REPUBLICAN TICKET.

FOR COMPTROLLER:
JOSHUA HORNER, JR., of Baltimore

FOR STATE SENATOR:
ISAAC A. BARBER.

FOR HOUSE OF DELEGATES:
HENRY CLAY DODSON,
CHARLES F. STEWART,
HIRAM S. HALL.

FOR SHERIFF:
CLIFTON P. HAND.

AND now the "ugh" comes off of both Hillsboro and Greensboro. The extra letters were too heavy for towns of their size.

IT is no crime for a Democrat residing in Baltimore to come home to vote. They do it repeatedly, year after year, but for a Republican of Col. Thos. S. Hodson's standing it is a crime to keep his residence, and he is made to "show cause why his name should not be stricken from the registry" of Crisfield because he has a branch law office in Baltimore.

THE great deadlock in the Democratic convention of the First Maryland judicial circuit was broken Tuesday and goes on record as one of the most protracted political struggles ever known in this country. For 5,650 ballots, eight delegates voted for Page and Holland, and eight others for Lloyd and Purnell. Then Wicomico county, under the lead of ex-Governor Jackson, made the move for the compromise ticket of Page and Lloyd, and the convention unanimously ratified the move.

"SPOSEN" it was a Republican Congress and Senate that had the reins of government, and "sposen" they did exactly what has been done by the present houses, and "sposen" an election was about to come off, and "sposen" a Republican still declared himself a devotee to his party, what would become of that poor Repub? The democratic winds of indignation would speedily waft him to that borne whence he could return no more to vote. "But, bein as its Dimmocrats, says I, hits all right."

THE Supplement today contains the Statement of Talbot County's Expenses during the year ending June 30th, 1893. It will also be found to contain the best list of premiums ever put out by a newspaper in this place. These premiums will be awarded to those who fulfil the obligations set forth. If you do not wish to try for them, pass the paper to some one who will. The subscription will be the same in these cases as for advanced or club rates to the paper, $1.00 each.

WORK of improvement goes constantly on notwithstanding the depression of the times. This is applicable to Easton in particular. The High School building has been razed and the debris of brick and mortar is placed on the street bed. The same was done with the brick and mortar from the M. E. Church, South, structure. These two buildings will add much to the appearance of the town when they are completed. Their architectural proportions will be in harmony with the times and if finished as they have begun, there will be much to commend on the part of the projecters.

There are many minor improvements going on over town which includes building, renovating and paining. Easton is certainly looking up, right in the face of hard times, and most all of the leading citizens are visiting the World's Fair. There, perhaps, they are imbued with the spirit of progress and come home to show it in their community. It is all well to progress and never creditable to stand still. Let the good work go on and let the Shore know that Easton is a live town, and that its business is as firm as a rock.

THE Political bug is not hopping as lively in Talbot in the day time now as it has been wont to do on former occosins just preceding an election. But it is hopping all the same though more under cover than usual. Not exactly at night, either, but more in the dark, so to speak. It is said there will be some grave surprises at the election. The registration seems to favor the democratic ticket but it is not every democrat this fall who will vote his former sentiments. However they will make up in money what they lack in votes among their own men.

The republican ticket is a strong temperance ticket and ought to hold the Prohibition vote—if that party wants to "vote as it prays." Neither the Prohibitionists nor the Republicans can hope to have things better so long as the same old party has control of the legislature. It is in state matters that there is so much to find fault with. No one is satisfied, not even the members of the late legislature, with their own laws and vetoes.

Maryland must come out of the political mire into which it has sunken, and the only way to have it out is to place men in the halls of legislation who are not hampered by the weight of democratic demands from the bosses and money power of the rulers of the party.

THE Baltimore Sun well says: "A large number of citizens of St. Michaels, Talbot county, Md., have addressed a communication to the Sun complaining of the bad mail arrangements for that town. St. Michaels is a thriving town, situated in the midst of a rich and populous country, less than fifty miles from Baltimore, and yet the first mail from Baltimore arrives about 6 o'clock in the evening. The most direct route to St. Michaels is the Baltimore and Eastern Shore Railroad, upon which it is situated, a few miles from Claiborne, but only one boat a day leaves Baltimore to connect with that road, and that one leaves at 5 p. m. The mails are sent by the Pennsylvania Road around the head of the bay to Easton, arriving in Easton about noon. There it remains until late in the evening, when it is sent to St. Michaels by the Eastern Shore Road. It would be well for our Representatives in Congress to call the immediate attention of the Postoffice Department to this state of affairs. If an earlier boat or train cannot be obtained a star route might be established from Easton to St. Michaels, a distance of about ten miles, which would give the mails to St. Michaels about 1 30 p. m., more than four hours earlier than at present. Something should be done, as it is disgraceful that the people of St. Michaels should be worse served than they were before railroads were ever known.

A PRIVATE letter recently received from one of the thriving manufacturing cities of Indiana, and from an influential citizen, for many years foreman of a leading and extensive machine shop, contains these remarks:

"The 'Democratic wave' of financial disaster struck us as it moved eastward. It came from St. Louis, here. The shops have discharged nearly all their help and I have been out of employment several weeks, as well as others. * * Times here are exceedingly close, with twenty-two to twenty-five hundred men out of work and not much prospect for better times this winter in this city, and it is worse in some other places than it is here. Some shops closed down, others are running eight hours just three days in the week, and a small force at that, others cut down their force one-half to three-fourths and run one half of the remainder one day and the other half the next day, but only eight hours, alternating in this way to give their men something to do. * * We are going to be compelled to feed the hungry this winter by arranging soup houses for the needy who are out of work in our city."

The letter also speaks of there being no fruit except grapes, and the crops cut short in consequence of a severe drought. Could there be a greater necessity for a sound business confidence in such towns as these? Man cannot control the elements nor guarantee prolific crops which yield food and raiment, but he is responsible for the failure to establish and maintain that vitalizing and necessary fluid known as "business confidence" that must pulsate through the veins of commerce. The change of administrative policy is the cause.

Not willing to abide by tried and salutary laws that had brought the country into unprecedented prosperity, simply because they had no hand in making those laws, the Democratic party clamors for power, inaugurates new policies, dallies and trifles and experiments, afraid to follow in the course that they themselves had vouchsafed to the country, until the centres of trade and the channels of prosperity tremble with the fear that is akin to that of passengers when they realize that the ship is manned by incompetent and quarrelling seamen and that, too, in the face of storm, wrecks and disaster. Who are responsible? Who are in position to restore confidence and set in motion the idle wheels of commerce? If the present Congrses and the Senate cannot run this country, there are other avenues of business more suited to the several capacities of the members, and they could gracefully step down and out and let some others man the ship of state who understand the machinery of the vessel.

WHO but Ex-President Harrison could have said as much truth and spoken as much wisdom upon the repeal of the Federal Elections bill in the House of Representatives on Tuesday?

"We are sowing the seed of discord in the breaking away from the national election laws," he said. "The people of this country will not submit to choice of their officials by the dice box or the juggler's hat. Above all this, we must have pure elections. I did not, in my message to Congress, say all that could be said upon this necessity. Our elections must be above suspicion of taint or fraud. Citizens will not respect officials whose selections are questioned, or known to have been secured by palpable and open fraud.

"I believe that every citizen should be protected in his right of suffrage, to the extent of being permitted to vote his political preference and to have his vote counted as cast. If the present federal election law is repealed by Congress, all federal control and supervision of the election of national officers is withdrawn, and local sentiment and local laws will govern such elections. I am not partial to any particular federal election law, except that the law should provide for some judical method of inquiry.

That the colored vote in the South is suppressed or counted out is a notorious fact. Take for instance, the state of Tennessee. Had I recieved as many votes in the five black counties in west Tennessee in '88 as Mr. Blaine received in the same counties in 1884 I would have secured the electoral vote of Tennessee by a majority of 5,000 or 6,000.

"The frauds in that section were so palpable that the district attorney had many election officers indicted before the Federal Court at Memphis. In honest elections lies our national safety, and we cannot tolerate fraud in elections without paying a bitter price in the end.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT,

Washington, Oct. 14, 1893.

"Let them do as I wish them to do, or go home," is the remarkable language Mr. Cleveland is reported to have used in reference to the Senate. The test of physical endurance which is to begin in the Senate on Wednesday of this week is intended to force a vote on the repeal bill. At least that is the impression that Senator Vorhees wishes the public to get of it. But its real purpose is to demonstrate to Mr. Cleveland the impossibility of forcing a vote and to get him to listen to the advice of his cabinet and many of the shrewdest Senators and Representatives in his party and consent to the adoption of a compromise amendment that will secure the votes of three fourths of the Senate. In holding a continuous session the unconditional repeal Senators play their last trump card; they will have to keep forty-one Senators continuously on the floor, as the opponents of unconditional repeal have given notice that they will only keep two Senators on the floor at a time—one to speak and one to watch the others, thus allowing the rest of their force to rest. The session which will begin Wednesday at eleven A. M. may possibly be kept up for as long a period as forty-eight hours but it will surprise no one here if it fizzles out before daylight on Thursday morning, for lack of quorum. The twenty-five republican Senators who are counted for unconditional repeal have adopted no programme, but it is believed that few of them will feel it incumbent upon themselves to endanger their health by remaining in their seats all night, particularly when they know that nothing can thereby be accomplished.

Opinion differs as to what will be done after it has been shown that a vote cannot be forced by a continuous session of the Senate. If Mr. Cleveland's idea be followed Congress will at once adjourn, not take a recess he having stated his belief that it would be better for Congress to adjourn until the beginning of the regular session in December than to take a short recess. But the general impression is that a compromise amendment will be adopted before next Saturday night, thus giving Mr. Cleveland an opportunity to carry out his implied threat to vote anything other than unconditional repeal that might be sent to him.

There is trouble in the House as well as in the Senate. The bill for the repeal of the Federal election laws, instead of solidifying the democrats of the House as it was expected to do, has made a new split in their already badly split up ranks. The Tucker bill, which is the one under consideration, repeals every single Federal statute dealing with elections and a considerable number of democratic members of the House think it too radical. A caucus is to be held to decide the dispute. The caucus will doubtless decide in favor of the Tucker bill, but it is very doubtful whether that bill can be passed tomorrow, according to programme. The republicans will not vote to make a quorum and the House may find itself without one for an indefinite period by reason of the absence of democrats opposed to the bill.

Senator Peffer's latest bill is the king pin of all that have gone before in the long line of absurd propositions and it is only fair to Mr. Peffer to say that he does not father this monstrosity, but introduced it "by request." The bill starts by directing the coinage of all the gold and silver now in the Treasury and the coinage of all of either that shall be offered until the aggregate of $6,000,000,000 shall be reached. But that is merely a sort of preamble, as it were; the gist of the bill is that portion which provides for universal prosperity, by appropriating $600,000,000 to be distributed pro rata according to population among the states and territories, the same to be spent in the improvement of public highways, building school houses, etc., in wages of $4 a day of eight hours to each person engaged in the work. The bill further provides that all citizens of the United States offering their service shall be employed. It would be more sensible and more beneficial, if Congress would appropriate money to maintain a kindergarten of political economy, and compel the regular attendance thereat of those Senators and Representatives who show by the nature of the bills they introduce their lack of even the rudiment of that science.

Quite a number of democratic Senators refuse to be bossed by Mr. Cleveland on the silver question, but the alacrity with which some of the same Senators drop their own views about the advisability of confirming the nomination of $50,000 Van Alen to be Ambassador to Italy and adopt those of ex-Secretary Whitney indicates that the same Whitney knows how to boss the democratic Senators. The confirmation of this nomination for which it is clear to everybody $50,000 was paid will stand out in history as a blot upon the fair name of the U. S. Senate, and every republican should be glad that his party is responsible neither for the nomination nor the confirmation. The whole business is exclusively democratic.

Half Rate Excursions to the World's Fair via Washington and the B. & O.

The Baltimore and Ohio R. R. will run a series of special excursions from Baltimore and Washington to the World's Fair at rate of $17.00 for the round trip. The trains will consist of first class day coaches, equipped with lavatories and toilet conveniences.—The trains will start from Camden Station, Baltimore, 9.30 a. m. and leave Washington, D. C. 10.35 a. m, October the 10th, 17th and the 24th, and running via Grafton and Bellaire, and will reach Chicago at 1.15 p. m. the following day. Tickets will be valid for outward journey only on the special trains, but will be good returning from Chicago in day coaches on any regular train within ten days, including day of sale. Stops will be made for meals at the dining stations on the line. A tourist Agent and a train porter will accompany each train to look after the comfort of passengers. For more detailed information as to rates, etc., apply to Chas. O. Scull, Gen. Pass. Agt. Baltimore, Md. toct17 has never been more potential than this season, and we have been on the alert at all times to use this power to the greatest advantage. We consequently show a superb stock of the latest and best things from abroad and from domestic manufactures, at most moderate prices, and cordially invite a visit of inspection of the most atttractive and carefully selected stock of Dry Goods it has ever been our privilege to exhibit.

Our salespeople, refreshed by their summer's outing, have returned to their duties, and the Autumn Season of 1893 is fully inaugurated.

We have rdded to our plant a Pneumatic Cash System, by which our previously quick change-making has been quickened, and the Cash Room on the second floor is an interesting sight.

The Ladies' Parlors, where comfortable chairs are to be found, and on the tables of which, the current magazines and newspapers are kept for the use of our patrons, as well as the Bureau of Information, where packages may be checked without charge, and the Buffet in the Filbert Street basement, where hot coffee is dispensed gratuitously, are features taht commend themselves to all.

FRAME FURNISHED WITH PORTRAIT

Are you fortunate enough in having a Photograph, Tin Type or Box Picture of a Wife, Husband or Friend, deceased or living, and from which you would like a large one made for the Easel or Wall? If so, and you wish work of real merit and a good likeness, advise me by mail and I will call, show you samples and quote prices. Any changes desired in wearing apparel, arranging hair differently or removing from a group can be successfully made. Broken Glass Pictures, Photographs nearly obliterated or Tintypes badly scratched are corrected and freed from imperfections. We are not offering Portraits less than Cost, but placing goods into your homes that are Right, are finished with care by skilled artists and at Prices that allow us margin enough to live, and not so high that you cannot do the same. Give me a trial order, and if not satisfactory, you are at no expense. Would respectfully refer you to any of the business houses in town for my standing, quality of work I put out, etc. Hoping for a very liberal patronage.

Why it's Done
Why it's Done

First, to stimulate business. Next, to give our tailors work. We believe much of the stagnation of our various industries can be changed by a bold determination for business. It's for everybody to assist in bringing about better times. Our wage-earners want work. Give 'em the work to do. It will scatter millions of money through every channel of trade. We're not after profits. We've cut everything to the quick, and are willing to get nearly a new dollar back for an old one.

We'll not confine this great sale to made-to-measure goods.

ATTENTION FARMERS.

WE ARE IN THE FIELD THIS SEASON with the best and most complete assortment of Implements and Machinery ever offered on the Eastern Shore. First come Plows, and the "Bissell" leads them all in lightness of draft and best work in all conditions of land. Next comes the "Oliver" pattern plow manufactured by Bissell, which is, we claim, superior to any Oliver sold; this plow we have sold a great many of during the past and present seasons and can give a host of references supporting our claim. Lastly comes the "Advance," which is too well known to need any comments. Of the Harrows we are selling the complete line made by D. M. Osborne & Co., including Spring Tooth, Spike Tooth; and Disc—the Spring Tooth especially being the grandest thing of its kind ever put on the market. One of them last winter sold at a sale for $16 which was within $2 of what it cost originally, the bidding having commenced at $10.

In Corn Planters we have the U. S. Combined Check Row Corn Planter. This Planter uses a plunger direct from the check row rod to the rotary seed plates and does away with all the shakebar and center irons between the seed boxes. A single pin spring anchor is furnished with the U. S. and with their use the wire can be drawn the same tension at each end of the field, thereby insuring great accuracy in planting.

Our Sulky Cultivator is the "Akron," which is already at the top of the heap both as a cultivator and as a fallow worker.

We are still selling the Osborne Binders and Mowers, which are most reliable, and also the Empire Binders and Mowers, which are new to this section, but have more good points than any machine ever sold.

Farm Wagons—We are handling the "Jackson" and "Auburn." The Jackson is the old Webster very much improved and no one should think of buying a wagon without seeing them. To continue to enumerate all the good things that we have would take up so much of your time that we will cease with the assurance that no matter what you may want we believe we can suit you from a shoe peg to a traction engine.

P. S.—Barb Wire is lower than ever before. Do you need some? We have a large supply
