GRANDFATHER AND GRANDSON.

ATTEND the Republican primaries to-day.

DID somebody say over coats were high?—High out of reach they ought to be.

MORE rain, more corn: more corn more cash; more cash, more happiness; more happiness, more Republican voters; more Republican voters, more temperance, peace and prosperity, not to mention pensions for the old soldiers.—Emporia Republican.

YES, brother, we got it a little "previous" that time, which shows the tendency of human nature to run to extremes. The "happy medium" is the "consummation devoted to be wished," but if extreme it must be—deliver us from the extreme of "behind times."

ATTEND the Republican primaries to-day.

"THE "Force bill" decoy, which the democrats are using to allure voters this year, has already lost its drawing power. It is a painted duck with a wooden head, and it is too unnatural to deceive anybody.—Press

MR. CLEVELAND, in his calamity speech at the "notification" meeting, said that the farmer is "listening to a delusive story that fills his mind with visions of advantage, while his pocket is robbed by the stealthy hand of high Protection." Now comes the Senate report showing that prices of agricultural products have risen, on the average, 13.67 per cent. since the McKinley law was enacted. No wonder the farmer "don't understand" Mr. Cleveland's Tariff platitudes.

ATTEND the Republican primaries to-day.

FREE trade papers have been jubilating over the results, that the Temescal tin mines in California had given out. It is inexplicable how misfortune to American industry can be hailed with joy by Free-Traders. In this particular case, however, they crowed too soon, for it turns out that the mines referred to are being improved and show no signs of exhaustion. Too bad, isn't it, free traders?

FOUR years ago the democratic campaign was fought to the war cry, "Down with the surplus." They regarded it as a menance to popular liberties and as an incentive to wasteful extravagance; and they demanded that it be reduced forthwith by taking off tariff duties. The Republicans of the Fifty-first Congress went ahead and took off tariff duties and reduced the surplus, and now the democrats are complaining because the surplus is gone. It is a fine exhibition of democratic consistency and logic.

WE have received through a traveling American a copy of the Hyogo News, a daily, except Sunday, published at Hyogo, China. It is printed very similar to our ordinary weekly exchange in good plain type with a large number of display advertisements. The subscription price is $36 per year, and it gives 20 columns at each issue, or a quarto with five columns to the page. The advertisements we notice ar chiefly the shipping and banking interests, insurance, etc. We notice that the Hong Kong and Shanghai Banking Corporation have a paid up capital of $10,000,000 and a reserve of $16,000,000. The news of the paper is interesting, giving account of the missionary trouble with the Celestials, hotel arrivals, departure of mails, bicycling, gossip, wit, etc. The paper came out on Decoration Day and made note of what America was doing. Every line was in plain, U. S. talk, which shows that there are enough Americans and English there to appreciate a paper, but oh, that subscription price makes our mouth water.

THE tariff is a tax, is what every good democrat holds to.—A tax to the consumer. The McKinley bill enriches industries at the expense of labor. These and kindred expressions are sung by every democrat who knows enough to sing at all. Even our democratic manufacturers of Easton hold that doctrine, and yet when it comes to testing how the McKinley bill operates upon them as producers they set up the squla that they are robbed of their profits because they can't get the advanced rate on their goods from the consumer. Who pays the tax? What is applicable to one industry is applicable to all.

Again, if the consumer paid the tax, why is it that our commonest articles of hardware are sold for less money than the duty on them. If the consumer paid the tax why are they not as much higher by the amount of the duty?

ATTEND the Republican primaries to-day.

HON. THOMAS B. REED in the New York Press gives a long letter in review of the work done by Congress. He says it was the "least capable" and "most riotous" house in the Nation's history, made pretences of economy and yet appropriated $22,000,000 in fifteen minutes. Would that we had the space for all of this excellent article. Here is a specimen paragraph and note the gentle style of stating the facts, void of abuse and irritability.

"I want to call your readers' attention to this simple fact, even at the expense of reiteration and of being tiresome. We expended $462,000,000 the first session of the Fifty-first Congress. We were abused most roundly therefore. The lowest figures any democrat can now make for his Congress is $510,000,000. These figures are undisputed. The moral is indisputable.

"It does sometimes seem a great pity that we haven't, we republicans, the power of vituperation. We seem to have no energy of characterization. Abusing, as the democrats have, in the wildest language the appropriation of $462,000,000, and then appropriating $510,000,000 themselves, two things are meant. It means that in the last campaign the democracy were inaccurate, and that in the present House they have been detected. If we were in their place and they in ours, I fear their language would be more adequate."

"On the 6th day of June, after a session of six months, Mr. Holman was forced to rush through the House, the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation bill carrying $22,000,000, occupying fifteen Record columns of the finest type, covering thousands of items and containing 150,000, words under suspension of the rules, with fifteen minutes' debate on either side! One minute to every ten thousand words and forty seconds to every million dollars. On the same day was passed, under a similar suspension of the rules, a bill to admit Arizona, as a State, a proposition hitherto never seriously discussed.—Fifteen minutes were allowed each side. On the same day, also, New Mexico had a bill passed to admit her as a state, with like limitations as to debate. Just think of it, fifteen whole minutes to discuss such a question as that! Surely there never was such a farce! The question of the admission of New Mexico is not at all a political question, or, if it is, the politics sink into insignificance compared with the complex question arising out of the nature of the population and its relation to the rest of the Union. On this question the wisest men of both parties even in New Mexico hesitate, and this democratic House illustrates the freedom of debate and the wisdom of deliberation by deciding the whole matter in thirty minutes. This is wisdom shod with the shoes of swiftness. On that same day also under a similar suspension of the rules and with fifteen minutes debate on either side, the Anti-Option bill was passed. Fifteen minutes of debate on the Anti-Option bill in a house of 332 members! Why one Senator, and he a new man, took five hours to state his views, and during the time I listened to him he did not seem to be wasting words. Here was a bill which may disarrange the commerce of the world—a bill on which hangs more hopes and fears than any bill of the past ten years, and this bill has passed the House on the theory that the House has only fifteen minutes of wisdom to be bestowed on either side of the question."

ATTEND the Republican primaries to-day.

Free Traders, Every One.

I am for Cleveland for president because I am a free trader.—Henry George.

The democratic party, except in the person of imbeciles not worth mentioning, is a free trade party.—Henry Watterson.

I will never help to make a law which stands in the way of free trade. Roger Q. Mills.

I am a free trader. The Mills bill is a step in that direction.—Congressman Breckenbridge.

The democratic party is a free trade party or it is nothing.—Henry Watterson.

Mr. Cleveland, by his message, for which I honor him, has challenged the protected industries of the country to a fight of extermination.—Senator Vest, (dem) Missouri.

If Grover Cleveland, is re-elected president of the United States, we will pass a tariff bill that puts raw materials all on the free lists, and then we will put our own intelligent and skillful and productive labor in this country upon a plane of equality with the laborers of all other countries.—Roger Q. Mills' speech at East St Louis, Ill., Sept. 25, '88.

The conflict between free trade and protection is irrepressible and must be fought out to the bitter end. We spit upon compromises and propose neither to ask nor to give quarter.—Henry Watterson.

Mr. Watterson, it may be remembered, wrote the tariff plank in the democratic platform which was adopted at Chicago, and in a letter written less than a week ago Grover Cleveland declared that he stood upon that plank, squarely and unreservedly.

Mr. Chas. N. Hauer

Of Frederick, Md., suffered terribly for over ten years with abscesses and running sores on his left leg. He wasted away, grew weak and thin, and was obliged to use a cane and crutch. Everything which could be thought of was done without good result, until he began taking which effected a perfect cure. Mr. Hauer is now in the best of health. Full particulars of his case will be sent all who address

A Model Administration.

The present administration is daily demonstrating its ability to meet the emergencies of the times and dispose satisfactorily every question arising in such a business manner as to advance national interests and command the respect of the world, says the Hub. It has not only been clean, but patriotic as well. It is an administration of large capacity. Its business energy has been the most pronounced of any administration in the history of the republic. In this respect it represents the genius of the people. It moves with them and for them in developing and sustaining the highest expectations in our national life. Its achievements make a record which, as it appears on the pages of history, will make one of the brightest eras in the history of the history the republic. It will be known as the golden era of true Americanism, and will be an inspiration to good citizenship in all the years to come.

Wiggins Redivivus.

One of the saddest incidents of the discussion of Mars is the uninvited and unfortunate renascence of Wiggins. This unprophetic prophet some years ago was buffeted by the world's ridicule into a well deserved retirement; but the craze over Mars was an opportunity which enabled him to come forth once more and expose his nescience to the nation. He has done it with great volubility and self confidence, and the American printed it yesterday for the delectation of its readers.

Now, there is a great deal of unnecessary nonsense in the speculations about Mars. It will be months before the observations can be combined and calculated into any thing like definite conclusions. Prof. Holden, the director of Lick Observatory, and a great astronomer, whom Baltimore delights to honor as one of her sons, protests vigorously against the wild guesswork which is being based on inaccurate information.

But such considerations do not bother Wiggins. He is superior to mere fact. He does not have to look through a telescope, when he can see it all in his mind's eye. So he proceeds to assert that Mars is a more desirable place of residence than the earth; that the people are much more inteligent, and that they live hundreds of years. While other astronomers do not venture to declare Mars is inhabited, Wiggins boosts the planet with the enthusiasm of a man who has corner lots to sell in the choicest locations.

How nice it would be if we could send Wiggins as a gift to Mars! But what a sorrow it would be to the Marsites if Wiggins should live three hundred years!—Balto. Ameriban.

Important Typewriter Decision.

Judge Lacombe, sitting in the U. S. Circuit Court, has, on the motion of the Remington Typewriter Company, granted an injunction against the agents of the Franklin, restraining the sale of that machine on account of infringement of Remington patents. The decision is an important one, as it proves the control of the fundamental patents, and may affect other makers of typewriters. The Remington people have heretofore been quite passive, but it is stated on good authority that they are now likely to proceed against all other typewriter manufacturing companies. In some cases purchasers of machines which infringe Remington patents may also be proceeded again st for infringement.—N. Y. Tribune. tf

Result of the American Policy.

Of the results of the policy of reciprocity and protection, William Elroy Curtis forcibly says:

"It is due to these countries that the ruins of the ancient world vibrate with the shriek of a Philadelphia locomotive; that the holy Kremlin of Moscow and the Vatican at Rome are strung with the wires that were spun in Pittsburg and are lighted with lamps that were made at Lynn; that the murmur of an American sewing machine is heard in every place in Europe and Asia; that the King of Siam communicates with his minister through an American telephone; that the basement of the parliament house in London is filled with machinery made at Providence, Rhode Island."

EASTONIONS IN THE BLUE RIDGE

Claremont House, Aug. 10.

MR. EDITOR:—While the people of the lower counties are sweltering in their homes we are enjoying the cool breezes of the Blue Ridge Mountains. Although this is the warmest season that I have ever felt up here. People are coming all the time to the different hotels and cottages to get the cool mountain breezes. Near the Claremont House, there are a great many cottages belonging to private families, as well as the Monterey Hotel.

About three miles is the large Buena Vista (Beautiful View) Hotel, and about a mile from there is the Blue Mountain House. Looking on your right from here you look far down into a valley in Adams Co., Pa. On the left and in front of us we see large mountains. A little to the north west of us is Monterey Peak, one of the highest points around here. A party of seven of us climbed to the top of Monterey Peak yesterday and enjoyed the scenery from there for an hour. The view is beautiful, as one can see for many miles. Many small towns are visible, Waynesborough and Ronzersville being among the largest. To see the sun set from Monterey Peak is said to be a beautiful sight which we intend to prove on Saturday evening. At the foot of the Peak is the celebrated Rocky Springs which is the favorite walk, by sun light and moon light, of all the visitors around here.

Within three miles is Pen Mar where there are daily excursions from Baltis more. The excursion this morning had ten well filled cars with two engines to pull them up the mountain grade. Pen Mar seems a favorite place for campers, there being a great many there this year. To Pen Mar and return from here is 25 cents, and we often go and spend the day, getting a very good dinner there for 50 cents. To High Rock (a mile from Pen Mar) and Mount Quirauk (a half mile by the Air Line path) are points one should not fail to visit. Looking down from High Rock on a train, the cars look smaller than a child's toy, the observer being such a great distance from them.

Last fall a gentleman here, caught a wild cat in a trap that he had set for a fox. I went over to see it on Monday morning. It looks almost like a common cat but larger, and very wild. It is kept in a cage all the time. If you go near it, it will growl and try to get out. Its owner has to feed it on beef, chickens, rabbits, mice and rats. He says there are many wild cats in the mountains near his house and at night they come to this cage and try to get at the one in it. During the war the soldiers passed this place on their way to the Battle of Gettysburg, and near here stands the tree under which Gen. Lee stood to reconnoitre.

The Gettysburg railroad passes through the grounds of this hotel, a pary of excursionists go to Gettysburg every day to visit the battle field. I had the pleasure of going all over the battle field last summer.—There are hundreds of monuments erected on the battle field and some of them are very handsome, costing thousands of dollars, one costing $18,000.

We spend our evenings in dancing, and a few in playing cards. At Monterey Hotel is a large dancing room, and since we have some intimate friends at that house my sister and myself often spend our evenings there. On Saturday evening there is to be a large ball there and all guests of this hotel are invited.

The view from Monterey cannot be compared to the view from here, this hotel being higher up on the mountain. M.

Where the Tin Plate Duty Falls.

Another valuable addition to the tin-plate discussion was made by Congressman Bunting of New York, in his recent speech on the tin plate bill. He printed with his remarks letters from large buyers and manufacturers of tin ware who had been asked what the effect of the McKinley duty had been. The gist of some of the replies is as follows:

Easton, Md.—The margin [i. e., profit] on our business has been taken from us.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Goods selling at same price as before the increase of duty.

Indianapolis, Ind.—The effect has been to reduce our profits.

Odessa, Del.—Decline in prices this spring.

Columbus, Ohio.—Consumers refuse to pay any more for goods, the Middlemen and manufacturers pay the increased duty.

It seems, then, that consumers of tin cans, and tinware generally, the persons who buy the finished vessel or utensil for final use, do not pay the tariff, as the association of bogus consumers of tin plate would have us believe. That part of the increase in duty which does not come out of the Welsh manufacturer through a fall in his selling price, comes out of the middlemen, manufacturers and tin plate brokers.—American Economist.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

[FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8, '92.

Now that Congress has at last got away, Washington is giving its undivided attention to preparing to make the coming G. A. R. encampment a memorable occasion. It is already the principal topic of conversation everywhere one goes, and every body seems determined to do something to add to its success. Scores of our most prominent business men, instead of taking their usual summer vacations, are here hard at work as members of the various committes in charge of the preparations for the encampment, and there is much more enthusiasm among them than I have ever seen displayed over the preliminaries of a Presidential inauguration. Commander-in-Chief Palmer, and a number of his staff are here rendering valuable assistance to the citizen's committees.

The news that Mrs. Harrison was not making as much progress towards the recovery of her health as had been expected was most sorrowfully received here, and nothing but words of the most heartfelt sympathy for the President and wishes for her speedy return to good health are heard on all sides. Private Secretary Halford is in charge of the White House and no business, unless it be of the most urgent and pressing nature, will be referred to the President while he remains at Loon Lake with Mrs. Harrison.

Secretary Noble who has stuck so close to his desk this summer as to imperil his health has gone with Mrs. Noble for a four or five weeks vacation. The first two weeks will be spent in northern Wisconsin; then they will take a trip to the northwest, going as far as Washington, perhaps, to British Columbia, visiting several tribes of Indians en route.

Gen. Grant, acting Secretary of War has replied to the protest against the employment of Army bands by Knight Templars Commanderies attending the conclave at Denver, Col., made by the National Association of Musicians. He says the department has done nothing in the matter except to grant leave of absence to the members of the bands in question, and that it would be impossible for the Government to obtain good musicians if they were not allowed to make extra money by private employment but that the Army bands are strictly prohibited under any circumstances from underbidding civilian bands.

Judge Crounse, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, having been nominated for Governor by the Republicans of Nebraska, will, as soon as he gets the business in his office in good shape to turn over to his successor, resign and give his undivided attention to the campaign. If the Judge is as popular in Nebraska as he is in Washington, his majority is likely to be phenominal.

Senator Allison says that the appropriations made by the first session of the Fifty-second Congress aggregate $507,000,000, against $463,000,000 made by the first session of the so-called billion dollar Congress, an increase of $44,000,000. This increase would have been very much larger if the actual necessities of the Government had been provided for, to say nothing of appropriations for needed new public building, none of which passed during the session just closed. It is admitted by democrats in both the Senate and House that the Post Office Appropriation bill as it became a law is millions of dollars less than the actual necessities of the service calls for, and that a big dificit is inevitable. The same is true to a smaller extent of other appropriations, and the fact is well known to the democrats who deliberately reduced the appropriations for the purpose of deceiving the people until after the National election, knowing that the deficits will then have to be made good, and notwithstanding this scheming this Congress has appropriated $44,000,000 more than the first session of the last Congress did. Republican extravagances will not be a favorite text with democratic stump speakers this year, and the misrepresentations of 1890, cannot possibly be repeated.

Most men in political life have to content themselves with having their official actions approved by members of their own party, but ex-Speaker Reed is a most striking exception; he has had everyone of the innovations he was responsible for having introduced in the last House approved by his political opponents of the present House, with the single exception of "counting a quorum." The democrats not only approved, but they actually adopted the very rules they had abused the republicans for adopting at Mr. Reed's suggestion. The cloture rule, which was refused the free silver men, had to be reported and adopted before the World's Fair appropriation could be put through the House, which was another evidence of the hypocrisy of the democratic leaders in dealing with legislation of national importance. H.

SISTER CAROLINE carried off two honors at the People's Party Convention held at Industrial Hall, Baltimore, Wednesday night. Editor Heffron, of the Federalsburg Courier was nominated for Congress, and Mr. J. W. Kerr, for elector at large.

A Sunset,

on Great Salt Lake is but one of the matchless spectacles to be seen in Utah. The new book "Utah, a peep into a mountain walled treasury of the Gods," is now issued an can be had postpaid by sending 25 cents to J. H. Bennett, Salt Lake City.

It is expected that the Knights Templar and others visiting Colorado the coming season will extend their trip to Utah via the Rio Grande Western Railway in both directions. That road affords choice of three distinct routes and the most magnificent scenery in the world. Equipment unequalled in the west. Two trains daily across the continent. 31dec

The Finest Yet—There is on the desk of the editor of the GAZETTE the finest catalogue or descriptive circular of an educational institution ever received here. This is judging first from a printer's standpoint. The tone of the book of 64 pages with heavy card cover is exceedingly fine and artistic in every detail. The lithographic plates and tinted effects are so far beyond the old style of school catalogues that one's attention is immediately arrested. Upon review it is seen that every detail of the work of the institution is as thorough, refined and artistic as is the printed exponent circulated through the mails. It is suggested that if any one has a boy or girl they wish to have educated in business, that the school which can give the greatest advantages ought to be the one to patronize. It is natural to suppose that the Principal would be no less satisfied with perfection in every department than he is with poor printing. For years he has put out the finest printing but this year he simply excells all previous efforts. See the advertisement of Prof. H. S. Goldey in this paper and write to him for the most beautiful school catalogue about the most thorough Business School to be found any where.

MID-SUMMER THOUGHTS.

We hear, you were thinking about making some purchases, and money to be saved is the thought "on top" in your mind. We won't be officious, but if you will let us, we will lend our assistance, in your effort to buy at bottom figures. We have just taken from their cases

FINELY FINISHED ROAD CARTS AND HANDSOME CARRIAGES.

They are made by the most reliable manufacturers in this country and are offered on their merit. They are full Leather, and when you examine them,—you will find the price both captivating and catching. We have also just received the largest stock of ever brought to Easton by this house at one time. If you ask the price, and really want,—you will be captured,—but released with something saved. Try it. We are selling a

TWO HORSE, FULL CHILLED PLOW

Complete for $7.00—the work of which can't be beat. Large numbers sold. See it. We lay claim to the best

GRAIN DRILL

On the market. You can be the judge, after examining all the points. Don't buy a

FARM WAGON,

Because of its cheapness. It will finally make wrinkles on your face, spoil your disposition, and make you a kicker. Buy the other kind. We have them, and they satisfy. More of them on the road than all others combined. Why? We still sell

OBER'S STANDARD & HIGH GRADE FERTILIZERS.

Have customers that have found nothing better on the market, and they continue to plant cash in that "gold dust." Come and see us.
