FOR PRESIDENT
BENJAMIN HARRISON, OF INDIANA.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT
WHITELAW REID, OF NEW YORK.

FOR CONGRESS.
GEORGE M. RUSSUM,
OF CAROLINE COUNTY.

GRANDFATHER AND GRANDSON.

IN accordance with a resolution of the Executive Committee of the State Central Committee passed, Sept. 13, 1892, the lately elected members composing the First District Congressional Convention are hereby called to meet in Convention at Salisbury, Wicomico County, on at 12 m. to elect a member of the Board of Appeals for said District, and to nominate a candidate for Congress in said District for the unexpired term of Hon. Henry Page.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 5th, 1892,

THOS. S. HODSON,
Chairman Republican Congressional Convention, 1st. Md. District.

SOMEBODY said Maine had an election.

MR. RUSSUM'S prospects for Congressional honors continue to brighten.

"VOTE as you pray" If you pray for peace, prosperity and happiness, vote for Big Brained Benjamin and not for Calamity Cleveland.

THE factions opposed to the regular Democracy in Alabama have united in an electoral and Congressional ticket.

THE Democrats of the First District —or their representatives, will "make the fur fly" in Easton next Wednesday.

THE death of Gov. McKinley's brother prevented his being present at the Delaware State Fair. This will cause him to cancel numerous other engagements.

TRUE to its past history, the present campaign in the Democratic party is not so much a "campaign of education" as it is a campaign devoted to the cause of leading the voters from the true issues.

COOLER weather will be favorable to Mr. Cleveland and that letter of acceptance he has been toiling and sweating over since Bennie's little billet-doux made its appearance to young Miss Columbia.

PRESIDENT HARRISON has accepted the proposition presented by the Governments of Argentine Republic and the United States of Brazil that he act as arbitrator between them in a dispute as to the boundary between the two countries.

WHAT do the "force bill" howlers think of the Jeffersonian Democrats of Alabama appealing to the United States statutes to be allowed the appointment of Federal officers in Congressional elections to assure an honest count? And this was all the National Elections bill was designed to do.

THE successor of Mr. Page is already named if Republicans are as active as they should be. Mr. Russum has received the highest encomiums from his district and the State at large. Harmony prevails and with the democrats divided over the spoils of office, the chances for Mr. Russum's success are well nigh assured.

TO-DAY the Democratic primaries meet. Tuesday next the county convention will sit, and on the following day the District Convention will be held in Easton to name a candidate to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Page in the 52d Congress, and to nominate a candidate to oppose Mr. Russum for the 53d. Congress. Useless, gentlemen, useless.

A candidate from Talbot

What will it amount to?
Nothing—if I say so,

THE President, referring to the benefits of Protection and Reciprocity to the South, says, "these States all have special interests and these interests will not always consent to be without representation at Washington." Two or three days after this was published, the news came from Louisiana that Protection Democrats in one of the Congressional districts had united with the Republicans in nominating a Protection candidate. They were sugar and rice planters, and they took the view (mark their own language) that "the Democrats in Congress showed such hostility to the sugar and rice interests that a Republican ought to be elected from the district who could go into the Republican caucus and protect these interests against hostile legislation."

IN Maryland and every other State there is a law prescribing a punishment for every person found guilty of stealing a horse or breaking into the house of another with an evil purpose. This is a "force bill"—as is every other statute which restrains. Yet the man who does not intend to steal a horse or break into his neighbor's house, has no fear of it. It does not effect him or his happiness in the least. Such a law, as force applied against him, concerns him no more than it might the man in the moon. Then when a great political party states it as a principle that it is in favor of every honest ballot being honestly counted and returned—why should there be such a howl against such a measure unless "the shoe pinches?" If elections in the south are conducted legally and honestly, those who have charge of them need have no fear of any National legislation, with this in view, no more than the honest man fears the statute making the larceny of a horse a felonious crime.

SENATOR HILL'S speech this week has been published all over the country. But what are his opinions worth anyway? A man in the U. S. Senate who is too big a coward to cast his vote on a great public question, but skulk away, has no opinion worthy of consideration by an intelligent people. This crafty politician of New York State now poses in Brooklyn to advise the American people that the Democratic party is not in favor of free trade. Bosh.

IS Henry George a Democrat? He said publicly recently "I am for Cleveland for President because I am a free trader."

IS Roger Q. Mills a Democrat? He said in Congress "I will never help to make a law which stands in the way of free trade."

IS Henry Waterson a Democrat?—He said at Chicago a few months ago "The democratic party is a free trade party, or it is nothing."

IS Breckenbridge a Democrat? He said in Congress "I am a free trader. The Mills bill is a step in that direction."

Were the 906 representative delegates to the Chicago convention democrats? They said by their votes that they were in favor of a "tariff-for-revenue-only"—which is simply free trade.

IS Hill a Democrat? He is. He is anything but an ideal American patriot.

MANY Protection Democrats have openly expressed their dissatisfaction with the free trade position of the National Democratic Convention at Chicago. They agree with Mills and Col. Waterson, that the Chicago tariff plank means free trade or nothing—and it will require more than a Hill or Stevenson to make them believe otherwise.

One of the most eminent of these Protection Democrats, Mr. George T. Curtis, a lawyer and author of wide reputation, has written a letter repudiating the tariff plank of the Chicago platform. He says he cannot "follow the leaders of the party in denouncing Republican protection as a fraud upon the labor of the great majority of the American people for the benefit of the few." Nor does he believe that a protective tariff is unconstitutional. He says that while he has no direct pecuniary interest in manufactures, he knows what protection has done for our industries, that it does not operate for the benefit of the few, but for that of the many. If the leaders of the Democratic party choose to stultify themselves by falsifying history, they cannot expect, he says, to be followed by others of independent thought and actions. For one, he will not at the bidding of those who made the tariff plank at Chicago, "unlearn the lessons of his whole life."

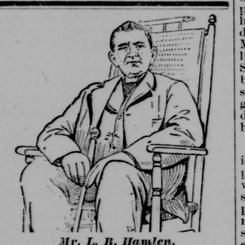

There are many others hitherto voting with the democratic party, who, like Mr. Curtis, are not ready to denounce Republican Protection as a fraud and the McKinley tariff as a robbery. They do not believe that it can be wise, from any point of view to make such a revision of the tariff, as will prostrate our own industries only to build up those of foreign countries. Those of this way of thinking will not follow the author of the Anti-Protection and un-American Presidential message of 1887, or the Democratic leaders who shaped the platform at Chicago for free trade. This is the great issue between the two parties, and in November Protection Democrats will be found voting side by side with Protection Republicans for the Protection ticket.

George Ticknor Curtis Repudiates the Chicago Platform.

Richfield Springs, N. Y., Sept. 10, '95.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE American Economist:

Sirs:—In common with many other Democrats, I cannot follow the leaders of the party in denouncing Republican Protection as a fraud upon the labor of the great majority of the American people for the benefit of a few; nor can I subscribe to the doctrine that a Protective Tariff is unconstitutional. I have no pecuniary interest in manufactures, but I know what Protection has done and is doing for this country. If it operates for the benefit of a few, I am not one of that few. I am one of the many; one of the great majority benefited by it, including those who denounce it for the sake of obtaining political power.

If the leaders of a political party assembled in national convention for the purpose of nominating candidates for the Presidency and Vice Presidency choose to stultify themselves by falsifying history, they cannot expect to be followed by others who have any habits of independent thought and action. The learned pundits who were lately assembled at Chicago in national convention of the democratic party, adopted by a two-thirds vote, and agalast the report of the Committee on Resolutions the following as a "plank" in the Democratic platform:

We denounce Republican Protection as a fand upon the labor of the great majority of the American people for the benefit of a few. We declare it to be a fundamental principle of the Democratic party that Federal Government has no constitutional power to impose and collect tariff duties, except for the purpose of revenue only. We demand that the collection of such taxes be limited to the necessities of the Government when honestly and economically administered.

In drafting and voting for this resolution, the members either showed dense ignorance of American political history, or they manifested a purpose to win votes by deceiving the voters. I cannot, at the bidding of these gentlemen, unlearn the lesson of my whole life. The greater part of my long life has been passed in the study of American political history and constitutional law. If I cannot claim to be an authority on such subjects, I can point out to others the true sources from which to devise interpretations of the Constitution. Those sources are not to be found in recent Congressional speeches, whether made by members of one party or another. They are to be found in the interpretations given to the Constitution by the First Congress, by Washington's administration, and by the succeeding administrations of Jefferson, Madison, John Quincy Adams and Jackson.

I have been requested by the Secretary of the American Protective Tariff League to give my views of the Protective issue, as it has been made by the two parties in the present campaign. This I shall do in a communication to be addressed to him, of which he will make such use as he sees fit.

I am, Mr. Editor, very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
GEO. TICKNOR CURTIS.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

[FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19 '92.

"Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching," and other war time songs are heard on all sides, as some visiting or local post of the G. A. R. marches past, the band playing and banner waving. The 26th National Encampment is a success of colossal proportions, both in point of attendance, which far exceeds that of any previous encampment and which will probably never be so great at any similar event in the future, and of enthusiastic welcome to the veterans, a welcome shown not only by the elaborate and beautiful decorations of streets and residences but by the faces of the people. Those who have slandered Washington by saying that her people are selfish and unpatriotic should for ever more hang their heads in shame. Why even babies in the arms of their nurses crow patriotically and wave tiny flags along the street, and it is next to impossible to find a man, woman or child who does not carry some where on their person our country's flag.

The first prominent feature of the encampment was the dedication of Grand Army Place this afternoon. The ceremonies were preceded by a brilliant street parade, made up of U. S. regular troops—artillery, cavalry and infantry, sailors, marines, the entire National Guard of the District of Columbia, and the department of the Potomac G. A. R., which was greatly enjoyed by the visiting veterans who were conspicuous in the crowds that packed the sides of the line of march. The dedicatory ceremonies were successfully carried out according to the original program, Vice President Morton having very kindly agreed to take the President's place. The scene will not soon be forgotten by those who witnessed it.

Away in the back ground, looking to the southwest, the yellow, pillared portico of the historic Arlington Mansion presenting a strong contrast to the green foliage by which it is surrounded, and none who looked forgot that it was also surrounded by the remains of thousands of comrades who had fought by the sides of the veterans to-day assembled in a grand reunion—who can say that the spirits of the veterans buried at Arlington are not also holding a reunion this week? Looking directly South the slender grey shaft of the Washington Monument, extending five hundred and fifty feet skyward challenges the admiration of the beholder, while to the east looms up the immense white dome of the Capital, unsurpassed in grandeur and artistic symetry by any public building on earth. Within a stone's throw stands a miniature Washington Monument, probably a hundred feet high, wrapped from its base to its summit, from which extends a flag pole proudly supporting "old glory," in red, white and blue, and a beautiful model of the good ship Kearsage, full size and full rigged, and partly manned by survivors of the crew which took part in its memorable engagement with the privateer Alabama, which it sank, as you probably remember. Directly north stands the White House, which reminds the vets of the trouble, caused by Mrs. Harrison's sickness, that has prevented the President from joining his comrades, as he had arranged to do; and just west of the Executive Mansion stands the handsomest public edifice in Washington—the new State, War and Navy Department building. Could a more appropriate spot have been chosen for the reunion grounds, or one where more that is dear to the old soldier's heart could have been seen at a glance?

The regret is general that the President is not in Washington to take part in the pleasrues of the week, which he has been anticipating ever since Washington was selected as the place for holding this year's encampment, and everybody has a word of sympathy for him and for Mrs. Harrison, and expresses the wish that she may soon recover.

The ladies' reception held in the rotunda of the Capitol to-night, which was conceived by Mrs. John A. Logan, was one of the largest, most brilliant and at the same time enjoyable affairs of the kind ever held in Washington, where public receptions are common events. The arrangements were so perfect that thousands passed through the rotunda, from east to west, without accident of any kind, although there was more squeezing at times than was altogether comfortable.

At this encampment is the first time that one place for holding all the reunions, corps, division, brigade and regimental, has been selected and the visitors are loud in their praise of the arrangement by which they can so easily meet with those who served with them in the war.

Vice President Morton was not a soldier, but he has made himself very solid with the soldiers by his promptness in coming here and volunteering to take the President's place in the program for encampment week. H.

Important Typewriter Decision.

Judge Lacombe, sitting in the U. S. Circuit Court, has, on the motion of the Remington Typewriter Company, granted an injunction against the agents of the Franklin, restraining the sale of that machine on account of infringement of Remington patents. The decision is an important one, as it proves the control of the fundamental patents, and may affect other makers of typewriters. The Remington people have heretofore been quite passive, but it is stated on good authority that they are now likely to proceed against all other typewriter manufacturing companies. In some cases purchasers of machines which infringe Remington patents may also be proceeded against for infringement.—N. Y. Tribune. tf

WONDERFUL
The cures which are being effected by Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1529 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa., in Consumption, Catarrh, Neuralgia, Bronchitis, Rheumatism, and all chronic diseases, by their Compound Oxygen Treatment, are indeed marvelous.

If you are a sufferer from any disease which your physician has failed to cure, write for information about this treatment, and their book of 200 pages, giving a history of Compound Oxygen, its nature and effects, with numerous testimonials from patients, to whom you may refer for still further information, will be promptly sent, without charge.

This book, aside from its great merit as a medical work, giving, as it does, the result of years of study and experience, you will find a very interesting one.

Perfect clothing at manufacturer's prices

There's extravagance in spending money with anybody but the manufacturers—in Clothing, the worst extravagance of all. Direct dealing is the only road to economy—the only road, as truly, to good clothing. Inferior quality, inferior manufacture—these are the only ways to cheapen clothing—and who suffers? Isn't it you? All the time? In all ways?

In planning for the greater business of this Fall, we want to make this clear to every wearer of clothing; our stock is home-made—and the best-made.

All Wool Suits you can get for $10, $12.
Fine Suits for $15 to $25.
Dress Suits, the same.
Fall Overcoats, handsome as flowers.
Best of cloth, best of trimmings, best of fashioning and fitting, made by the best of work-people to sell to the best of people. Our hearts are in the winning this season of a more generous business than we ever had.

The prices are down now to bed-rock.
