The Pinafore Company.—Since their grand success here in Easton the crew of the Pinafore has been invited to present the opera at Dover, Salisbury and Greensborough.—The performance here has been widely commented upon by a number of our exchanges, and they all say that if the report in the GAZETTE can be depended upon the opera was the best ever given by amateur talent on the shore. Our report did not begin to fittingly describe the performance, as it was almost impossible to tell of the beauties and melodies of the opera. Mr. Tharp, the musical director, informs us that they will probably accept the invitations to above named towns.

To the People of Easton.—The Safety Cycle Club desires to extend its sincere and hearty thanks for the support tendered it during the Garden Party this week. The club thoroughly appreciates this kindness on the part of the citizens of Easton. To the ladies, who by their earnest and untiring labors made the Party a success, we extend unanimously our most heartfelt thanks. We fully realize how much we owe them and at some future date hope to repay them.

(Official) FRANK A. WHITE,
C. F. Shanahan, Secretary. President.

The Moreland Block, when completed, will present a very attractive and imposing appearance. The lower floor will be changed into stores of large capacity and beautiful glass fronts, while the upper floors will be used as offices and lodging rooms. An effort will be made to have the Easton postoffice on the first floor in the room at the corner of Washington and Federal streets. This will place the office in a more central position and will give the patrons two entrances and more inside room. The present office is certainly cramped and should be a great deal larger.—The Moreland Improvement Company will, by securing the postoffice for their building, not only be benefitting themselves but also the people of Easton.

The New Shirt Factory.—In Earle's addition a large factory is being erected for the use of Mr. M. T. G. Earle in manufacturing negligee shirts. Mr. Earle has long felt the need of a better factory for the extension of his plant, and in his old quarters this has been impossible. Besides, the building now occupied is very warm and uncomfortable in summer and the operators suffer severely from the heat. The new factory is a frame structure with a frontage of 30 feet and a depth of 75, and is two stories high. The engine and boiler and cutting department will be on the ground floor, and the second floor will be given entirely over to the operators and their machines. Some of the machinery used in the manufacte of these shirts is certainly unique, one machine in particular a stitcher with two needles. All of the machines are run by steam and can be started or stopped at the operator's pleasure. This industry is a very promising one and it is well worth a visit to the factory to see the systematic manner in which every thing is run.

The Bicycle Parade.—Last Wednesday and Thursday evenings the streets of Easton were crowded to witness the Bicycle Parade of the Safety Cycle Club. The parade was formed shortly after seven 7 o'clock with 45 wheels in line. A parade is usually very pretty but the effect presented when all the wheels where decorated and trimmed was perfectly lovely. Many of the wheels deserve special mention but lack of space prevents us from mentioning them all. Mr. Geo. C. Shehan had the prettiest decoration in the line and his wheel won the admiration of all. The parade lasted about 35 minutes, having run over all the principal streets of the town. The people seemed to thoroughly enjoy it and at the request of a large number of citizens the parade was formed again Thursday evening. The garden party held by the club, and so ably assisted by the good ladies of the town, proved to be quite a success and the club is now able to rent and furnish a headquarter. During the summer evenings the club will have a number of parades and illuminations and the people of Easton will derive much enjoyment therefrom. On Decoration Day the club will form an escort for the veterans to the cemetery.

Mr. Clayland Mullikin, son of our esteemed fellow townsman, Col. J. C. Mullikin, graduated last night at the Johns' Hopkins University. Mr. Mullikin is very studious, and since he left Easton a few years ago he went to the Baltimore City College and entered the 4th year class and graduated at the end of two years. He was chosen to represent his society at the commencement in a public debate and won the prize. He was also the editor-in-chief of the college journal and was chosen by his class to deliver one of the addresses at the graduating exercises.—These are honors not usually bestowed upon any except those who had passed through the whole five years course of the college. He then entered the Hopkins University and the first year there he won one of the scholarships. While in his second year he took one year at the Law School, and in his third year he took two years at the Law School, thus doing the last year three years work in addition to serving as editor in chief of the Class Book published by the class of '93. He is the youngest member of his class and graduated and received his diploma, but can not be admitted to the bar yet as he is not 21 years of age. Mr. Mullikin's record has been one which anyone may well feel proud, and he fully deserves all the honors which have been bestowed upon him. The GAZETTE extends congratulations.

AMONG OUR CHURCHES.

SOME OF OUR FORMER PASTORS.

A few Brief Notes Regarding the doings in some of our Churches.

REV. W. W. W. WILSON.

At the recent meeting of the Board of Bishops of the M. E. Church, held in Evanstown, Ill., the Rev. W. W. W. Wilson was, by consent of Bishop Merrill, transferred by Bishop Ninde from Wilmington Conference to New York East Conference and, at the urgent and unanimous request of the official board, which promised to make the salary $2,000, an increase of $500, appointed pastor to Port Chesater, N. Y. The marriage fees are said to amount to $500 per annum. The town is on the Connecticut border, in which State a marriage license is required, but in New York such a license is not demanded.

Port Chester is in West Chester Co., about 25 miles from the city of New York, and on the line of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad. It is a favorite summer resort and has a population of 11,000. The Rev. A. W. Lightbourne, formerly of Easton, and now an editor of the New York Mail and Express, was pastor of a Congregational church there for a few years.

Mr. Wilson assumed the duties of the pastorate Sunday week and preached both morning and evening to the expressed delight of large congregations. The congregation will soon erect a church which will cost not less than $40,000. An hour after his arrival in the town Mr. Wilson secured $1,500 towards the new building.

There were two other appointments, either of which were regarded as possible to Mr. Wilson if he had waited until the fall, but he preferred Port Chester. Not knowing of his transfer the official board of St. James Church, New York City, invited him to take charge of the pulpit during the pastor's vacation of two months this summer. He was given a cordial welcome Monday night week by preachers of New York East Conference.

Mr. Wilson's household goods were removed from Smyrna last week. Mrs. Wilson is still ill at a hospital in Baltimore.

Rev. W. K. Galloway, who was injured from a fall down stairs the first week in April, is still suffering from the effects of it. He started a week ago or more to fill an engagement under Presiding Elder Smith, but on getting as far as Wilmington found his leg still too weak for proper support, and returned to Pottstown for a longer rest.

It isn't often that people in this country forget when Sunday comes, but such was the case last Sunday with a family residing near "The Oak." The man of the house was intent in getting in a belated field of corn, and on awaking was somewhat provoked with himself that he and all the family had overslept themselves. The breakfast however was hurried up, the chores attended to, and they were out in the field in pretty good time. About noon a neighbor came over to borrow a setting of eggs, when he asked, inquiring what they, alluding to the three men in the field, were working to day for. What is the matter with to day was inquired? Why, said the neighbor, didn't you know it was Sunday? The man was dumbfounded, humiliated that he had broken the Lord's day, though they had got in a good half day's work and now he is worried for fear that the corn will not grow as well in the rows that were prepared on Sunday.

At Calvary M. P. Church last Sunday, Rev J. M. Sheridan preached with great earnestness on what he regarded (and rightly) as an evil and liable to corrupt the morals of the young of our community. He had reference to the Lady Base Ball Club which was in town on Friday. The sermon proved of benefit to his congregation but some of those present seemed to think he erred in preaching entirely from a "foregone conclusion" standpoint. The writer has examined our exchanges from the principal towns on the peninsula where this club has played and they all speak in terms of praise, certainly the people of Easton had no cause to fudge harshly the ladies of the club. Of course we are all entitled to our opinions, and I think that the Rev. Sheridan preached from a standpoint that is commendable and conscientious. He is a good man and preacher and our community is blessed by his work among us.

Ebenezer M. E. Church is not on the wane this warm weather as has been the case with some of our county churches. On the contrary, the church is in as prosperous a condition as could be wished; all the services are well attended and particularly the service last Sunday evening. Rev. W. Avery preached as had been announced, the first of a series of sermons on the women of the Bible. Last Sunnay's subject was "Queen Ester" and Mr. Avery told of this good queen in a manner that the interest of the congregation was excited at once. There are two things a preacher must do—make his sermons of both interest and profit to his people. Mr. Avery never fails to do this, and he is now regarded as one of the best ministers in our conference.

The Demorest Contest at the Court House last Tuesday evening was an occasion of great interest, and drew a large crowd of people who completely filled the court room. The room was tastefully arranged with flowers and presented a pretty appearance. The evening exercises were opened by singing and prayer, and Rev. Mr. Turner of Clayton M. E. Church followed with a strong and convincing address on the great question of prohibition. He said he had been a prohibitionist from the first and would be a prohibitionist to the last. He presented some very good arguments and the entire speech throughout was one of rare merit and eloquence. Mr. Wheatly, who seemed to have an inexhaustible supply of songs and hymns was called upon often to sing. His efforts were appreciated as much if not more than any part of the exercises. He would sing a pathetic little ballad and next he would sing a song that "would make a monkey laugh."

Mr. Wheatly was a success and we would like to hear him again if an opportunity presents itself. The speaking began with a stirring address on temperance by Leroy Lane. The young man did very well, but for the thunder storm which came up during his speaking which confused him, he would perhaps have ranked high in the contest. Miss Nellie Weston spoke splendidly and with becoming ease and grace. She did not make one blunder and delivered her address to the end without any hesitation or drawback. Samuel Yeo, a talented speaker of Easton, took his stand on the platform and spoke to the audience with an ease which made it appear that he was accustomed to such. But he did not throw the life into his address that he can do and therefore had take third place in the contest. Miss Keturah Yeo, the leader of the Loyal Legion, spoke in the place of a little girl who was sick and could not be present. Miss Yeo is one of the most earnest workers in the temperance cause and is untiring in her enegy to promote the interest of temperance and the Loyal Legion. God bless her in her work. Mr. Homer Jones and Mr. Alfred Mason were the last two to speak and so well did Mr. Jones deliver his address that a large part of the audience were of the opinion that he deserved the medal. Both he and Mr. Mason were excellent and it must surely have been a difficult thing to choose between the two. However, Mr. Mason received the medal. He is another shining light in the Loyal Legion, serving as secretary most acceptably.

HARD ON THE EDITORS.

A correspondent gives his ideal of a country newspaper.—A jab at the female novelists.—Pile driving.

I should like to give my ideal of a country journal. I have recently examined a number of exchanges, and in them, I must confess, there is little of interest to me, or as far as I can see, of interest to anybody. A paper say of four pages, will contain three news items and may be as many notes by the editor. The remainder of the journal is filled up with dead ads and patent plates. These papers are not worth the paper they are printed on—and generally the material itself is very common.

My ideal is a paper made up of editorial paragraphs, news notes, a little of the humorous, a few brief personal items, etc. No long-drawn anonymous communications, or dry poems or blood thirsty serials. Life is too short for such. The paper which is composed of short, spicy paragraphs is the one which takes.

Some people may say that it is not everybody who can write a batch of news items in a racy style, or a few lines of doggerel. They are quite right, and that is the reason why I say what I do. If they could I would certainly have no objection to their doing so. There is not an editor on the shore whom I would permit to write an epitaph for my dead dog or myself after I have turned my toes up to the daisies. And as for story writing, leave that for the soft-brained female novelists of the present day; they will knock the sentiment out of most anything.

I was standing in front of W. G. Stoops' store one day this week when an old colored woman waddled up, and asked for "an empty barrel of flour." Upon being asked what she wanted with such a unique article replied, "I want to make a chicken coop outen it for my dog."

I have been favored with a catalogue of the Atkinson Business College of Duluth, with the compliments of Prof. E. M. Atkinson—no thanks, I don't drink! He is amanuensis or something "uensis" of the College. Stay with it Ed, you'll be a statesman yet; and in the meantime when I am building the railroad from Easton to Centreville, I'll give you a job driving piles.

I attended a church festival last month in one of our neighboring towns. This is a thing I seldom do, but a charming young lady charmed me into buying a ticket headed "Lady Washington Reception and Tea Party" Lead on by my confounded curiosity I attended the "reception" and was presented to "General and Mrs. Washington." Martha was all right; if the original was half as good looking and possessed of half as kindly a face as her impersonator, certainly the many good thing that are said of her are not mere sentiment. But the "General"—awful! awful!! If the father of his country attended that reception in spirit and beheld the alleged impersonification of himself, his poor old bones would have rattled in their resting place.—The impersonator was a tall young man with eye glasses and round shoulders; his face was covered with several coatings of corn starch and his calves with several newspapers and a pair of stockings; he had a mouth so large that when he opened it I thought his head was going to turn inside out. He looked as though he would have frozen to death if he ever attempted to cross the Delaware.—But I will not write further on this subject for fear that I may hurt the young man's feelings. He aspires to be a lawyer, I hear, and it don't pay to get on the wrong side of a lawyer.

I am told that my old friend Issac P. Allen is still in existence. This is cheering. Life, indeed, in my sanctum, would be dismal if I thought that that personage had departed from this sphere. He is not a bank cashier now, though. No; he is getting down to where he belongs these days, for I have read that he is secretary of a Fraternal Life Association, a "that passing," assesment, mongrel life insurance company, organized to fleece those willing to be gulled. Issac must feel perfectly at home in such an institution.

Decoration Day.

Comrades, once more we'll fall in line
As we in days of yore
Were wont to do, when in the field
Where cannons loudly roared.

Then were our comrades by our sides,
Like rain the shot and shell,
While we were spared the fatal shot
They in the battle fell.

And though 'twas hard with them to part
Our comrades brave and true;
Who like as brothers they have grown
While dressed in Union blue.

While many rest in Southern soil,
Many our grave yards fill,
While others sleep beneath the sea
Yet some are with us still.

And while each year may make her rounds
And memory with us stays,
We'll visit their last resting place
We'll decorate their graves.

Comrades, our ranks are growing thin
As each year we meet to pay
Our tributes to our comrades dear,
On the thirtieth day of May.

THE LAND OF SUNSHINE.

A Unique Country where the Skies are almost Never Clouded, while the air is Cool and Bracing, like Perpetual Spring.

As an anomalous southern resort, by reason of the fact that there one may escape summer heat no less than winter cold, New Mexico is rapidly becoming famous. Averaging through out the entire territory 5,000 feet in altitude above sea-level, and characterized by dry air which, unlike a humid atmosphere, is incapable of communicating heat, the temperature in midsummer remains at a delightfully comfortable degree through the day, and at night becomes invariably brisk and bracing. The sunshine is almost constant yet the most violent out-of-door exertion may be undertaken without fear of distressful consequences. Sunstroke or prostration are absolutely unknown there. It is an ideal land for a summer outing. Its climate is prescribed by reputable physicians as a specific for pulmonary complaints, and the medicinal Hot Springs at Las Vegas are noted for their curative virtues. The most sumptuous hotel in the west, the Montezuma, is located at these springs. Write to Jno. J. Byrne, 723 Monadnock Block, Chicago, for "The Land of Sunshine," an entertaining and profusely illustrated book descriptive of this region, the most picturesque and romantic in the United States.
