—The government weather bureau announces that this is going to be one of the hottest summers ever known. Present indications incline one to the belief that the prediction is to be realized.

Pryor—"Do you belong to the Grand Army?" Fakir—"Oh, yes!" "But you were not in the late war." Fakir—"No; I had a substitute represent me in the war, and now I am representing him in the Grand Army."

—Did Brown stand the civil service examination? "First Class." "Went through the Greek alphabet?" "Jest a hummin'!" "And the Latin verbs?" "Every one of 'em!" "What place did they give him?" "Head coal shoveler."

—Parties who use either gasoline or oil stoves during the summer should consult their fire insurance policies, and if no permit to use such is attached to the policy one should be secured. A moment of attention to this may prevent the loss of insurance.

—A gentleman who habitually wears russet shoes was recently asked how he kept them looking so clean and bright, as it was noticed that his foot gear was in excellent condition. He replied: "Oh, that's easy enough. Do that by the use of banana. With a piece of nice, ripe banana I cannot only keep russet shoes clean but I can keep them polished as well. I simply take a piece of banana and grease the leather with it and then polish it with a cloth. In this way all the discolorations are removed and a polish is had." These who wear russet shoes will be apt to appreciate this information.

Prof. Murdaugh and Prof. Crouse teach the classes in Mathematics. Prof. Chaplain teaches applied Phychology, as related to reading and natural Science. He spoke of the value of Elementary science in Primary Schools.

Died.—Mrs. J. E. Shannahan of Easton, died in Baltimore on Sunday morning, June 18, 1893. Her health had been depreciating for some time and she was put under the best of treatment in Baltimore, but without relief. Mrs. Shannahan was formerly Miss Emma L. Wrightson, daughter of Francis A. Wrightson, a prominent citizen of this county, and was also a sister to Mr. Chas. T. Wrightson, for many years past a prominent business man of Easton. She was greatly loved by all who knew her and leaves two small children. Mr. Shannahan is one of Easton's leading merchants and has the sympathy of the community in this hour of sad bereavement.

Successful Operation.—Dr. Merrit successfully performed a very delicate operation last week on the hand of Sallie Smiley. She has had for several months a tumor growing from the bone under the tendons of the palm of the hand, which interfered greatly with its usefulness and caused much discomfort.—The doctor, without the use of anesthetics and without causing any pain or any unpleasant after effects, dissected out the dangerous growth and the patient is very much pleased at being able to resume her accustomed duties in so short a time.

Rev. J. M. Sheridan will preach on The Calling and Responsibility of the Public School Teacher. All teachers specially invited to the evening service.

How different was ex-President Benjamin Harrison's visit to the Fair! He came as a plain American citizen, and he saw the exposition just as thousanbs of other plain American citizens are seeing it every day. There were no pompt and splendor, no brass-bands and speeches, and best of all no antics by that vacuous thing called "Sassiety." And yet Benjamin Harrison to day stands higher in the estimation of the people of the United States for all the qualities for greatness for goodness than stand all the dukes, princesses and what-nots since the time of Rameses I. It is to be hoped that the world does not judge the people of this country by a few Anglomaniacs with too much money and not enough gray matter of the brain. —A. F. Haddaway, in Chicago Letter to Easton Ledger.

CHILDREN'S DAY LAST SUNDAY.

Services of Interest and Profit Appropriate to the day held in Calvary M. P. Church and at the Court House by M.E.Church,South

Seldom are the people of Easton treated to such a delightful church entertainment as was presented by the Sunday School of Calvary M. P. Church last Sunday evening. Indeed, so perfectly was every feature rendered that it was with difficuly the large audience refrained from applauding, If it were proper to indulge in vigorous applause in the house of God the people would have done so Sunday evening most heartily. The number present was very large; persons standing in every available space, in the aisles, on the stairway, on the pavement in front and even on the fences along side of the church testified to the popularity of the School and its entertainments.

The interior of the church was magnificent and certainly represented as refined a taste in the decorating art as one could wish for.—I have never seen the church so handsomely trimmed before, and the words of admiration which it called forth must have been very gratifying to Mrs. Littleton, Mrs. Grasely, Mrs. H. Mason, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Norris, Miss Langsdale to whose skill the loveliness of the decorations are due. Cut flowers and potted plants and evergreens were used. In the center of the platform was a graceful arch which was beautifully trimmed with boxwood and geraniums and roses. Suspended from this arch were handsome plush portiers, and under the arch was a large cross, which in its dress of roses and lilies showed with lovely effect against the dark background of the portiers. Potted plants tastefully grouped completed the decorations, which, all in all, have not been surpassed in Easton this year.

The program comprised such an array of interesting features that to give all the deserved special mention would require too much space, I shall merely comment on a few who were particulary fine, and in doing so, surely Miss Ida Cox may be first mentioned as one who recited "Nearer to Thee" with perfect intonation and accent, graceful gestures and superb feeling. She spoke marvelously well and in a manner that left no room for improvement. Misses Gracie and Anna Ball sang beautifully and displayed voices of astonishing sweetness. They sang several times and ever with voices that were pure and sweet. Master Grasely, too, sang well for such a little fellow. Miss Anna White may be mentioned as foremost among those who recited splendidly, also Raymond Cox and Percy Golt, Little Elsie Tucker was the youngest participant in the exercises, she spoke very plainly and sweetly. The orchestra was a valuable addition to the musical portion of the program. Messrs. Chas. Morris and Chas. Nicols were the accommodating ushers who assigned as many as possible to seats. Mr. Chas. Hughes, superintendent, who had the preparations in charge, deserves great credit. If the old adage 'Honor to whom honor is due" be respected in this case, I would confer the honor of success on every particidant for they all, in a measure, made the service what it was—perfect.

At the Court House

a lovely scene was presented as I walked in the door last Sunday evening, to attend the Children's Day service of the Southern Methodist Sunday School. On every side could be seen the evidences of Mr. Jos. Robson's skill in decorating. The gloomy old court room where one generally sees the grave judge the stern jury, and the sullen prisoner was transformed into a room of beauty and happiness. Instead of the stern sentence from the judge, I heard sweet voices sounding the praise of God in song. The exercises were splendid, indeed, better than any I ever saw by this school. The children sang and spoke with an enthusiasm that was most commendable. The program was excellently prepared and well carried out in every detail, and the school has every reason to feel proud of their entertainment. Among the particulary pleasing features of the program may be mentioned, first, the solos of Mrs. and Miss Norris.—They both sang exquisitely and furnished by their sweet and melodious voices the chief attraction of the evening. Miss Nellie Chaplain must not be forgotten, either, when nice singing is spoken of, for she sang with more than her accustomed grace and beauty. Mr. Norman Leonard delivered the opening address becomingly and Maggie Meintzer sang nicely. The school lived up to its motto, for whatever may be its undertaking, it is surely crowned with success.

The church correspondent, with this issue, contributes his last notes that will appear for a few weeks to come. Or, in other words, he will lay down his pen for a little while, and in the meantime, while the new M. E. Church South is being built, and Rev. W. E. Avery is preaching on the Women of the Bible, and Rev. Mr. Sheridan preaches the inspired word, and the other ministers of God are doing there duty, your correspondent will be taking his vacation. Until that is over au revoir.

A LETTER FROM BALTIMORE.

DEAR GAZETTE:—I was favored a few days ago with the delightful privilege of visiting your beautiful town, and exchanging the many salutations and congratulations of friends, the recollections of whose past friendships are still green in my memory, and the perpetuation of which will always be my constant aim and desire.

'Twas on Sabbath morning early that I strolled away retrospecting the old haunts of my earlier days, and viewing the many changes that Time had wrought in his restless and irresistible march, and often I was compelled to halt to locate if possible some old landmark of former days—but alas, in many instances they were obliterated, and supplanted by some mark of more modern design and style of architecture. While this was no serious objection, yet the sight of some object of "ye olden" time aroused within me the kindliest feelings, and vivid flashes of thought would carry me back to the time when our associations were so happily blended.

The morning in question was one of love and beauty; the air laden with the perfume of a thousand flowers; the beautiful foliage of flower and shrub; the grass plat with its carpet of velvety green, which adorns many of the handsome residences of the town; the rustling leaves of the massive shade trees by the gentle morning zephyrs; the caroling of their morning songs by the hundreds of feathered warblers, lent enchantment to the surroundings savoring strongly of the fabled "Fairy" lands; but differing as to the real, instead of the fancied.

As the morning grew into noontide I was admonished by the ringing of the church bells, that I must turn my steps churchward, and was soon in front of the M. P. Church, a beautiful church structure and a fine congregation, (and just here I would remark, that there are several fine churches in the town of different denominations, which speaks volumes for the morality and religious training of its citizens).

Before entering the church I was told that the exercises of the day were to be conducted by the Sabbath School of the church—commonly known, I believe, as 'Children's' day. This announcement suited me exactly, and knowing the far famed reputation of this school in matters of this sort, I was perfectly content to bide my time, and was soon enchanted by the lovely music, both vocal and instrumental.

The church was magnificently decorated. The floral wreath encircling a beautiful cross standing prominently before the audience, was a superb piece of floral design, reflecting great credit on the designers, whose delicate touch was everywhere visible.

The singing by the school, under the leadership of Prof. J. B. Bennett, assisted by Profs. Buys on the organ and Garey and Spence on the cornets, was a grand success, and merited great applause.

The discourse of Rev. Mr. Sheridan, pastor, on the Missionary interests of the church, was ably and forcibly delivered, and was listened to with rapt attention by the large audience present, Comforting myself with the happy thought of a morning well spent, I was satisfied to leave at the close of the morning exercises, and when about to take my departure, I was informed that a few rehearsals for the evening's program were next in order, and I quietly resumed my seat. Soon there appeared on the stage, in a recitation, a little boy, whose name I ascertained to be Charlie Eastman, and I cannot express my great surprise and delight at the manner in which he delivered his subject. The clear and distinct utterance, the ease and perfection of his gestures, completely won my admiration, and I was sorry when his piece was ended. The next was a duet by Miss Anna Bell Ball and Master Romey Grasley, "Mother's Songs"—the sentiment contained in the beautiful words representing the songs of mother to her infant and then in childhood and again in manhood, and then her departure to her home on high—was very solemn and impressive. The two children thus engaged would announce in song the singing of their mother in the different stages of life, which would be responded to by a quartette of voices composed of Mrs. Susie Grasley, Miss Carrie Garey and Mr. W. W. Spence and Mr. F. G. Garey (whose positions were obscured), in a low, but charmingly musical tone, personating so complete the aged mother, that the few who remained to witness the rehearsals were completely astounded. The next was a duet by Miss Fannie Roberts and Master Harry Weston, which was very fine, the alto voice of Harry being sweet and musical; and lastly, a duet by Miss Nellie Weston and Hallie Webster, which won for them universal admiration.

The great treat of the evening I was compelled to lose, as the morning exercises were only preliminary—but I am sure that those who did witness it will never forget it.

I have trespassed already too long upon your patience, and therefore must cease, with the fond hope of again visiting your lovely town in the near future. L.

THE TITAN OF CHASMS.

A Mile Deep, 13 Miles Wide, 217 Miles Long, and Painted Like a Flower.

The Grand Canon of the Colorado River, in Arizona, is now for the first time easily accessible to tourists. A regular stage line has been established from Flagstaff, Arizona, on the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad, making the trip from Flagstaff to the most imposing part of the Canon in less than 12 hours. The stage fare for the round trip is only $20.00, and meals and comfortable lodgings are provided throughout the trip at a reasonable price. The view of the Grand Canon afforded at the terminus of the stage route is the most stupendous panorama known in nature. There is also a trail at this point leading down the Canon wall, more than 6,000 feet vertically, to the river below. The descent of the trail is a grander experience than climbing the Alps, for in the bottom of this terrific and sublime chasm are hundreds of mountains greater than any of the Alpine range.

A book describing the trip to the Grand Canon, illustrated by many full-page engravings from special photographs, and furnishing all needful information, may be obtained free upon application to Jno. J. Byrne, 723 Monadnock Block, Chicago, Ill.
