AMONG OUR CHURCHES.

EASTER SERVICES TOMORROW.

Special Services to be held at the different churches.—Woman's Foreign Missionary Society and the Loyal Legion Entertainment.

For many years the Ebenezer M. E. Church has been known throughout the county as the church where the very popular Easter Anniversaries were held. Throngs from the county around used to crowd the church at all the services in order to listen to the eloquence and hear the lovely music. It has thus come to pass that although it cannot be said that "the tribes come up" as they used to, yet it is still the place for the Easter rallying in smaller numbers, and "the tribes scattered abroad" if most of the denominations keep up a special interest in all that concerns "the Old Side Church." I am positive that the services at this church tomorrow will be far more interesting than even those which were held in the Eastertime of long gone years.

***

The Easter services to be held at the M. E. Church tomorrow will be particularly interesting, in fact, the most interesting services of this kind ever held at this church. In the morning at 11 o'clock the pastor will deliver a sermon especially adapted to the day and of absorbing interest throughout. Mr. Avery has the happy faculty of fitting his remarks appropriately to any occasion, and this accomplishment will be fully emphasized tomorrow morning. The choir will assist in making the services enjoyable, and will, of course, add to its already enviable crown of laurels. The frequent rehersals—at which your correspondent has been so fortunate as to gain admittance—have perfected the choir to an astonishingly high degree of merit. Quite a number of Easter selections will be sung at both the morning and evening services, and I feel safe in saying that the musical program is the most elaborate ever sung in any church in Easton. The selections are all productions of the leading composers of the country. Mr. Spence invited one of our local musical critics to the rehersal Monday evening and he was unfeigned in his expressions of admiration. The evening service will be devoted to the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society instead of a song service as was announced last week. This society will give a very pleasant entertainment, at which Mrs. Stevens, secretary of the Society, will be present. A cordial welcome is extended to all. Below will be found the list of special selections:

This is the Day—in E flat, S. C. Cooke.
God hath appointed a Day—in A, B. Truss.
Thanks be to God—in E flat, H. P. Danks.
Easter Triumph—in D, A. J. Holden.
Dead, arisen and ascended—in B flat, Dungan
Sing, O earth! the glorious morning—in A.

***

The Loyal Legion is a thriving little organization of young people banded together for the cause of temperance. This society is a truly a model one; once a week a meeting is held at which a large number is present.—The first Sunday in every month a social entertainment is held, and tomorrow afternoon immediately after the session of the Sunday School, the Legion will hold their meeting in the M. P. Church. Come and encourage the little folks by your presence.

***

The members of Trinity M. E. Church South and the community in general are very happy to again welcome Rev. C. D. Harris to Easton. At the earnest request of the entire membership of the church Mr. Harris has been returned by the conference to this charge. Mr. Harris will preach a special Easter sermon to the Sunday School at the morning service tomorrow. The session of the Sunday School promises to be an unusually interesting one, every scholar is requested to be present. In the evening the pastor will have a theme of particular interest and profit. Music by the Sunday School at all the services. Everyone welcome.

***

Appropriate services will be held at the Catholic Church tomorrow, which is the feast of the Resurrection. The entire day will be devoted to services of especial interest and of a very devout character. The church will be magnificently decorated by Father Waldron, who has already shown his artistic skill in this line. Those who saw his Christmas decorations will know what to expect when I say that those of tomorrow will be the most elaborate ever before seen in Easton. The services of the day will begin with all the pomp and ceremony of the church at 8 a. m. at which Low Mass will be read by Very Rev. Francis Ryan, S. J. At 11 o'clock Solemn High Mass will be celebrated by the pastor of the church as celebrant, Father Ryan as deacon, and Mr. John Hartnett as sub deacon, Martin Ryan as master of ceremonies. At 7.30 p. m. Solemn Vespers and Benediction with the same officers of the late mass. The sermon both morning and evening will be delivered by Father Ryan, and will be a treat to those who will have the pleasure of hearing him. The musical program will consist of Concone's Mass, in F., with Mozart's Regine Coeli. The regular choir will be assisted by several other singers. All invited.

***

At Calvary M. P. Church Easter will be fittingly observed. The services will all be of an intensely interesting character and will be appropriate to the day. The handsome interior of the church will be strikingly beautiful in its dress of potted plants of assorted kinds. Easter has always been a day of pleasant experiences at this church and from present indications tomorrow will be a day long to be remembered. The pastor will have discourses of especial interest and will be noteworthy by the fact that they will be strictly in accord with the spirit of the day. The music will be the best ever sung in this church and will consist of selections from many eminent composers. These pieces have been fully mastered by the chor; the result of the rehersals will be a musical program of exceptional excellence. A cordial invitation is extended to all to be present.

It was a source of great pleasure to the people of Easton, and the members of the M. E. Church particularly, to welcome Rev. R. H. Adams to our town. He spent several days here making calls and renewing old acquaintances. Everywhere he was received with delight and the welcome he received must surely have been gratifying to him. It was regretted that he could not remain longer; but he left us with any number of "God bless you's" and "Come again's" following after him.

—Some one with a genius for arithmetic figures out that the United States wil be richer by $300,000,000, because of money left here by foreigners who come to visit the World's Fair. To this he adds the $100,000,000 which which American visitors are accustomed to leave every summer in Europe, but which this year they will spend at home. A distinguished financier once said that the resumtion of specie payments was made possible in 1879 only by reason of the wealth left among us by foreign visitors to the Centennial exposition of 1876. The estimate, therefore, does not seem absurb.

WYE MILLS

(Received too late for last week.) The Wye Mills Mite Society met last Saturday afternoon at Mr. Everngam's, there was not very many present, but they spent a very pleasant time together. After they had attended to business, the Society adjourned, and were invited out to supper which all enjoyed.

There was a surprise party at Mr. Shawn's in Wye Neck last Friday evening. Not withstanding the storm there was quite a large number of young folks present and after spending a delightful evening left for their homes.

Miss Eva Hopkins is visiting relatives in Kent Co.

Milton Wilson is visiting Herman Orrell at Wye Mills.

BOZMAN.

The wheels of industry have again started. The last few days of good weather have put the farmers into motion hauling out manure. The oystermen are busy also.

Mr. Wm. T. Harrison Jr., our village blacksmith shipped a cart to Minneapolis, Minn., last week. Our mechanical work is gaining a wide reputation.

Messrs. James Rathell and Wm. Fairbank of M. B. Nichols's dry goods house, Easton, were drumming in Broad Creek Neck this week.

Our oystermen say, the oyster law is very much like the moon, composed of many changes. One day it is lawful to do this or that, the next day it is just the reverse. If the present law does not suit, our wiseacres will give us another next winter as they have not done anything in this direction for a long time, and if too long without practice they might forget how to make a good oyster law.

We are glad to see that our road supervisors are allowed to do something on our roads. The roads of Broad Creek Neck have been in a worse condition this winter than were ever known to be in before. The trouble is that the ditches have not been cleaned out for two years, the supervisor only being allowed to fill up holes. Oyster shells are being very freely used in other sections of the county, why not a few in Broad Creek Neck? If we are not on the tax levy, I hope the new assessment will get us when we get it.

Some fields of wheat in the Neck are looking well, Capt. T. F. Bridges having the best two we have seen.

Plenty of oyster market in the creeks.

We do not hear of any office seekers in Broad Creek Neck only postmasters. We would all like to have a good one, but we are not in it on this trip.

Miss Addie Keithley, our assistant teacher, sprained her foot badly by making a misstep which disabled her for a day or two.

Provender is getting very scarce with our farmers.

Mr. T. E. Grace made a trip to Baltimore this week.

The old pastor, Rev. J. M. Collins left us this week for his new field of labor and we are now looking for our incoming man. It seems to be a part of human nature to want to see the new preacher and we suppose the congregation will be large next Sunday.

We are beginning to feel good as herring have made their appearance. We are getting more like Caroline every day.

Only twenty more days then the little oyster will have a rest.

Politics are beginning to move in a quiet way in this section. We expect to have a very warm primary election this summer.

The ladies of the mite society are putting another lot of new household goods in the parsonage.

ROYAL OAK.

On Sunday evening a temperance rally was held in the M. E. Church. The attendance was large as there was no service at the M. E. Church, South. The exercises began with the crusade hymn and prayer by Mrs. Pastorfield. 'There are bands of ribbon white around the world,' was then sung by our White Ribbon choir. An address on 'Pestilence or Intemperance, which?' was delivered by Dr. J. A. Robinson. Other attractive features of the program were a solo by Miss Kilmon and two beautiful quartets. Our next meeting will be for women only and will be addressed by Miss Saulsbury. Subject Dress Reform. SUPT. PRESS WORK.

Robt. D. Lambdin is putting the finishing touches on his canoe that he soon intends to take to Chicago to the World's Fair, where he will put the boat on exhibition.

Rev. S. J. Morris filled his pulpit last Sunday morning and preached an interesting sermon to a large and attentive audience. Every one is invited to the Easter services tomorrow.

Oysters are way down in price now. Just think—two months ago you would have to pay one dollar and a-half for anything, now you get a first class oyster for thirty cents per bushel.

The property owners at the northern end of the town have laid off their property into building lots with streets of good width running through them. The next thing is—buyers and builders to come and take them.

Postoffice applicants are traveling to all points of the compass, some even going to Somerset county, others to Washington, and when they have seen Mr. Gibson they know that the traveling has brought them to the land of disappointment—for Charlie is like an oyster, he keeps his mouth shut.

Scarcity of news and of everything pertaining to that word. One gentleman the other evening admitted borrowing the GAZETTE to read, and said the first time that he saw anything in the St. Michaels column regarding canoe racing put up in a flowery style he would give me his name and stop reading another man's paper. So I am waiting for the race to come off. I'll send you the item and you can put the roses on. Thus you will gain another subscriber.

Last Saturday eve the mail train due here at five and a-half o'clock did not get here until 1:30 Sunday morning. On Sunday there was an exciting time among the reading portion of our people. No papers for Sunday reading. One gentleman remarked—"No papers to-day, what shall I do—well, I know, I'll go to church, it will be a great change for me, but I'll try it." Yet the crowd moved toward the postoffice. Papers there, but no newsdealer; finally, through the kindness of Charlie Hambleton at the postoffice, everyone got his papers. And the gentleman that made the remark regarding the church, got all his mail, but went to church, heard the Rev. Dr. and been glad all the week that he went.

Town election next Monday, so last Saturday's Comet says, for one Commissioner to fill the place of Mr. Edward Harrison, whose term expires that day. Mr. H. is a candidate to succeed himself. It is true that he is a republican, one of the kind that does you good to talk with, but I hardly think that the fact of his being one will cause him to neglect the interests of the town. It has not done it in the past three years—we have found in him all that can be asked. It is not now, nor has it ever been at these elections, a question of politics, but of men best suited to serve the town, and if elected he will put a flag pole close to that town ornament, with a flag, and on that flag these words—"This Is A Pump." I'll vote for him. But I'll vote for him anyway, but I want that pole there.

The arrival of the Honorable Fred Douglass in our town caused quite a sensation—among his own race and also among the white people. Many wanted to see him. There were many different opinions as to the reason of his visit to Talbot. Some said that he came to lecture, others that he came with the intention of buying a farm near St. Michaels owned by a Mr. Brady, and that he would settle near the town and spend his last days where he had lived in early boyhood. Your correspondent had the pleasure of talking with Mr. Douglas, and in answer to my questions regarding his trip to Talbot he said—"I came to drink water from the old-fashioned well that I drank from many years ago, to see the few of the old friends that are left of the many that I once had, to stand on the old soil once more before I am called away by the great Master, and to thank Him for his many blessings to me during my checkered life of seventy-six years—that's all I came for."

The young ladies and gentlemen from the three appointments on Cordova circuit of the M. E. Church assembled at the parsonage on Friday evening to welcome the return of their affable and kind pastor and his family. The reverend gentleman was taken by surprise, which was increased when they presented him with a large handsome swinging lamp in testimony of their esteem. The evening was very pleasantly passed in planning for the organization of a chapter of the Epworth League and all regretted the flight of time so soon proclaimed the hour of departure.

—While writing with all the scientific knowledge of a great astronomer, Camille Flammarion in his marvellous story "OMEGA: The End of the World," which begins in the April number of The COSMOPOLITAN magazine, keeps the reader at the highest point of excitement by his vivid description of the alarm and despair excited by the approach of a comet whose collision with the earth had been declared by astronomers inevitable. The description begins at a time when the business of the world has been suspended and at a great mass-meeting held in the Institute of France, we hear the discussion of scientists as to the possibility of a second deluge, the drying up of all the surface water of the globe, or the total destruction of human life by cold, together with all the possible phases of death paralleled by the history of the moon. For scientific statement and sensational effect this characteristic production of French genius is unique, and the reader who reads this marvellous story—and if he begins it he will certainly finish it—will have assimilated without effort, a compact store of scientific knowledge. In this way, apart from its absorbing interest, this remarkable piece of fiction will have a distinct scientific value.

SLYE—Lillie May Slye, daughter of Thos. F. and Mary A. Slye, was born in Jackson county, Ia., August 12, 1872. She died in Lanark, Ill. March 17, 1893, aged 20 years, 7 months and 5 days.

From Iowa, her parents moved to Talbot county, when she was nine years of age.—They went from here to Lanark, Ill. in 1891, where they now live.

The Lanark Gazette says, "While in her southern home, this bright girl was faithful to the schools of Easton, and on coming to Lanark was at once admitted to the high schol, from which she graduated in the class of '92. During the winter previous to her graduation she was afflicted by rheumatism so severely that it was impossible for her to attend school for several weeks. Although very ill, with persistent courage, she carried her studies until with the return of health she passed through with her class in honor.

Sister Lillie, at the age of nine, in the sunny southland, gave her heart to God and her hand to the M. E. Church. To both of them she was always true, loving God and honoring the church. In the past winter her old enemy, rheumatism, attacked her again. It settled in the vicinity of the brain, causing her many hours of extreme pain. No pains were spared to relieve her, but like a tender plant in a cold climate she faded and died."

THE PUZZLER

No. 48.—A Botanist's Story.

Partly phonetic. The stars represent names of flowers, trees and plants:

I * * * * one morning about * * * * * * * * * intending to take a walk along the sea * * * * *, and I whistled for Carlo, for I knew the * * * * * * * follow me. I should have ridden had not the * * * * * * * * * been sore. As it was, I walked, and at walking my dog could * * * * me. Here was a * * * * of laborers at the * * * * where a vessel was loading. She had sprung a * * * *, but had been repaired; * * * * * * * hope she won't spring another. On my return I met my little girl, whom I kissed on her * * * * * and wished good morning. She had been trying to make a * * * * of shoes out of cloth, but I told her if cloth wouldn't do * * * * * * * * * * *.

No. 49.—Illustrated Metamorphosis.

The problem is to change one given word to another given word by altering one letter at a time, each alteration making a new word, the number of letters being always the same and the letters remaining always in the same order. Example: Change lamp to fire in four moves. Answer: Lamp, lame, fame, fare, fire.

In the accompanying picture change hens to coop in 10 moves. Each change is shown in the illustration.—St. Nicholas.

No. 50.—Word Square.

1. Petulant. 2. A woman's name. 3. One who begins. 4. To foretoken. 5. Internal (poetic). 6. Earthly pigments of a brownish yellow color. 7. Most severe.

No. 51.—Queer Fishing.

A fisher, bold and gay,
Went forth to fish one day
And had indeed a most unusual sport.
I wondered as I heard,
But could not doubt his word
When he told me of the queer fish he had caught.

"A portion of a shoe"
He first pulled up to view,
And "a place for mooring boats beside a dock;"
"The piston of a pump,"
And "a little spongy lump,"
And "a pole on which to roost a feathered flock."

He was most amazed, he said,
When "a spear with flattened head"
Was drawn up to help increase his curious pack,
Followed by "a puff of air,"
And "a knot for woman's hair,"
And "the master of a little trading smack."

No. 52.—Diamonds.

A letter; a hut; a precious stone; society; to vex; a number; a letter.

A vowel, an importunate creditor; extinct birds, a deceased ornithologist; an adverb meaning with nobility; a sauce; a vowel.

No. 53.—Deletions.

Delete a trench and leave a prophet.

A bar for lifting a heavy weight and leave an oblique view.

An aphorism and leave to cripple.

A kind of cloth and leave a legal claim.

An originator of mechanical power and leave a portion of boggy land.

A Sheep Puzzle.

"How many sheep have you, Mr. Jones?" asked the city visitor.

"Well, if you must know," replied Farmer Jones, "if I had as many more, half as many more and 2¼ sheep, I'd have just 20."

The visitor departed no wiser than he came, but you of course can solve the puzzle.

Farmer Jones has 7 sheep. As many more would make 14; half as many more—3½—would bring the total up to 17¾, and 2¼ complete the 20.

THE TITAN OF CHASMS.

A Mile Deep, 13 Miles Wide, 217 Miles Long, and Painted Like a Flower.

The Grand Canon of the Colorado River, in Arizona, is now for the first time easily accessible to tourists. A regular stage line has been established from Flagstaff, Arizona, on the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad, making the trip from Flagstaff to the most imposing part of the Canon in less than 12 hours. The stage fare for the round trip is only $20 00, and meals and comfortable lodgings are provided throughout the trip at a reasonable price. The view of the Grand Cañon afforded at the terminus of the stage route is the most stupendous panorama known in nature. There is also a trail at this point leading down the Canon wall, more than 6,000 feet vertically, to the river below. The descent of the trail is a grander experience than climbing the Alps, for in the bottom of this terrific and sublime chasm are hundreds of mountains greater than any of the Alpine range.

A book describing the trip to the Grand Canon, illustrated by many full-page engravings from special photographs, and furnishing all needful information, may be obtained free upon application to Jno. J. Byrne, 723 Monadnock Block, Chicago, Ill.
