Deserving Praise.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery, for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. J. C. Henry, Druggist.

Cold and Hungry.—In the early part of last week a man about forty years of age, thinly clad, and seemingly demented was seen to pass through town, and for several days was seen by different persons on the road leading to Cambridge Ferry. He made his appearance occasionally at some farm house where he was fed, but most of the time he was seen in the woods where, the presumption is, he ate acorns in the day time and slept on the leaves of the forest at night. Thursday afternoon he was brought to town where he was given a suit of clothes and a pair of shoes and socks and taken to the Almshouse where he was made more comfortable.—Talbot Times.

Director Barwick, of the California Weather Service, has received word from Washington that he has been promoted to the position of "Forecast Officer," which carries with it an increase of salary, beginning with September 1st. The duties will be to make accurate forecasts of future stages or changes in the Sacramento river. It will be remembered that Mr. Barwick hails from this county, having many relatives hereabouts. He was on east last year and renewed many old acquaintances who will be gratified to learn of his promotion and acceptable service to the Government.

Fire in Marydel.—Fire broke out at an early hour Monday morning in the dwelling-house of Mr. Thomas R. Green, at Marydel, and before it could be stopped burnt the house and much of the furniture, and also the George property adjoining, which was occupied by Mr. John W. Moore as a hotel. Mr. Green's loss is about $1,200 and that of Mr. George about $1.600. It is not known whether the destroyed property is insured or not. The fire is supposed to have originated from a defective chimney.

A friend in need is a friend indeed, and not less than one million people have found just such a friend in Dr. Kings New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and colds.—If you have never used this great Cough Medicine, one trial will convince you that it has wonderful curative powers in all diseases of Throat Chest and Lungs. The Midwinter Fair.—San Francisco is diligently pushing the preparations for its mid-winter fair. The subscriptions for the fair have now reached $224,000, and the San Franciscans are confident of a grand success. Plans have been submitted for a grand engine to furnish power for the exhibits. It is to weigh forty tons. Applications for space are constantly being received. Among the latest is one for a circular track around the grounds which is to run twelve cars, each giving accommodations for sixteen passengers. A concession has been granted for a building for Servia, Roumania, and Montenegro, which is to cost $10,000, and cover 7,000 square feet of ground.—Sun.

Caroline County Treasurership.—The official ballots for Caroline county, which have been printed, show only one candidate for county treasurer, namely Mr. George A. Deakyne, the present incumbent who is on the Democratic ticket. The republicans did not nominate a candidate for this office. The prohibitionists nominated William E. Brown, but neglected to place his name on their certificate. Dr. Theodore Saulsbury, president of the board of election supervisors for the county, says this is the reason Mr. Brown's name is not on the ballot. It is in the power of any voter, however, to insert the name or any name he pleases on the ticket before voting.

Philadelphia's Pride.—It will be a source of pride to Philadelphians, inasmuch as it greatly redounds to the credit of the city as a trade centre, to learn that Messrs. Strawbridge & Clothier have been awarded two premiums of the highest order of merit, for their exhibit of ladies' suits and costumes and of ladies' wraps at the World's Fair. This honor, which was thoroughly deserved, is by no means an empty one, since, in the condensed catalogue issued by the Exposition authorities and entitled "Interesting Exhibits," the name of this eminent firm was conspicuously mentioned out of four so honored in the whole exhibition. As the other three were Parisian artists, the compliment is well worthy of comment. Messrs. Strawbridge & Clothier were the only exhibitors from Philadelphia in this line of products, and we congratulate them, therefore, upon the conspicuous and gratifying success which they have attained in a world-wide competition.—Phila. Ledger.

Religious Notice.—Revival services will begin at Longwoods on Sunday evening next Nov. 5th at 7.30 o'clock. The pastor, Edw. C. Allard will be assisted by the Rev. J. D. Smith, an Evangelist from Washington, D. C. All come.

The Idea Born in Maryland.—Marylanders will recall with pleasure, at the close of this wonderful enterprise, the fact that it was first publicly suggested by a Baltimore newspaper, THE SUN, which as far back as January 2, 1882, proposed the holding of an international exposition in 1892, "the four-hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus," an event which the SUN declared to be "worthy of commemoration," and one in which "it would most probably be the generous impulse of the whole world to join." The suggestion and the prophecy have both been realized this year at Chicago, and, although the great "commemoration" was not held in Baltimore nor in Washington, as THE SUN had hoped it might be, Baltimore has at least the satisfaction of knowing that the suggestion thus made developed finally into the magnificent and marvelous White City that has been this summer and fall the Mecca of many millions of travelers.—Sun.

Gossip From Various Points Collected by Faithful Reporters.

ST. MICHAELS.

Last Saturday's issue of the Comet was interesting on account of the many letters therein. These letters were from the democrat candidates. Is it not a shame that Mr. Collins has to write letters (explaining things that should be explained better than he does) every time he comes before a patient public asking for their votes. Mr. Lloyd kindly takes the burden from Mr. Collins, puts it on his own shoulders and walks away with it. All their letters are the same, they promise the oysterman everything until they are elected: then the question comes, shall we give them back the fifteen days they so much need, or shall we keep it off so that the farmers fodder can be saved by these men at starvation wages. Fodder will get the majority of votes. Two years ago the then candidates wrote to farmers in this district asking for their support at the same time promising them that fifteen days should be taken off the oysterman for the farmer's benefit. These are facts—will the oysterman vote for these men—I doubt it.

City Council has ordered from some source six hand force pumps to be used in case of fire, providing the fire is not very hot.

Rev. S. J. Morris preached last Sunday morn and eve. The Doctor is improving slowly and we hope that he will soon be restored to his usual health.

Editor Willey spent part of this week in Philadelphia as a guest of his sister, Mrs. Thomas Selby.

Oyster market this week shows decided improvement.

In conversation with a gentleman who attended the democratic mass meeting held in Easton and then finished up the day at the feast set out by Col. Oswald Tilghman, he said it (the feast) was a success, particularly the liquid portion of it.

Whiskey, whiskey everywhere
And all the men did drink,
The cry for water everywhere
And not a drop to drink.

Constable E. O. Hambleton brought Wm Davidson of Bayside before Justice Sparks last Wednesday afternoon, charged with appropriating as his own a hand oyster scrape belonging to Frank Miller. Squire Sparks held Billie in three hundred dollars bail to appear at this November Court. That's a bad scrape for William to be in.

Jno. W. Dean, agent for Wm. Corse & Sons', Clairmont & Furley Hall nurseries, is busy delivering orders.

Democrat mass meeting in town last Wednesday eve. Messrs. Collins, Bateman, Seth and Free Silver Stewart talked to the people. Mr. Collins puts the blame of the fifteen day business on Col. Lloyd's shoulders. Bateman and Seth talked just as they have been talking for years, with just as little sincerity as they ever did, and Maj. Stewart, the man that everybody likes, he talked, well everyone in this county knows how the Major talks, free silver, etc. The music was the feature of the evening, that was good. "After the ball was over" the speakers adjourned and met again in the steam flying gallery cor. Chestnut and Water streets. Looking at these gentlemen as they rode around the ring you'd a thought that they imagined they were right on the road for office and getting there, but they all stopped just where they got on and I think that's about what it will amount to next Tuesday.

Vote the Republican ticket and be happy.

OXFORD.

At Wm. Gibson's in Oxford on Wednesday eve., at 7 o'clock, Samuel N. Jackson and Elizabeth Gibson were united in matrimony by Rev. J. W. Fogle.

Revival services still continue at the M. E. Church, the interest seems to be good. Three conversions to date. Several of the neighboring pastors have rendered valuable assistance. O. W. Devins of Royal Oak has preached three excellent sermons. J. L. Prouse of Bozman and W. E Avery of Easton each preach- sermons of considerable force.

The Prohibitionists held a Mass Meeting on Wednesday evening. The attendance was unusually large. The two church choirs of the Methodist churches joined forces and rendered some very excellent music. Rev. Oliver Bemstreet of Balto., and J. M. Lindale of Cordova held the audience until a late hour. A large increase is expected in the vote next Tuesday "For God and Home and Country."

Skirmish with an Escaped Prisoner.—A lively skirmish took place in the streets of Chestertown about midnight of Saturday last between Town Officer Amos B. Keller and some colored men. The latter were placed under arrest by Keller and his deputy bailiff, S. J. Joiner, for disorderly conduct. Gleavens, one of the prisoners, was disposed to give trouble. The officer was conducting him to jail, holding him by the collar of an overcoat, which was thrown over the shoulders and buttoned. On nearing the jail Gleavens shed his overcoat and made a dash for liberty. He was called to a halt by the officer who fired his pistol in the air. The fugative returned the fire and continued his retreat at a full run. The officer again called him to a halt, when another shot was the response to the command. The ball whizzed within a few inches of the officer's head. The fugative ran behind some buildings, but was forced to double and come past the point at which the officers stood, and upon a further refusal to surrender the town officer took deliberate aim and sent a ball from a thirty-eight caliber revolver into the colored man's thigh. The wounded fugative ran nearly a hundred yards further before he was overtaken by the officer He is now in jail under surgical treatment, but the ball has not yet been extracted.—Sun.

This Dream had its Opposite.

I had a dream the other night when everything was still,
I thought I saw our old stove go rolling down the hill;
When I awoke and went down stairs, allayed were all my fears,
The same old stove was good as new, the one we've had for years.
This is the key to the mystery.
Benny, who makes a specialty of repairing stoves, had been there. 9sept3m

The object of this entertaining trick is to lift with the thumb and one finger, without clutching it at the edges a glass that has been turned upside down. Many have tried the trick again and again and have failed. The New York Herald, which illustrated it as above, explains that it is very easy when understood. It calls for nothing but a proper arrangement of the fingers. The usual method employed by those who try it is to press the ball of the thumb against the side, bending the thumb at the first joint and bending the finger put upon the top, and this fails.

There is but one way, and it is an easy way, to raise the glass. Put the thumb upon the side very lightly. Let that part of the thumb directly under the first joint supply the pressure. Put the second finger across the middle of the top, with the end of the finger nearly reaching the farther edge. Hold this finger perfectly rigid and have it form a straight line from the knuckle joint. Raise the other fingers to show that they are not in use, and by exerting a slight pressure with the thumb and little or none with the finger raise your hand, and the glass will go up in the air with it and stay there an hour if you do not relax your finger joints.

We wish to inform the public in general that they can either do arterial embalming, cavity embalming or embalm by the new method, and do guarantee that they can keep a body as long as any one who only uses arterial embalming. I will guarantee and can prove that I am the oldest embalmer in Easton, and have never made a failure either. Embalming costs but little, and we wish to give the public the benefit of it. Lane's Family Medicine Moves the Bowels each day, Most people need to use it

California Homes.

A considerable portion of California is admirably adapted by nature for comfortable homes. There is perhaps no place in the world where a family of moderate means to begin with, and of industrious habits, can live so easily, enjoying not only the comforts but even the luxuries of life.

Instead of being, as many suppose, a place where only the wealthy can enjoy life, it is peculiarly adapted to homes of thrifty people who earn their daily bread, and while one without means would undoubtedly, find it very difficult to get a start, a man with a small capital can very soon surround himself with luxuries that only the wealthy can enjoy elsewhere.

A small tract of land (10 acres, or at most 20) is enough, which can be purchased at a reasonable price, if not in a "boom" district. With intelligence and industry used in planting and cultivating it, an income is certain. It should be part orchard and part vineyard. While the trees and vines are being brought into bearing enough to materially contribute to the maintenance of the family can be grown between the trees, and if the neighborhood has been well selected, every member of the family able and willing to work can find pleasant and remunerative labor in orchards and vineyards near by, and minister to the support of the family while acquiring the knowledge and skill necessary to the handling of their own crop.

The third year a considerable return may be expected from the vineyard, and from a part of the orchard. As the work has all been done within the family, this will be nearly all net income. The next year and thereafter there will be work enough, and returns enough on the home place.

Costly buildings are not necessary, for the climate is such that in much of the State life in the open air is entirely pleasant for 300 days in the year. In the Coast Range of mountains between San Francisco and Monterey, are many such homes. At first, they were made on the valley land on either side of the range. Year after year they have crept up into the little valleys between the spurs of the foot hills, then on to the foot-hills, and in many places clear to the summits. All through they have found excellent soil, good pure water, and everywhere exceedingly healthful climate. Nestled in these little valleys are some of the most delightful places in the world. So mild is the climate that fuchsias and geraniums grow all winter and the family garden is planted in the fall, yielding good crops of peas, potatoes and any semi-hardy vegetables in February.

There is plenty of land, equally productive, now in the market and at low prices, and persons looking for a location for a comfortable home should not fail to visit this promising region.

The Santa Cruz Division of the Southern Pacific Company's Pacific System taps this range of mountains near the Southern extremity, its two long tunnels passing under the main range.

AN EXCITING EXPERIENCE.

And When It Was All Over the Station Agent Mended Things.

At a way station on the Louisville and Nashville one winter the station keeper had an exciting time. It was midnight, and the station being in a deserted part of the country had been left by the loafers. It began to rain. The station keeper was not sleepy and determined to sit up a greater part of the night, especially as he had an unusual sum of money in his cash drawer, and he felt uneasy about it.

Robberies of stations and farmhouses down the line had been frequent. So he settled himself down to a vigil. As he felt hungry he took a can of cove oysters down from the shelf and set it in the stove. A moment afterward there was a knock at the door, and he admitted a cold, drenched tramp, whom he allowed to lie down by the fire. Just then a train came around the bend, and the station agent stepped outside to display the go ahead signal. He felt distrustful of the tramp and feared that he would fool with the money drawer. As the train passed he hurried into the room and had scarcely opened the door and seen the tramp standing by the stove with something glistening in his hand, when there was a report, and the agent felt a stinging sensation over his eye.

Although blinded with blood from the wound, he drew his pistol and fired five times into the room. He then dashed round to the rear of the station and hid under the platform. After an hour's time he crawled out, resigned to the loss of his money and thankful that he had escaped with his life. The room was dark; the fire was out. The tramp had evidently escaped with his booty. Sorrowfully the agent lit a match, but instantly dropped it when a startling sight met his eyes. He lit another one, found a candle and gazed about at the scene of desolation.

The lamp had been shattered by a bullet. A cheese had been perforated with two bullets. The room was filled with smoke from the stovepipe, which a fourth bullet had perforated. Strangest of all, the room was filled with cinders, and oysters frescoed everything. Oysters, oysters, oysters, cove oysters. The agent gasped and realized it all. The can had remained in the stove too long, and being sealed up had exploded from the steam when the tramp poked the fire. Of course the tramp skipped when the shooting commenced. The cash drawer was intact. A piece of tin was found near the door, where it had recoiled off the agent's face. The agent spent the remainder of the night in mending the stove door.—Louisville Commercial.

Kier Hardie.

Kier Hardie, the labor unionist member of parliament, is no fool despite his sartorial eccentricities and his diatribes against constituted society. His enemies tried to deposit him in a cavity not long ago by procuring a firm of clothiers to offer him a suit of clothes free, calculating to expose the transaction to Mr. Hardie's confusion. That gentleman, however, knew his men, and in reply expressed his willingness to accept the clothes if the firm would agree to pay its employees the union rate of wages in the future. That closed the incident.—London Letter.

EVAPORATE . . .
. . . YOUR FRUIT . . .
. . . AT HOME
WITH THE
U. S. COOK STOVE DRYER.

We think this is one of our most attractive offers to our subscribers, anyway to those who have a few fruit trees or an orchard.

To the ladies of the household in town or country it is a little gold mine. Thousands of careful, prudent household managers, who have no time or necessity to engage in evaporating fruit for market as a business, but who have frequent use for just such an article as this for making smaller quantities of dried fruit, berries and vegetables for their own use or for sale, will find it the most satisfactory and profitable investment they could make. A lady can easily lift it on and off the stove, as it weighs about twenty-five pounds. It has interchangeable galvanized wire cloth trays, which will not rust or discolor the fruit, etc., and will last for years. It is made of iron, except tray frames and supports.

Can be used for broiling beefsteak, fish, etc., using the lower tray for this purpose.

GENTLEMEN:—We did not get the Cook Stove Dryer until the drying season was nearly over. It is a gem to any one who wishes to dry all kinds of small fruits, and also all kinds of fruits on a small scale. It is marvelous the rapidity with which it prepares green fruit for the sack. No one can describe its merits unless they try one. It is worth the price asked for it for corn alone. Yours truly,
