Talbot County Roads.—On the subject of roads and the approaching convention, Mr. Preston B. Spring, of Hambleton post-office, Talbot County writes to The American as follows:

The subject of public roads is one of which much might be written, but the main facts can be stated in this letter. Nature has given good roads to this county; our citizens do all in their power to ruin them.

With a level country no great damage from washes, frost seldom getting into the ground more than a few inches, and an abundant and cheap supply of oystershells, there is but one reason why our roads should not be good. That reason is "politics"! Our roads are part of the "spoils," and considering how they are treated, it is wonderful they are no worse.

Talbot's four hundred miles of roads are after each election handed by the incoming county commissioners over to one hundred or more workers: who, as a reward for political services, have each some three or four miles of road as a basis for bills against the county. They use their own good pleasure as to how much or what to do; except that lately the empty condition of our county treasury has caused the cessation of all but imperative work. Their chief implement is a spade and their favorite time for mending our roads is the first clear day after a heavy storm when farm work is impossible, when they may be seen throwing mud from the side ditch to the middle of the road with an expression of pride on their countenance as they frequently pause to contemplate their handiwork; or should a long, dry spell interfere with this amusement they will cheerfully pile sod on the road for the passing vehicles to put into shape. This labor costs our county some thirty-five dollars or more per mile, and one result is that anyone living five miles from anywhere applies for a new road and generally gets it opened.

The effect of bad roads on the social manners, or political complexion of our community or the damage done to horses, vehicles &c. is a subject to be treated by more fertile pens than mine; but a system which turns our roads over to a set of men because they are either Republicans or Democrats, no doubt makes a noble army of political workers, but at the same time develops in our midst a large number of men totally ignorant of the simplest duties of citizenship.

It is not difficult to describe a better system than this, even were the changes only to go so far as to say that the work now done should be done at a proper time, in a proper manner and paid for at fair rates; but with roads as with oysters it is one thing to make a law and another thing to enforce it. Good citizens are needed in authority, and enough public sentiment behind them to make the managing of the roads on a business basis a practical fact and not a crank's dream. I do not think at present we have a large enough number of such citizens to institute successfully the needed radical changes, and the chief good to be done by the Road Convention, soon to held in your city will be to educate the community to the importance of the subject and the need of reform.

Cordova Chips.—Your correspondent will write about something this week of which he knows but little. Still hope to do no one any harm or wound the feelings of any, for such information we would take to be poor journalism in quiet times like the present, besides such literature don't appear in the Gazette, nor should it in any newspaper of respectability. The writer has been informed that every member of the I. O. Heptasophs hung up their stockings on X-Mas night. Some received one kind of recognition, some another. We heard of one gentleman who got a bottle; we were never informed the kind of bottle it was, or what its contents were; nor do we know to what party he belongs, as there seems to be so many parties these days. But to go back to the subject: we heard that every member of this organization found, to their agreeable surprise, no assessment for the month of Dec.—and we are told this is the second time for the year '92 they escaped an assessment. If what I am writing about is true, and if it is not, your correspondent is not responsible for the assertion only as it appears in this letter, it looks as though this must be a thriving organization. The writer has read much about it, and hearing members speaking of it, am some what familiar with its popularity among its members and others. I would surely become one if ability would permit. By the way we have noticed by one of their papers that Cordova Conclave has been on the roll of honor in remittances since its organization, and that Dr. C. M. Stelle, Archon of this Conclave, answered every roll call during the year '92. This certainly sounds well, and we don't question the fact of its truthfulness, for the Doctor is a hustler and no doubt he makes a most efficient and active presiding officer. Can't you, Mr. Editor, make some good New Year's wish for the Doctor, also his organization, for 1893?

Last Friday was the 8th marriage anniversary of Mr. J. Al. Morgan, who married Miss Mary Virginia, daughter of Rev. Geo. F. Beaven, of Hillsboro'. Mr Morgan always seems to welcome that day second to no other, for with his hospitable wife, they almost make one feel that their guests failed to do justice to the many good things they provide for their friends, and their hospitality extends to Talbot. Queen Anne's and Caroline, and where else we don't know, on this pleasant occasion. when his comfortable home seemed full from garret to cellar. Yet there was room for all, a plenty for all, and the young and old had a splendid time in dancing and other innocent amusements. The writer wishes Mr. Morgan many more celebrations.

The long continued and excessive cold weather, with mercury registering below 8, has not prevented the festivities and social enjoyments at Cordova and vicinity this week. Dr. Chas. H. Rose gave a very pleasant entertainment to his daughters, Misses Hattie and Estelle, where the genial smiles of his good wife and the doctor's easy going and pleasant manners, made their guests feel comfortably at home. During the week also Mr. and Mrs. Jas. A. Gannon gave a handsome reception to their many friends, invitations extending far and near. This is one of Mr. Gannon's prides, when he does a thing he wants it well done, and in this he made no failure; indeed his good wife seems to have beaten her record in the lavish hand with which she prepared for the guests. The extended tables fairly groaned with turkeys and poultry of all kinds, salads, etc., which were served about 12 o'clock. The inner man being amply supplied they returned to the spacious room which was handsomely decorated, and resumed with renewed vigor the mazy fantastic of waltzes, polkas and quadrilles until the wee, wee hours of the morning. Among those present were Messrs. Jos. Callahan and wife, Jno. R. Callahan and wife, Capt. S. B. Skinner and wife, S. W. Callaway and wife, Chas. Callahan and wife, J. M. Rickards and wife; Misses Mamie Catrup, Nannie Stevens, Rosa Smith, Martha Stevens; Baine Skinner, W. J. Conlyn and sister Mary, Mrs. Gardner and daughter, J. Sharp, F. Jackson, Peter Councell, and a number of other ladies and gentlemen whose names your reporter could not get. Those who were not there are sorry, and those who were there all wish Mr. and Mrs. Gannon many prosperous years of a well spent life. Wash.

"I will use it and no other." Mrs. Nellie Bromer, Passaic, N. J. uses this emphatic language. "I have used Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup in my house three years and would not be without it. It cured my cough which I had for months. I will always use it and no other.

Tilghman Items.—From our regular correspondent.—Capts. Robert F. Page and Edw'd McQuay of the buckeyes Willie J. Gibson and Sadie Page, were arraigned before Justice Gib on last week, charged by Police Captain Crockett with dredging on forbidden ground Capt. Page was acquitted, and Capt. McQuay was fined $25 and costs.

Since the cold weather set in scrapers and dredgers have had a free dredge law, to all intents and purposes, the police boats being blockaded by ice, while the oystermen kept out of harbors that shut up quickly.

On Sunday night last unknown parties attempted to break into the house of Charles T. Lednum, Jr. Mr. Lednum was unarmed at the time, but says he will be prepared for his next midnight visitors. P. S. The unknown upon investigation, proved to be captive opossums.

Mr. Robert Jones has recovered his longing skiff which was taken away by ice, as noted in the Gazette of last week. The boat drifted ashore near Bay City. At this writing Mr. James H. Murphy has heard nothing of his canoe since it broke adrift from Capt. J. C. Harrison, who picked the canoe up and started to tow it in. He was caught in a heavy Nor'wester, the canoe's line parted, and when last seen was drifting toward Todd's point.

On Tuesday, Jan. 10th, about 2 P. M., two of Capt. O. M. Harrison's men went to catch an oar from his sloop, then lying in Dogwood harbor. The heavy northwest gale then blowing proved too much for them, their boat became unmanageable, and failing to get back to the sloop, they drifted across to Change point, in Broad Creek Neck. The buckeye M. J. Covington, Capt. Frank Hickman, went after them, but failed to get them, as they had got in too shoal water for the buckeye to risk going in, especially on a lee shore. Shortly afterward the men were seen to get out on the ice and make for the shore. Captain Harrison went out also as soon as he could to his sloop, but could not get the men. On Wednesday one of them walked around to Tilghman and reported the other as being at Mr. Thomas Wayman's, so badly frostbitten that he could not travel.

Cordova Item.—The members of Cordova Union held a W. R tea at the M. E. Parsonage on Tuesday afternoon of last week. The Union was well represented by both its regular and honorary members. Each one received a cordial greeting from Rev. J. A. Lindale and his cheery wife who are in hearty sympathy with any movement connected with temperance work. The supper furnished by the ladies, though not elaborate seemed keenly appreciated by all who partook not excepting the table of Loyal Legion boys and girls, whose fresh faces and still fresher spirits added quite a charm to the occasion. The presenting of a temperance speech by Miss Greta, the little five year old daughter of the pastor, excited much applause, more especially from some sturdy prohibitionists present. The recital of the different experiences from the members in earning the important quarter the price paid for the supper, was to to say the least interesting. Proceeds from supper amounted to $5.75, which considering the outlay, was a fair return and encouraging to the White Ribboners of this Union. After appropriate temperance music, and a short while spent in social converse the company dispersed to their various homes not however before the pastor propounded the query, "Who has eaten mince pie during the holidays without the accompanying spirits?" and which we are happy to state was responded to in the negative by an overwhelming majority.—[The writer will please next time kindly forward name for the editor's own personal information.—Ed.]

Caroline County Items.—Messrs. Orlando J. Redden and Albert J. Towers have been appointed weighers of mail matter on the Delaware division of the P. W. & B. R. R. and the N. Y. P. & N. R. R. both gentlemen live in Denton and will assume the duties of their new positions February 1.

At a meeting of the school board Tuesday last the agreement with the Queen Anne's school board relative to educating pupils living near the line dividing the two counties was revoked since the Caroline board have provided proper school facilities for all pupils within the Caroline borders. For many years the two counties have maintained a joint school at Templeville.

Milton H. Roe and Miss Katie Whitby, of Greensboro', were married in the Greensborough Methodist Episcopal Church Tuesday afternoon by the pastor, Rev. J. A. Arters.

On the first day of January the treasurer, who is collector of taxes under the new law, reported that he had collected $30,000 of the taxes. Mrs. Elizabeth Anthony, widow of the late Robert Anthony, aged seventy-one years, died at her home near Anthony Mills, Wednesday morning from cancer of the breast. She leaves three sons who are prominent business men—Joshua, Robert W., and Joseph H. Anthony—and two daughters. She was greatly beloved for her many deeds of charity.

Mr. Washington Finch, a well-known sawmill proprietor residing near Burrsville, fell from a wagon and broke his leg.

There was an explosion of a cooking stove in Mr. J. A. Morgan's kitchen, Hillsboro', Monday morning, and two colored servants were injured. The water pipes leading to the bath-room froze the night before, and when the fire became hot, the steam, seeking escape, burst the stove and wrecked several windows.

The peach trees in Caroline are said to be full of buds. The cold weather has not yet damaged them, and most growers believe that a good crop is in prospect.

WESTMINSTER, Jan. 8.—Early on Saturday morning the lifeless body of David D. Bonsack was found hanging from the limb of a cherry tree, midway between his own home and that of his son, a short distance from Westminister. This was the sad ending of the life of a man who until a few months ago enjoyed the respect and love of a large portion of the community, serving as a minister and bishop of the German Baptist church.

ELKTON, Jan. 10.—Two men, giving their names as William Brown and Edwin Morgan, were captured at 12 o'clock last night in the store of Richard C. Porter, at Cherry Hill. In the store at the entrance made were found a lot of goods ready to be carried away. The men were brought to Elkton and lodged in jail, and this afternoon were given a hearing before Magistrate Scott. After giving their names they were committed to jail to await the action of the grand jury of the March term of court.

UPPER MARLBORO, Jan. 10.—Dr. Peter H. Heiskell, of Prince George's county, who lives in Oxon Hill district, about six miles from Washington, was found dead on his farm yesterday. He died of heart disease. He was a native of Albemarle county, Va., and about 75 years of age. He had long been the chief justice of the orphans' court of Prince George's county, and was a well known citizen, a leading member of St. Ignatius' Catholic church and one of the most popular men in the county.

WESTMINTER, Jan. 10.—Dr. L. H. Haley, of Woodberry, Md., was arrested a few days ago upon the charge of practicing medicine in Franklin district, Carroll county, without having a certificate, as required by law. The doctor waived an examination, and William P. Gorsuch, Jr., justice of the peace for Freedom district, before whom he appeared, held him for the action of the next grand jury in the sum of $200. The doctor gave the required bail and was discharged. Dr. Haley claims to be an herb doctor, and admitted that he had no diploma and had never attended any medical college.

TRIED TO KIDNAP A PRINCE.

The Plot Failed After a Bloody Battle With the Conspirators.

BUDAH PESTH, Jan. 13.—Despite official denials, the Pestie Hierlap insists upon the truth of reports concerning a plot to kidnap the prince of Montenegro. The plot was concected in Cettinje, the capital of Montenegro, says The Hierlap, and was of clerical origin. It was discovered just before its maturity, but a desperate effort was made by the conspirators to carry it into execution. About 200 men started for the place to seize the prince, but warning was received at the palace, already doubly guarded, and all the military in the city were called out.

The soldiers met the conspirators a short distance from the palace and began firing at once. The conspirators, who were well armed, returned the fire and tried to charge through the troops, but were repulsed. After thirty-six conspirators had been killed and ninety had been wounded the attempt to seize the prince was abandoned. Some thirty of the uninjured were arrested, and the rest fled. Subsequently, says The Hierlap, twenty-eight priests were arrested for having led in the formation and attempted execution of the plot.

Another New French Cabinet.

PARIS, Jan. 11.—The French ministry has just resigned, owing to differences in the cabinet on the arrest of ex-Minister of Public Works Baihaut and other matters. President Carnot immediately summoned Premier Ribot to form a new cabinet, which is as follows: M. Ribot, premier and minister of the interior; M. Debelle, foreign affairs; M. Tirard, finance; M. Bourgeois, justice; General Loiszillon, war; Vice Admiral Reunier, marine; M. Dupuy, instruction; M. Vigor, agriculture; M. Siegfried, commerce; M. Victte, works. The most notable difference between this cabinet and its predecessor is shown by the absence of M. de Freycinet and M. Loubet. In the chamber of deputies yesterday there was such objection to M. Floquet's candidacy for the presidency of the chamber that he withdrew, and M. Casimir-Perier was nominated by the Republicans and elected.
