EASTON STILL AHEAD.

A Fishing Line, Made in Easton, Used by President Cleveland.

Mr. Andrew Wilson, well known as a genius here, an accomodating individual who knows more about gardening and arbor culture in a day than Boss Tweed knew about politics in a lifetime, conceived the idea of making a fishing line that will be a credit to the Nation and to himself. He therefore collected the best quality of thoroughbred horse-hair, plaited with minute detail a line 48 feet long and sent it to Mr. Cleveland for trial.

It received prompt recognition and is, as it should be, a great delight to the maker of the line. Here is the letter of acknowledgement:

GRAY GABLES, BUZZARDS BAY.
Mass. July 26, 1896.

MR. ANDREW F. WILSON,

Dear Sir;—I have received the horse hair fishing line you sent me and sincerely thank you for it, though I confess I hardly think you should have spent so much time in making a gift for me. I shall, however, show my appreciation by testing it and proving its qualities in actual use. Yours very truly, GROVER CLEVELAND.

Mr. Wilson says this line will not get wet nor tangle, and will last a hundred years. As to strength he knows he could pull Mr. Cleveland himself out of the water with it.

We congratulate our clever townsman in having merited the thanks of the President and know there are many who would be glad to have in their possession a genuine autograph letter from the same source.

Dance at the Thomas Building.

The subscription dance given at the Thomas Building Tuesday night by Mrs. Owen Norris and daughter, Miss Mamie Norris, for benefit of the Mercantile Library was a complete success. The scene of the affair was a very pretty one. The room was beautifully decorated in gold and white bunting, flowers and evergreens. The mantle artistically ornamented with cat tails, fern and banks of flowers. The aroma arising from the pine and cedar with the brilliant lights and strains from our skillful orchestra went far towards making an enjoyable evening. The yard was brightly illuminated with Japanese lanterns, and benchs placed here and there, where tired dancers might refresh themselves. The sparkling bowl was not forgotten though not abused. S. A. Meintzer catered ices to the crowd.

Thos present were: Mrs. Owen Norris, Mrs Harold Wheeler. Mrs. Dan Carrington, Mrs. Lerotz, Mrs. F. Dimpfel, Mrs. James Goldsborough, Mrs. Shaffer, Mrs. Ewing; Misses Mamie Norris, Mamie, Anna and Sallie Lowndes, Claude Dawson, Sadie Chipley, Marie Johnson, Margaret Stewart, Elizabeth Wright, Nannie and Mary Robinson, Wheeler, and Tina Dimpfel; Messrs Owen Norris, Skipworth Gordon, Richard Tilghman, Rogers, Timsen, Oliver Norris, Wilfred Bateman, Douglas Stewart, Marion Dawson, Thomas Bartlett, C. Old Whitemarsh Parish.

To the Public:—You are cordially invited to unite with us on Tuesday, August 4th, at the old Whitemarsh Parish Church. We desire to meet the friends and all who are interested in the restoration of this sadly neglected place. Bishop Adams has promised us his presence. Senator Tilghman will read an historical address, and Mr. William Goldsborough will also speak. The old church is in such a bad condition that the services must be held on the grounds, yet we trust that this social and informal gathering may result in a personal and practical interest in a place which should appeal to every citizen of this county by reason of its historical associations and present condition. Come prepared to spend the day.

J. GIBSON GANTT,
Rector Whitemarsh Parish.

Destroyed by Lightning.

CENTREVILLE, MD., July 28.—The most terrific thunder storm experienced in this section for a long time prevailed last night about 10 o'clock, doing great damage to property. A tenant house at the farm of J. W. Watson, about a mile from Centreville, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground, and the tenant, Charles Moore, and his family barely escaped with their lives.

A pleasant day's outing at little expense. The B. C. & A. Ry. Co. will run special low rate excursions to Ocean City every Thursday during the season of 1896.

Chief Judge Russum arrived on Tuesday and took his seat on the bench.

In May, 1895, J. McKenney Willis and J. Frank Hickman, of Oxford, had surveyed and took up under the Act of Assembly separate lots in Island Creek on which to cultivate oysters, claiming that the grounds were barren and that there was then no natural growth of oysters on those bottoms. After the forms of law had been complied with, the lots were covered with oyster shells as clutches for spat, and this year a considerable young growth of oysters on the dead shells was discovered. The Oxford Oyster League, through J. Frank Bateman, authorized attorney, filed a petition in the Circuit Court, praying that the location be set aside on the ground that there was a natural bed or bar of oysters within the lines of the individual appropriation. William H. Adkins appeared for Messrs. Hickman and Willis. The case was heard by Judge Stump and testimony on the point involved taken. The court decided in favor of the pet tioners and ordered that the lots appropriated for private use be vacated and thrown open to the public.

August Kaufman, a native of Germany, came into court and was naturalized. John Mason and Dr. J. M. H. Bateman were his sponsors.

Court adjourned Thursday afternoon.

THE YEAR 1896.

The Weather Has Been the Most Remarkable for a Long Time.

Tho summer of 1896 will go into history as one of the most peculiar in its weather of any in many a year. The season opened with a remarkably early and open spring, following a winter of little severity. The mildness of the spring forced vegetation before its time, with the result that farm crops were given an impetus which they held until the early ones are harvested. The unusually early development and ripening of the small fruits and garden truck in the North followed so closely on the heels of that of the South that the southern crops found shorter time to command good prices in the northern markets than they ever realized before.

Contrary to usual experiences, the early spring was not characterized by late frosts, a thing almost without a precedent. An abundant rainfall sustained the growth of everything, and the crops are not only early but abundant, and everything developed and well filled producing large fruit and vegetables. At the present the sunshine is sufficient that the farmers may proceed with their harvesting, yet and ample rainfall is helpful along the progress he the later crops, which give promise of abundance, as well as the early stuff and vegetables.

Following a warm spell in the spring the temperature of the advancing summer has not been excessive for many days. The conditions of May and July weather are a reversal of the seasons. From the time spring begun, with its summery weather, the whole period has been akin to an extended month of June. The packets on the rivers have had a long season of good water, meeting with only a slight break in the traffic since last November. What the next week in August have in store is a hard guess, but on the law of chances, the warm weather of early spring might lead to the hope that considerable cool weather will intervene before the frosts of autumn come for good. If so, the remarkable summer will maintain its peculiar character throughout the entire seaon.

H. M. S. PINAFORE.

The Pretty Opera Was a Great Success. Proceeds for the Library.

Notwithstanding the fact that so much has been said of the Amateur Pinafore troupe, it is only learning to add that they have given two brilliant performances in Easton this week to appreciative audiences and are going to Ocean City to night to play before the people of that place, for the benefit of St. Paul by the Sea Church.

The troupe is ably supported by a thorough orchestra from Baltimore, and each individual in it has received well deserved credit.

As already announced, the play was given in Easton for the benefit of the Mercantile Library, but at this writing it is impossible to say what the net proceeeds amount to.

QUEEN ANNE'S RAILROAD.

HOPE TO HAVE TRAINS RUNNING IN SIXTY DAYS.

Will Make Rehoboth a Great Summer Resort—A Blessing to Maryland and Delaware Farmers—Notes.

Wilmer Emory of Centreville, Md., one of the directors of the Queen Anne railroad, the new line from Queenstown, Md., to Rehoboth, which is now in course of construction, was in the city Tuesday on business connected with the new road. He was seen by a reporter of THE GAZETTE, who made inquiry concerning the progress of the road.

"Well," he replied, "our pier at Queenstown is about completed and we expect to be in shape and have trains running within 60 days; that is, between Queenstown and Greenwood, on the line of the Delaware railroad. As soon as that portion of the road is finished work will be pushed on the line from Greenwood to Rehoboth. We have just placed a contract with a Wilmington firm for the equipment, which to start with will include two locomotives and six passenger cars. Freight cars will come afterward."

Mr. Emory is quite enthusiastic and is anxious to see the whole road in running order. He stated that the people living along the line feel the same as he does. All will welcome the opening of the entire line, and judging from their encouragement they will supply all the business at their command.

Many Baltimoreans will also be delighted to see the road running, as it will be almost an air line from the Monumental City to Rehoboth, Delaware's famous ocean resort The length of the line will be 60 miles, and with 30 miles on the Chesapeake bay will make but a 90 miles ride from Baltimore to Rehoboth, in which so many Baltimore and Washington people are interested.

It is predicted that with the completion and opening of the new line, Rehoboth will experience such a boom as it has never seen, and in a short time thereafter it will assume proportions of a veritable summer city; in fact, some enthusiasts expect to see it rival Atlantic City in a few years. Baltimore and Washington have no ocean resort within easy reach, but with the new facilities at hand the Delaware resort will be but a short distance, comparatively, from Baltimore and not much further from the capital of the country, a fact which undoubtedly will be appreciated by thousands of people in the two great cities, who will annually avail themselves of the opportunity offered to breathe the salt air and get a dip in Old Ocean.

One of the features of Rehoboth is its fine beach, which is safe and well adapted for bathing. There are many people who are now cognizant of this condition, but many more have been deterred from ascertaining the advantages of Delaware's resort on account of the unhandy way of reaching it from Baltimore and Washington. But as there is plenty of room for development, Rehoboth people will be able to take care of all visitors for many years.

The new road will be operated all the year, as it is thought there will be sufficient freight and passenger businesss in winter to warrant doing so. It will be independent of all other lines, as it will not parallel any of them, and, passing through a fertile territory, will open up a new market for many of the farmers of Queen Anne's and Caroline counties, Maryland, and Kent and Sussex counties, Delaware. At first their markets will be the South by way of the new line or the North by the Delaware railroad connections, but it is likely that at a day not very far distant a line of boats between Lewes and Philadelphia will be established.

Mr. Emory, who has been engaged for the past six months in securing rights of way, stated that nearly everything had been granted, and he expects to finish his work in that direction this week. He has been in Sussex county the greater part of the time recently, but he will probably leave today.

The Grand Army of Creditors.

The gentlemen who think that they have made an attractive bid for votes by proposing a fifty-cent dollar for debtors to pay their debts with are reckoning without their host. Every State of the Union is full of creditors, and they will never consent to defraud and cheat themselves.

Among these creditors are:—

All persons who work for wages, salary or the piece;

All members of building and loan associations;

All depositors in savings, national, State or private banks;

All holders of life insurance policies;

All members of benovelent and fraternal insurance orders;

All holders of industrial insurance.

All widows, orphans or wards dependent wholly or partially upon the income from investments;

All educational and charitable institutions dependent wholly or in part upon the income of their endowments.

In fact, the fifty-cent dollar would be of advantage to few persons in the long run, save the speculators who would gamble on inevitable fluctuations in its purchasing power and in price of commodities.—Dorchester Era.

Vacation Days.

The days of the brief vacation are rapidly passing into the catalogue of past pleasures. The wish to retain them is as strong as it is impossible, and the only solace is the looking forward to what the next year may bring forth. Would anyone deny himself the value of such a restful experience just because it will not continue always? Sleep is refreshing, but everlasting sleep is death.

"All work and no play
Would make Jack a dull boy."

Moonlight Excursion.

The largest excursion of the season was the moonlight excursion given by Mr. M. B. Nichols for the benefit of the Dorcas Society. There were over twelve car loads packed full. The proceeds clear of all expenses were $130. Mr. Nichols seems to have the nack of drawing a crowd.

He is anticipating giving another excursion for charitable purposes this month.

There is nothing so refreshing these warm days as a trip to Ocean City. The B. C. & A. Ry. Co. will run Special Low Rate Excursions from all points Clayborne to Ocean City every Thursday.

THE C. B. Y. C. REGATTA.

Will Be Sailed on Miles River Saturday Next—A Valuable Cup Offered.

The open regatta for canoes given annually by the Chesapeake Bay Yacht Club will be given next Saturday, August 8th, in Miles river, Miles river bridge being the starting point.

Capts. Jacob G. Morris and Hedge Thompson and Mr. Zenas Burns will compose the regatta committee.

The start will be made at 11 o'clock, and if the weather be favorable, the course will be to Long Point buoy and return, a distance of 12 miles.

About twenty entries are expected, embracing canoes from St. Michaels, Oxford, Tilghman's Island, Baltimore and other places. The committee already has assurance that a number of the fastest canoes in the State will take part.

Measurement of boats for the coming race will be along the water line when in racing trim, and the race is open to all first-class canoes on the Chesapeake. An entrance fee of $3 will be charged for each boat, which fee will be returned for all boats that start. Entries close on Thursday, 6th inst., and after that date no entries will be received.

Besides the regular club prize of $20 to the first boat and $5 to the second, the first leg of the Anchorage cup will be sailed. This is a handsome silver affair costing $110. Mr. Charles A. Chipley donated it to the club, to be sailed for as the regatta committee should see fit. The committee has decided that, in order to become the possessor of it, a boat must win it three times. The other legs will be sailed whenever the committee sets a time.

GOLD AND SILVER.

Ex-President Harrison Discusses Our Monetary System.

Ever since the resumption of specie payments, in 1879, the Treasury has paid gold for greenbacks when gold was demanded, and has redeemed, in the same way, the Treasury notes issued under the Sherman Law. The Secretary of the Treasury has never exercised the discretion given him to redeem the latter notes in silver—holding that his discretion was limited to such a use of silver dollars. And our Secretaries have been right I think in holding that the parity of our gold and silver coins will be destroyed the moment the Government takes from the holder of a greenback or treasury note the election of the coin he will receive in exchange for it. If he wants gold, and silver is thrust upon him, the latter is depreciated and the former appreciated. If the holder of a United States note cannot get gold at par for it he will pay a premium for the gold he must have to meet a gold obligation. A premium on gold would at once drive gold out of circulation, for a coin that is at a premium cannot be used in trade. No one is bound to pay gold to the Government for any tax or debt due to it. So that practically the situation is this: The Treasury holds itself bound to give gold to every one presenting a United States note, and has no way of compelling any one to pay gold to it. Such gold as it gets comes from persons who choose to take paper money for gold deposited at the mints or assay offices, or to pay in gold coins some Government tax. Formerly all duties upon imports were payable only in gold. Now when the gold reserve gets low it can only be restored by the sale of bonds, under the powers given to the Secretary in the legislation relating to the resumption of specie payments.—EX-PRESIDENT HARRISON in August Ladies Home Journal.

Married.

HATTON—ROBINSON.—At Third Haven Meeting House, on Thursday last, by the formality of the Friend's ceremony, and under the auspices of the Meeting, Edmond E. Hatton, formerly of Talbot county but now of Bridgeport, Penna., and Susan B. Robinson also of the same place.

The parties arrived on the 11:15 train and proceeded immediately to Meeting House, where they were awaited by the committee in charge of the affair and without seeming the least discomposed from their travel and the heat of the day, were soon united in marriage. The certificate was publically read by Robert B. Dixon after which the several witnesses to the ceremony affixed their signatures. It then was given to the recorder who officially transcribes it on the minute books of the meeting, which for more than two hundred years have been among the most valuable family records of this county.

Mr. Hatton is the son of Robert Hatton who lived on the property now owned by the heirs of George Buffett on Miles River and for several years a member of Third Haven Meeting. Edmond never having had his membership transferred from here.

The bride was becomingly attired in a dark gray traveling suit, gloves and hat corresponding, and wore white roses. The groom in the usual black, with tall hat. Both parties were congratulated heartily, and many wishes of prosperity followed them. The quiet retreat of the meeting house, surrounded by large trees, made the affair one of solemnity—the host of feathered songsters alone contributing the music. The married couple were entertained by Judge John C. Bartlett and wife, and after dining took the north bound train and will continue their trip as far as Ohio, where relatives reside.

A little daughter of Mr. Lewis Dayton, an old and much respected citizen of Barnitz, Pa., occasionally has trouble with her stomach which gives her considerable distress. In speaking of it Mr. Dayton said: "As soon as she has an attack we give her a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and it has never failed to relieve her promptly. We all use it in our family with the same good results." For sale by Harry Roberts Easton; A. D. Harrison St. Michaels; J. F. Sisk Cordova.
