FOR PRESIDENT
BENJAMIN HARRISON, OF INDIANA.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT
WHITELAW REID, OF NEW YORK.

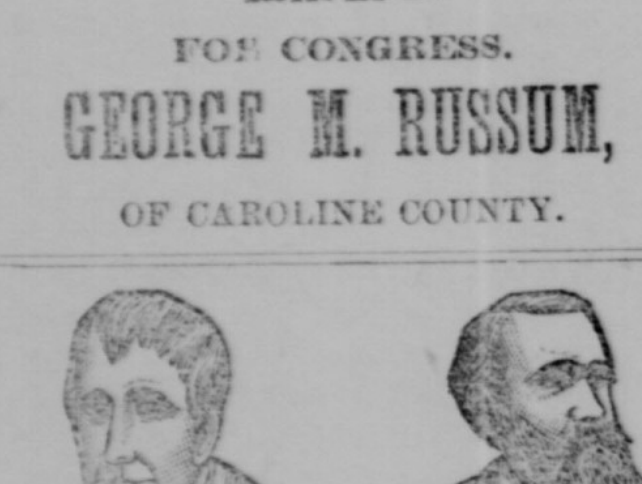
FOR CONGRESS.
GEORGE M. RUSSUM,
OF CAROLINE COUNTY.



GRANDFATHER AND GRANDSON.

IN accordance with a resolution of the Executive Committee of the State Central Committee passed, Sept. 13, 1892, the lately elected members composing the First District Congressional Convention are hereby called to meet in Convention at Salisbury, Wicomico County, on

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 5th, 1892,

at 12 m. to elect a member of the Board of Appeals for said District, and to nominate a candidate for Congress in said District for the unexpired term of Hon. Henry Page.

THOS. S. HODSON,
Chairman Republican Congressional Convention, 1st. Md. District.

FRIENDS,
EASTONIANS,
COUNTRYMEN!

Watch for the GAZETTE next issue. Tell your neighbors to get it and read an article which will then be put in print for the first time, and from the original manuscript of the late Ex-Gov. Bradford of Md, written in 1861 upon the "Main Object of the Rebellion." It is a bit of history all Marylanders should be acquaited with and especially the rising generation. We omit the publication of it this week in order to prepare our readers and their friends for it. We are fortunate to secure it, when the leading magazines of the country or great dailies would have paid liberally for it.

WE note the arrival of the Maryland Bulletin, now entered upon its 13th volume, a brilliant sheet printed by the pupils of the Maryland school for the deaf. It is surprising that so perfect a paper in mechanical execution, in rhetorical composition and brainy production could emanate from inhabitants of the silent realm.

THE red, white and red flaunted the names of Cleveland and Stevenson to the breeze over Washington street on Wednesday. The town was alive with democrats, jolly and jubilant. The Argus was here with his hundred eyes and it is not unlikely he will show his hundred stings before November 8th.

WE commend to our democratic readers the two articles in this issue from Advance Thought of September 15th. And especially to that on the "Assassination of David B. Hill." It will give the Southerner's view of the Force bill. The writer is evidently endowed with inteligence and reason

THE Democratic party, if intrusted with the control of the government, is now pledged, to repeal the tax on state bank issues, with a view to putting into circulation again, under such diverse legislation as the states may adopt, a flood of local bank issues. Only those who in the years before the war experienced the inconvenience and losses attendant upon the use of such money can appreciate what a return to that system involves.—Harrison's letter of Acceptance.

THE nomination of Messrs. Bratton and Brown by the Democratic Convention at Easton was a surprise to every one. They are both gentlemen of character, and of fair abilities and it might be supposed that their nomination would give general satisfaction and yet the reverse seems to be the case. This may be explained by the record these gentlement have made. Heretofore they have been recognized as independent if not opposed to the democratic bosses. They have been known among the "boys" as "kickers," and have been called "mugwumps," though, we think. incorrectly. These things under ordinary circumstances would make them stronger with the masses of the people who are getting tired of the machine methods of a few leaders on the other side of the bay.

Personally there is nothing against Messrs. Bratten & Brown. But if the people of the first district vote as they feel these gentlemen cannot carry this district. The one issue of the abolition of our present National Banking System and a return to the wild cat banks of thirty years ago would be enough to defeat them, if the people vote their honest sentiments. But perhaps these gentlemen may not stand on the Chicago platform. They may be as independent as heretofore. In this event it will be interesting to see what course the regulars will pursue.

Let us have a campaign of education. Let the principles of the two parties be freely discussed, and then with a free vote and a fair count we think Mr. Russum has nothing to fear.

GEN. SICKLES is a strong democrat. He was a member of the Chicago Convention that nominated Cleveland. He told them then and there that New York State had 25,000 G. A. R. votes against the choice of the convention. Sickles was for Hill. On Sept 21st, Gen. Sickles made a speech in Washington, the next day it was in the papers as follows:

"Gen. Daniel E. Sickles took advantage of the meeting of the heroic Third Army Corps last night to give Cleveland the vicious stab he has been saving up for the Democratic candidate ever since the Chicago Convention. The General made three speeches to the old corps. The first contained nothing except war reminiscences. He rose again, however, to pay a graceful tribute to President Harrison, who he eulogized as a brave soldier and a true man, and he added, after a significant pause:

"And he did not send a substitute to the war."

But the sharpest thrust came just as the reunion was about to break up. He rose to speak this time on a subject which he described as closer to his heart than any other—that of pensions. He declared that the soldiers of the war were justly entitled to all the pensions they saw fit to ask.

"It is their due," he said, "by the law of nations. The men who save a sinking ship at sea are, by universal custom, entitled to a part of the cargo as salvage. The soldiers of the Rebellion saved the ship of State, the salvage should be theirs. Take this home with you," he said, impressively, as he closed. "Think of it; consider it; tell it to your friends and to your neighbors, and they will see that no man is elected to an office of profit or trust who opposes the payment of pensions to the soldiers who put down the late Rebellion."

"That means Cleveland," was the murmur which ran through the members of the corps, and the words of the hero of Gettysburg have been passing from mouth to ear among the veterans to-day.

Assassination of David B. Hill.

M. M. POMEROY:

My Dear Sir:—I am glad to see Advance Thought leading the fight against humbug, hypocrisy, mugwumpery and gold bugism manifested in the candidacy of Grover Cleveland, posing a Democrat.

What democracy there is about him will require a post mortem to locate. He is a free trader, which the founders of the party were not. He is a monometalist, which the fathers were not, for they gave gold and silver equality in the power to coin money. Tom Benton, known as "Old Bullion," had no dread of silver; neither had James K. Polk. who signed the Sub-Treasury bill compelling the payment of all Government dues in gold and silver. This rule was changed only as to allowing payments to be made in greenbacks until 1873, when, to please foreign and domestic bondholders, silver was degraded to a commodity by somebody who is ashamed of and refuses to acknowledge his offspring, which thus became illegitimate like those of some prominent public men, begotten on the "wrong side of the blanket."—And so silver, one of the metals of the Constitution, is cast out as evil and regarded as a hoodoo by Mr. Cleveland and the money changers whose money bought his nomination at Chicago.

The tariff doctrines of Mr. Cleveland's convention are simply the ripened grain sown in South Carolina's nullification resolution, which sixty years ago called out Jackson's greatest state paper to "Fellow citizens of my native state," and also the declaration, "By the Eternal, the Federal Union must and shall be preserved." The tariff plank of that convention is simply a transcript of an article in the Constitution adopted by the Confederate States, and adopted to curry favor with England, that "nation of hop keepers," with whom it enjoyed a popularity as great as is accorded the Chicago platform on this year of grace.

Agreeing with Jefferson and Jackson as to tariff for revenue, with incidental protection to American industry; believing that the fathers were wise and patriotic in providing for bi-metalic coinage, I find myself antagonistic to the candidate, platform and policy of the Chicago convention.

I say "policy," but I hardly know that the party can be said to have one, for with a two-thirds membership in the House of Representatives during the past year, it has utterly failed to develop a policy For thirty five years it has been in a minority in one or more branches of the lawmaking power and the constructive faculty has been lost from non-usage. It has been obstructive, and too often destructive, but the constructive faculty is lost.

I have struggled on, hoping against hope and experience, but the Chicago convention has been too much for my optimism.

I looked to New York's great commoner, David B. Hill, as the possible Moses to lead us out of the Egypt of mugwumpism. I had confidence in his wisdom and leadership. I knew that for seven years his strong personality had withstood "the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune," leading to conquest a party which, but for his leadership was a mob, wrestling victory once and again from the jaws of defeat, and I saw him assassinated by the leaders of the party he had saved. Never, since a maddened populace cried "Not this man, but Barabas," has there been such folly and ingratitude.

Mr. Cleveland fears to stand on the tariff plank of the platform; the South and West don't swallow the silver plank, and by far the ablest journal in the party, the New York Sun, is playing a lone hand on the issue of an obsolete Force bill, an issue evolved from the inner consciousness of that wonderful feline, Mr. Dana's office cat.

If Mr. Cleveland is or was opposed to the Force bill when it was an issue in 1890. he was very reticent as to his opposition. Gorman and Faulkner and the Democratic Senators made good fight against it in Senate; Hill fought it to a finish in the speeches he made in that campaign; Cleveland said nothing about it. "My policy" as to tariff and opposition to silver (whose friends won the fight against the Force bill) occupied all his time, supplemented by the "holding of his breath" in the interest of Robert E. Pattison in Pennsylvania.

That the South cares nothing, fears nothing from it as an issue is proven by the fact that the chivalrous and grateful South mostly voted to nominate the only candidate who had not opposed the bill—when it was a living issue, which it long since ceased to be.

Mr. Harrison has given the country a fairly clean administration. His foreign policy has been firm but conservative. He is evidently a bi metalist, although not favorable to free coinage. He is a safe man and the Republic will suffer no wrong from his election. He will receive my suffrage.

Here is a new One.

Bonham, Texas, Aug. 10, '92.

M. M. POMEROY:

I wish to ask a question. The People's party speakers in this country are telling that when Grover Cleveland was married that he invited Fred Douglass, his white wife and his negro daughter to his wedding and that the invitations was accepted, also that at one of his receptions Mrs. Cleveland took the arm of a negro (the minister from Hayti) and walked with him. The Democrats here say it is all a lie, and are offering to wager money and property to the amount of thousands of dollars for the proof of the above statement, but how can I obtain the proof. If you can answer do so by return mail or publish the proof in Advance Thought. Hoping that you can give me the information desired, I am, yours in haste, W.

Grover Cleveland never invited Fred Douglass to his wedding, nor did he ever saunter along, arm in arm with him, or introduce him to his wife. Before his marriage, in Buffalo, he did not draw the color line or so carefully select his companions and advisors as he has since. He would not associate with colored men nor with one out of one thousand of white men who live by labor, or who are farmers, mechanics and others not of wealth and financial position. Thos. A. Hendricks, Horatio Seymour, Thos. Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln, George Washington, David B. Hill, Governor Boies and scores of others we could name, are as pleasant and well disposed to a poor man as to a rich one, but Grover Cleveland is not built that way. Samuel J. Tilden was colder than a brass knob on the outside of a church door in January, but he was perpetual warmth compared with Cleveland. Money is his God. Millionaires are his advisors. He has no sympathy with the great and useful wealth producing element, except to see it in the furrow plowing, or in the cotton field or harvest field working to get money to pour into the treasury for the benefit of those who live by loaning money and who, as money is kept scarce, obtain high rates of interest while labor has its support but no profit.

Those who say that Cleveland is in love with the colored race, or the labor race, is mistaken.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

[FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 26, '92.

Good Republican news comes from all quarters these days notwithstanding the quietness of the campaign, and especially from New York, without which Cleveland cannot possibly be elected. Secretary McComas, of the National committee, who came over to add his mite towards helping the republican candidate in his old Congressional district, adjacent to the District of Columbia, says the work of the campaign is in splendid condition and that victory is as nearly assured as anything political can be in advance. Ex-Congressman Farquhar, of New York, who has been in Washington several days, says that state is bound to cast its electoral votes for Harrison and Reid, unless the democrats of New York can get away with 80,000 majority which the republicans will bring down to the Harlem river, and he has not the remotest idea that they can come within 30,000 of doing it.

Those familiar with things political in the South only smiled when the news that Weaver had cancelled his engagement to speak in that section because of the bad treatment he had received while on the stump, was received here, It is but a repetition of an old story. The South never hears but one side, either on the stump or in its newspapers, if it did it would long ago have ceased to be so solidly democratic, as its material interests are all dependent upon the maintainance of a protective tariff. As it is, candidate Weaver may thank his stars that he was not greeted with loaded shot guns in place of the decayed eggs.

Well, the great encampment, the greatest in the history of the G. A. R. is over, the crowds all gone and the streets of Washington look about as usual at this season of the year, but it will be many a long year before the people, both visitors and Washingtonians, stop talking about the grand affair and the royal good time every body had, for no person who witnessed the events of last week, particularly the parade and the reunions can never forget. The veterans and their friends were glad they came to Washington, but not more so than were the people of Washington.

Gen. Dan Sickles. who was one of the Tammany delegates to the Chicago convention, excited much comment among his Republican comrades at the encampment by praising the soldierly qualities of President Harrison, and by his laying particular stress upon the fact that he fought for the Union instead of hiring a substitute as Mr. Cleveland did. This, taken in connection with the dislike which Gen. Sickles is known to feel towards the democratic nominee, caused the prediction to be freely made that before election day he would be openly working for Harrison and Reid; and he is not by any means the only democratic member of the G. A. R., who dislikes Mr. Cleveland. Hundreds of them stated while here that they could not bring themselves to support a man like Mr. Cleveland when his opponent was a comrade whose bravery they had seen tested and proven on the field of battle. Important Typewriter Decision.

Judge Lacombe, sitting in the U. S. Circuit Court, has, on the motion of the Remington Typewriter Company, granted an injunction against the agents of the Franklin, restraining the sale of that machine on account of infringement of Remington patents. The decision is an important one, as it proves the control of the fundamental patents, and may affect other makers of typewriters. The Remington people have heretofore been quite passive, but it is stated on good authority that they are now likely to proceed against all other typewriter manufacturing companies. In some cases purchasers of machines which infringe Remington patents may also be proceeded against for infringement.—N. Y. Tribune. tf

HE Missed his Opportunity! DON'T Miss Yours, Reader. The majority neglect their opportunities, and from that cause live in poverty and die in obscurity! Harrowing despair is the lot of many, as they look back on lost, forever lost, opportunity. Life is passing! Reach out. Be up and doing. Improve your opportunity, and secure prosperity, prominence, peace. It was said by a philosopher, that "the Goddess of Fortune offers a golden opportunity to each person at some period of life; embrace the chance, and she pours out her riches; fail to do so and she departs, never to return." How shall you find the GOLDEN opportunity? Investigate every chance that appears worthy, and of fair promise; that is what all successful men do. Here is an opportunity, such as is not often within the reach of laboring people. Improved, it will give, at least, a grand start in life. The GOLDEN opportunity for many is here. Money to be made rapidly and honorably by any industrious person of either sex. All ages. You can do the work and live at home, wherever you are. Even beginners are easily earning from $5 to $10 per day. You can do as well if you will work, not too hard, but industriously; and you can increase your income as you go on. You can give spare time only, or all your time to the work. Easy to learn. Capital not required. We start you. All is comparatively new and really wonderful. We instruct and show you how, free. Failure unknown among our workers. No room to explain here. Write and learn all free, by return mail. Unwise to delay. Address at once, H. Hallett & Co., Box 880, Portland, Maine.

WONDERFUL

The cures which are being effected by Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1529 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa., in Consumption, Catarrh, Neuralgia, Bronchitis, Rheumatism, and all chronic diseases, by their Compound Oxygen Treatment, are indeed marvelous.

If you are a sufferer from any disease which your physician has failed to cure, write for information about this treatment, and their book of 200 pages, giving a history of Compound Oxygen, its nature and effects, with numerous testimonials from patients, to whom you may refer for still further information, will be promptly sent, without charge.

This book, aside from its great merit as a medical work, giving, as it does, the result of years of study and experience, you will find a very interesting one.

Perfect clothing at manufacturer's prices

There's extravagance in spending money with anybody but the manufacturers—in Clothing, the worst extravagance of all. Direct dealing is the only road to economy—the only road, as truly, to good clothing. Inferior quality, inferior manufacture—these are the only ways to cheapen clothing—and who suffers? Isn't it you? All the time? In all ways?

In planning for the greater business of this Fall, we want to make this clear to every wearer of clothing: our stock is home-made—and the best-made.

All Wool Suits you can get for $10, $12.

Fine Suits for $15 to $25.

Dress Suits, the same.

Fall Overcoats, handsome as flowers.

Best of cloth, best of trimmings, best of fashioning and fitting, made by the best of work-people to sell to the best of people. Our hearts are in the winning this season of a more generous business than we ever had.

The prices are down now to bed-rock.
