M. M. HIGGINS,
H. C. DODSON,
GEO. H. TRAX,
R. E. WELSH,
Republican State Central Committee for Talbot County.

FEW men are more to be shunned than those who have time, but know not how to improve it, and so spend it in wasting the time of their neighbors, talking forever though they have nothing to say.—TRYSON EDWARDS.

REV. SAM JONES next Wednesday. Hear ye him.

WHY don't the life insurance companies revise their rates as applied to women who seek insurance? It has been shown repeatedly that the risk on a male life is greater than that on a female and yet in the majority of cases a larger rate is charged for insuring a woman than a man.

MR. TURNER does not think he will have any occasion to withdraw in favor of Gen. Seth in order to beat Senator Gibson in the Talbot Democratic Senatorial fight. Mr. Turner feels that at this time he has the the county in a sling and that no one else is "in it."

WE can perhaps say things with more grace than could the democratic organs about their own officials.—The party fight now going on in Talbot has created no small buzz in general, and it is unofficially declared that officials Reddie and Lee have sealed their doom through the parts they have t. ken.

SENATOR GIBSON made a very modest request when he told the Democratic State Central Committe for Talbot county that he did not care to ask any favors at their hands nor wished to dictate in the slightest,only he hoped the head of the ticket would not be antagonistic to him. This is modest and fair, as he would naturally want to succeed himself, in the United States Senate, and a state Senator opposed to him would hardly be pleasant to his aspirations.

THE winds have whispered, and the GAZETTE neither affirms nor denies, that Mr. J. F. Turner has made propositions to the Easton Democrat which will give him the strength of that organ and the personal influence of the editor It is said that Mr. Turner eloquently set forth the attitude of Mr. Gibson toward Mr. Todd with reference to the Easton Post Office, and that the entire newspaper patronage of Talbot county passed through Mr. Turner's friends and not through Mr. Gibson's, and if the Democrat did not come out on the Turner side it would get badly left and rue the day day it ever set its store by the Hon. Charles H.

ONE of the foolish customs practiced in both houses of Congress is to adjourn a day "out of respect" for some member who has died. For instance the Senate met last Monday and immediately adjourned out of respect for the late Senator Stanford. After the adjournment the individual members went their ways to work or pleasure as they pleased. It would be more appropriate to buckle down to work with an increased degree of earnestness. The best time to show respect for the dead is before they die, and the longer time before, the better.—Douglas (Kan.) Tribune.

HE TOOK THE BAIT.

We baited for him and he took it nicely. He did not let himself out to his full length by any means, for he is like a telescope and can make himself look like an Eifel tower alongside of some other editors when he lets himself out. But he did not, to a special degree, althoug he swelled considerably. It happened thus:

Some weeks ago we noticed in the Baltimore Sun an article derogatory to the state of Kansas. We exchange with but one paper in that State.—We knew the editor to be an old Marylander, familiar with our oysters, fish and game. We also knew that in the grasshopper state he had run a paper for about eighteen years and had seen him cleverly wind up many another editor to a giddy height and then let him unfeelingly drop. This time we set the bait for him from the Sun and without marking the copy, left it.—The odor of the article caught the Kansas editor's nostrils in due course of time and the Douglass Tribune appeared in an editorial to that great luminary. Here is the Sun article and follows it the reply. It is not likely the Sun knows anything about it.

Within the last few years Kansas has had to eat the bread of affliction and drink deeply of the bitter waters of adversity. It has not only had a government which has been busy killing enterprise and driving capital from the state, but it has had the usual number of cyclones and now the western part of the State has been passing through a protracted drought, which has almost left the people without food. Large numbers of people have been driven from the state, and those who remain are clamoring for a special session of the legislature to make stay laws and provide seed wheat for the destitute farmers.—Just why immigrants should prefer to settle in Kansas to buying lands in Maryland and Virginia and other parts of the South it is hard to tell.—Baltimore Sun.

We feel to pity the bewildering ignorance of the corn pone eaters of the Southeast, more than to censure them for their disposition to avoid the truth. If they were better acquainted with the truth they would loose the inexplainable dread they show for it. Immigrants prefer land in Kansas for that of Maryland and Virginia and other parts of the South because Kansas land is richer and cheaper; Kansas climate more invigorating, healthy and pleasant; Kansas people more intelligent, public spirited and honest, and Kansas institutions infinitely more to the liking of lively people than the ways of the mossbacks and the antiquated ideas of the ox-cart communities of the Southeast.

How the plugugly writer of the Baltimore Sun got an idea that large numbers of the people had been driven from the state of Kansas we are at a loss to know. We do not believe he invented it himself, for we don't believe he could invent anything. The only class of people who are leaving the state in large numbers are those who are going to the World's Fair, and the clamor of those who may have called for a special session of the legislature is like the howling of coyotes—two can make a noise like unto a thousand. A special session of the legislature has not been seriously thought of. It would be much cheaper for the tax payers to donate what seed wheat may be necessary, than to pay for an extra session. Of course we understand how hard it is for a Marylander, confined on little strips of pale yellow sand and clammy clay, encompassed by water and marshes and within a day's drive of another state in almost any direction to appreciate that Kansas is 400 miles long and 200 wide, and that a drouth might blight the wheat crop of half that area, and yet the yield of the state be sufficient to give Maryland all the wheat bread she is accustomed to eat for several years. In western Kansas a wheat crop is not expected every year by any means, but when a season is favorable there is enough raised to feed the nation. There is enough of Kansas to make seven such states as Maryland, and we could suck up our soil and sell it in that state at good figures for fertilizing purposes.

Admitting that Kansas has had a few cyclones—not so many as other states in the Mississippi valley. But more men are killed in Maryland in a week by drinking the ruinious rot-gut of that country than have died from the effects of Kansas cyclones in 20 years. The state government is disgraceful 'tis true, but it was only an experiment and will not be repeated. It has killed enterprise and driven capital from the state, and it could not have done the like in Maryland. It would have found no enterprise to massacre, and no foreign capital to banish from that state. Such intrusions have not been tolerated.

Since the above was put in type, the Sun has made quite a lengthy reply to the Kansas Tribune in which it tersely says "It cannot but be gratifying to the Sun that the entire correctness of its assertions are thus vouched for by this local authority in language of such a picturesque character."

What is Mr. Gorman.

The Baltimore News says: "The people of Maryland are watching Senator Gorman with deep interest. The outcome of his present mysterious proceedings in the Senate will show them once for all whether he is a mere politician or a great statesman.

"The News has no motive in discussing his position other than to bring about a good result and to give the people all the facts. It is a very interesting riddle which he offers for solution, and the News has given impartially all the guesses suggested by the correspondents of the journals usually well informed, because the people of Maryland are guessing, too, and we want to help them to a true answer.

"The New York Herald says that: "As soon as the Senate met and the President's message was read Senator Gorman, acting as the democratic leader, moved for an adjournment and proposed a party caucus, Compromise was his idea. The caucus appointed a harmonizing committee, with Senotor Gorman as chairman, and ever since that time the free silver men have gained in strength. Mr. Gorman will vote for sound money, but he does not go any further. Being a leader, he does not lead.

"The Republican Senators have been ready to help him from the very start, but he will make no alliance. His masterful hand is not drawing the doubtful Senators to the support of the President and the country, but is apparently forcing sound money Senators towards a compromise. A dishonored and dishonorable money system may be thrust upon the people, but Senator Gorman will be able to pose as the peacemaker—the savior of his party. The President and the Secretary of the Treasury may be repudiated and spat upon, but Senator Gorman can point to the fact that he prevented the democratic Senators from being divided, even though he accomplished it at the sacrifice of the financial and commercial interests of the whole country."

"This situation, if it exists, does the Senator no credit. It shows him in the attitude of a man who puts his popularity in the party above his duty to his country; as a politician, not a patriot; as a patronage peddler, not a statesman.

But the Sun shows a very different picture, like that presented yesterday by our own correspondent. According to these authorities, there is an overwhelming Democratic majority in the Senate opposed to the President on the silver question, 32 Democratic Senators against 12. With this majority, the Senator, though himself in accord with the President, finds it difficult to deal within the party, and a Republican alliance cannot be made, because the Republican silver Senators number enough to make a combined majority in favor of free silver. In this event, to divide the Democratic party would expose its dissensions without accomplishing the repeal of the Sherman law.

Therefore, says the Sun, Mr. Gorman is using every effort to get an agreement upon some plan which will bring relief to the country upon some line of compromise. This is of course, the patriotic policy, if the situation is as the Sun represents.

Time will tell what the facts are, and what the Senator is. For his sake, Maryland's and the country's, The News hopes he will prove a statesman.

For the Gazette.

ADVICE TO DEMOCRATS.

MR. EDITOR:—If the writer did not know so well your loyalty to our party, and to those who know you as we do, as a sincere man, a republican might think strange of an article in the editorial columns of the GAZETTE issued on Saturday last, with reference to the apparent primary contest between our democratic friends in the county. We are disposed to feel a little jealous of you, to know how you kuew so much, if you were not told; if such is the case that you were not, if we are any judge, or have any faculty for observation, or ears to hear, you are certainly a good guesser. I was once interested in New York politics as a citizen of that state, and this fight with democrats among themselves, reminds me of some not only local, but national issues there among themselves, which always resulted to our benefit. Now that Talbot county, Md. is my adopted home, when a kind Providence calls me from the turmoils of this life, my body will be consigned to mother earth in my adopted State and county. Hence you must see I have an interest here, and can assure you and others wheather to the manor born, or those like myself, have never regretted settling in now "My Maryland," and have a pride in now my county and feel as grateful as a republican can feel that my county has a U. S. Senator; certainly no political benefits will ever accrue to me, nor that we know of to any other member of my party. Save that from what I personally know, and what I hear Senator Gibson's friends say, that he is a kind hearted, generous man.

Now Mr. Editor, you need not have the same feeling towards me that one might have thought as before suggested with reference to your guess work, that I am anything else but a Simon pure republican, nor did I vote for any democrat on their ticket in 1891, but I must confess why all this fume against our Senator, because his home and I presume all his interests are here. I differ with those in his own party who are now opposing him. They ought to make the best of a bad job, since it is apparently useless for us to think of getting a republican to succeed our county's Senator. Republicans shou'd take a higher ground than to undertake to embarrass any good man. We notice in one of your contemporaries, that much is said with reference to assessment bills, and taxation of mortgages by the next Legislature, and yet if we are correctly informed, ex-Gov. Jackson is a candidate to succeed Senator Gibson, and that both ex. Comptroller Turner, and Gen. Seth, are, or would be supporters of ex-Gov. Jackson as against our Senator, in the event of the success of either of them to a seat in the State Senate.

Some will say, what has a republican to do with this matter? I am a citizen of Talbot county and a taxpaying farmer, and will lend no aid or support to any man or set of men of any party my own not accepted who would be against an assessment bill with the listing system included. This is fair, and in accordance with the 15th article of the constitution. Ex-Gov. Jackson vetoed an assessment bill in the session of 1890.—"Farmer Brown" vetoed the assessment bill of 1892. These are facts, I say to our democratic friends who are farmers, they had better look out for Jackson and his friends, for Jackson seed are being planted to bring forth buds that will be grafted in the body or tree of one of your people.—"A hint to the wise is sufficient"

WASHINGTON LETTER.

FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.

Washington, Aug. 19, 1893.

Democrats in Congress do not take kindly to Mr. Cleveland's departure. They do not hesitate to say that it was as much his duty to stay here and help his party reach a decision on the silver question as it is the duty of members of Congress to stay. Before leaving Mr. Cleveland spoke his mind freely to several prominent members of his party. He told them among other things, that unless something unexpected occurred to make him change his mind he did not intend to make any more appointments until Congress had acted upon the silver question, and that he did not intend to stay in Washington to listen to the men who are more anxious to get a few appointments for their friends than to relieve the financial distress of the country.

Aside from Mr. Cleveland's disgust as the reception given his message by his party in Congress, his bad health and his natural desire to be near his wife just now, there was another weighty reason for his departure, which can be fully appreciated by every proud man. From the time he arrived until his departure he was almost completely ignored by the Senators of his party, less than half a dozen of them having paid him the courtesy of even a formal call. This was so different from what he had been led to expect by those who have been misrepresenting things to him that he was at first furious, and later humiliated. Those Senators whom he saw carried him no balm for his wounded pride, as they were practically unanimous in the belief that it will be impossible to get a bill for the repeal of the silver law through the Senate, unless it embodies a substitute that meets the approval of the conservative silver men in that body. Truly Mr. Cleveland had enough reasons for leaving Washington in a hurry, although none of them were sufficient to excuse his departure.

So far the silver fight in the House has been mostly between democrats, although several republicans, among them Grosvenor, of Ohio, and Henderson, of Iowa, gave Representative Harter, of Ohio, a few disagreeable minutes when he asserted that the condition of the working man in England was as much superior to the condition of the working man in Ohio as a berth in Heaven is to a cot in Purgatory. The free silver democrats also prodded Harter at several points of his speech. He said that Senator Sherman, instead of being abused for the Sherman law, ought to have the grateful thanks of the whole people, because he got the best there was to be obtained for the country out of a bad situation. But the portion of his speech that was the most irritating to the silver men was where he said: "The workingmen are appealing to Congress for bread, and the silver men are offering them, not a stone but dynamite, and instead of a serpent a whole bundle of them—a boa constricter, a rattle snake, a copperhead, all rolled into one in the shape of a financial system."

It is plain to be seen that the speeches in the House are for home consumption. Since the first day there has not been a quorum present and the same condition is expected to continue during the fourteen days the debate is to last. No votes will be changed, and if the votes were taken now instead of at the close of the debate, the result would be the same.

The Senate has done nothing and it is understood that at the last meeting of the Finance committee the silver men who control that committee, made it plain that no bill would be reported from the committee for the repeal of the Sherman law, without a substitute that would be satisfactory to the silver men. A committee of democratic Senators is now engaged in trying to bring about a compromise. Republican Senators are waiting to see what the democrats propose doing.

Repre. Breckinridge of Kentucky, has become involved in a very ugly personal scandal, by the filing of a suit against him for $50,000 by Madalene V. Pollard, for breach of promise of marriage. She charges that he seduced her when she was seventeen years old and a student at Weslyan Female College at Cincinnatti, and says she had two children of whom he was the father, and that after his wife's death, in 1892, he promised to marry her, but postponed it from time to time, meanwhile continuing his relations with her; and that on the 18th of July, 1893, he married another woman. Breckenridge brought Miss Pollard to Washington and secured her a government position, from which she was dismissed for having publicly made disgraceful remarks about Gen. Sherman at the time of his death. Mr. Breckinridge has his bride here now. Nice state of affairs for a bride to be called upon to contemplate before the end of her honeymoon, isn't it?

Specimen Cases.

Mr. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism; his Stomach was disordered, his Liver was effected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five large Fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by J. G. Henry & Bro, Drug Store.
