Why the Mutual Life is the Best.—In buying a policy on Tontine or long Distribution plan, actual results must depend on interest earnings, low death rate and economy of expense of management. Past history of the three great companies on this line make interesting reading. Interest receipts alone of Mutual Life are nine millions more than death losses. Interest receipts of its great rivals, the New York Life and Equitable combined are nineteen millions less than death losses.

The expense account of the Mutual Life is fifty-seven millions less than interest receipts, while this account is neary six millions more than total interest receipts of Equitable. The best company for you is that which has and will do the most good. The Mutual Life is that company. W. M. CONEY, Agent.

Good Work by Ladies.—The Lawn Party which was held by the ladies of the Chapel M. E. Church last week was a decided success financially, the proceeds amounting to about one hundred dollars. As this is their first attempt in that direction, the membership being small, they feel encouaaged to try again.

The balance left after paying expenses, and the debt for the benefit of which it was held they proposed to devote to painting seats, &c. in the church.

Drowned at Choptank.—Milton Waddel aged fourteen years, son of W. Bishop Waddel, was drowned at the wharf of Choptank Steamboat Co., at Choptank, Tuesday about noon. He was in bathing and got into a deep hole made by the wheel of the steamer. He could not swim and went to the botton. A young friend attempted his rescue, bringing him to the surface seven times, and narrowly escaped drowning himself. The body of the youth was recovered in a few minutes, but efforts to restore him were unavailing.

THE LAND OF SUNSHINE.

A Unique Country where the Skies are almost Never Clouded, while the air is Cool and Bracing, like Perpetual Spring.

As an anomalous southern resort, by reason of the fact that there one may escape summer heat no less than winter cold, New Mexico is rapidly becoming famous. Averaging through out the entire territory 5,600 feet in altitude above sea-level, and characterized by dry air which, unlike a humid atmosphere, is incapable of communicating heat, the temperature in midsummer remains at a delightfully comfortable degree through the day, and at night becomes invariably brisk and bracing. The sunshine is almost constant, yet the most violent out-of door exertion may be undertaken without fear of distressful consequences. Sunstroke or prostration are absolutely unknown there. It is an ideal land for a summer outing. Its climate is prescribed by reputable physicians as a specific for pulmonary complaints, and the medicinal Hot Springs at Las Vegas are noted for their curative virtues. The most sumptuous hotel in the west, the Montezuma, is located at these springs. Write to Jno. J. Byrne, 723 Monadnock Block, Chicago, for "The Land of Sunshine," an entertaining and profusely illustrated book descriptive of this region, the most picturesque and romantic in the United States.

Now Try This.

It will cost you nothing and will surely do you good, if you have a Cough, Cold, or any trouble with Throat, Chest or Lungs. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is guaranteed to give relief or money will be paid back. Sufferers from La Grippe found it just the thing and under its use had a speedy and perfect recovery. Try a sample bottle at our expense and learn for yourself just how good a thing it is. Trial bottles free at J. C. Henry & Bro's. Drug Store. Large size 50c. and $1.00.

A Happy Wedding.—Last Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock, in the Baptist Church at Cordova, Md., in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends, by the Rev. Mr. Allard, a young couple were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. Miss Berentje, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Wilson, of near Cordova, was married to Mr. Elmer E. Dragoo, a well-known and popular young man of Cordova. The bride looked exceeding charming in blue and the groom wore the usual black. The couple entered the church to the sweet strains of a wedding march rendered by a lady organist, whose name we failed to get, with other points of information we wanted. After the ceremony the wedding party took carriages and went to the residence of the bride's parents, where a reception was held at 9 o'clock. Soon after the arrival at the house a sudden and severe shower arose, which necessitated the hurried departure of many friends for their homes, among them the GAZETTE correspondent, and as his horse plodded off through the rain and mud, he could hear the laughter of the company as they settled themselves to the enjoyment of the evening, despite the elements, and we hope with a little thought of pity for those who were debarred from the fun and through the dismal night of thunder, lightning and rain, were still plodding, plodding. Mr. and Mrs. Dragoo having many friends, the presents were many, beautiful and useful. About two hundred were present before the damper was put on, and about one-half were thus cheated out of supper and a good time. May the happy couple just starting together on life's journey have many happy days is the wish of one and all who were present. The GAZETTE extends congratulations. H.

Friends' Excursion.—The Friends gave the children of the First Day School a pleasant treat on Wednesday last. The Steamer Joppa had been engaged for the day and they took the popular Choptank trip. Ice cream and lemonade in abundance was served all day and those who went had a most enjoyable time. No effort was made to sell tickets so the affair was private and expenses paid from the treasury of the school. The entire party feel under obligations to Messrs. Joseph Miller, and Robert and William Kemp for their active and polite consideration for the comfort and enjoyment of all.

A Narrow Escape.—The sudden squall on Wednesday evening that tore limbs from trees and demolished straw stacks also came near causing disaster to four of Easton's young men who were on the water. Deputy Sheriff John McHale had received information that the man Mitchell who escaped from Havre de Grace with $5000 of the U. S. Express Co's. funds was at a certain point on the Little Choptank river. So he took the private steam yacht Bulah at the point manned by Mr. Alex. Pascault, captain, Mr. Chas. Councell and Mr. John Thompson, to proceed to capture said Mitchell. All went well until the squall struck them at the mouth of the river about 9 o'clock in the evening. It lasted only a few minutes but was very severe and tore off the smoke stack of their little boat.

They anchored, but the chain snapped leaving them exposed to the mercy of the wind, which was high, and their little craft was tossed like an egg shell in the raging elements. Fortunately they drifted to a pungy laying at anchor and all but Councell managed to climb up the rigging of the bow-sprit. He being left on the yacht, and fearing she was drifting from land jumped overboard and made good use of his swimming art and reached land where he spent the night in a lonely spot. On the following morning search was made for all, and happily once more they re-united on the little steamer, which had drifted quietly near by and was in no wise injured save the loss of her smoke stack. Steam was made and they gave up chasing Mitchell and returned home to relate their novel experience of ship-wreck. Captain Pascualt had a narrow escape once before off Poplar Island through encountering the blizzard of '88 and came near losing his life.

Chapel's Disgrace.—We would like to inform the peace loving and law abiding citizens of Talbot County of the disgraceful manner in which the glorious Fourth of July was celebrated at Chapel.

On the morning of that day a party of colored roughs arrived from Easton and after partaking freely of the whiskey dealt out to them by Messrs. Martin & Covey, began to show the effect by quarrelling, fighting, swearing and further disturbing the peace. The riot reached its height, when one of the mob received a wound on the head by one of the proprietors who was compelled to shut himself up in the store for protection from the enraged mob.

The proprietor of the other store, which is a decent, respectable place, no whiskey being sold there, found it necessary towards the latter part of the afternoon to close up, to protect himself and property from violence.

Nor is this the only instance that could be mentioned; on many occasions, not only during the day but in the night hours, is the rest and quiet of the inhabitants broken by drunken rows and they and their children are compelled to listen to language both profane and vile. Law and order seems to be unknown to those who run the place, and nothing but the fear of being reported prevents them from encroaching on the hours of the Sabbath.

Chapel District is as fair and fertile as any other section of the county, but the name has always been a by-word and reproach, and why? Solely because the whiskey curse has always rested upon it. Many of the youths become drunkards and ruffians before they reach the age of manhood, and many of the homes are made wretched which would otherwise be comfortable and happy.

All this reflects very creditably upon our Grand Jury, which grants license to the men that sell the vile poison, and also upon those who sign their petitions.

One question also we would like to ask. Is it right to grant license to citizens of Easton, who claim no residence at Chapel, to sell whiskey there?

When a petition is gotten up against the whiskey seller, every name that goes over a mile limit is struck off, but the whiskey seller himself may scour the country far and wide for signers, and no questions are asked.

These remarks do not begin to cover the ground, they simply give an outline of the indignities heaped upon respectable, peaceful people by our so-called law makers.

MAINE.

A LARGE LIQUOR SEIZURE AND OTHER NEWS.

The months of May and June are with us the most favorable time for holding county conventions, and this year an unusual amount of enthusiasm have characterized them. Though many of the conventions have been held with new unions, some several miles from railway stations, so that buckboards and barges had to serve as conveyances, a larger attendance than ever before is reported. Mrs. M. E. A. Gleason, of Massachusetts, made evening addresses in several places, and Mrs. Helen G. Rice has also done most acceptable work in our state, and it is needless to say that our zealous state president has been on hand holding parliamentary drills, speaking for women's work at the World's Fair, and putting in the right word at the right time as she so well knows how to do. She has been continually on the wing for the last two months. For instance, in order to attend the Androscoggin convention at Auburn, May 25th, she had to ride fifteen miles in a buckboard after speaking in the evening to take the early train at Bangor, which is about 100 miles from the former city.

An accident occurred in connection with this convention which could have happened in few other states of the union. Just before the noontide prayer Mrs. Stevens called attention to the fact that since our organization is now world-wide and it is always noon somewhere, continual prayer is ascending from white ribbon women for the overthrow of the liquor trafic. When the evening papers came out they contained the welcome news that at noon of that day, just across the Androscoggin river there had beeen one of the greatest seizures ever made in Maine, two thousand dollars' worth. If the prayers of all temperance workers were answered as speedily as those of this convention seemed to be, the way of the rum seller, the rum politician and the rum maker would indeed be hard.

The special liquor deputies of the county, while looking about the Main Central depot yard, had found a car suspiciously sealed and on breaking it open beheld, piled one upon another, kegs and barrels, a whole car load of the "crather." One officer guarded the car while another found suitable conveyances. Seven job wagons were loaded and the procession moved in triumph up the street. The liquor was directed to Bill Smith and W. Smith' fictitious names, of course and as no one ventured to claim it, it was a total loss, and it really seems a pity that Lady Somerset and Miss Willard could not have been pres to enjoy the "spilling" which came off a few days later. Another carload has since been seized at the same place. This time the car was marked "Cotton, Androscoggin Mills," but although eleven days were required to carry away this novel "cotton" it is hardly probable that it will ever be made into cloth. In the old days, forty years ago, when rum was freely admitted into Maine, such a quantity of liquor on the wharves of Portland would have attracted no special comment, but how it is a decided novelty to see so much at one time.

One of our village unions away up in Aroostook, our great northern country, larger than the whole state of Massachusetts, has the past year raised $150 for finishing its headquarters. The history of this hall is what Josiah Allen would call new and uneek and may possibly furnish a suggestion to some other union similarly situated. The little village of Amity contained no place suitable for the meetings. The active members could meet from house to house, but they were very anxious to gather in the young people, that they, in turn might interest others. At length some good brother-in-law came to the rescue, and one day, a year ago last March, armed with axes and shovels—the snow was several feet deep—started for the woods, four miles distant, to get out lumber for the frame for a hall. Toward noon the women followed, with a picnic dinner. After all had enjoyed it together, they stayed to watch the thirteen stalwart young men felling the great trees, or shoveling roads to reach them, that they might be hauled to a mill five or six miles away. But all were accustomed to such work, and by sunset had nearly enough at the mill, and soon afterward carried the small amount that was lacking. The union was then but ten months old, and now, though not the owner of a temple, it takes a pardonable prize in its neat hall forty-four feet long by twenty-four wide.

Peerless.—A remarkable illustration of what the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York is doing for its policy holders was brought to light last week in the shape of a death claim published in "The Weekly Statement." It is but one of the many cases that come up every day in the Mutual Life verifying the claim of that company to be the best in the world. On April 26, 1847, the Mutual Life issued Policy No. 3,511 for $5,000 at age 35, annual premium $137,50, and the amount of claim paid last week by the company was $15,000, an increase of 300 per cent. The total amount of premiums paid by the insured was $6,187,50, dividend additions on policy $10,000,00; excess of additions over all Premiums, $3,812,50; add the face of policy, $5,000,00; actual profits over cost, $8,812,50.—The most remarkable feature in the case is the fact that, while affording protection to the insured for forty-five years of from $5,000 to $15,000 insurance, as an investment it realized nearly four and one-half per cent. compound interest. A result never before equaled by any other company in the world.

Maryland's Advantages.—Dr. C. P. Cronk, meteorologist in charge of the Maryland State weather service, gives in his last report to the Agricultural Department some highly interesting statements about the climate, resources and conditions he has found as an observer in Maryland, which should go far toward convincing settlers that this is the State they should come to if they want to be fully satisfied. Dr. Cronk says:

"On the score of health, Maryland has an excellent standing among the States. Statistics show that there is in the whole country but one healthier city than Baltimore.

It seems beyond the understanding that intelligent people with small or large amounts of money to invest in lands should slight such advantages as Maryland offers to them for the region beyond the Alleghanies.

Intelligent and progressive farmers coming to Maryland find excellent land at low prices, a delightful climate, unexcelled water transportation, rapidly developing railroad resources, and in Baltimore and Washington two of the best markets in the country. These great cities are well seconded by Cumberland, Hagerstown, Frederick, Annapolis, Cambridge and a host of other prosperous places. The prospects for truck farming in Southern, Eastern and Central Maryland are unexcelled, and without doubt the land which now can be purchased at from $5.00 to $30.00 per acre will rapidly advance to double that value. One has but to glance at the geographical position of the State and the situation of the cities of Baltimore and Washington to appreciate this fact. There could be no better outlook for dairy farming, both owing to the great markets and to the superior grazing lands. The northern and western portions of the State have an excellent strong soil, and are admirably adapted to general farming. There is plenty of timber land, and as for fruits, Marylanders can justly take pride in their peaches, pears and small fruits.

There is great pleasure in living in the neighborhood of large bodies of water—near enough, at least, so that they can occasionally be visited, particularly during the summer months. The Maryland farmer can, at small expense, take his family to the beach, where one of the most pleasant of vacations may be enjoyed. In many cases, indeed, he can look from his house out upon the broad expanse of ocean, bay, or one of the great navigable rivers for which the State is famed. The Severn river is called the "Hudson of the South," and any one who has visited its beautiful banks will testify that it is well named. Besides the large number of bays which open into the Chesapeake or into the Atlantic ocean, there are more than thirty navigable rivers in Maryland. No other State is possessed of such excellent facilities for transportation by water.

While we touch upon the subject of pleasure we may mention the facility with which the resident of Maryland may exchange the climate and scenery of the coast for the entirely different phases which pertain to a beautiful mountain district. Such pleasures are not for the inhabitants of the Western plains, who may go only from flatness to flatness.

Maryland, too, abounds in places of historical interest, and the intelligent man or woman finds much of interest in viewing the places hallowed by their association with Washington and his compatriots.

Impurities in Ice.—A good many of the bacteria which are found in all natural surface waters are expelled or killed when the water freezes, but as many as ten per cent., and often more, may remain alive. A large number of studies on this subject have shown that the bubbly and snowy ice is apt to contain many more bacteria than the clear ice does. These bacteria in ice have, as a rule, no influence whatsoever upon the health of the ice-consumer, if the ice has been formed on bodies of water which are clear and pure. But ice which is formed on sewage-polluted or otherwise filthy water may contain disease producing bacteria, and hence be very dangerous for domestic use.

It has thus come to be firmly established as a primary principle in sanitary science that sewage-polluted water should not be used for domestic purposes, either in its natural state or in its condition as ice. No water which is unfit to drink as water is fit to use for a similar purpose as ice. Its coldness may benumb the sense of taste, so that no warning of its nature comes to the consumer. Its intrinsic clearness and beauty may put him off his guard, but all ice cut from sewage-polluted waters is dangerous, and should by law be kept from the domestic market.

Ice manufactured from distilled water should, it would seem, be germ free. In fact, however, it is extremely difficult to prepare absolutely germ-free water on the large scale, and almost impossible to keep it so if once prepared, because every exposure to the air, or contact with utensils in common use, brings to it varying and often large numbers of germs which can live and grow in the water. But these small numbers of common bacteria are not of the slightest importance to the salubrity of the water.

Every one should understand that of all the myriads of bacteria about us in earth and air and water, the great majority are harmless. With very few exceptions, the bacteria which can do us harm are those, and those alone, which come from the bodies of men and animals afflicted with disease. So far as water is concerned—and the same applies to ice—it is only sewage pollution or stagnant filth which we have to fear and shun. Good, pure, uncontaminated water, and ice made from such water either by nature or by man, are entirely wholesome, and they are not made more wholesome by distillation or other purifying procedure—they are not more wholesome when germ free.

So in the manufacture of ice, if the water which is used be contaminated and impure, the preliminary distillation is of primary importance for the salubrity of the ice; but if the water be pure, the distillation is only valuable for the technical purpose of removing the dissolved air.

In point of fact, most of the artificial ice which the writer has examined—and there have been many and abundant samples from various sources collected, and for a period of many months—do contain bacteria in varying numbers. The preliminary distillation, if carefully done, destroys any disease-producing germ forms which might be present in the water used. But a certain number of the more hardy harmless forms may be carried bodily with the steam into the condensers.

So far as the salubrity of the natural as compared with the artificial ice is concerned, we may rest assured that as regards bacteria, one is just as wholesome as the other, provided the water used is pure. If the water is impure from sewage or other unwholesome thing, then the natural ice is never fit for domestic use. If water is impure, the processes of artificial ice-making, if carefully performed, are capable of furnishing even from it a product which is harmless and wholesome, whether it be absolutely germ free or not; for absolute freedom from germs—if these are not disease-producing forms—is neither necessary nor especially desirable. It is not bacteria, but disease-producing bacteria, which make of practical significance the invisible flora of either water or ice.

Innumerable analyses have shown that water does not purge itself wholly in the act of freezing, as was formerly believed, from disease germs which may have come into it with human waste. This has been specifically and repeatedly shown to be true for that most dreaded and fatal sewage germ, the bacillus of typhoid fever.—Harper's Magazine for August.

THE PUZZLER

No. 223.—A Scene from Fiction.

I see a beautiful spot where tall trees and sheltering rocks, rich fruits and bright flowers everywhere meet the eye. Animal life, too, is rich and varied in this lovely yet melancholy land, and the wide ocean around reflects the burning rays of the tropical sun. I see two human figures, both in look and garb presenting a strange appearance to our eyes; and we may well look with compassion upon the miserable fugitive as he implores the protection of one who, though himself in a helpless and desolate plight, is yet able to afford the succor that the other seeks.

Though the above scene is taken from fiction, it is better known and more read by young people than most history.

No. 224.—Geographical Acrostic.

A small island in the Mediterranean of great importance both for commercial and military purposes. Its history has been very eventful, and it has been at different times in the possession of several nations, but now belongs to the English.

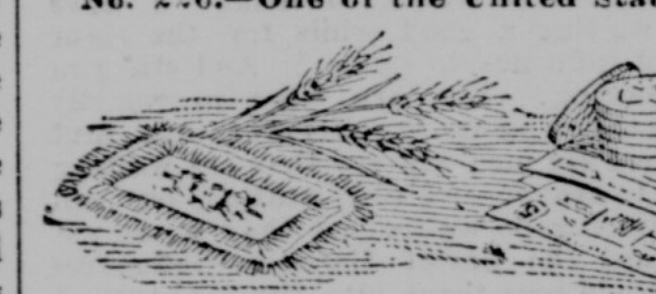
1. A very large island off the eastern coast of Africa.
2. One of the Barbary states in the north of Africa belonging to France.
3. A town in the north of England famed for its cotton manufacture.
4. One of the Canary islands containing a remarkable mountain.
5. The largest river in the world.

No. 225.—A Hidden Proverb.

By selecting one word from each of the following sentences, form a proverb:

1. Goodby, my fair one, goodby, or, as Byron says, "Fare thee well, and if for ever, still forever fare thee well."
2. And are you not coming back soon?
3. It is very easy to say you will miss me.
4. I wish you would not go.
5. I shall not be very far away.
6. Well, we shall meet again in a few months.
7. It is a pretty town.
8. "Some day, some day, some day I shall meet you."

No. 226.—One of the United States.



No. 227.—Rhomboids.

1. Across: The act of taking leave, agreeable; a loud noise; to improve in knowledge; to pierce.

Down: A consonant; a bone; a protuberance; a storm; to equivocate; a title often applied to a well known country; one of the lizard family; a pronoun; a letter.

2. Across: A moving power; to mature; pertaining to the nose; a fruit; general course.

Down: A letter; a conjunction; a metal, a precious stone; to set again; title; a boy's nickname; a negative reply; a letter.

No. 228.—Metagram.

I am a small, useful article.
Change my head and I am a metal.
Again and I am a great noise.
Again and I am a place to keep flour in.
Again and I am a part of a fish.
Again and I am to gain.
Change my tail and I am humor.
Change my head and I am a deep hole.

No. 229.—Rivers in Anagrams.

Pet roach, Russia.

Riddles Solved.

When may a man be said to be personally involved? When he is wrapped up in himself.

Why ought golden sherry to suit tipplers? Because it's topers' (topaz) color.

What should a man's wife be like? A lamb—young, playful, tender, nicely dressed and with—"mint" sauce.

Why should we pity the young Eskimo? Because each one of them is born to blubber.

Why does a man permit himself to be henpecked? Because he's chicken hearted!

What wind should a hungry sailor wish for? One that blows fowl and chops about.

Why is your considering yourself handsome like a chicken? Because it's a matter of a-pinion (opinion)!

What is the difference between some women and their looking glasses? They talk without reflecting, and the mirrors reflect without talking.

Key to the Puzzler.

No. 213.—Seasonable Pi:

The sun hangs calm at summer's poise,
The earth lies bathed in shimmering noon,
At rest from all her cheerful noise,
With heartstrings silently in tune.
The time, how beautiful and dear,
When early fruits begin to blush,
And the full leafage of the year
Sways o'er them with a sheltering hush.

WONDERFUL

The cures which are being effected by Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1529 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa., in Consumption, Catarrh, Neuralgia, Bronchitis, Rheumatism, and all chronic diseases, by their Compound Oxygen Treatment, are indeed marvelous.

If you are a sufferer from any disease which your physician has failed to cure, write for information about this treatment, and their book of 200 pages, giving a history of Compound Oxygen, its nature and effects, with numerous testimonials from patients, to whom you may refer for still further information, will be promptly sent, without charge.

This book, aside from its great merit as a medical work, giving, as it does, the result of years of study and experience, you will find a very interesting one.

BRUSHES.—Hair Brushes, Nail Brushes, Tooth Brushes, and any other kind you may need. W. C. HUGHES.

$50 SAVED

IN BUYING THE

"NEW YORK BICYCLE."

WE are making this Bicycle in the Demorest Sewing Machine Factory and are putting in the very best of sewing machine work into every part of it, while many other makers are only aiming to put in a high grade of carriage work. The test of time will prove which will stand the wear and give the satisfaction, but mechanics know that our principle is the proper one and the only safe one.

Having made a thorough test of all the high grade Safety wheels made in 1891 we have given to the public as a result of those tests a "Safety" that is not only adapted to smooth pavements, but that will absolutely stand the wear and tear of the roughest country roads, and over which the rider can go, owing to our Perfect Spring, with as much ease and comfort as other Wheels give upon smooth floors. We have made the "New York Bicycle" to sell upon its merits, and we challenge comparison with any other Wheel made, both as to workmanship, strength, durability, ease of riding, etc.

IT IS THE HIGHEST GRADE WHEEL MADE.
BALL BEARINGS USED IN EVERY WORKING PART.

No Castings are used in it, but every piece where strength is required is made of Drop Forgings. Every Nut and Screw is hardened to prevent being marred by Wrench or Screw Driver.

⁂

SPECIAL FEATURES.—The 'New York Bicycle' has adjustable Springs, back and front. The Wheel cannot possibly flinch when going over a rail or other projections obliquely. We use none but the best Weldless Steel Tube. The "New York Bicycle" is the only one made which can be POSITIVELY adjusted to any weight of person.

Our Gent's Road Wheel is made with Thirty Inch Wheels. Every joint is hardened and ground to a perfect fit. No possibility for rattle in joints or springs. The best wrought iron chain ever made; strong and light.

DUST PROOF BEARINGS.—Every Spring guaranteed not to break. As it moves but one-quarter as much as the wheel raises we can safely warrant it. This is one of the strongest points in favor of our Wheel.

No pains or expense have been spared to make this Wheel the very best ever put on the market. It is (as before stated) sold on its merits.

Order a sample and you will surely endorse every claim we make. Our Spring is so perfect that no cushion or pneumatic tire is needed, but we furnish them when ordered at usual extra prices.

Price of Bicycle, with solid tire, $125.
With Cushion Tire, $130. With Pneumatic Tire, $150.

Address all orders to THE GAZETTE, Easton, Md.

HE Missed his Opportunity! DON'T Miss Yours, Reader. The majority neglect their opportunities, and from that cause live in poverty and die in obscurity! Harrowing despair is the lot of many, as they look back on lost, forever lost, opportunity. Life is passing! Reach out. Be up and doing. Improve your opportunity, and secure prosperity, prominence, peace. It was said by a philosopher, that "the Goddess of Fortune offers a golden opportunity to each person at some period of life; embrace the chance, and she pours out her riches; fail to do so and she departs, never to return." How shall you find the GOLDEN opportunity? Investigate every chance that appears worthy, and of fair promise; that is what all successful men do. Here is an opportunity, such as is not often within the reach of laboring people. Improved, it will give, at least, a grand start in life. The GOLDEN opportunity for many is here. Money to be made rapidly and honorably by any industrious person of either sex. All ages. You can do the work and live at home, wherever you are. Even beginners are easily earning from $5 to $10 per day. You can do as well if you will work, not too hard, but industriously; and you can increase your income as you go on. You can give spare time only, or all your time to the work. Easy to learn. Capital not required. We start you. All is comparatively new and really wonderful. We instruct and show you how, free. Failure unknown among our workers. No room to explain here. Write and learn all free, by return mail. Unwise to delay. Address at once, H. Hallett & Co., Box 880, Portland, Maine.
