Our Public Schools

Are the main-stay of our republic. In them are being cultivated the minds which are to be our future law-makers and leaders in every walk of life. How essential it is that these minds should be united to strong, healthy bodies. So many children suffer from impurities and poison in the blood that it is a wonder that they ever grow up to be men and women. Many parents cannot find words strong enough to express their gratitude to Hood's Sarsaparilla for its good effect upon their children. Scrofula, salt rheum and other diseases of the blood are effectually and permanently cured by this excellent medecine, and the whole being is given strength to resist attacks of disease.

'Tis Even More Than That.

The modern family newspaper must be more than a chronicler of passing events. Beside full and detailed accounts of the world's happenings, its columns must be replete with articles of a miscellaneous character of interest and merit. The family newspaper of today, to be a success, must produce a diversified class of matter that furnishes entertainment to all classes. All these qualifications are embodied in Pennsylvania Grit, that peer of illustrated newspaper, published at Williamsport, Pa., and whose true merit has won for it a leading place among the journals of this country. Agents and newsboys are wanted in every village and town in the United States, not already supplied to sell Grit. The Eastern Shore for Consumptives.

"The Eastern Shore of Maryland as a Health Resort for Consumptives" is the title of an article in the September number of the Times and Register, a medical journal of Philadelphia, by Dr. C. W. Chancellor, secretary of the Maryland State board of health. Among other things Dr. Chancellor writes: "From statistics furnished by a number of intelligent physicians and other persons, it is safe to assert that the peninsula of Maryland, known as the Eastern Shore, a large area of which is only a few feet above sea level, furnishes one of the grandest atmospheres for persons suffering with pulmonary affections to be found in the world. Many physicians practicing in this section of the State testify that consumption is an exceedingly rare disease among the native residents, and that in all forms of bronchial affections the climate is very generally beneficial, especially in cases where there prevails great irritability of the bronchial mucus membrane. Nothing is more common than to meet with bronchial diseases which, after having been benefited by a short residence on the Eastern Shore, are aggravated by a visit to the high lands, and again relieved by a return to this locality. In incipient consumption the Eastern Shore of Maryland may be cosidered the most favorable place of residence in America."

THE LAND OF SUNSHINE.

A Unique Country where the Skies are almost Never Clouded, while the air is Cool and Bracing, like Perpetual Spring.

As an anomalous southern resort, by reason of the fact that there one may escape summer heat no less than winter cold, New Mexico is rapidly becoming famous. Averaging through out the entire territory 5,000 feet in altitude above sea-level, and characterized by dry air which, unlike a humid atmosphere, is incapable of communicating heat, the temperature in midsummer remains at a delightfully comfortable degree through the day, and at night becomes invariably brisk and bracing. The sunshine is almost constant, yet the most violent out-door exertion may be undertaken without fear of distressful consequences. Sunstroke or prostration are absolutely unknown there. It is an ideal land for a summer outing. Its climate is prescribed by reputable physicians as a specific for pulmonary complaints, and the medicinal Hot Springs at Las Vegas are noted for their curative virtues. The most sumptuous hotel in the west, the Montezuma, is located at these springs. Write to Jno. J. Byrne, 723 Monadnock Block, Chicago, for "The Land of Sunshine," an entertaining and profusely illustrated book descriptive of this region, the most picturesque and romantic in the United States.

Oregon, Washington and the Northwest Pacific Coast.

The constant demand of the traveling public to the far West for a comfortable and at the same time an economical mode of traveling, has led to the establishment of what is known as Pullman Colonist Sleepers.

These cars are built on the same general plan as the regular first class Pullman Sleeper, the only difference is that they are not upholstered.

They are furnished complete with good comfortable hair mattresses, warm blankets, snow white linen, curtains, plenty of towels, combs, brushes, etc., which secure to the occupant of a berth as much privacy as is to be had in first class sleepers. There are also separate toilet rooms for ladies and gentlemen, and smoking is absolutely prohibited. For full information send for Pullman Colonist Sleeper Leaflet. E. L. ANNUAL STATE CONVENTION.

The Eighteenth Annual Meeting of the W. C. T. U., of Maryland will be held at Elkton, Cecil Co., Oct., 5th, 6th, and 7th.

Members of these Committees are urged to be prompt in attendance. Delegates and members are expected to provide themselves with luncheon on Wednesday 5th.

HEALTH.

READ BEFORE THE BALTIMORE COUNTY EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

The W. C. T. U has often been criticised for attempting too much.

Many have thought it would be better to confine its efforts to the one idea, the abolition of the liquor trafic. Of coarse that must always in its vast importance tower above every other issue, but to accomplish this, many other needed reforms must necessarily be attempted. At first, the work was mainly the rescue of the drunkard; then it was realized that "prevention is better than cure" and the Juvenile and Kindergarten work was begun.

When the injurious effects of tobacco were known, and how it prepares the way for the liquor habit in many instances, the department of Narcotics was found necessary. To reach our vast army of teachers and pupils Scientific Temperance Instructions was secured.

To enlist the young people in the temperance work, the happy thoughts of the Y's was carried into effect. To be sure of the children, the mothers must be instructed in the injurious effects of intoxicants, so they should not, by using stimulants in the child's infancy, create a craving for them in after life which should doom the poor little innocent to a drunkard's grave before it is out of its cradle.

So the Mothers' Meetings were organized, Social Purity, Flower Mission, Prison Work, Literary and many others have all been added as the need of them was realized, and willing hands and hearts found ready to carry on the work.

I have been asked to speak particularly today upon the department of Health. I must confess when I joined the W. C. T. U., I wondered what could be done in this department, for it seemed something with which individual effort had nothing to do. Since then I have realized that we are largely what we will to be, and in this matter of health we are gravely responsible.

Women have often been accused of paying too much attention to the adornment of the person, and perhaps with justice, but a healthy body is distinct from and superior to adornment and a "sound mind in a sound body" should be the aim of every true woman.

The old idea which still exists in some countries, that to mortify the flesh is acceptable to the Gods, should find no place in our land, for this is surely the age of physical culture. So much attention is paid to it in some of our colleges, that people begin to enquire if the body is being developed at the expense of the mind. Of course there is no necessity for this, and to any who are tempted in that direction we would say, "This ought ye to have done and not to have left the other undone." Permit me to give a few practical thoughts on the subject.

The great need of many women is exercise in the open air, and in many cases this could easily be arranged even in a very busy life with untold benefit to health and spirits. Before this can be the blessing it should, however, our women need to get rid of the weight of heavy skirts which year after year in the winter season they have borne uncomplainingly, to the detriment of health and with untold inconvenience.

By consulting Miss Waring, on North Chas. St., our State Superintendent of Health, you will gain all needed information as to the comfortable, healthful and inexpensive garments which take their place, and (I speak from experience) you will never again desire to return to the martyrdom of custom. Of the sin of tight clothing I need hardly speak, for our sensible women well know the injury wrought to this wonderful beautiful house with which our Father has provided us. We will surely put forth every effort to render it pure and strong when we remember St. Paul's words: "Know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God? and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price, therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit; which are God's."

To me, the many-sided work of the W. C. T. U., seems one heroic effort to bring the world into harmony with the design of our Heavenly Father, from which many, because of sin have gone so far astray.

Let us do all we can to help, even if it is in an humble way, until we can indeed glorify God in our bodies and spirits, which are His.

Thieves at Royal Oak.—Sunday morning E. T. Benson discovered that his store at Royal Oak had been opened and robbed of $200 worth of goods, mostly clothing. The back door looking out over a field toward the river, has a glass window in it protected by a heavy shutter, Saturday the shutter was put up as usual, the door was locked from the inside and the key was left in the lock. The burglar pried off the shutter, cut the sash, broke the glass, and then (it is supposed) put his head and arm through and unlocked the door. Frank Fairbank, at the Oak, found Sunday morning that his horse had been driven during the night and then returned.—Wm. S. Denny's wagon was stolen the same Saturday night from in front of Kilmon's shop, where it had been left for repairs. The wagon was found in Plain Dealing woods.

Paradoxical As It May Seem

Fishes are weighed in their scales;
An elephant packs his own trunk;
Rats do not tell their own tales;
The drink and the sot are both drunk.

Dogs will not wear their own pants;
Which facts lay them open to scorn;
No nephew or niece fancies ants;
And a cow does not blow her own horn.

No porcupine nibs its own quill;
A cat cannot parse its own claws;
A bird will not pay its own bill.
Yet orphan bears still have their paws.

Sick ducks will not go to a quack;
A horse cannot plough its own mane;
A ship is not hurt by a tack;
And a window don't suffer from pain.

In worship, not in hate.
My whole a poet great.

No. 290.—Transpositions.

In a green charming one in a tropical sea
Dwelt a cannibal king by the name of Gumbee.
Like Flora McFlimsey, of Washington square,
This tan colored monarch had "nothing to wear."
Though his costume was light, yet it didn't show dirt.
If he fell in the river, why nothing was hurt.

Whene'er he grew hungry, he went on a raid,
And from his fat subjects selections he made.
His "long pig" he tied to a tree or a tree,
And cooked up his dinner without any Three;
And then undisturbed in the shade he would snore,
Stretched out on the grass 'neath the broad cocoa four.

What happier life could a mortal contrive?
Alas! that good fortune forever must fret
One day as the king took his afternoon sleep
A slumbering hurricane rose from the deep,
Picked him up, whirled him around, dropped him into the sea,
Thus ending the chapter of happy Gumbee.

No. 291.—Decapitations.

A Short Stop.

Professor Short once said to his pupils, "Let the ink-stand and the paper-weight until it is still enough to hear a gum-drop and an ear-ring or I will make a gad-fly until you all dew-drop and cry short-stop."
—Good Housekeeping.

DIED.

MILLER.—At the residence of his parents, James and Elizabeth Miller, near Longwoods on September 24th, James F. N. Miller, in the 27th year of his age.

A tear within the father's eye,
A mother's breaking heart,
Can only tell the agony
How hard it is to part.

Death has claimed our darling son,
Set a seal upon his brow,
In the arms of our dear Saviour,
He is justly resting now.

FATHER AND MOTHER.

We miss thee from our home, dear brother,
We miss thee from thy place,
A shadow o'er our life is cast,
We miss the sunshine of thy face.

We miss thy kind and willing hands,
Thy fond and earnest care,
Our home is dark without thee,
We miss thee everywhere.
