Public School Notice to Parents and Guardians.—The School Board has been assured by the proper health officers that there is no danger, with the precautions observed at present by the teachers, of disease being disseminated through the schools. Whenever the School Board is properly advised that there is any danger, the schools will be closed. By order of the Board.

ALEXANDER CHAPLAIN, Secretary.

Grange Meeting.—The next regular meeting of King's Creek Grange will be today (Saturday.) All members are requested to be present as business of importance is on hand. The subject for today will be, can we produce milk at the price paid by the creameries? At the last meeting, scarlet clover was discussed, which brought out the different methods of growing it, about as many failures as success. Some had grown good crops last year, some had a yield of 8 or 9 bushels per acre. One man raised practically three crops in one year, first a crop of seed of eight bushels, then fed the hay after being threshed, then raised still another crop or corn off the same ground. The seed requires a good start in the fall, then there is no trouble in the spring. If the crop is rank and comes early, say May 15th, the weather is not hot, but dry enough to cure it for hay; but my experience is that horses will pick it out of other hay. L. S. F.

Excursions to Travelers.—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad announces that they have placed on sale round trip tickets at reduced rates to the Winter Resorts in Florida and the South, and also to such points of interest as Luray, Natural bridge and Gettysburg. This Company has also arranged to place on sale excursion tickets to San Francisco and other points in California on account of the Mid-Winter Fair, at unusually low rates. Excursion tickets are now on sale to Philadelphia and New York via the famous Royal Blue Line.

With its vestibuled train service via Washington to Cincinnati, St. Louis and Chicago, the B. and O. is in the best of condition to handle western and southern travel. That the line is a popular one, is attested by the immence World's Fair business handled this summer.

Those contemplating a trip west or south this winter, should write to B. F. Bond, Div. Pass. Agent, B. & O. R. R., Balto. and Calvert Sts., Baltimore, Md. CHAS. O. SCULL, Gen'l. Pass, Agt. 3t

Our Thanksgiving Gift to Every One of Our Readers.—"An American Beauty." By special arrangement with the publishers, we are enabled to make every one of our readers a present of an exquisite oil panel-picture 20 inches high, entitled "An American Beauty," which has been admired by all who have seen it. This superb picture is from the brush of the same artist who painted the "Yard of Pansies," and "Yard of Roses." The reproduction is equal in every respect to the original, to which it cannot be distinguished and accompanying it are full directions for framing at home at a cost of a few cents, thus forming a beautiful ornament for the high narrow wall spaces for which it is so difficult to obtain pictures of the proper shape. It is a superb Thanksgiving gift. Send your name and address to the publisher, W. Jennings Demorest, 15 East 14th Street, New York, with three cents (either in stamps or pennies) to pay for the packing, mailing, etc., and mention that you are a reader of the GAZETTE and you will receive by return mail one of these valuable works of art.

A RED-LETTER DAY.

"GOSH" HAS HIS SAY ON THE CHURCHES.

His Interesting Reports of the Various Services last Sunday.—Other Items.

Easton has seldom had such a pleasant day, spiritually, as last Sunday. Indeed I cannot recall, looking back over the vista of years passed, a day more pleasant, more profitable, or of more sociability than last Sunday. To tell of these services, I naturally begin with old Ebenezer church, which has for many years been a permanent feature in this community's religious welfare. The Rev. W. E. Avery, occupied his pulpit both at the morning and evening services and was no doubt, gratified at the large and attentive congregations that greeted him. The subject for his morning discourse was, and always will be, a favorite and interesting one—"The Sons of God." To say merely that he did the subject justice would hardly be doing justice to the reverend gentleman, He more than pleased his congregations. It may be said that Mr. Avery preached to rather than before his congregation—a distinction that is significant. In fact his sermon was genuine ortatory. It was pitched in a lofty key, and at the same time was extremely interesting. I wish that I might mention one of the truths he brought out, but they all were so interesting that it is hard to discriminate between them. He exhibited his remarkable talent for expressing and illustrating old truths in a novel and striking way. There were few of his hearers who did not take home something to think about. The music, too, calls for decided mention. With Prof. Brantz Buys at the organ and Mr. Spence, the a complished director, in his place, the music was most impressive. Prof. Buys manipulated the organ in a beautiful manner and I have not heard the choir sing so nicely for many a day. Of course the Professor deserves his share of the honor. The subject at this church to morrow will be as follows: Morning subject, "A Spiritual Paradox." Evening subject, "The Rich Young Man."

Little drops of water,
And little oysters too,
Were all joined together
And made the church fair stew.

During the present week the young and attractive ladies of the M. E. Sunday School gave an oyster supper in the Moreland Block. The proceeds were quite gratifying and will be extended in buying a new organ for the Sunday School. I do not mean the above little sonnet(?) as a reflection on the young ladies; no indeed, not for the world—or another oyster stew. The supper was most excellent and all the appointments were really fine. I would not say anything that would reflect on the supper, for did I not get served twi— all for one poor pitiful twenty-five cent piece, and the oysters too were real large and I actually found ten oysters in my stew. Such liberality quite upset me—and the oysters too, all over the table.

Calvary M. P. Church, proved to be last Sunday, a place that caused more than once, the remark, "It was good to be there." With an able, scholarly and eloquent pastor in the pulpit the services could hardly be any thing else but good. I availed myself of the opportunity to visit this beautiful church and heard words of promise, beauty and comfort fall from the lips of Mr. Sheridan, the popular pastor of that church. Indeed his words so impressed me that it came to my mind the passage, "where a few gather together in my name there will I be also," and the large congregation surely felt as did I, that the Master was there and so man fested Himself. Mr. Sheridan will preach an equally as good sermon to morrow evening on Youth and Age.

With all people, and all denominations, the Rev. C. D. Harris is a popular gentleman, both as a pastor and as a man. For his earnest and energetic work for the church he is a loved and respected, and for his accommodating nature, and upright life as a man he is held up as a model. People of all denominations can be found in his congregations and his sermons are always enjoyed. There are few preachers endowed with strong dramatic nature, for though never artificial, he is, in his gestures and modulation of voice, dramatic in the highest sense, and he is always natural, indeed his naturalness is one of the chief claims of his oratory. His voice is strong and impressive and his pronunciation has a decided flavor of the southern accent. Under his direction the new church is rapidly nearing completion. What a beautiful structure it will be, a fitting monument to God and an ornament to the town.

The Devotion of the Forty Hours was celebrated with all the pomp possible at SS. Peter and Paul Church last Sunday. The mass of exposition was celebrated at 6 A. M. by Rev. Fr. Green, S. J., of the Jesu College, Philadelphia, assisted by Rev. T. F. Waldron and Rev. Ferdinand Wolf, O. S. B. The next mass was at 8 o'clock and the last mass a Solemn Pontifical High Mass, was celebrated with Rt. Rev. A. A. Curtis, Bishop of Wilmington as celebrant, assisted by Rev. Fr. Green of the Jesu Church, Philadelphia, as Deacon, Rev. Ferdinand Wolf, O. S. B., as Sub Deacon, Rev. T. F. Waldron as Arch Deacon, and two Deacons of Honor; Mr. John Hartnett and Martin Ryan, as Masters of Ceremonies. In the evening at 7:30 Pontifical Vespers was celebrated by the Bishop, assisted by the same officers of the mass. The sermon was delivered by the Bishop. On Monday the first mass was at 6 o'clock, the next at 7 o'clock, next at 9 o'clock followed by a sermon in the German language by Fr. Wolf. At 11 o'clock Solemn High Mass with Rev. Father Waldron as celebrant, Rev. Ferdinand Wolf, O. S. B., as deacon, Mr. J. Hartnett, sub deacon and Mr Fred Boulay of St. Peter's Cathedral, Master of Ceremonies. In the evening Solemn Vespers at 7:30, followed by a sermon by Rev. Father Flynn of St. Mary's Church, Wilmington. On Tuesday morning the first mass was at 6 and the last, a Solemn High Mass at 11 a. m. Rev. Francis Connelly as celebrant, Rev. D. Flynn as Deacon, Rev. Francis Farley as Sub Deacon, Rev. T. F. Waldron Master of Ceremonies and Mr. John Hartnett assistant. In the evening at 7:30, the closing sermon by Vicar General Lyons of St. Peter's Cathedral Wilmington. Specially prepared music of a high order was admirably rendered by the choir under the leadership of Mr. John McHale, assisted by Misses Alice and Mary Simmons of the Cathedral choir of Wilmington and Mr. Harry Patchett of Easton. The altar was adorned with myriads of large waxen tapers and the floral tributes included a beautiful display of lillies, roses, chrysanthemums and other potted plants and as usual in this church presented a magnificent appearance. During all the services Messrs. M. B. Nichols and W. J. Hartnett acted as ushers in seating the vast crowds who attended.

Trinity Catnedral will soon nave, during its services a choir composed of little boys. They are now practicing and rehearsing, and will increase the beauty of the services. To the new rector, Rev. Geo. R. Sutton, Easton extends a hearty welcome and doubts not but that his ministry will be a blessing to us. He comes to us strongly recommended, both as a man of God and a gentleman, and we welcome him with joy and gladness. The church has never been better attended than since his ministry began among us.

Pronounced Hopeless, Yet Saved.

From a letter written by Mrs. Ada Hurd, of Groton, S. D., we quote: "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my Lungs, cough set in and finally terminated into Consumption. Four doctors gave me up saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to Get Dr. Kings New Discovery, for Consumption Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in all, eight bottles, it has cured me, and thank God I am now a well and hearty woman." Trial bottles free at Judge Stump first charged the grand jury as required in certain statutes; and then charged them to investigate alleged election frauds in Talbot county, such allegations being contained in a paper filed in the county by Isaac A. Barber, chairman of the Republican party.

The appeal docket occupied the attention of the Court until Wednesday and no special interest was taken in the proceedings outside of the participants. In the case of Nichols vs. Willis, the judgment was reversed. Toadvine vs. Anderson, judgment affirmed. Robinson vs. Co. Com., dismissed per agreement.

Pippin vs. Greenway, settled.
Nichols vs. U. S. Express Co., for rent, verdict for Nichols.
Caulk vs. Morris, verdict for Morris.

On Thursday Judge Wicks was also on the bench.

State vs. William Johns; indictment for stealing a pistol; before the court; verdict withheld.

Mark New vs. Thomas Cook and Wm. F. Payne action to recover the value of a horse owned by New alleged to have been killed by defendant's runaway omnibus team; jury disagree and discharged.

State vs. Edward Jackson for an assault upon Asbury Stanford with intent to kill. Verdict guilty of assault, sentenced to House of Correction for six months.

State vs. Kate Smith for assault upon Elw. Wilson with a razor with intent to kill. Not guilty.

The civil suit of Alexis A. Pascault vs John Ontram adm'r. Benj Outram on trial.

An Anecdote of Edwin Booth.—Edwin Booth once related that he played to empty benches when he was in the full glory of his manhood, while people thronged to see him in his declining years. It is a lamentable fact that the public, especially in dramatic art, has a tendency to neglect the vigorous manifestations of an artist in his youth—waiting to do him homage in the later years, when he has won recognition, but lost his fire. Mr James Young, a youthful tragedian, will shortly appear here in the role of Hamlet. Mr. Young has quite a reputation, although but twenty-one years of age—and deserves our recognition. We hope to see a crowded house in Easton on Wednesday November 29th.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

Board of County Commissioners met on Tuesday.

Receipts were:

W. T. H. Lee, col. 1893,	$184 75
John S. Crockett oyster fines,	37 50
B. F. Wamsley, J. P. fines,	13 00
Total,	$235 25

Thomas P. Hopkins was reappointed constable for Chapel district for the next two years.

Chas. D. Schuyler presented an approved constable's bond.

At noon the commissioners met as the local Board of health, with the county health officer, Dr James M. H. Bateman, who is their Secret ry and executive officer.

Dr. James A. Steuart, the secretary of the State Board of Health was present, and these physicians, Dr. E. M. Hardcastle, Dr. J. E. M. Chamberlaine, Dr. Chas. Lowndes, Dr. James S. Chapiain, Dr. R. A. Dodson, Dr. J. A. Johnson, Dr. Frederick Dunning and Dr. C. M. Stelle.

Dr. Steuart made an address in which he impressed upon the board the necessity of enforcing proper sanitary measures, especially the law for the abatement of nuisances, which he clearly expounded. He complimented Dr. Bateman on the sanitary condition of Easton as far as his observation had gone.

Most of the time was spent in the discussion of vaccination to prevent the contraction of, and isolation to prevent the spreading of small pox. The importance of vaccination was urged by all the physicians present. The importance of vaccination of school children will be ridgily enforced. By that law any teacher who receives as a pupil one who has not a certificate of vaccination, is liable to a fine of ten dollars.

This Dream had its Opposite.

I had a dream the other night when everything was still,
I thought I saw our old stove go rolling down the hill;
When I awoke and went down stairs, allayed were all my fears,
The same old stove was good as new, the one we've had for years.
This is the key to the mystery,
Benny, who makes a specialty of repairing stoves, had been there. 9sept3m

Notes Upon the Coming Opera Co.

—Miss Rida Johnson, as Ophelia, held the mirror up to nature, and in the mad scene, especially, her acting was fine.

—The grave diggers also played well their parts and imitate their particular phase of humanity with equal credit.

—Mr. Young is said to bear a striking resemblance to the late Lawrence Barrett.

—The entire company is a strong one, a fact which is greatly in Mr. Young's favor.

For Rent.—Desirable office rooms, either single or communicating, on first floor, central location, will be rented immediately, also Large barn, stables and carriage house, in Easton will be rented cheap to a good tenant Apply to WILSON M. TYLOR.

Literary Notes.—The December Number of "Worthington's" is a superb holiday number, very choice in quality, of absorbing interest, and giving abundant promise of a successful future. A new volume, the third, begins with January. The Magazine will be better than ever in 1894. Mary A. Livermore, Helen Campbell, Edgar Fawcett, Rev. Francis E. Clark, D. D., Kate Sanborn, Lilian Whiting, Olive Thorne Miller, Anna Fuller, Kate Gannett Well's Sara A. Underwood, Junius Henri Browne, Prof. G. Frederick Wright, Walter Blackburn Harte, Thomas W. Knox, and scores of other famous writers will continue to contribute to "Worthington's" the choicest and best in American literature. As the season draws near when the large army of Magazine readers will decide the question "What Magazine shall we take another year?" it is well for them to keep an eye on "Worthington's" and, whatever else may be taken, add it to the list. For this month the publishers offer to send a specimen copy of a recent number for 4c in postage stamps. $2.50 per year; 25 cents a single For sale by all newsdealers. A. D. WORTHINGTON & Co., Hartford, Conn.

Subscriptions for this choice Magazine will be received and forwarded by the publishers of this paper. Both papers for $3.00 per yr.

Mr. Howe's literary autobiography begins in the Christmas Ladies Home Journal, and will continue through a year's numbers of that Magazine.

Edward Bellamy has written the story of "How I Came to Write 'Looking Backward'" for The Ladies Home Journal. He will tell in connection with the history of the book itself, how the idea of Nationalism first suggested itself to his mind.

California Homes.

A considerable portion of California is admirably adapted by nature for comfortable homes. There is perhaps no place in the world where a family of moderate means to begin with, and of industrious habits, can live so easily, enjoying not only the comforts but even the luxuries of life.

Instead of being, as many suppose, a place where only the wealthy can enjoy life, it is peculiarly adapted to homes of thrifty people who earn their daily bread and while one without means would undoubtedly find it very difficult to get a start, a man with a small capital can very soon surround himself with luxuries that only the wealthy can enjoy elsewhere.

A small tract of land (10 acres, or at most 20) is enough, which can be purchased at a reasonable price, if not in a "boom" district. With intelligence and industry used in planting and cultivating it, an income is certain. It should be part orchard and part vineyard. While the trees and vines are being brought into bearing enough to materially contribute to the maintenance of the family can be grown between the trees, and if the neighborhood has been well selected, every member of the family able and willing to work can find pleasant and remunerative labor in orchards, fruit and vineyards near by, and minister to the support of the family while acquiring the knowledge and skill necessary to the handling of their own crop.

The third year a considerable return may be expected from the vineyard, and from a part of the orchard. As the work has all been done within the family, this will be nearly all net income. The next year and thereafter there will be work enough, and returns enough on the home place.

Costly buildings are not necessary, for the climate is such that in much of the State life in the open air is entirely pleasant for 300 days in the year. In the Coast Range of mountains between San Francisco and Monterey, are many such homes. At first, they were made on the valley land on either side of the range. Year after year they have crept up into the little valleys between the spurs of the foot hills, then on to the foothills, and in many places clear to the summits. All through they have found excellent soil, good pure water, and everywhere exceedingly healthful climate. Nestled in these little valleys are some of the most delightful places in the world. So mild is the climate that fuchsias and geraniums grow all winter and the family garden is planted in the fall, yielding good crops of peas, potatoes and any semi hardy vegetables in February.

There is plenty of land, equally productive, now in the market and at low prices, and persons looking for a location for a comfortable home should not fail to visit this promising region.

No. 289.—Charade.

The shades of night were falling fast,
Done was the busy day,
As, on the ground his sad eyes cast,
FIRST took his weary way.

Of SECOND he now had good store
And seemed to feel its weight;
He pondered on the days of yore
And mysteries of Fate.

Weary, to WHOLE at last he turned,
Where all his treasure lay;
Not for pleasure, for peace he yearned;
Here would he rest alway!

No. 290.—A Menu For Dinner.

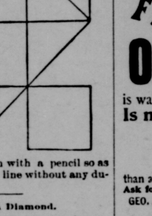

The dinner consisted of (1) an imitation animal; (2) a fine color, served with (3) colors and (4) colored letters; then came a (5) favorite essayist with (6) a place where money is coined sauce, and (7) a country of Europe, and (8) a survivor of the deluge. Comparisons In Rhyme.

Wild as a hawk, meek as a lamb,
Gentle as a dove, happy as a clam;
Brave as a lion, strong as an ox,
Fierce as a tiger, cunning as a fox;
Nimble as a squirrel, spry as a cat,
Proud as a peacock, gray as a rat;
Dumb as an oyster, ripe as a cherry,
Red as a lobster, brown as a berry;
Wise as an owl, black as a crow,
Bright as a button, dull as a hoe;
Rich as a Jew, dirty as a pig,
Dizzy as a coot, merry as a gig;
Fine as a fiddle, cold as a frog,
Fresh as a daisy, tired as a dog;
Still as a mouse, bright as a spoon,
Deaf as a post, crazy as a loon;
Sound as a nut, cross as a bear,
Mad as a hatter or a March hare;
Grave as a judge, wise as a seer,
Gay as a lark, swift as a deer;
Quick as a flash, fair as the dawn,
Mute as a fish, timid as a fawn;
Keen as a razor, dull as the times,
Old as the hills, or as these rhymes.

SAMUEL PATCHETT & SON.

The Cheap Funeral Directors and Furniture Men of Dover Street.

We wish to inform the public in general that they can either do arterial embalming, cavity embalming or embalm by the new method, and do guarantee that they can keep a body as long as any one who only uses arterial embalming. I will guarantee and can prove that I am the oldest embalmer in Easton, and have never made a failure either. Embalming costs but little, and we wish to give the public the benefit of it. Come and get our prices.
