M. M. HIGGINS,
H. C. DODSON,
GEO. H. TRAX,
R. E. WELSH,
Republican State Central Committee for Talbot County.

WE modestly suggest to the political gamblers in Easton to-day to look out for loaded dice.

EX-GOV. JACKSON is in Exrope but his dollars will float around Talbot to-day.

To be or not to be, that is the question in the minds of leading Democrats, to-day.

THE Democrat came out a day in advance this week to have its say last before the primaries.

SINCE our management of the GAZETTE it has never intentionally made a misstatement. We have no desire to distort facts, or to falsify returns in anything or in any degree.

IF there is much Jackson money going the rounds to-day we hope some of it will fall in the hands of those who are aching to pay us an old balance.

THOUSANDS of bushels of peaches were lying on the ground in this county on Thursday morning, the result of the heavy blow and storm of Wednesday night.

WHEN Ward McAllister talks about the danger and vulgarity in lavish extravagance he talks more sensibly than is his wont and is exerting an influence in the right direction. Mc Allister may be of some use to the world yet.

THE cost of the Chicago postoffice is one-third of its revenue. Chicagoans not only pay for their own postal facilities, but pay three-fifths of the deficit in the postoffice department on the entire mail service.

MESSRS. MALIETOTA and MATAAFA rival kings of the Samoan Islands, have been amusing themselves with a little private war. The latter was licked out of his royal sandals, but didn't surrender till pressure was brought to bear by America, England and Germany, the three political guardians of the South sea children.

INTENSELY humorous is this clipping from the editorial column of the metropolitan luminary of last Tuesday: "Mr. Turner is in favor of pure primaries. That if those who are opposing him in this contest will not use money to influence the voter, he will be only to glad to meet him upon that ground.

Z. P. STEELE an old journalist and editor of the Caroline Democrat that once existed, is now one of the editors of that remarkably bright and well conducted sheet, the Denton Journal. Melvin had one of the best papers that comes to our exchange table, and now we expect to see it better still.

IT might be somewhat presumptuous in the GAZETTE to dabble in Democratic politics, and perhaps we should not have done it, but the opportunity is and has been so great that we could hardly have a local paper and not do it. We have had very little of our own politics to engage our attention and the democrats have had so much that was spoiling to be told that we had to put in. If we have done the party any good we are sorry and beg to be excused.

TO-DAY will decide the fate of the two T's. One will be taken and the other left, or both will be left. Perhaps the party needs both, perhaps it wants neither. Maybe it "will be just as well off without its supper," as the Norfolk lady said to her mama on going home from a swell tea. A certain prominent Mr. Taswell was absent from the table, and upon inquiry as to his whereabouts the reply came "Mr. Taswell would be 'Aswell' without his T." The young lady in question laughed immoderately and took the brilliant remark home thus: "O, it was so funny, Mr. So-and-so said Mr. Taswell would be just as well off without his supper."

IT seems that the GAZETTE of last week rather disturbed the peace of mind of our brother Turner of the Star. If it did, we presume it is the first newspaper that ever hurt his feelings. And in this capacity we do not take especial pride, for we had no such intention. All the editorials written in which Mr. Turner could claim interest were written in the best of feeling and with the best intentions, and if we are guilty of "lying" as our contemporary puts it, if he points out the identical line wherein we deviated from the truth, we will make most humble apology.

If "for years" our "principal stock in trade was lying on Mr. Turner" surely it will not be hard to point out just one lie which we now ask him in all fairness to do. He can have the use of our files. It is one thing to accuse and another thing to prove. No statement made in the last GAZETTE was denied by the Star so we are at a loss to know just where the lie comes in.

THE Republicans of Talbot have been called to meet in County Convention on the fifth of next month.—One week from to-day they are invited to meet at the usual polling places to select delegates for said convention which will name representatives to the State Convention to be held in Baltimore on the following day. The county nominating contion will not be called until October 3rd, and the same delegates will compose it.

The GAZETTE has no candidate to name out of the number that have been suggested for State Senator.—That there is not only a good fighting chance, but a rare opportunity to select the winning candidate at the November election, is conceeded by all thinking Republicans.

The management of State affairs has not been in accordance with the views entertained by the best citizens, of either party, and the same is becoming very wearisome to voters and taxpayers, Republicans from other sections of the State feel encouraged at the prospect of getting a largely increased representation at Annapolis this winter, and we urge them in Talbot to work with hopeful diligence to that end. The victory is not an impossible one.

SAM P. JONES produced a sensation in Easton. He has been the theme of conversation and discussion ever since he delivered his first lecture.—Some were delighted, others disappointed. Those who had read much of Jones or had heard him were not disappointed nor disgusted with his quality of discourse and manner of expression. He is simply Sam Jones and he don't care if you do like some other style better, he is after those persons who like his way—the majority do, and he knows it and he adopts his peculiar witticism to hold their attention while he lathers them with their evil doings so strong that they cannot get from under his fire.

He was pleased with Easton, in fact expressed himself privately to his entertainers that he never visited a prettier little town nor had a more responsive and appreciative audience. When he saw the kind of people he was talking to it changed his course and he gave them a different lecture than he had intended to give. His sallies at the ignorance and narrowness of the Easton people were purely in jest as he has that to say of all the places he visits where the opposite is the case, it is a part of his plan to engage entire attention. He said he would try hard to give Easton another call this winter, and when summer came again he wanted to bring his wife and children here for two weeks at the delightful Hotel Avon, with which he was so much pleased.

The threatening weather kept away hundreds from a distance, and the receipts were not so large as hoped for. The expenses of the management were enormous and they will be glad to come out even. But as a matter of fact they will be something ahead.

Fall Trade Prospects.

Inquiry among the wholesale and jobbing merchants of Baltimore show that a hopeful feeling prevails, and that indications promise a healthy fall trade in all classes of goods. The merchants are in good spirits, and are impressed with the prevailing opinion that the turning point in the financial stringency has beed reached and that while business may not enencounter an immediate boom it will be on a safe and conservative basis that will yield fair and prompt returns.

The commercial territory tributary to Baltimore has in a measure grown to adopt the methods that have so long prevailed here, and there is but little inclination now to overstock or to purchase goods only because they are offered for sale. The policy is to purchase little at a time and to buy as often as stocks need replenishing. While the average amount of the wholesale business of this city will be maintained for the year the disposition is to carry stocks along easily and contract no large bills at the beginning of the season, as has sometimes been the case heretofore.

Mr. John E. Hurst expresses the general feeling of the trade as follows: "If we are compelled to carry outstanding bills there is no section in which I would rather have my money than in the South. The people there are pursuing conservative methods and the crop prospects are good.—We have not sold as many goods up to this time, perhaps as are usually put out, but this is due to the fact that customers are following our advice. We suggest to them limited and frequent purchases, and find that it acts well for the jobber, retailer and consumer. Our experience has been that when the early trade is light it is made up by liberal purchases later, and this we confidently look for and have provided accordingly. It is safe to say that the bulk of trade will be maintained and the distribution will go on cautiously until all wants are supplied. On the whole Baltimore merchants have no complaint to make of a falling off in business. Trade is progressing and the standing of our merchants in the commercial world is equal to any."

Mindful that the last days of August are the forerunners of the opening of Autumn, the shopping world has begun its round of visits to the stores with keen interest in forthcoming styles. Lexington st. the Mecca of shoppers, was the center of attraction yesterday and presented a lively appearance all day. On the other shopping streets of Baltimore the scenes were also lively. The shops are either bringing out new goods for Autumn or Winter wear or displaying in their windows bargains from the summer stock with prices that create havoc in feminine hearts.—These two attractions keep womankind busy and make the preliminary shopping tour promise brightly for a brisk autumn trade.—Sun.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.

Washington, Aug. 21, 1893.

The administration's friends are to be given an opportunity on the floor of the House and Senate to defend the somewhat remarkable pension policy adopted by Sec. Hoke Smith under Mr. Cleveland's orders. Senator Gallinger has introduced a resolution directing the committee on Pensions to investigate and report to the Senate, whether the wholesale suspension of pensioners, which has been going on for some time at an average of something more than 150 a day, is in accordance with law, and a resolution of a similar nature will be introduced in the House as soon as the House is in a condition to allow its ordinary business to proceed in the ordinary channels, which will be after the silver question has been disposed of, rules adopted and committees appointed. As soon as the Senate adopts Mr. Gallinger's resolution Secretary Smith and the Commissioner of Pensions will both be summoned to testify before the Senate Pension Committee as to recent proceedings.

It is regarded as significant that the bill reported by the minority of the Senate Finance Committee as a substitute for the Vorhees bill, for the unconditional repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman silver law provides for free coinage at a ratio of 20 to 1. This indicates that the silver Senators have given up the idea of insisting upon the free coinage of silver at the present ratio. Speeches will from time to time be made on both of these bills, but it is not probable that the Senate will take them up to the exclusion of other business until after the House has voted upon the silver question, which will be early in next week.

A more senseless opposition has seldom been seen than that which certain democrats and populists are making in the Senate to the bill which proposes to allow national banks to issue currency to the full amount of bonds they have on deposit to secure circulation. At three different sessions of Congress the same identical bill has passed the Senate without opposition, and if it were now a law it would add $19,000,000 to the money in circulation immediately, and probably as much more in three months. The only argument presented against the bill is the old one, that National banks enjoy privileges denied to others, and inasmuch as any persons having the requisite capital are at all times free to organize a National bank and get their share of the privileges, that isn't a good one. After voting down some silly amendments proposed by Senators Allen and Cockrill, the Senate has now to vote upon one for the repeal of the tax on State bank currency, which has been offered by Butler of S. C., and there will probably be more of the same sort.

The speech of Representative J. C. Sibley, of Pa., was the most conspicuous for several reasons made in the House during the past week. Mr. Sibley is a democrat, a Bible reader, a millionaire and a free silver man—the only one in Congress from the East, and his speech was at times highly sensational. He was not quite as open in his attack upon President Cleveland as Senator Vest was, but the attack was there all the same.

The unconditional repealers now claim a safe majority in both House and Senate, but their claim of 45 votes in the Senate includes several men whose votes are very doubtful and who are counted by the silver men. The trouble about getting at what the result will be in the Senate arises largely from there being a number of Senators who if they have made up their minds how they will vote have taken nobody into their confidence.

Jerry Simpson dealt the democrats a heavy blow when in a silver speech he fired this question at the House, in his rasping, exasperating voice:—"Whoever heard of the democratic party ever repealing a law or making a law!" Receiving no answer, Jerry glared at the administration group in the House and added: "There is no democratic party any more, it is Mr. Cleveland's party." From which it will be seen that even a man of Jerry's small calibre can sometimes perceive the true inwardness of things democratic.

This is to be the last week of the silver debate in the House, and, aside from the earnest desire of almost everybody to see the matter settled, there are no regrets, for with few exceptions the speeches have been uninteresting and commonplace. Unless all outward indications are at fault all the silver amendments will be voted down and the bill for the unconditional repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman silver law passed by a small majority. The republicans of the House will really hold the balance of power when the votes are taken, but they will not allow that to influence their votes.

ATTENTION FARMERS.

WE ARE IN THE FIELD THIS SEASON with the best and most complete assortment of Implements and Machinery ever offered on the Eastern Shore. First come Plows, and the "Bissell" leads them all in lightness of draft and best work in all conditions of land. Next comes the "Oliver" pattern plow manufactured by Bissell, which is, we claim, superior to any Oliver sold; this plow we have sold a great many of during the past and present seasons and can give a host of references supporting our claim. Lastly comes the "Advance," which is too well known to need any comments. Of the Harrows we are selling the complete line made by D. M. Osborne & Co., including Spring Tooth, Spike Tooth; and Disc—the Spring Tooth especially being the grandest thing of its kind ever put on the market. One of them last winter sold at a sale for $16 which was within $2 of what it cost originally, the bidding having commenced at $10.

In Corn Planters we have the U. S. Combined Check Row Corn Planter This Planter uses a plunger direct from the check row rod to the rotary seed plates and does away with all the shakebar and center irons between the seed boxes. A single pin spring anchor is furnished with the U. S. and with their use the wire can be drawn the same tension at each end of the field, thereby insuring great accuracy in planting.

Our Sulky Cultivator is the "Akron," which is already at the top of the heap both as a cultivator and as a fallow worker.

We are still selling the Osborne Binders and Mowers, which are most reliable, and also the Empire Binders and Mowers, which are new to this section, but have more good points than any machine ever sold.

Farm Wagons—We are handling the "Jackson" and "Auburn." The Jackson is the old Webster very much improved and no one should think of buying a wagon without seeing them. To continue to enumerate all the good things that we have would take up so much of your time that we will cease with the assurance that no matter what you may want we believe we can suit you from a shoe peg to a traction engine.

P. S.—Barb Wire is lower than ever before. Do you need some? We have a large supply.

E. T. NICOLS.
