Personal Mention.—Mr. I. W. McNeil, of the Passenger Department, Pennsylvania Railroad, made us a pleasant call on Tuesday. Mr. McNeil incidentally remarked that it had been decided by the several roads not to reduce the fare to the World's Fair.

Mr. E. Spencer Hambleton, of St. Michaels, called on Tuesday to see the workings of a country newspaper office that supported Harrison and Reid.

Miss May Chilton, of Denton, has been visiting her brother Mr. L. R. Hooper.

Jno. Y. Todd wants the postoffice, so do several others. The newspaper man ought to get something tangible.

Messrs. McDaniel, Butler and Brown have made an enviable record for themselves in the commissioner's office, and are receiving the plaudits of all parties.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of Dr. Wm. M. Pippin formerly of Easton to Addie Wilson Thomas of Millington, Md., on Wednesday morning December 7th at 11.30 o'clock. Chapel of the Holy Cross.

Mr. John P. Stelle will remove with his family to Baltimore next Tuesday. Mr. Stelle has been a prominent citizen of Easton for a number of years, and both he and his wife will be missed in church and society. They have lived on the Eastern Shore since being married and Mr. Stelle says while he has lived in California and traveled in many and favored sections, he will always look upon this as the garden spot and hopes to return in the future. The cause of leaving is that of having his family more central, as he is on the road most of his time.

Mr. Thomas Hopkins Neal, son of J. A. F. Neal, Sr., of Skipton, and Miss Allie May Morris, of Syracuse, N. Y., were married on Thursday, Nov. 10th.

Miss Maud Chaplain, of Easton, who has been visiting her uncle Dr. Chaplain, has gone to Baltimore to spend a week.—Times.

jul9tf SAM. E. SHANNAHAN.

Paralyzed on the Street.—Isaac H. Henry died suddenly Tuesday afternoon in Easton. He was standing by the court house fence talking with some gentlemen, when he was stricken with apoplexy. He was taken to his son's, Oliver Henry's, on West street, but expired before the house was reached. Mr. Henry lived on one of the Adkins farms, at Kings Creek, and was buried Thursday, from Landing Neck M. E. Church. He was almost 70 years old, and those who knew him speak in the highest terms of him, as being a good, worthy and valued citizen.

Goldsborough sold the estate Tuesday, consisting of three farms, namely, "Idaho," 168 acres, in Bailey's Neck; "Otwell," 357 acres, and "East Otwell" 192 acres, in Oxford Neck. They were all bought by Richard H. Goldsborough, of Washington. He paid $9,500 for "Idaho" and $25,300 for the two "Otwell" farms.

IF YOUR BACK ACHES,
Or you are all worn out, really good for nothing, it is general debility. Try
BROWN'S IRON BITTERS.
It will cure you, cleanse your liver, and give a good appetite.

Travelers Take Notice.—When you come to Easton, or leave the town simply enquire for Cook's buss, always in attendance at the trains and boats. You will be guaranteed polite and careful attention. Avoid the clamorings and pullings of the bussmen. Cook will wait on you in a gentlemanly manner. tf

The Forty Hours of Devotion.—SS. Peter and Paul Church. Rev. Fr. Waldron, pastor.—The Forty Hours devotion opened at SS. Peter and Paul Church with all the pomp and ceremony of the church. Long before the hour appointed for its commencement the ushers found it impossible to seat the large number of people who wished to witness the services. Promptly at 11 o'clock the procession of little girls headed by Master of Ceremonies, Fred Boulay of St. Peter's Cathedral Wilmington, Del., entered the church by the main door and proceeded up the center aisle where they took seats in front of the altar. Immediately after another procession proceeded from the vestry rooms headed by the little altar boys clad in pure white cassocks and followed by sixteen larger boys dressed in black cassocks and white surplices. Immediately Solemn High Mass began Rev. T. F. Waldron being celebrant, Very Rev. John A. Morgan, Superior of the Jesuite College, Baltimore Md., Deacon; Mr. John Hartnett, Sub Deacon; Master F. Boulay, Master of Ceremonies; Mr. D. Stewart censer bearer; Masters J. Smith and J. Brady acolytes. The sermon was an elegant one delivered by Father Morgan. At the end of the Mass a procession was formed and preceeded by the Cross bearer, altar boys and girls wended its way through the aisles of the church. In the evening Solemn Vespers was sung with the same officers of the Mass and another sermon by Father Morgan on the Holy Eucharist which indeed was a master piece. On Monday morning first Mass was celebrated at 6 o'clock by Father Morgan. At 10 o'clock High Mass by Father Waldron and followed by a sermon by the same gentleman. In the evening Solemn Vespers was sung by Rev. Francis Farley of Hockessin, Del., as celebrant; Rev. Fr. Mickel of Cape Charles, Virginia, Deacon; Rev. Fr. Waldron, Sub Deacon; Mr. John Hartnett, Master of Ceremonies, Master Fred Boulay, censer bearer; the sermon was delivered by Rev. Father Mickel. Tuesday Frst Mass at six o'clock by Father Farley, Second Mass at 7 by Father Waldron, Third Mass at 10 o'clock with Father Mickel as celebrant, Father Farley as Deacon, Father Waldron as Sub Deacon; the sermon was delivered by Father Farley which was indeed a treat seldom afforded to the people of Easton. Father Farley has indeed made many friends in Easton. In the evening Solemn Vespers was celebrated with Father Farley as celebrant, Father Mickel Deacon, Father Waldron Sub Deacon, Mr. John Hartnett as Master of Ceremonies; the sermon was delivered by the renowned orator of the Wilmington Diocese, Rev. W. J. Bermingham of St. Paul's Church Wilmington, Del. Fr. Birmingham's subject was "The Catholic Church," which subject he handled in such a manner as to leave a lasting impression upon the congregation present. It is hoped that he will soon again appear in our midst and will always be sure of a hearty welcome and a large audience.

The music during the entire services was under the direction of Mr. John McHale with Miss Kate Ryan as organist, deserved great praise for the way it was rendered. The choir was assisted by Mrs. Carrol of Baltimore whose pleasing voice aided greatly to the singing.

The Altar Decorations were the most elaborate ever seen in in Easton. The choicest of cut flowers and potted plants interspersed with innumerable candles extended from the ceiling of the church to the floor. Over the center of the altar hung a white dove with outstretched wings and from its beak hung festoons of smilax. During the three days vast crowds of people of all denominations visited the church and admired the decorations. When its altars were illuminated it seemed as if the spectators were granted the priviledge of viewing one sight of Fairy Land. Father Waldron has indeed made a name in Easton which will not soon be forgotten and the congregation has a pastor in whom they may well feel proud.

Fifty-Eighth Annual Report of the Union Dorcas Society.—"Whatsoever ye do, do heartily as unto the Lord." If you will remember, when the Apostles were brought before the Council, Gamaliel said, "Let these men alone, for if this work be of men it will come to naught, but if it be of God, ye cannot overthrow it." For nearly sixty years this Society has come before the public each November and it is entirely owing to the kindly assistance that it has been enabled to perform each year its allotted task. This Society is so well known that it seems unnecessary to speak of its work and mode of management, suffice it to say, there is no case of distress or want that is not promptly relieved and nothing is given without the personal supervision of the managers. Would that this appeal might touch the heart of each one, as our need this year is most urgent. We have literally not one cent in the treasury—with every prospect of a severe winter, and with a number of old and infirm persons who rely upon us for the bare necessities of life. We beg and implore you that we will not have to go to them empty-handed but that out of your abundance you will give to them that have need.

The Board will therefore close this report by commending the cause to the care of Him in whose hand are the hearts of the children of men, praying that He may open them to a liberal support of this Society, so that under the blessing of Heaven much good may be effected through its instrumentality.

Death of Ephraim Deifenderffer.—Ephraim Deifenderffer died on Monday night last at his residence at Peach Blossom, aged 73. Mr. Deifenderffer came to this county some years ago from Pennsylvania, and was a highly respected and valued citizen. He was a faithful Christian man, being a member of the Dunkard Church. He leaves a widow and several grown children. The funeral was from the Peach Blossom Dunkard Church last Thursday.

Miss Elinor Groome Deceased.—Miss Elinor Condit Groome, daughter of Robert W. Groome, died in Baltimore on Sunday, Nov. 20, 1892. The funeral was from Christ Church, Easton, on Tuesday. The Rev. Mr. Baldwin officiated. The deceased was the niece of Mrs. Anna K. Dawson and well-known in Easton society.

Death of E. Madison Towers.—Madison Towers, one of Caroline county's best known farmers, died at his residence, near Two Johns, in the Fourth district, Monday morning, aged forty one years. He had been in poor health for several months, and while at the polls on election day was seized with hemorrhages. Mr. Towers was a prominent Democrat, and was the party's nominee for county treasurer in 1885, but was defeated by a small majority by his brother, W. Frank Towers. Last year he was a candidate for judge of the Orphans' Court and together with the other nominees of the Democratic party, was defeated by the fusionists. He held several offices of trust, including that of deputy sheriff, tax collector, Dover bridge director, and at the time of his death was election supervisor. His wife, who was a daughter of the Hon. Chas. H. Todd, died about two years ago. Six children survive him.

Apple Borer.—Examine your apple, peach and pear trees. By digging around them you will find a gum just below the surface that comes from a wound made by the apple borer. You must, by all means, dig him out (which increases the wound—) or scald him. Make a basin around the root of the tree that will hold a gallon or two of water, then fill the basin full of boiling water. This will kill him, destroy his eggs and will not injure the tree. (A wire is sometimes used to hunt for and destroy him but it is an uncertain method.) Leached wood ashes may then be put about the tree to prevent further depredations.—Farmers' Voice.

St. Michaels Items.—From our regular correspondent.—This last week or so oysters have been in great demand and bring no good prices and our wise men of the democratic party say that all this is brought about by the result of our late election. Some believe all this and talk of it in the stores and thank the good Lord that Grover will take his seat in the near future.

Miss Olivia Baynard and Milton Fairbank were married last week by Rev. Dr. Mo is.

Whilst walking on our Fourist street last Sunday afternoon I saw at least six drunken men—s me just a little drunk, some all the way over the line. This was rather a bad showing for a local option town, and the question naturally comes up—where does the whiskey that intoxicates these men come from? No clubs—no bar rooms—yet the ardent is here. This is something Major Stewart will have to attend to. He will find that the people of this town will help him in every way possible to rid the place of the stuff and of the man that sells it.

Our town has had a boom in the building line this year, but at present there is but little doing among the mechanics.

Mr. Charles Richey and wife, formerly of this town, spent part of last week in St. M. as guests of Capt. Ed. Jones.

Mrs. A. H. Hambleton is in New York visiting her son S. John Hambleton.

Joseph Pope of Easton spent Thanksgiving with his mother.

Services in our churches last Thursday prove to the outside world how good we are or how good we ought to be.

Dr. J. C. D. Davis, who has been practicing here the past two years, has grown tired of the place and left for Baltimore, where he will do the future practice. We wish the doctor success. He leaves many friends here. In conversation with the doctor regarding his leaving us he said "our people are all O. K., sociable and everything that could be desired by anyone, but your town is too healthy for a young man, who wishes a fair, to settle in." This speaks rather bad for the success of any physician, but I say grand thing for the people to realize that we have pitched our tents in so healthy a location. To do anything should induce strangers and those seeking health to come among us, should it not?

Mrs. Mary Marshall of Graces Neck, who has been quite sick the past two weeks, at present writing is much better. Heart trouble is the cause of her illness.

Louis T. Marshall is visiting his mother. We are glad to see Lou's home again.

Several of our citizens took a pleasure jaunt last Tuesday on Steamer Tangier. Their intentions when leaving home were to spend part of the day in Baltimore, but man proposes, etc. The Tangier's bawser broke, the boat floating gracefully out to the mud and there reclined until after 6 P. M., when the whistle blew and away the boat started, cleared the mud and arrived in Baltimore at 10.30, then made the return trip arriving in St. M. 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

The people in this part of the globe are well pleased with Judge Stump's decision last Tuesday regarding the man who so brutally assaulted Mr. Sullivan two years ago last September.

Christmas is coming, so you would suppose if you should glance into the stores that they in the things that are calculated to make children happy. I'm an old man now, yet I love to let memory take a retrospective view to the happy Christmas days that have come and gone in my life.

The Mite Society, M. E. Church gave an entertainment Thurs ay evening, and it was the most enjoyable the people in this section have ever enjoyed. It was well attended. Destrick Steele was opened. I wish that I could faithfully describe to your readers the actions, the dress and the looks of the scholars as they recited their lessons and spake their speeches.

John W. Dean as Nathan Obadiah Grimes was in his place as teacher. I went to enjoy all this, hoping it would drive away a spell of the blues that had hung over me all day, sufficient to say that when I left the blues were gone.

Royal Oak Items.—From our regular correspondent.—Mrs. E. T. and Mr. Stewart Benson have returned from their trip to New York and Mass.

Rev. H. Clay Turner of Oxford preached in the M. E. Church of this place on Wednesday evening.

Miss Mollie Denny of Deep Neck is entertaining Miss Jessie Tilden, Jersey City, N. J.

While the vessel Saml. H. Maguire was at anchor in Miles River Friday night, robbers broke into her state rooms and took ninety dollars. No tracks of the guilty parties have been found.

Winter Excursion Tickets on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has placed on sale at all its principal ticket offices excursion tickets to all the prominent winter resorts. This territory includes the resorts of New Jersey, Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee, Florida and Cuba. The tickets are sold at the usual low rates, and the return coupons are valid until May 30th, 1893.

The magnificent facilities of the Pennsylvania Railroad, with its many connections, make this the favorite line for winter travel.

Selected Gems.—Thank God for sympathy; it has a wonderful power of turning keys in rusty locks.—New York Observer.

Men must judge of their religion by examining its foundation; if that fall, the superstructure is perishable and worthless.—Flavel.

Every kindness done to others is a step nearer the life of Christ.—Dean Stanley.

Peace is the sentinel of the soul, which keeps the heart and the mind of the Christian through Jesus Christ.—Huntington.

Man never deceives himself so much as when he attempts to deceive God.—Caryl.

The devil comes to the sea by the river and to the heart by the eye.—Old Proverb.

How shall the dead arise is no question of my faith; to believe only possibilities is not faith, but mere philosophy.—Sir T. Browne.

If man can by art make of ashes the curious glass, why cannot an omnipotent God, of dust and ashes, make glorified bodies fair as crystal?—Lowe.

Power against us is granted to satan in two ways—either for our punishment when we yield to temptation, or to our glory when we stand the test.—St. Cyprian.

From David learn to give thanks in everything. Every furrow in the book of Psalms is sown with seeds of thanksgiving.—Jeremy Taylor.

The Comet.

It is forging on through space,
With its fiery, flaring face,
Like the headlight of a train to ruin dashing;
Plunging near and yet more near,
Till this trembling mundane sphere
Sees ahead the ruddy danger signal flashing!
Is it Biela's comet—say?
Or some other queer estray
From the meteoric dance of flame-clad houris?
Some Peri-like evict?
Or some blazing derelict,
Driven on by the howling fates and furies?
Will it telescope the earth
With a sort of ghastly mirth?
Or be telescoped itself by earth's star-gazers?
Doth it hide hot coals or hail
In its long resplendent tail?
A supply of polished stones or stellar glaciers?
Is there room for it to pass?
Thrilling query! for alas!
If there isn't, Mother Earth may rue the tussle
While her victor vaulting clear,
May surprise some future sphere
With a specimen of Meteoric muscle!
Moral. Ere it greets your eyes,
Flaming 'twixt the earth and skies
(Suspended like the coffin of Mohamet),
Set to rights your houses all,
And make ready, great and small,
For the coming and humming of the Comet!

ELEANDOR C. DONNELLY in Phila. Times.

The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York has never been slow to recognize its obligations to the community in time of danger and emergency. It owes its existance to the people of the State of New York, and it owes its growth and greatness to the people of all the States of the Union. It was the first great corporation in the land to subscribe for a million of the Government bonds at the outbreak of the Rebellion, and this act turned the current of doubt and hesitancy among moneyed men and institutions into a steady stream of confident and patriotic support to the National credit. When scurvy smote the military posts and hospitals and the armies in the field it protected the lives of thousands of its policy holders by contributing $20,000 for the purchase of fresh fruits and vegetables. When hundreds of its policy holders lay houseless on the prairies after the great Chicago fire, it telegraphed $10,000 to the relief committee. When Memphis was threatened by the yellow fever it guarded the outposts by a contribution of $5,000, although it had no policy holders in that city. When the appalling Johnstown inundation occurred in Pennsylvania, $10,000 were wired to Governor Bullock to use in his discretion and more recently the sufferers by the great fire in St. Johns, N. S., a community which has largely shown its confidence in this Company in preference to the Dominion companies, received a generous contribution for their immediate relief.

The above correspondence testifies again the alert and the lively sense of responsibility which the management of this Company has always shown to its public duties and obligations. While we hope it may be spared the necessity of similar evidences of magnanimity in the future, it is not likely that it will be. History repeats itself and the history of the Mutual Life will be ever that of a great and world-wide moneyed corporation which does its duty to the people which gave it being and to the people who support it, not grudgingly nor of necessity, but promptly, cheerfully, and in a spirit of the widest beneficence.

Avenged.

If I should quarrel with thee, friend, and say
Hard things from sudden spite,
Be sure my sorrow will avenge thee quite
Before the passing of another day;
So give me way.

Seek not to check the madness of my course;
Each word shall be a dart
To lodge and rankle at mine inmost heart.
Thou art revenged by mine own remorse
With sevenfold force.

—ARTHUR L. SALMON in Academy.

The Christmas Number of Scribner's Magazine is made notable by the great richness and variety of its illustration, including a novelty in magazine pictures—a colored frontispiece—reproducing in fac-simile the rich effect of a water-color painting, made for this magazine by L. Marchetti. The literary quality of the number is indicated by the distinguished list of contributors including such names as Thomas Bailey Aldrich, Archibald Forbes, George W. Cable, Frank D. Millet, H. H. Boyesen, Octave Thanet, George A. Hibbard, Will H. Low, and Kenyon Cox. The articles present a striking group on certain phases of modern art, bringing in the same number a discussion of French Wall Paintings, American Decorative Art at the World's Fair, Norwegian Painters of the Present Day, and a brief discussion of Why We Paint the Nude, by two eminent American artists, with a full-page picture by each to illustrate the text. These art articles bring together wonderful reproductions, in black and white, of original paintings by Baudry, Puvis de Chavannes, Laurens, and Cabanel among Frenchmen; Hans Dahl, Arbo, and Hansen among Norwegians; Reinhart, Weir, Shirlaw, Blashfield, Beckwith, and Dodge among Americans. It is peculiarly appropriate that Frank D. Millet the director in charge, should write the article on Decoration at the World's Fair, that H. H. Boyesen should write of the painters of his native country, Norway, and that Will H. Low, whose education and sympathies are with French art, should discuss modern French mural painting.

The fiction of the number is remarkably bright and happy in tone, and full of delicate sentiment. It represents a wide choice of subject and background. "For the Cross," by George I. Putnam, is a Christmas story of soldier life on the plains; "An Assisted Providence," by Octave Thanet, has for its background that delightful Western town which has been the setting for her recent series of stories; George W. Cable tells the true story of a slave insurrection on a tropical island—a wonderful bit of color in words; George A. Hibbard writes the story of a social belle; Madame de Meissner tells an ingenious and exciting tale of the late chief of the Russian police, and Miss Briscoe describes an unfortunate domestic complication which was happily settled.

Mr. Howells' Future Plans.—While MR. HOWELLS will not, during 1893, confine his literary work to any single periodical, it may be authoritively announced that he has entered into a contract with The Ladies' Home Journal whereby his most important work will, for some time to come, first see print in the pages of that magazine. His new novel, "The Coast of Bohemia," begins in the Christmas issue of the Journal, and immediately upon its close MR. HOWELLS will begin in the magazine a series of editorial autobiographical papers, in which he will trace the influence which led him to literary life, his course of reading and his favorite authors and books. The articles will practically tell the story of the famous novelist's life, and promise to possess in a rare degree that attractive interest which always attaches itself to the life of a successful man when told by himself. HOWELLS had his early struggles; his early resources were few and these he will trace among other things in these articles describing, too, how he mastered four different languages to acquaint himself with the literature of the countries most attractive to him.

Tout Fait—Four eggs, three tablespoonfuls of sugar, three tablespoonfuls of flour, two tablespoonfuls of milk, juice and rind of one lemon. Beat the yolks of the eggs to a cream, add the sugar, beat again; add the milk and the flour, beat until smooth and strain. Add the juice, rind of the lemon and the whites beaten to a stiff froth; turn into a greased baking dish, dredge thickly with powdered sugar and bake in a quick oven fifteen minutes. This will serve four persons.

How does this strike you?—To the one getting us up a club of sixty new subscribers we will give a handsome new sewing machine, equal to any $45.00 sewing machine on the market, with all attachments, and delivered free to your nearest railroad station. And for a further inducement we will give to each subscriber a year's subscription to the American Farmer or Womankind—both elegantly illustrated monthly papers—all for one dollar. That is, the GAZETTE to the end of 1893, and one of those handsome papers for only $1, and to each one sending us a club of sixty with $60.00 we will give the aforesaid sewing machine.

The Grand Canon of the Colorado River, in Arizona, is now for the first time easily accessible to tourists. A regular stage line has been established from Flagstaff, Arizona, on the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad, making the trip from Flagstaff to the most imposing part of the Canon in less than 12 hours. The stage fare for the round trip is only $20.00, and meals and comfortable lodgings are provided throughout the trip at a reasonable price. The view of the Grand Canon afforded at the terminus of the stage route is the most stupendous panorama known in nature. There is also a trail at this point leading down the Canon wall, more than 6,000 feet vertically, to the river below. The descent of the trail is a grander experience than climbing the Alps, for in the bottom of this terrific and sublime chasm are hundreds of mountains greater than any of the Alpine range.

A book describing the trip to the Grand Canon, illustrated by many full-page engravings from special photographs, and furnishing all needful information, may be obtained free upon application to Jno. J. Byrne, 723 Monadnock Block, Chicago, Ill.
