for more than 31 years." There are four several departments organized in the Henry Watson Children's Aid Society First—The Children's Department; Second—The Girl's Home Department; Third—The Sewing Machine Department; Fourth—The Cutting and Fitting Department.

"The Girls Home Department," for the respectable working girls of their city, whose wages will not admit of their paying board over one or two dollars per week, and in which they receive all the care of a Christian family.

"The Sewing Machine Department," in which needy girls are thoroughly instructed upon the various sewing machines now used in factories and in private families, thus fitting them in positions as operators.

"The Cutting and Fitting Department," in which the above named class of scholars are by aid of charts thoroughly instructed in all descriptions of dressmaking and seamstress's work.

"Transient Boarders Department," in which destitute women and girls are received and provided with a temporary asylum until they can secure situations or reach their friends.

This institution is doing an incalculable amount of good to suffering humanity in providing homes and shelter to many orphans. Mr Palmer, the agent, is a very affable and courteous gentleman and fills with dignity and grace his responsible position. He will be the guest of Mr. Samuel Glanville and Mr Leander R. Hooper during his visit to Easton.

Lane's Family Medicine Moves the Bowels each day. Most people need to use it.

Fire, Fire!—The fire alarm again sounded in the still hours of the night on last Saturday. At midnight half the town was aroused and the lurid glare and ominous black smoke shot high up in the heavens, with foreboding significance. A glance showed that the western side of the town was in danger and investigation proved that the store on Market Space occupied by Ades & Son, was the origin. The Fountain building, in which were the Democrat on the upper floors, and a store room on the lower occupied by Wm. Wright, was in immediate contact on the east side, and touching on the west side was a two story frame dwelling in which lived Miss Etta Brown with store attached occupied by A. D. Cook as a restaurant. Beyond this was a large frame dwelling and store which stood on the corner of West Street and Market Space. All these buildings were consumed in less than one hour.

The losses were heavier than they should have been owing to the high rates of insurance in this town, and are estimated to reach $20,000.

Mr. Fountain had an insurance of $700 only, the Democrat office carried $3,000 insurance, Wm. Wright was insured for $1,000, on stock, Mr. Mason, owner of the building in which the fire broke out carried but $800, while young Ades had but $2,000, on his stock which had been replenished two days before with $5,000 worth of new goods. His loss is heaviest reaching $9000 or over. The next building owned by Dr. Anderson had $800 on it, in insurance, Miss Brown and Mr. Cook not being insured. Neither was Mr. Munson Henry, the merchant on the corner, insured—but fortunately he saved most of his stock and furniture. This building, owned by Mr. B. F. Lamdin, was protected by $1000.

The work of the fire department was masterly and considering the high north westerly wind and the light frame buildings, stables and sheds in the rear of the burning property, too much credit can not be given the management and workers. The engine did not arive until the fire had made considearble progress, but the hose carriage had been liberated and in a few moments a strong spray was playing from the nearest plug—Two other plugs soon were belching heavy streams and the engine's shrill whistle announced from the rear that the fourth nozzle was ready for action.

The towering brick building on the east of the burning section with the tin roof and brick cornice, saved the entire row of stores up to Washington Street, this was the Mason carriage factory. The fire was confined to the corner and after one hour was under control. The heavy rains and excessive wet weather kept other roofs from igniting in more distant parts of the town, or Easton would have witnessed a fire more destructive than the famous one of 1878. For blocks showers of sparks were blown in direct line over the M. E. Church, and prominent dwellings, then rolled off the eaves in smouldering lumps, but they did no damage.

Mr. Burroughs the engineer of the Water Works made all possible haste to his engine and had a head of steam in a few minutes.—On the lonely and deserted hill he pumped water from his artesian reservoirs at a rate never before reached. He did not turn the water off from the private supply of the town but in addition to filling the mains, which were tapped by four open plugs, his pump caused the stand pipe to overflow, or in other words he gained on the consumption and replaced the water at the rate of 50,000 gallons per hour.

Deserving Praise.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. J. C. Henry & Bro., druggists

Capt. Robert Leonard, of Talbot county, one of the most popular men in the House at this session, is a candidate for the position of commander of the oyster navy.—Balto American.

Representative J. M Wooters has been interested in a bill before the house to require the chief of the Industrial Bureau of this state to collect all statistics showing the mortgage indebtedness secured by liens on the agricultural lands in the several counties, and to tabulate and publish the same in pamplet form for the information of the people of the state. The information is to be obtained from the records of the several circuit courts of the various counties. The chief of the Industrial Bureau shall also collect from the tax rolls or assessment books the assessed value of such property. The bill appropriates $1 000 for carrying out the work and the publication of the data in pamplet, one thousand copies which are to be made. Copies of the pamplet are to be sent to the Governor, Board of Public Works, public libraries, clerks of the county commissioners and the circuit courts; also, to the clerk of the Superior Court of Baltimore city, and to every newspaper published in the state.

For The Gazette.

Inter Interests Between Farmers and Merchants.—The writer, identified with the business interests of many Eastern Shore friends and recipient of bountiful favors in way of their valued support for many years, begs to offer a few suggestions which he thinks will meet their own views and prompt many who have not been particular heretofore, to prepare their products for market in best condition.

Whether to ship wheat as soon as it is in best order, thus saving shrinkage, rat-age, labor, insurance, or, holding it, the farmer's judgment is generally his truest guide, but the grain should be thoroughly cleaned and when shipped, separated from other lots, the merchant to whom it is consigned furnished with sample. If choice wheat, I would prefer selling at home or using my own stencilled bags, rather than allow it raise the grade of inferior in bulk, in hold of vessel, thereby risking returns less than its proportionate value.

The main object of this article however, is in reference to the handling of fruit products. The trade in which—although immense—is yet in embryo state. The wide awake Peninsula grower will yet master all difficulties, succeed in multiplying the yield, and work the business as a first interest, scientifically, marketing their crops in same satisfactory condition as is now being done with fine fruit of Western Maryland.

There should be a uniform peach box used exclusively. When fruits are scarce, the irregular sized packages sell at near the prices of standard, but packers and shippers not only discriminate exceedingly close when receipts are large, but many heavy buyers can hardly be induced to select any of their stock from wharves containing the objectionable and common boxes. Shippers, at times, take almost as much fruit as packers and pay more money for well culled, solid, sound, yet high colored peaches in clean smooth boxes, than for some kinds in the ugly rough shape. As also will they pay relatively higher for "straight" lots of one mark than for small shipments; hence consignments, divided between several receivers, are often passed by and sold subsequently to less liberal parties. After being carefully culled, they should be packed solidly from the side part of the box and nailed strongly. The rough handling on boat and wharf start the small nails and the contents of even one box after being spilled on the wharf has been known to cancel sale of entire consignment of same mark. The slats should be about ¾ inch apart but not so thin as to let the fruit come flush with the outer edges. Each box should be neatly stencilled in grower's name and shipper's mark, and sealed letters addressed in ink on same boat.

It is unwise to ship peaches in baskets unless a regular basket boat. Passengers, wharf and boat hands, everybody deems them his of right, taking always the best. The best sales are mostly between 2 and 4 P. M, and after the noon boats get in. "More anon."

Miss Lyda Hall of Connecticut gave an elocutionary entertainment in the M. E. Church South on Thursday evening; the members of the choir assisting her with some beautiful music.

Special services will be held in the M. E. Church on Sunday, it being the last in the present conference year.

Miss Susie Parsons of Oxford has been visiting Misses Florence and Nettie Newnam at their respective homes in Deep Neck.

The second Demorest Contest will be held in the Royal Oak M. E. Church, Monday, March 14th, at 7:30 P. M. The Loyal Legion will be present to sing between recitations.

On last Sunday night thieves entered the stable of Mr. E. T. Benson and re-robbed him of a dog-cart and three sets of harness and on Wednesday he recovered the cart and nearly all of the harness, but the thief escaped. A large canoe belonging to Wm. Kilmon was stolen from Harris' wharf on Tuesday night, and this is supposed to have been the thief's means of escape.

Misses Susanna Cox and Lizzie Fairbank went to Baltimore on Tuesday evening, where they will remain a few weeks.

Magnificent Minstrels.—Crandall, Clark & Hake's Minstrels played to a packed house last night. There was not room for all that came to see the show; the doors were closed and the entertainment commenced. To say that our people were pleased, is a mild way of expressing it. The stage was kept filled from the time the curtain rose till the show was out. Every member was an artist in their particular line. The orchestra was fine and the show was the best we ever saw. Should Crandall, Clark & Hake ever return to our city, there will be a premium price on every chair in the house.—Florence (Ala) Times.

King's Creek Grange will discus to day How Can We Best Celebrate Our 25th Anniversary? Next Saturday the subject will be Seed Corn. All members are requested to attend these meetings and to bring seed corn and be prepared to discus its merits.

THE PUZZLER

No. 60.—A Country Across the Sea.

Across the ocean I am found;
Behead, in anguish I abound.
Restore to whole and syncopate,
And I revolve at rapid rate;
Industrious, too, I work with a will;
Cut off my head, I'm useful still.
Again behead, and if you look,
You'll find me in some shady nook;
Curtail, and I'm myself again.
Though small, important I remain.
Restore to whole and syncopate,
I'm double what I was of late;
And yet I hold but a brief space
In worldly view of time or place.
Reversed, I give you rest from toil
When wearied with earth's work and broil.
Turn back again, behead, behold
A vessel, or a leaf of gold.
The skull preserving brain complete,
The earth deep down beneath your feet.
Behead, and you'll be sure to see
A useful article in me.
Curtail, and I am still the same,
A useful article I remain.
Restore to whole, then twice curtail,
I give you health if you should fail.
Behead, a kindred near am I;
Curtail, a vegetable espy.

Collecting Back Dues.

The charming blond who presides at the registered letter window of the post office threw up her dainty hands with surprise a few days ago when a gentleman walked up to the window, and upturning a big grip dumped its contents before her. There were 470 letters to be registered. Such a task had never before fallen to her lot. Her appeal for help brought the chief of the division, who provided help in the shape of three assistants for her, and the pile was soon disposed of. The man stood by until the receipts were given him.

"The fact is," he explained, "I am secretary of a fashionable club, and it's the most difficult matter in the world to make them pay up. I send hundreds of bills, and when I speak to members about it it's always the same story: 'I never got the bill, old fel; certainly I'll pay up. Just send me a bill and I'll see that you get it.' There are 470 delinquents in the club and I'll be sure they all get their bills this quarter."

The responses have already begun to come in in a way that foretells the entire success of the scheme.—Philadelphia Record.

Feed for Brood Sows.

A feed that tends mainly to making fat is unsuited for breeding sows at any time. During the period of gestation the fœtus gets its nourishment from the dam, and is dependent upon the feed she takes. It should be mainly of the kind that produces large quantity rather than very rich milk. Wheat bran or mill feed is the best, and if the sow is young and growing add oats to this rather than corn. This will make vigorous, straight backed and long bodied pigs, even from a young sow. When the dam is full grown the fine middling feed, with a little milk and warm dishwater, will be better than heavier feeding.—American Cultivator.

A Courtship by Letter.

Mrs. Mary M. Stevens, of Lincoln, was married the first of the week at Grand Island to Nelson Wetson, of Cheyenne. The marriage was the outcome of a strange correspondence. A friend of Mrs. Stevens is in the employ of Nelson in Cheyenne, and suggested to him one evening that he knew of a woman who would make him an excellent wife. Nelson agreed, if the fair creature should prove acceptable and could be won, to marry her. He immediately wrote to Mrs. Stevens, setting forth that he was the owner of a large and paying ranch, was well off in the world and wanted some one to share his lot and help eat his potatoes. The lady was not averse to embarking in the matrimonial sea for a second time, and agreed that if everything was as represented and the man was of a good moral character she would accept.

She was fully satisfied on these points and they immediately considered themselves engaged. Business interests prevented Nelson leaving home long enough to come to Lincoln and he did not wish to be so ungallant as to compel his betrothed to go to him, so they compromised and agreed to meet at Grand Island. Mrs. Stevens left for Grand Island, where the couple met for the first time. Both considered that they had secured a bargain and were made one at once. A letter was received in this city from the happy bride, in which she says that he is just glorious and too sweet for anything.—Cor. Omaha World-Herald.

Live Stock Points.

The business of exporting dressed beef from the northwest is on the increase constantly. It probably will increase till most of the meat is shipped in that way. It is a much more humane way, and in time will come to be a more profitable way, as cattlemen see their way clear to adopting it.

The hog does not thrive best on a single grain ration of any kind. He wants a mixed diet.

It is terrible to think of the thousands of cattle that starved to death in the northwest just because "ranchmen were not anticipating such a season of snow" and had put off driving their cattle down to valleys and lowlands. So suddenly they found themselves with the grass of the ranges from two to six feet under the snow. There is one thing ranchmen and all other people ought constantly to bear in mind: It is never safe to be dangerous.

Keep a brood sow alone two or three weeks before farrowing, as the other hogs may crush and injure her in her helpless state. Keep her and the pigs also by themselves after the litter comes, and see that they are warm and dry.

Mud upon a horse's hoofs and legs causes scratches, and limestone or sandy mud is the worst. Therefore clean your horses' legs and feet. Wash the mud off every time. Standing in foul, wet stables also causes scratches. Therefore clean the stable and stalls and keep them dry.

Housekeepers' Aids.—A little turpentine with starch gives a fine gloss on linen.

Tin cleaned with paper will shine better than when cleaned with flannel.

When the rubber rollers of a wringer sticks rub with kerosene and wipe dry.

Brass work can be kept beautifully bright by occasionally rubbing with salt and vinegar.

If sponge cake is mixed with cold water it is yellow; but if the water be boiling hot the cake will be white.

Paper can be rendered fireproof by dipping it into a strong solution of alum water and drying thoroughly.

If, after having a tooth pulled, the mouth be filled with salt and water, it will allay the danger of hemorrhage.

When soot falls upon a carpet or rug, if covered thoroughly with salt it can be swept up without leaving a trace.

Bathing the face daily in hot water removes pimples by softening the oil in the tiny tubes, and it is said to prevent wrinkles.

Kerosene will clean brass, no matter how dark and stained. Moisten a cloth well, rub hard, and then use a dry flannel dipped in whiting.

Salt as a tooth powder is better than almost anything that can be bought. It keeps the teeth brilliantly white and the gums hard and rosy.

To wash silk handkerchiefs, soak them first in cold salt and water for ten minutes or longer; then wash out in the same water and iron immediately.

Carpets may be greatly brightened by first sweeping thoroughly and then going over them with a clean cloth and clear salt and water. Use a cupful of coarse salt to a large basinful of water.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India Missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. HE Missed his Opportunity! DON'T Miss Yours, Reader. The majority neglect their opportunities, and from that cause live in poverty and die in obscurity! Harrowing despair is the lot of many, as they look back on lost, forever lost, opportunity. Life is passing! Reach out. Be up and doing. Improve your opportunity, and secure prosperity, prominence, peace. It was said by a philosopher, that "the Goddess of Fortune offers a golden opportunity to each person at some period of life; embrace the chance, and she pours out her riches; fail to do so and she departs, never to return." How shall you find the GOLDEN opportunity? Investigate every chance that appears worthy, and of fair promise; that is what all successful men do. Here is an opportunity, such as is not often within the reach of laboring people. Improved, it will give, at least, a grand start in life. The GOLDEN opportunity for many is here. Money to be made rapidly and honorably by any industrious person of either sex. All ages. You can do the work and live at home, wherever you are. Even beginners are easily earning from $5 to $10 per day. You can do as well if you will work, not too hard, but industriously; and you can increase your income as you go on. You can give spare time only, or all your time to the work. Easy to learn. Capital not required. We start you. All is comparatively new and really wonderful. We instruct and show you how, free. Failure unknown among our workers. No room to explain here. Write and learn all free, by return mail. Unwise to delay. Address at once, H. Hallett & Co., Box 880, Portland, Maine.
