A large number of relatives and distinguished friends were present. The ceremonies were performed by the brother of the bride, Rev. F. B. Adkins, assisted by Bishop Adams. There were seven bridesmaids and ushers including Maid of Honor, Miss Edith Dawson, and best man, Mr. Perchin of Phila., all in full dress. Two pages and two flower girls added greatly to the effect of the wedding party. Mr. W. H. Adkins, brother of the bride gave her away.

The bride wore a white satin gown trimmed elaborately with Duchesse point lace, and diamonds, a wedding present from her mother. The bridesmaids wore white India silk, empire gowns, and carried La France roses. The Maid of Honor was dressed in white India silk and carried white roses.

The church was elaborately trimmed in floral decorations, and the full church choir sang Lohengrin's wedding march.

A most elaborate reception was held and a corps of trained waiters from Philadelphia attended. The happy couple detained the steamer at the wharf two hours, and then bade adieu to all. An extended wedding trip was planned.

THE EPWORTH LEAGUE.

A SPLENDID CONVENTION HELD

At Centreville last week of the Easton District Epworth League,—Short Notes about the proceedings of the Convention,—Other Items

Never has it been the pleasure of your correspondent to attend such a delightful and successful convention as that held in the town of Centreville on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week. A large number of delegates from all over the district were present and when the first session was called to order on Wednesday afternoon there was over a hundred delegates present. On Thursday this number was greatly increased. The delegates selected by the Easton chapter to attend the convention were, Rev. W. E. Avery, Miss Mary Jump, Captain Glanville, and Saml. E. Shannahan, Jr., all of whom were present.

We took the train on Wednesday morning and from Easton to Clayton we found it a rather dull trip, but at the latter place quite a number of delegates boarded the train and seeing the Epworth badge we all wore came forward and introduced themselves. We soon had a pleasant circle and every one was looking forward to an enjoyable time. At Townsend we changed cars for Centreville, after having to wait half an hour. We found a large number of delegates here and every train brought a few delegates which swelled our numbers to large proportions. Here the Rev. Mr. Fogle of Oxford introduced himself and Miss Williams who represented the Oxford chapter. We found our neighbors very interesting and enjoyed ourselves in conversation with them. At every station between Townsend and Centreville delegates boarded the train and when we arrived at our destination we had a comfortable train load. A committee met us at the station and conducted us to comfortable homes where we were most hospitably received. The people of the town were very cordial and entertaining, always anxious to do us any kindness and, in fact, made us feel perfectly at home. We thoroughly enjoyed ourselves and took our leave with regret. Indeed, one delegate who had greatly enjoyed himself, started home on Friday afternoon and got as far as Townsend, and then came back to Centreville. He said he missed his train and we are inclined to believe him.

The convention was called to order at 3 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, Rev. V. H. Collins in the chair. Organization was effected and committees appointed and other items of business of minor importance attended to. The convention then adjourned for the day. At 8 o'clock p. m. a reception was given the delegates at the magnificent residence of Mr. J. Hersey Hall. This reception was one long to be remembered as beautiful and liberal.—Games such as are usually indulged in at such gatherings were played. The Centreville band rendered some beautiful selections on the lawn. Refreshments were liberally served and everything that could possibly add to our enjoyment was done. Mr. Hall has the handsomest residence in Centreville but his doors were opened wide to the delegates.

Nearly all day Thursday was spent at the church were the sessions were held. Devotional services were held twice a day and the remainder of the session devoted to business to the reading of interesting papers on instructive subjects, and discussions. One noticable feature was that no one asked to be excused from any duty placed upon them.—One paper in particular brought about considerable discussion, namely "The dangers of the entertainment idea." The subject was discussed from many different standpoints and proved to be very instructive.

Reports were read from the Cabinet officers and from the local chapters. These all showed the League to be in a very prosperous condition and the year's work very gratifying.—The next convention will be held in Easton. Rev. W. E. Avery was elected President and Mr. L. R. Hooper Secretary. The closing service was held Friday night, after which good-bye's were said and good wishes exchanged. And thus we parted, hoping to meet one and all again at the convention in Easton next year. S. E. SHANNAHAN.

Children's Day Tomorrow.

Every one who desires to spend an enjoyable evening should attend the Children's Day exercises at Ebenezer M. E. Church tomorrow evening. The exercises will consist of the usual features seen at such services.—The church will be trimmed beautifully and efforts will be made to have this the most successful of all similar services. The Rev. L. E. Barrett, P. E. of Wilmington district will preach at the morning service. The evening service will begin at 8 o'clock, but no one will be admitted into the church until 7.30.

The Tabernacle Meeting.

Rev. Mr. Fogle, pastor M. E. Church at Oxford, who will have in charge the Oxford Tabernacle Meetings, is now busily engaged in making the necessary preparations. He told me recently that he was anticipating a very successful meeting, and I am sure such will be the case. He will have with him at different times many of the best ministers of the Conference. The date for the opening meeting has not been decided on, but will be about the early part of July. Further particulars will appear in this column in due time.

"Your Sermon was too Short,"

was the verdict of both friends and strangers who gathered around Rev. Alfred Smith at the close of the evening service last Sunday night at Ebenezer M. E. Church. "It was long enough for that kind of a sermon," the Presiding Elder was finally driven to say, for when assailants become so many and of all ages and classes of hearers even the most genial of speakers, whether from platform or pulpit, is naturally compelled to parry the assault as best he may. But the present writer noticed that the congregation of this church was on the sidewalk homeward bound at the same time the congregations of other churches were also on the way to their domiciles.

New M. E. Church, South.

The new church will occupy the site of the old building on the corner of Railroad Ave. and Harrison St. and will present a magnificent appearance. It will be the handsomest piece of architecture in Easton, and will be an ornament to the town. It will be of brick and timber, with a slate roof. The interior and exterior will be modern in the extreme and of the prettiest pattern. The ground floor will contain a large Sunday School, library and class rooms that may be thrown into one room by means of patent folding partition. The second floor will be the auditorium, the floor gently sloping from all sides toward the pulpit. The pews will be arranged circular, with the organ at the right of the pulpit and the choir gallery immediately in the rear. The rafters will be exposed and the ceiling will be finished up in hard wood. Altogether it will be an edifice of remarkable beauty and comfort. The old church will be torn down next week. In the meantime services will be held in the Court House.

The Circuit Rider.

I have received a copy of this charming little paper and congratulate Rev. Harris on the honor of being the editor of such a wide-awake paper. The issue before me is greatly enlarged and presents a very neat and attractive appearance. Pardon me, Mr. Publisher, but don't you think column rules would improve its appearance? On the first page is a handsome picture of the new church with descriptive article. Report of the Preachers meeting, and letters from the different charges newsy notes, essays, editorials, etc. are among its contents. In the whole it is a splendid and creditable issue. S.E.SHANNAHAN.

Gossip From Various Points Collected by Faithful Reporters.

ROYAL OAK.

Last Sunday evening the M.E. Church south held a Children's Day service which was attended in such numbers that the church and vestibule could not accommodate the people, many persons staying in their carriages in front of the open windows. The exercises and decorations were both beautiful. The music was very fine, but did not compare favorable with the best efforts of the choir, as nearly all of the leading singers were troubled with a hoarseness which is an epidemic in the community at this time. Among the prettiest of the numbers on the programme were a baritone solo by Mr. Chas. Frampton; quartette, Misses Pastorfield and Frampton, and Messrs. Pastorfield and Frampton; a solo, Miss Mullican, and a recitation by Miss Maud Edgell, Miss Bessie Valliant took prominent places in several exercises and recited in her best manner. We cannot further describe the exercises but would say in closing that there was much more which was well deserving favorable mention both as to beauty of substance and manner of execution.

Ross-Tuthill—On Wednesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, Miss Lucy Tuthill, daughter of Mr. Nathaniel Tuthill, of Easton was married to Mr. Joseph Ross, of Germantown, Pa. The two were joined in the holy bonds of wedlock by Rev. Walter E. Avery, of the M. E. Church. The wedding was at the home of the bride's parents and was delightfully informal, there being but few present except immediate relatives of the bride and groom. The rooms were artistically decorated with vines and flowers, and the roses, which are associated in every mind with the month of June, were grouped and scattered everywhere.

The bride was becomingly dressed in a white cotile silk, en train, trimmed with duchesse lace, and carried a boquet of white sweet peas; the bridesmaids, the Misses Ross, sisters of the groom, Miss Bloomfield, of Athens, Ga., and Miss Barker, of Washington D. C., wore pink figured organdie and carried La France roses, and the effect of the whole was charming and picturesque. After the ceremony there were the usual congratulations and then refreshments were served.

There were many beautiful presents, consisting of numerous articles in silver, cut glass and embroidery and other appropriate gifts, both useful and ornamental; two of these were unique, one being the wedding ring of the bride's great grandmother which fell to her lot because she was the first to marry of the great grand-daughters; the other was a portrait of her great-great-grandfather, Col. Ebenezer Avery, dressed in his Revolutionary uniform with his hair done up in a queue; this was presented by the bride's uncle, Mr. David Avery, of Baltimore.

The hour devoted to social converse passed all too quickly, and then the bridal party were driven to the train, and as they stepped on the train showers of rice fell upon and around them. Amid much merriment the last good-bye's were spoken and the newly married couple went swiftly speeding northward, followed by the good wishes and kind thoughts of all who knew them.

That birds may become very tame when "domesticated" is well known, but the antics of a wild catbird at Linchester recently, is a somewhat surprising departure from the laws of "untamed nature." A gentleman from the above town is authority for the statement that while he was sitting in his front porch recently with his feet resting on the railing, a catbird alighted upon his foot and capered about until it reached his knee. After playing about him in this manner for some time, the bird flew to the window where the gentleman's wife sat sewing and alighted upon her arm and appeared very anxious to make the lady's acquaintance. Its visit over, her birdship departed leisurely to other fields of conquest.

Our pastor employed a boy recently to secure him a number of bean poles. The order was promptly filled and the worthy and energetic pastor proceeded to plant them. Christians Who Observe Saturday and Work on Sunday.—Mr. Edgar Price a zealous Seventh Day Adventist, of Millington, was last week arrested and taken before a justice of the peace, charged with a violation of the Sunday laws in having worked on Sunday. He gave bond for his appearance before the Circuit Court, where the case will be tried. This is the third Kent county case which has been the direct outgrowth of the introduction in the county of this religious denomination. The first person arrested was imprisoned for refusing to testify before the Circuit Court on Saturday. The second was the case against John W. Judefind for husking corn on Sunday. The probabilities are that a number of other arrests of the same sort will follow, as there are in the county several ministers and elders and the converts to the adventist faith show an unmistakable determination to insist upon going to the highest courts for a final determination. Queen Anne's county has already a Sunday-working case, which will come up in the November term of court. Mrs. Hattie Mansfield, Charles Ford and John A. Dodd who are also Queen Anne's county Seventh-Day Adventists, were arrested, charged with working on Sunday, and will have a hearing before Justice Aker at Queenstown.—Sun.

THE LAND OF SUNSHINE.

A Unique Country where the Skies are almost Never Clouded, while the air is Cool and Bracing, like Perpetual Spring.

As an anomalous southern resort, by reason of the fact that there one may escape summer heat no less than winter cold, New Mexico is rapidly becoming famous. Averaging throughout the entire territory 5,600 feet in altitude above sea-level, and characterized by dry air which, unlike a humid atmosphere, is incapable of communicating heat, the temperature in midsummer remains at a delightfully comfortable degree through the day, and at night becomes invariably brisk and bracing. The sunshine is almost constant yet the most violent out-of door exertion may be undertaken without fear of distressful consequences. Sunstroke or prostration are absolutely unknown there. It is an ideal land for a summer outing. Its climate is prescribed by reputable physicians as a specific for pulmonary complaints and the medicinal Hot Springs at Las Vegas are noted for their curative virtues. The most sumptuous hotel in the west, the Montezuma, is located at these springs. Write to Jno. J. Byrne, 723 Monadnock Block, Chicago, for "The Land of Sunshine," an entertaining and profusely illustrated book descriptive of this region, the most picturesque and romantic in the United States.
